Supriyo manhandled: BJP and TMC lock horns, 4 FIRs filed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE KOLKATA, SEPTEMBER 20

THE HECKLING and gherao of Union minister Babul Supriyo by a section of students at Jadavpur University triggered a fresh round of political sparring on Friday.

Describing the JU students as "nothing less than terrorists", West Bengal BJP president Dilip Ghosh said there should be a Balakot-like surgical strike to "destroy anti-national hubs in JU campus". The ruling TMC, meanwhile, directed its criticism at the Governor for rushing to the university, and expressed solidarity with the V-C and students of JU.

Sharing pictures of the incident on Twitter, Supriyo, the Union MoS for Environment, Forest and Climate Change, said that those who were involved in his assault would be found out. "These cowards will not be allowed to malign & tarnish the image of #JadavpurUniversity. U shall be found out by us soon but dont worry, you shall not be treated in the manner you treated me," he tweeted. "We shall rehabilitate you mentally so that you & your Hooligan Friends (all footages available with the media) behave like you are supposed to behave as students till then."

Tweeting a picture of a student pulling him by his hair, Supriyo added, "This is the guy who led the assault in #JadavpurUniversity. We will find him out and then see what @MamataOfficial does to him in terms of charging him for assault without ANY PROVOCATION whatsoever from our/my side."

On Thursday, Supriyo, a BJP MP, was heckled and manhandled by some students at JU. The students gheraoed Supriyo for over five hours, stopping him from leaving the campus. When Governor Jagdeep Dhankhar rushed to JU in the evening, his vehicle was also blocked for about an hour, before a huge police con-

JU students at a protest rally in Kolkata. Protests were also carried out by the BJP, ABVP and the SFI in the city. Partha Paul tingent escorted them out.

Speaking to reporters here on Friday, Ghosh said he would write to Union Home Minister Amit Shah describing the incident. "Just like our security forces conducted surgical strike to destroy terror camps in Pakistan, our cadres would carry out the same type of surgical strike to destroy anti-national hubs in IU campus," he said.

Vowing action against students for assaulting Supriyo, Ghosh said, "We know how to break their hands and soon we will do it." Backing Governor Jagdeep Dhankar's move to visit the campus, Ghosh said, "The state government was sitting idle and waiting for Supriyo to get killed. It is unprecedented and only happens in Bengal. There is no law and order here."

The TMC issued a statement saying, "We must punish the culprits who assaulted the students including the girl students of Jadavpur University and ransacked the campus. We express our total solidarity with the Vice Chancellor, Professors and students of Jadavpur University.... One thing must be made very clear: universities are autonomous institutions and as per time-honoured tradition, police cannot enter university campus without permission of V-C."

Meanwhile, police filed four FIRs in the matter. They said they lodged a suo motu case on Thursday night against 180-190 members and supporters of ABVP and BJP. "It is alleged that they being equipped with lathi, bamboo and iron rod formed an unlawful assembly in front of gate number 4 of JU," a senior police officer told The Indian Express. Another case was filed on a complaint by Debraj Debnath, general secretary of Leftbacked Arts Faculty Students Union of JU, against members and followers of ABVP and RSS.

The other complaints were filed by BJP member Agnimitra Paul, who claimed she was assaulted, and Nityananda Mistry, Convenor, ABVP of JU, alleging unlawful assembly in JU and assault.

All kept in loop over visit, says Governor; TMC sticks to stand

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE KOLKATA. SEPTEMBER 20

WEST BENGAL Governor Jagdeep Dhankhar on Friday slammed TMC secretary general Partha Chatterjee for claiming that he went to Jadavpur University without informing the government.

The TMC later issued another statement saying that it stood by its earlier statement.

A statement from the Raj Bhavan regarding Thursday's incident said, "...His visit was rendered imperative as the Vice Chancellor and the pro-Vice Chancellor had left the University while the Union Minister, Shri Babul Supriyo, continued to be detained by the agitating students/persons there..."

