Cop killed after service weapon accidentally goes off

Nagpur: A head constable attached to a Quick Response at Sironcha in Maharashtra's Gadchiroli district was killed on Tuesday when his service weapon accidentally went off while he was cleaning it. "Sanjiv Shettiwar, 32, was apparently cleaning his service weapon, an AK rifle, when a bullet got fired... The bullet hit him in the neck just below the chin. He was rushed to hospital but his life couldn't be saved," Aheri Additional Superintendent of Police Maneesh Kalwaniya told The Indian Express. Asked if Shettiwar had not unloaded his rifle before cleaning it, Kalwaniya said, "He had removed the magazine but some bullets might have remained loaded inside..." ENS

Bihar village head's husband shot dead at home

Khagaria (Bihar): Two men barged into the house of a village head in Bihar's Khagaria district in the wee hours of Tuesday and gunned down her husband who was asleep, the police said. Two persons were taken into custody in connection with the murder, SP Minu Kumari said. The incident occurred at Uttari

Maarar panchayat where the village head is Ragini Devi. The two assailants fired upon her husband Nandlal Paswan, 50, who was sleeping in the house, and fled on a motorcycle. Personal enmity could be the reason behind the murder, police sources said, adding that the case was being investigated. PTI

Land itself a deity, so can't have joint possession: Ramlalla's counsel to SC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI, AUGUST 13

THE COUNSEL for Ramlalla Virajman on Tuesday disputed the Allahabad High Court's order on joint possession of the disputed land in Ayodhya and asked how this was possible after the whole premises were held to be a deity.

"(The) High Court mixed up the three concepts. It says place is deity and deity is owner of place. And then it says they (Hindus and Muslims) have ioint possession. In my view, the HC is not right in mixing up the facts", senior advocate C S Vaidyanathan, appearing for Ramlalla, told a five-judge Constitution bench of the Supreme Court headed by Chief Justice of India Ranjan

"High Court says the premises, which is place of birth of Lord Ram, vests in the deity. But place itself is deity.... When the place itself is deity, there cannot be joint possession or title," he told the bench, also comprising Justices S A Bobde, D Y Chandrachud, Ashok Bhushan and S A Nazeer.

Justice Chandrachud then asked the counsel, "That (submission) postulates that your worldview is universal.... Here we have two beliefs. One says place represents God personified, other says it's only a place of worship. How do you balance both?"

Vaidvanathan replied that he was going by the High Court's view, which "accepts the place as deity". He added, "If that's so, there can't be joint possession, etc.... If place is deity, it can't be divided or mutilated. It will continue to remain deity despite the fact that a mosque was built

"Just because some people have access to that mosque, they cannot (assume) ownership of that place," he submitted. Vaidyanathan said Muslims'

right of access to Babri mosque was "always contested" but "Hindus' right to worship was never taken away". Referring to the September 30, 2010 judgment of the HC given by a three-judge bench, the counsel said one of the iudges — Justice Sudhir Agarwal — had "narrowed down the janmasthan [birthplace] to the central dome [of Babri Masjid]...our contention is that the entire area as found by Justice Dharam Veer Sharma, should be considered janmasthan". On the existence of a temple at the site of the mosque which was razed on December 6, 1992, he said the Uttar Pradesh Sunni Waqf Board in response to a suit had said that Emperor Babar built the mosque on vacant land belonging to the state. But all three HC judges concluded that the there was a temple at the site. One of them — Justice S U Khan ù said the mosque was built on the ruins of temples, Vaidhyanathan said.

Vaidyanathan referred to the statement of one Mohd Hashim, a resident of Ayodhya, who, he said, had stated that Hindus used to visit Ramjanmabhoomi as they believed it to be the birthplace of Ram, and several fairs were also held there.

Vaidyanathan also sought to rely on the 1870 report of British archeologist Patrick Carnegie. That was the time the official gazette was bring prepared, and Carnegie as Officiating Commissioner and Settlement Officer, after visiting the site, had written in his report that Ayodhya was to Hindus what

Mecca was to Muslims and

Jerusalem to Christians.

