Flood situation worsens in west Maharashtra, 1.5 lakh evacuated

SUSHANT KULKARNI PUNE, AUGUST 7

THE FLOOD situation in Kolhapur, Sangli and Satara districts of western Maharashtra worsened on Wednesday, forcing authorities to evacuate over 1.5 lakh people. Road connectivity in most parts in the region remained disrupted on Wednesday, affecting the movement of essential services.

Sixteen people have reportedly lost their lives in Satara, Pune, Sangli, Kolhapur and Solapur the five districts of Pune Division — in the last five days. Water levels have risen in Panchganga and Dudhganga rivers in Kolhapur. Krushna river in Sangli and Krushna and Koyna rivers in Satara following heavy rain.

National Disaster Response Force, Army, Navy and Coast Guard have joined rescue efforts.

"From Kolhapur, Sangli and Satara districts, over 1.2 lakh people have been shifted to safer places in the last two days. The number of people evacuated in the whole of Pune division is 1.5 lakh. Most dams in the division are filled to capacity and if rain in the catchment areas continues, as predicted by the IMD, the unavoidable discharge of water from dams may again lead to a floodlike situation," Pune Divisional Commissioner Deepak

Mhaisekar said on Wednesday.

The Sangli-Kolhapur stretch of Mumbai-Bengaluru highway, which connects Pune, Satara, Sangli and Kolhapur in Maharashtra with Nipani and Belgaum in Karnataka, had to be closed on Tuesday due to flooding. The key highway remained inundated between Pune and Kolhapur and between Belgaum and Kolhapur, cutting off Sangli, Kolhapur and Satara.

"The state transport service in Kolhapur and Sangli remains suspended. Services in Pune are being restored. In Sangli, the main bus stand is inundated. We have urged people not to travel on the Mumbai-Bengaluru highway. Those who have already started their trips should stop at Pune or Satara." Mhaisekar said.

According to the data received, all 12 talukas in Kolhapur, four of 11 in Satara and four out of 10 in Sangli received excessive rain and were the worst-affected in the region. The flooding also affected power connectivity to 2.5 lakh people in five districts of Pune division as over 10,800 transformer units were submerged.

While power connections in Pune district were being restored on Wednesday, the situation in Kolhapur, Sangli and Satara remained the same. A crisis of drinking water arose in most parts. Officials said while water tankers were being provided, adequate tests needed to be conducted before restoring supply.

A statement from Army said that as on Wednesday, 16 columns and 12 engineer task forces, comprising almost 1,000 personnel, have been employed in the affected areas of Maharashtra and Karnataka. The NDRF said it has deployed 15 teams in the affected areas of Maharashtra and the Navy said five rescue teams had been mobilised for Kolhapur and Sangli.

ANANTHAKRISHNAN G NEW DELHI, AUGUST 7

FACING THE task of adjudicating on the birthplace of Ram, the Supreme Court on Wednesday asked if any question regarding the birth of "a prophet" or Jesus had ever been raised in any other court in the world.

"Has a question like the present one (on the birth of Ram) been raised about the birth of a prophet or whether Jesus was born in Bethlehem, in any court anywhere in the world," Justice S A Bobde asked Senior Counsel K Parasaran, who appeared for the deity Ramlalla. The counsel replied that he would "check up".

Bihar govt order to ensure ration to AES-hit families

SANTOSH SINGH PATNA, AUGUST 7

AGAINST THE backdrop of the deaths of over 150 children, mostly from impoverished families, due to Acute Encephalitis Syndrome (AES), the Bihar government has now issued instructions to District Magistrates to ensure that families of AES victims and those susceptible to the syndrome get ration. Doctors had attributed the AES deaths to malnutrition, besides heat and humidity.

The missive issued by additional secretary Bharat Kumar Dubey said, "There is an urgent need to avail ration to AES-affected and susceptible families in different things without fail". Authorities were directed to ensure that families covered under Food Security Act get ration.

Gogoi and including Justices D Y Chandrachud, Ashok Bhushan and S A Abdul Nazeer, which is hearing appeals against the September 30, 2010 verdict of the Allahabad High Court in the Ramjanmabhoomi-Babri Masjid dispute case.

Parasaran said "history books establish the fact that there was a temple at the site". He said there are references to Ayodhya being the birthplace of Ram in other literature like the Valmiki Ramayana. "It is the unshakeable faith of believers that this is the birthplace of Ram. That itself is the greatest evidence," he said.