"As a final step before going, the Governor/Chancellor took initiative in connecting with the Hon'ble Chief Minister, West Bengal... There were many telephonic interactions between the two..." the statement said. "In discharge of his duty both as Chancellor of the University and Governor of the State, he felt it necessary to visit the University and all agencies required to be kept in the loop were informed," it The TMC had earlier said it was "shocking" that Dhankhar had visited the campus without informing the "elected government" to the "so-called rescue" of the BJP leader. On Friday, the TMC issued a statement saying it stood by its claims. "On behalf of AITC, what we said yesterday... we stand by it... Our expectation is that Governor must give justice to the V-C, Professors, students... Administration played a very peaceful role to resolve the problem amicably.'

Ramjanmabhoomi was socio-political vehicle for Nyas' EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

'Suit by Ramlalla,

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 20

THE SUNNI Central Waqf Board on Friday sought to highlight the political nature of the Ayodhya Ram temple movement and said the suit filed by the deity Ramlalla and the birthplace Ramjanmabhoomi in 1989 was only a "socio-political vehicle" for the Ramjanmabhoomi Nyas, which was created in December 1985.

"Thus it is clear that Suit no. 5 was a socio-political vehicle for the Nyas, pointing to the future and trying to reiterate the past to serve the future," Senior Advocate Rajeev Dhavan, appearing for the Board and one of the main petitioners M Siddiq, told a five-judge Constitution Bench headed by Chief Justice of India Ranjan Gogoi. The bench, also comprising Justices S A Bobde, DY Chandrachud, Ashok Bhushan and S Abdul Nazeer, is hearing appeals against the September 30, 2010 verdict of the Allahabad High Court dividing the disputed 2.77 acres in Ayodhya into three equal parts.

Suit number 5 was instituted in 1989 by Bhagwan Sri Ramlalla Virajman Ramjanmabhoomi, Ayodhya, and Asthan Sri Rama Janma Bhoomi, Ayodhya, and they were represented Deoki Nandan Agarwal, a retired judge of Allahabad High Court as "next friend". The prayer in the suit was for a decree or declaration to the effect that the entire premises of Ramjanmabhoomi belong to the plaintiff deities and for an injunction against others from placing any obstruction in the construction of the new temple after demolishing and removing existing buildings and structures.

Dhavan claimed that the

ED raids TMC MP, recovers

Rs 35 lakh and $10,000 cash

"purpose and direction" of the suit number 5 "is to say remove all those (existing structures), destroy to the extent required".

He contended that the only movement that followed the creation of the Nyas was the 'karseva' for the temple and that it was an "entirely political movement". The Viswa Hindu Parishad had collected consecrated stones for this from across the country during the movement, he said, adding "this can hardly be called consecration because it led to the illegal destruction" of the objects of worship at

> He also questioned making Ramjanmabhoomi a petitioner, saying "the real reason for using the Janmabhoomi as a vehicle was to create a juristic personality to canvas two regimes —- the idol regime and bhoomi regime". The consequences of bhoomi becoming a juristic person would be that no one else would be able to claim title, he said, and that only those consequences as applicable to the idol as a juristic person should apply in the case of the 'bhoomi' too.

He also took the bench through translations of inscriptions found on the Babri Masjid before it was demolished on December 6, 1992, and said they proved that the mosque was built by Mughal emperor Babur's commander Mir Baqi.

The arguments remained inconclusive and will resume on September 23.

As judge, Rao ruled on domestic violence cases

APURVA VISHWANATH NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 20

THREE MONTHS before he retired as judge of Madras High Court in April 2017, justice (retd) Nooty Rama Mohan Rao was a participant in a two-day conference discussing the role of courts in protecting women and children, organised by the Tamil Nadu State Judicial Academy. Rao sat through a poignant speech delivered by then Supreme Court judge and former Madras High Court Chief Justice Madan Lokur.