The senior counsel drew the court's attention to an 1858 complaint about a ritual conducted by a Sikh from Punjab inside the area of the central dome of the mosque. The complaint mentioned that "previously the symbol of janmasthan had been there for hundreds of years" and Hindus had been worshiping there, Vaidyanathan said.

The arguments remained inconclusive and will resume on Wednesday.

Villagers, forest officers clash in UP, one killed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE LUCKNOW, AUGUST 13

A 27-YEAR-OLD man was shot dead during a clash between a group of villagers and forest guards at Datarganj village adjoining Sampurna Nagar forest range under North Kheri Forest division in Uttar Pradesh's Pilibhit district Sunday, police said. Police identified the deceased as Kulwant Singh, a farmer who was a resident of Datarganj village.

Forest department officers claimed that the incident took place when villagers entered into a scuffle with some forest guards who caught them carrying logs that were allegedly being stolen after felling of trees from the forest area.

However, the villagers denied the allegations and claimed they had gone inside the forest area in search of a missing buffalo when forest guards hurled verbal abuses and later fired at them.

Why is CBI so good in cases with no political tone, asks CJI

Suggests 'public order' be part of Concurrent List for probing interstate crimes

CHIEF JUSTICE of India (CJI)

Ranjan Gogoi on Tuesday questioned the efficacy of the CBI in "politically sensitive" cases and said it reflects "a deep mismatch between institutional aspirations" and "governing politics".

He suggested giving CBI a statutory status equivalent to the Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG). CJI Gogoi also suggested that "public order" must be made part of the Concurrent List for investigation of interstate crimes. Public order is currently the exclusive domain of state governments. Delivering the D P Kohli

Memorial Lecture, organised by the CBI at Vigyan Bhavan, CJI Gogoi said "a patchwork of legislation" — a reference to the CVC and the Lokpal – behind CBI and "multiplicity of agencies" had led to "inter-institutional turf war". "Why is that whenever there are no political overtones to the case, the CBI does a good job," CJI Gogoi asked while talking about political and administrative interference in the working of the

He said: "...in a number of high-profile and politically sensitive cases the agency has not been able to meet the standards of judicial scrutiny. Equally true is that such lapses may not have happened infrequently. Such instances reflect systemic issues and indicate a deep mismatch between institutional aspirations, organisational design, working culture, and governing politics."

The CJI spoke about the guidelines issued by the apex court in the Vineet Narain judgment to protect the CBI's integrity. "However, given that the superintendence and control of the agency continues to, in large measure, lie with the executive by virtue of Section 4 of Delhi Special Police Establishment Act, 1946, the possibility of it being used as a political instrument remains ever present."

CJI Gogoi laid stress on the agency maintaining high reputation in public perception. "Any gap between public perception and the quality of institutional performance would adversely impact the governance of the nation, which we can ill afford," he said.

The CJI suggested that crucial aspects of the CBI must be delinked from the administrative control of the government. "The CBI should be given statutory status through legislation equivalent to that provided to the Comptroller & Auditor General (CAG).... Further, to address an incrimes, an argument could be made for including 'public order' in concurrent list, for the limited purposes of investigating such crimes," the CJI Gogoi said. The CJI indicated that there was "constitutional and legal ambiguity surrounding" the CBI and this "severely comprises both the integrity and efficacy" of the institution. He raised the issue of states not giving consent to CBI to probe cases due to "vested interests or bureaucratic lethargy".

He said, "Additionally, a patchwork of legislation governing the functioning of CBI adversely affects inter-institutional coordination, both horizontally and vertically. The result of multiplicity of institutions results in an aggressive competition for creasing incidence of interstate scarce resources and inter-institutional 'turf-war'. These issues arise in large measure from lack of a comprehensive statute protecting the agency's autonomy."

Secure NRC data, publish list on schedule, says SC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI, AUGUST 13

THE SUPREME Court on Tuesday rejected a plea to reopen the exercise to update the National Register of Citizens (NRC) for Assam and directed that to ensure security of the data, an appropriate regime be enacted on the lines of the security regime provided for Aadhaar data. A bench of Chief Justice of India Ranjan Gogoi and Justice RF Nariman ruled that "the list of inclusions and exclusions shall be made available to the State Government, Central Government and Registrar General of India" only after such a regime is put in place.