Parasaran quoted from the Allahabad HC judgment which referred to the March 1886 decision of the Faizabad District Judge FEA Chamier, dismissing an appeal filed by Mahant Raghubar Das claiming right over a part of the disputed site. The HC. Parasaran said, went on to add that "from the judgment of the learned judge deciding the first appeal, it appears that he visited the spot on 17.03.1886, and, in the light of what he noticed on spot inspection, he recorded certain facts in the judgment, namely the masjid built by Emperor Babar stands on the border of town Ayodhya west and south and is clear of habitations. He expressed his anguish that it is most unfortunate that a masiid should have been built on a land especially held sacred by Hindus but as that event occurred 358 years ago he found it too late in the day to reverse the process and said that the parties should maintain status

The judge "was not a Hindu", the senior counsel said.

Justice Bobde asked if the idols at the site — which were later attached by the receiver on December 29, 1949 — were carbon dated. Parasaran replied in the negative.

Earlier in the day, the bench cut short the arguments of the counsel representing the Nirmohi Akhara, noting that he was unable to produce records to substantiate the Akhara's claim over the disputed 2.77 acres of land.

"Since when you existed is one question. But show us the evidence, like revenue records etc, to prove that you exercised your right," Justice Chandrachud told Senior Advocate Sushil Kumar Jain, as the latter submitted that the HC had found that the Akhara had been in existence since at least 1734.

Jain told the bench that he did not have all the records as there was a dacoity in 1982. He said the records he was relying on were already cited in the HC judgment.

But the bench reminded him that this was the first appeal and told him to "show the original records". As he struggled with his reply, the bench said it would hear the appeal filed by Ramlalla, and he should, meanwhile, document and produce the records he was relying on to establish his case.

Shah meets Bangla minister, raises illegal immigrants, Rohingya issues

DEEPTIMAN TIWARY NEW DELHI. AUGUST 7

HOME MINISTER Amit Shah on Wednesday raised the issues of illegal Bangladeshi immigrants settling in the Northeast and repatriation of the Rohingya to Myanmar with visiting Bangladesh Home Minister Asaduzzaman Khan during a bilateral meeting here on Wednesday.

Khan was in Delhi for the seventh meeting of the India-Bangladesh Home Minister Level Talks.

According to Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA), Shah "raised India's concern regarding the illicit movement of undocumented persons across the border, with a view to find solutions to this problem especially in Northeast India".

Shah's assertion comes against the backdrop of the final National Register of Citizens (NRC) in Assam scheduled to be published at the end of this month. The government, in an affidavit filed in the Supreme Court, has raised doubts

MORETHAN two years after it was directed by the National Green Tribunal (NGT) to notify rules banning the use of lead in PVC (polyvinyl chloride) pipes for water supply within four months, the Union Environment Ministry is yet to issue a notification on the issue.

In its second status report filed last month, the ministry told the tribunal that the draft notification was approved by the Environment Minister and forwarded to the Law Ministry. "The Law Ministry has tentatively vetted the notification to ensure desired compliance. The redrafted notification is currently under submission to the Ministry of Law and Justice for final vetting," according to the report.

The original petitioner, Jan pipes used for water supply pose a health hazard because lead, one of the most dangerous metals, leaches into water. A previous order by NGT states that PVC pipe manufacturers conceded that there is "some leaching of lead from inner walls of PVC pipes in the initial period", but "reduces with time".

Lead makes PVC pipes more durable, according to experts. Current petitioner Ajay Kumar

Singh, who is also a lawyer, accused the Environment Ministry of delaying the notification. "For the past two years, the ministry has formed a committee, consulted with all stakeholders, issued a draft notification, sent it to the Law Ministry and again drafted the rules. This indicates that the ministry is colluding with a lobby of manufacturers in delaying the notification," Singh told The Indian Express. Environment Secretary C K comment. A representative of All-India

Plastic Manufacturers' Association said phasing out of lead will take more time, as other alternatives such as tin and calcium zinc as heat stabilisers have to be imported. The representative argued that the switch will significantly increase manufacturing cost of PVC pipes — a claim dismissed by NGT and the petitioner.

"Most manufacturers are already exporting lead-free pipes to countries where the heavy meta is banned. This means they have the technology for easy transition," Singh said. The US and China banned lead-containing PVC pipes for drinking water in 1986 and 2006, respectively. The European Union phased them out in 2006. At least 50 per cent of PVC pipes are used for water supply in India, said an industry source.

British officers conspired with League to ensure NWFP didn't go to India: Pranab

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI, AUGUST 7

BRITISH CIVIL servants conspired with the Muslim League to ensure that the North West Frontier Province (NWFP) did not go with India, former President Pranab Mukherjee said on Wednesday. "There were two elections held in 1937 and 1946. Despite the province being Muslim-dominated, the Congress won a large number of seats. (But) British civil servants conspired with the Muslim League to ensure that support was transferred from the Congress to the League. The League started gaining strength, and the Congress started losing support in just a couple of months — between February, when the elections were held, and August," he said.