"There has been a change in the mindset of society with regard to women," Justice Lokur remarked. On Friday, Rao's daughter-inlaw Sindhu Sharma released an old video in which the former judge and his son, Nooty Vashistha, are seen assaulting her. In April this year, Sharma had alleged that her husband and his family had beaten her up over a demand for dowry. She released a series of videos — CCTV footage — from her in-laws' home.

Rao was appointed an additional judge of the Andhra Pradesh High Court in 2006 and was made a permanent judge in 2008. However, after a decade, he was abruptly transferred to the Madras High Court. The SC Collegium had assigned no reasons for Rao's transfer, that came less than a year before his retirement. He retired in April 2017.

Ironically, both as a lawyer and a judge, Rao has been involved in cases related to domestic violence and has argued and decided cases in favour of women.

In 2005, as a lawyer, Rao appeared for an Indian-American woman who had filed a case of criminal intimidation and cruelty against her former husband. In 2015, in a domestic violence case before the High Court of Andhra Pradesh and Telangana (before bifurcation), a single bench, comprising Rao, refused to quash proceedings under the Domestic Violence Act and said, "Effective measures are essentially required for protection of the rights of women guaranteed under the Constitution, who are getting victimised due to violence occurring within the family and hence, for putting in place preventive measures and with a view to protect the rights of women, enacted the Act. Therefore, the Act has been ushered in for achieving greater social objectives."

"With a view to give protection to women, essentially from violence within family, the present special piece of legislation has been brought forth," he added.

Rao had said desertion, an act "likely to impair the health or development of a particular person", would mean emotional and physical abuse under the act.

Once meant to be India's largest planned city, NAINA shrinks by almost half

MUMBAI, SEPTEMBER 20

WHEN IT was originally conceptualised in 2014, the Navi Mumbai Influence Notified Area (NAINA) was promoted as India's largest planned city, even bigger than Mumbai and its suburbs together.

But now that the new city's development plan has finally been sanctioned, it appears to have been considerably shrunk — it is only slightly more than half its planned size. Planned to come up around a radial distance of about 25 km from the proposed international airport at Navi Mumbai, it was originally expected to be spread over 600 sq km or 60,000 hectare. But according to the development plan sanctioned by Thirty-five villages from Khalapur tehsil were removed. File Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis earlier this week, it will now come up on just over a 334-sq km plot. However, NAINA will still be bigger than Navi Mumbai (320 sq km). While the original idea was to undertake urban development of 308 villages in the six talukas, this has now come down to 175 villages. The Fadnavis-led urban development department sanctioned NAINA's plan on September 16. The proposal was submitted to it in July 2017 by the state-run City and Industrial Development of Maharashtra

special planning authority for

But the plan was approved after removing 49 villages — 35 in Khalapur tehsil and 14 in Thane. These villages accounted for an area of 103 sq km.

In 2016, the government excluded another 84 villages in Panvel and Khalapur tehsils.

CIDCO Vice-chairperson and MP, Lokesh Chandra, supported the exclusions. "...Areas that weren't contiguous or were located along the road corridors being developed by the MSRDC were deleted so that these can be independently developed..." NAINA was originally planned to house a population of 15 lakh in the next 20 years. But CIDCO's chief planner (NAINA) V Venugopal said they had already "planned for a much larger carrying capacity".

Top court seeks Centre, UGC reply on plea by mothers of Rohith Vemula, Payal Tadvi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 20

THE SUPREME Court on Friday issued notices to the Centre and the UGC on a petition by the mothers of late Rohith Vemula and Payal Tadvi, seeking its intervention to ensure that educational institutions put in place anti-discrimination measures and adhere to them strictly.

A bench of Justices N V Ramana and Ajay Rastogi issued the notices after Senior Advocate Indira Jaising, appearing for the petitioners, contended that there was laxity in implementing equity guidelines.