Assam co-ordinator for NRC Prateek Hajela had requested the court to issue suitable directions for protection of NRC data.

The court also directed that "only hard-copies of the supplementary list of inclusions be published at the NRC Seva Centers, Circle Offices and Offices of the District Magistrates of the State". The bench ordered that "the list of exclusions to be published on 31st August, 2019 (the date set by the court to publish the final NRC) shall be published only on on-line and shall be family-wise".

The plea to reopen the exercise had said those born in India between after March 24, 1971 and before July 1, 1987 were not being included in the NRC unless they had ancestral links to India. It referred to section 3(1) of the Citizenship Act, 1955, which states that every person born in India after January 26, 1950 and up to July 1, 1987 were citizens by birth and added that a different yardstick was being used for those born between 1971 and 1987.

Refusing to allow this, the bench referred to Rule 4A the Citizenship (Registration of Citizens and Issue of National Identity Cards) Rules, 2003 which fixes the outer cut-off date as midnight of March 24, 1971. "Rule 4A of the 2003 Rules

carves out special provisions in the matter of preparation of National Register of Indian Citizens in the State of Assam. The provisions of Rule 4A are a departure to the provisions contained in Rule 4 of the 2003 Rules which deals with preparation of National Register of Indian Citizens in the rest of the country. Rule 4A(2) specifically provides that the National Register of Indian Citizens in the State of Assam shall be prepared by inviting applications from all the residents calling for specified particulars relating to each family and individual including the citizenship status based on the National Register of Citizens 1951 and the electoral rolls upto the midnight of the 24thday of March,1971," the order noted.

This rule was necessitated in view of the changes made to the Citizenship Act following the signing of the Assam Accord.

The bench also noted that the question of interpretation of Section 3(1) of the Citizenship Act was pending before a Constitution bench and said the NRC will be updated depending on what the Constitution bench decides.

"The issue pending is whether the expression 'every person born in India' would apply only to persons born to Indian citizens and whether the expression 'either of whose parents is a citizen of India at the time of his birth' in S.3(1)(b) of the Citizenship Act, 1955 would apply to only a person who is born to parents one of whom is a citizen and the other a foreigner, provided he or she has entered India lawfully and his/her stay in India is not in contravention of applicable Indian laws...We make it clear that subject to orders as may be passed by the Constitution Bench.. National Register of Citizens will be updated."

ANDHRA GOVT STOPS ALL PAYMENTS, SAND MINING POLICY CANCELLED

Construction in Amaravati comes to a grinding halt

SREENIVAS JANYALA

HYDERABAD AUGUST 13

CONSTRUCTION IN the Amaravati Capital Region as well as most parts of Andhra Pradesh has come to a grinding halt as the ruling YS-RCP has stopped all payments and cancelled the sand mining policy.

The construction of apartments and bungalows for government officials, ministers, MLAs and judges at Amaravati has been stopped. Also, the scarcity of sand for construction has halted both government and private construction work across the state. "The government is reviewing "Only local contractors belonging to TDP benefited from it. We will soon bring out a new and transparent policy. Till the policy is out, we have directed district collectors to ensure that sand is procured and supplied," he said.

With the government halting payments to contractors, construction in government and private sector has been shut since the last week of July. "Even in Amaravati, where some of the buildings are 70-75 per cent com-

Halt in works may have long-term impact

THE STOPPAGE of works at Amaravati will have a longterm impact on the construction of the new capital city for Andhra Pradesh. The project is already delayed due to uturns on designs and plans submitted by chief architect Foster and Partners by former CM N Chandrababu Naidu. The secretariat, high court, and all important government offices are working out of temporary locations spread over Vijayawada and Guntur and there is an urgent need to establish the capital city and bring them together. Since the last two months, much of the equipment and machinery is lying unused. Singapore which submitted the plan for seed capital appears to be staying away from the project.

Officials at Andhra Pradesh Capital Region Development Authority said new contracts worth more than Rs 9,800 crore awarded by the TDP government just before elections were announced have been put on hold. These include contracts for a bridge connecting Vijayawada with Amaravati, a drinking water project, Vaikuntapuram Barrage, ring roads, parks and entertainment places.