He said these reports were taken to Jawaharlal Nehru, "but he did not take it seriously—(he)dismissed them as exaggeration".

The former President was speaking at the launch of the book 'India's Lost Frontier: The Story of North West Frontier Province of Pakistan', written by former Textiles Secretary Raghvendra Singh.

There's truth in Unnao girl's charges against MLA, says CBI

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: The CBI on Wednesday told a Delhi court that its probe has revealed there is truth in the Unnao rape survivor's allegations against expelled BJP MLA Kuldeep Singh Sengar.

agency said on the fateful day in 2017, Sengar conspired with coaccused Shashi Singh to commit gang-rape of the victim.

The CBI further told the district court that the survivor, who was a minor at the time she was gang-raped, has stated that when she reached Sengar's residence, there were no guards and that she was taken inside from the rear gate by Singh and later raped.

District judge Dharmesh Sharma ordered the media to refrain from reporting names and addresses of the rape survivor, her family members and witnesses. The judge also came out with guidelines for the coverage of the case, saying that the media should avoid reporting on testimonies of witnesses and merits of the case.

Truck driver, cleaner take polygraph test

The driver and cleaner of the truck that crashed into a car carrying the Unnao rape survivor last month took a polygraph test at the CBI office here on Wednesday evening, reports Pathikrit Chakraborty. SC ON IMMOVABLE ASSETS 1963, the statutory period of limitation that is allowed for possession of immovable property or any interest is 12 years in the case of private property and 30 years for public property, from the date the trespasser $\,$ occupies the property.

Enumerating the provisions of the Act, a bench of and MR Shah said the law provided shield to a person who is in possession of the property beyond 12 years and that person can take action by filing a suit for restoration of possession in case of dispossession. "We hold that a person in possession cannot be ousted

by another person except by due procedure of law and once 12-years' period of adverse possession is over, even owner's right to eject him is lost and the possessory owner acquires right, title and interest possessed by the outgoing person/owner as the case may be against whom he has prescribed. In our opinion, consequence is that once the right. title or interest is acquired, it can be used as a sword by the

the defendant within ken of Article 65 of the Act and any person who has perfected title by way of adverse possession, can file a suit for restoration of possession in case of dispossession," the bench said.

It said a person who has perfected his title by way of adverse possession can file a suit for obtaining an injunction protecting possession and for recovery of possession in case his dispossession. "In case a person in adverse possession has perfected his title, after the extinguishment of the title of the true owner, he can't be dispossessed by a true owner as the owner has lost his right, title and interest," it said.

lar form to back Akhara's plea for possession over the entire land, former AG and senior advocate K Parasaran ommenced arguments for 'Ram Lalla', to be recognised as a juristic person who could appeal through the priest. Parasaran said the Hindu community has considered Ayodhya as the birth place of Lord Ram and has been continuously worshipping at the disputed site whereas Muslims have abandoned the disputed structure since December 1949. Given the century-old dispute over Ayodhya being

Lord Ram's birthplace, Justice Bobde wanted to know from Parasaran whether there had been any such parallel anywhere in the world of a litigation questioning birthplace of a revered and worshipped person, for example Jesus Christ's birthplace at Bethlehem. Assuring Justice Bobde that he would try to find if there were any such case, Parasaran said Muslim community complains that it was wrong to place idols inside a mosque but "an answer to this argument will depend on whether the structure was a mosque or not".

Ram Lalla has battery of top lawyers in SC

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: A battery of top lawyers are advocating idol Ram Lalla's claim over the entire chunk of Ayodhya land that has been under litigation for 70 years.

Former AG K Parasaran, one of the most respected figures among lawyers, commenced arguments Wednesday for "Bhagwan Sri Ram Virajman", as He is referred to in appeals before the SC as well as in title suits before the HC. Waiting in the wings are former solicitors general Harish Salve and Ranjit Kumar, former ASGs C S Vaidyanathan and PS Narasimha and senior advocate Shyam Divan. Senior advocate Vaidyananthan is slated to commence arguments after 92-year-old Parasaran.

Ram Lalla who was as signed central one-third portion of the of the disputed Ayodhya land by Allahabad high court, is in the SC in support for the entire 2.77 acre as part of the decades-old legal battle which has impacted social equations and politics.

Given his stature and age CJI Ranjan Gogoi told Parasaran that if he wishes he could argue sitting in his chair. Being a stickler for traditions, Parasaran politely refused the CJI's offer and stood for nearly two hours to nake his arguments.