The petition alleged that "caste-based discrimination" was "rampant... in higher educational institutions" and that this "reflects flagrant non-compliance with the existing norms and regulations in place for the same".

"These incidents... are violative of the fundamental rights to equality, right against discrimination, equal opportunity, abolition of untouchability, and right to life guaranteed under Article 14,15,16,17 and 21 of the Constitution," it added.

The plea urged the court to direct the Centre and UGC to strictly ensure enforcement of and compliance with the UGC, (Promotion of Equity in Higher Educational Institutions) Regulations, 2012.

It also wanted all universities and higher education institutes to establish Equal Opportunity Cells, on the lines of existing anti-discrimination internal complaints mechanisms, and to include members from the SC,ST communities and independent representatives from NGOs or social activists to ensure objectivity and impartiality in the process.

The petition said that though the 2012 regulations required all Colleges/Universities to establish an Equal Opportunity Cell to oversee the promotion of equality and appoint an Anti-Discrimination Officer to investigate complaints of discrimination in breach of equity, "guidelines have not proven to be effective or sufficient".

The plea wants institutions to upload on their websites all measures for elimination of castebased discrimination and procedure and punishments for breaching them and ensure a wider outreach through publicity

tal and non-governmental actors. The petitioners also urged the court to direct universities to take strong action against victimisation of students/staff who file complaints of caste-based discrimination and to take steps in the nature of interim relief that restrain the institution from creating a hostile environment against them.

The plea also prayed the National Assessment & Accreditation Council should cater to diversity and affirmative action policy as a separate criterion and thus incentivise universities to develop a congenial atmosphere that promotes diversity and also include "measures to prevent caste-based discrimination" as compulsory criteria required to be fulfilled for accreditation.

NEW DELHI: Over 69 years after it came into existence, the Supreme Court of India will, for the first time, have a judge sitting singly to decide on matters of bail and anticipatory bail — in cases which carry a punishment of up to seven years' imprisonment and transfer of cases from one state to another.

Supreme Court Rules 2013 have been amended to allow the Chief Justice of India (CJI) to nominate any apex court judge and constitute a single-judge bench. The notification of the changes introduced in the rules was published in the Gazette of India on September 19.

The move, a Supreme Court registry official said, is aimed at bringing down pendency in the top court. It is not vet clear how many such benches would be set up by the CJI. On Monday, four new judges would be administered the oath, taking up the strength of the apex court to 34.

Several transfer petitions related to matrimonial disputes have choked the system, "Such matters can be disposed of quickly by a single judge," the official cited above said on condition of anonymity.

Top court to hear pleas filed by Tadvi, Vemula's mothers

NEWDELHI: The Supreme Court on Friday agreed to hear a petition filed by the mothers of Paval Tadvi and Rohith Vemula, who allegedly committed suicide over purported caste bias, seeking remedies to bring an end to the issue of caste-based discrimina-

The agency said that there is "overwhelming incriminating evidence" against the accused and hence the plea should be rejected. The agency also said that releasing Chidambaram would be fatal as he would try to influence the witnesses and is a serious flight risk.

"It is stated that the gravity of the offence is also to be seen in view of the impunity with which a high public office has been abused for personal gain. In the present case, the petitioner (Chidambaram), who held a very high and influential office of the Finance Minister of the country used the same for personal gains. personally, as well as in connivance with his co-conspirators This fact itself makes the present case grave enough to deny bail to the petitioner," the reply read.

In his plea, Chidambaram told the court that he is not needed anymore in the investigation. He said he has joined the investiga tion and hence should be granted regular bail. He has also pointed out that the case was registered 10 years after the alleged offence took place.