Real estate developer and for-BIP MLA from Visakhapatnam P Vishnu Kumar Raju said construction industry has taken a big hit in cities like Visakhapatnam and Vijayawada.

"Sand is difficult to procure so construction in public and private partnership, as well as the private sector, has slowed down or stopped. Amaravati looks like a ghost town now," Raju said. Mines Minister sand policy would soon be announced. "It is a very transparent policy and the draft is ready. The AP Mineral Development Corporation (APMDC) will be nodal agency to implement the new policy. To prevent exploitation of river sand, we are also promoting manufactured sand. The corporation will tie up with private contractors to mine sand only from designated places and it would be moved to APMDC godowns. Customers can order sand online and sand would be delivered wherever they want APMDC will control the prices,'

Ramachandra Reddy said the new

"Let us make loud and clear to all that we are take as much time as they need to argue the case," Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi, heading a Constitution bench, said when senior advocate Rajeev Dhavan alleged exhibits before the court and were limiting their arguments to Allahabad HC findings

The bench responded that it was for the individual counsel to decide how and what to argue and told Dhavan that the court will not stop him from reading anything and he can rely on evidences and exhibits during his turn. Allaying Dhavan's apprehension that he will not be allowed to read out exhibits, the bench said, "If (senior advocate) CS Vaidyanathan does not do it is what respondent is here for. Dhavan had a run-in with CJI Ranjan Gogoi earlier also in the case and the bench had told him that he must strive to maintain decorum as an officer of the court. He had also objected over the SC's decision to hold day-to-day hearing in the case but the court reaffirmed its decision on hearing on all working days. It, however, assured Dhavan that it will consider mid-week

He said 'Janmasthan' (birth place) of the deity is not confined to central dome of the structure but the entire area needs to be within its ambit. He said a mosque was built on the ruins of a temple and some of the material was used for construction. "Muslims cannot claim title due to adverse possession as they have not established that Hindus were ousted from the land. There is no documentary evidence to show their possession. They have, in fact, admitted that all the time Hindus kept visiting the place to worship the deity. It is a clear finding that Hindus were never kept out for worship and it shows that possession of the land by Hindus has been accepted. Every single docu-

He said as the entire site is the deity, no one can claim title over it and said the HC verdict was wrong. Responding to a question put by the bench on what will happen if there is evidence on joint possession of land, Vaidyanathan submitted that it has to be proved first that Hindus were ousted from the land and said joint possession would fforts must be made to delink crucial aspects of the CBI from the overall administrative control of the government. The CBI should be given statutory status through legislation equivalent to that provided to the Comptroll-

The CJI's remarks read like a sharp indictment, particularly in the context of high-profile cases involving senior politicians, some of whom served as ministers and chief ministers, dragging on for years. His speech also came in the backdrop of a bruising internal fight in the CBI last year which led to the exit of the then director Alok Verma and his erstwhile number two Rakesh Asthana. Later, additional director Praveen Sinha said the agency was in the process of revising its crime manual and would include the CJI's suggestions in it. Asserting that public perception of the agency must be of the highest degree given the intense scrutiny its working is subjected to, the CJI pointed out how till some time ago, an investigation by the CBI was all that was asked for by those seeking justice. "Such was the trust people reposed in this institution. Any gap between public perception and the quality of institutional performance will adversely impact governance

there was enough strength in the organisation to deal with any such situation. "A reverse situation led to the celebrated case of Vineet Narain vs UOI, wherein the SC expressed concern at the state of affairs and laid down explicit guidelines for protecting the integrity of the force," he said.

Calling the CBI a multi-faceted, multi-disciplinary investigating agency, with a wide range of work, CJI Gogoi said the agency had for most part of its existence enjoyed tremendous trust among citizens. "Unfortunately, attention is more often than not drawn to failure rather than success of any public institution. True, in a number of high-profile and politically sensitive cases, the agency has not been able to meet the standards of judicial scrutiny. Equally true is that such lapses may not have happened infrequently. Such instances reflect systemic issues and indicate a deep mismatch between institutional aspirations, organisational design, working culture and governing politics," he said.