Ayodhya case: Sunni Waqf board argues against Nyas's civil suit

HT Correspondent

NEW DELHI: The Uttar Pradesh Sunni Central Wakf Board claimed on Friday that the civil suit filed by Ramianmabhumi Nyas, one of the Hindu parties to the Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masiid dispute, was a "socio-political vehicle" for the organization that gave a political overtone to the Ayodhya Ram temple cam-

The board's counsel, senior advocate Rajeev Dhavan, highlighted the political nature of the temple movement and contended: "Thus it is clear that suit no.5 was a socio-political vehicle for the Nyas, pointing to the future and trying to reiterate the past to serve the future." The board is the main petitioner in the land title suit.

The senior advocate was addressing a bench led by Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoj and comprising justices SA Bobde, D Y Chandrachud, Ashok Bhushan and S Abdul Nazeer, which is hearing appeals against the 2010 verdict of the Allahabad high court dividing the disputed acres in Ayodhya into three equal parts to be given to the Sunni Waaf Board, Nirmohi Akhara and the organisation representing Ram Lalla, the infant deity.

Attacking the Nyas, Dhayan said the "purpose and direction" of the suit filed by the trust was to remove all the existing structures and destroy it to the extent required. The karseva (voluntary work) done for the proposed temple was "entirely political" for which the Vishwa Hindu Parishad had collected consecrated stones from across the country. he said

Dhavan questioned the logic behind the Ramjanmabhumi Nyas even being a petitioner in the case. According to him, the sole purpose was to create not just a juristic personality but to have two legal regimes — one the idol regime and the other bhumi.

Neeraj Chauhan

NEW DELHI: The Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) appellate tribunal has quashed the attachment of a farmhouse belonging to Rashtriya Janata Dal leader and former Bihar chief minister Lalu Prasad's daughter Misa Bharti and her husband Shailesh Kumar in Delhi's Bij wasan area.

The farmhouse, held in the name of Mishail Packers and Printers Pvt Ltd. in which Bharti was a director until 2017, was attached by the ED on September 4.2017 on grounds that ₹1.2 crore of laundered money had been used by the company for its purchase in 2007-08.

The ED had in December 2017 filed a charge sheet claiming that Bharti, Shailesh Kumar, brothers Surendra Jain and Virendra Jain and a chartered accountant, Rajesh Agrawal were engaged in money laundering and proceeds of crime were used to buy the farmhouse for ₹1.33 crore.

Out of the ₹1.33 crore, ₹1.20 crore was the laundered money, as alleged by the ED. Out of this ₹1.20 crore, ₹90 lakh was paid in cash. Accommodation entries according to the ED, are someone accommodating illegal money through a shell company or in the form of cash.

Chairman of the PMLA appellate tribunal, Justice Manmohan Singh, said in his September 17 order: "Property was attached in haste, possession is taken in haste. Thus, as far as the attachment of property is concerned, the attachment stands quashed". "ED has only alleged use of unaccounted money and has failed to identify any related scheduled offence, let alone any proceeds emanating there from, in relation to Mishail Packers or the farmhouse," he ruled.

The judge, however, asked Mishail Packers to deposit ₹90 lakh with the ED in view of the allegations about accommoda tion entries. An ED official said on the condition of anonymity that the judge had asked for ₹90 lakh deposit as the investigation is still on, but now that the farmhouse's attachment stands released, it means Bharti and Shailesh Kumar can use their property without any hindrance. Justice Singh, who is due to retire on September 22, also questioned ED's money laundering probe against Bharti and Shailesh Kumar, saying it was a case of accommodation entries which the income-tax department had already dealt with.

Asserting that the I-T depart ment had conducted an inquiry and found that investments in Mishail were genuine, the tribunal observed: "...aforesaid investment has been held genuine by the income tax department after verifying the balance sheet".

Senior Advocate Amit Sibal, who appeared on behalf of Bharti's company, said, "The tribunal has set aside the attachment stating that it was done without application of mind. It was opposed by the ED tooth and nail and they tried to delay this order as they knew that it was a frivolous attachment.'

The ED didn't respond to queries from HT seeking comment.
