4566. In the light of the above and considering overall findings of this Court on various issues, following directions and/or declaration, are given which in our view would meet the ends of justice:

(i) It is declared that the area covered by the central dome of the three domed structure, i.e., the disputed structure being the deity of Bhagwan Ram Janamsthan and place of birth of Lord Rama as per faith and belief of the Hindus, belong to plaintiffs (Suit-5) and shall not be obstructed or interfered in any manner by the defendants. This area is shown by letters AA BB CC DD is Appendix 7 to this judgment.

(ii) The area within the inner courtyard denoted by letters B C D L K J H G in Appendix 7 (excluding (i) above) belong to members of both the communities, i.e., Hindus (here plaintiffs, Suit-5) and Muslims since it was being used by both since decades and centuries. It is, however, made clear that for the purpose of share of plaintiffs, Suit-5 under this direction the area which is covered by (i) above shall also be included.

(iii) The area covered by the structures, namely, Ram Chabutra, (EE FF GG HH in Appendix 7) Sita Rasoi (MM NN OO PP in Appendix 7) and Bhandar (II JJ KK LL in Appendix 7) in the outer courtyard is declared in the share of Nirmohi Akhara (defendant no. 3) and they shall be entitled to possession thereof in the absence of any person with better title.

(iv) The open area within the outer courtyard (A G H J K L E F in Appendix 7) (except that covered by (iii) above) shall be shared by Nirmohi Akhara (defendant no. 3) and plaintiffs (Suit-5) since it has been generally used by the Hindu people for worship at both places.

(iv-a) It is however made clear that the share of muslim parties shall not be less than one third (1/3) of the total area of the premises and if necessary it may be given some area of outer courtyard. It is also made clear that while making partition by metes and bounds, if some minor adjustments are to be made with respect to the share of different parties, the affected party may be compensated by allotting the requisite land from the area which is under acquisition of the Government of India.

(v) The land which is available with the Government of India acquired under Ayodhya Act 1993 for providing it to the parties who are successful in the suit for better enjoyment of the property shall be made available to the above concerned parties in such manner so that all the three parties may utilise the area to which they are entitled to, by having separate entry for egress and ingress of the people without disturbing each others rights. For this purpose the concerned parties may approach the Government of India who shall act in accordance with the above directions and also as contained in the judgement of Apex Court in Dr. Ismail Farooqi (Supra).

(vi) A decree, partly preliminary and partly final, to the effect as said above (i to v) is passed. Suit-5 is decreed in part to the above extent. FINDINGS ON ISSUES

Suit-4

1. Issue 1 (Suit-4) is answered in favour of plaintiffs.
2. Issue 1(a) (Suit-4) is answered in negative. The plaintiffs have failed to prove that the building in dispute was built by Babar or by Mir Baqi.
3. Issues 1(b), 6, 13, 14 and 27 (Suit-4) are answered in affirmative.
4. Issue 1-B(a) (Suit-4) is answered in affirmative and it is held that the fact that the land in dispute entered in the records of the authorities as Nazul plot would make things difference.
5. Issue 1-B(b) (Suit-4) is not answered being irrelevant.
6. Issue 1-B(c) (Suit-4)-It is held that building in question was not exclusively used by the members of muslim community. After 1856-57 outer courtyard exclusively used by Hindu and inner courtyard had been visited for the purpose of worship by the members of both the communities.
7. Issue 2 (Suit-4) is answered in negative, i.e., against the plaintiffs.
8. Issue 3 (Suit-4) is answered in negative, i.e., against the plaintiffs. It is held that Suit-4 is barred by limitation.
9. Issue 4 (Suit-4)-At least since 1856-57, i.e., after the erection of partition wall the premises in outer courtyard has not been shown to be used/possessed by muslim parties but so far as the inner courtyard is concerned it has been used by both the parties.
10. Issue 5(a) (Suit-4) is answered against the plaintiffs.
11. Issue 5(b) (Suit-4) is answered in favour of defendants and Hindu parties in general.
12. Issues 5(c), 7(c), 8, 12, 22 (Suit-4), are answered in negative.
13. Issue 5(d) (Suit-4) is not pressed by the defendants, hence not answered.
14. Issue 5(e) (Suit-4) is decided in favour of plaintiffs subject to that issue 6 (Suit-3) is also decided in favour of defendants (Suit-3).
15. Issue 5(f) (Suit-4) is answered in negative, i.e., in favour of plaintiffs and against the defendants.
16. Issue 7(a) (Suit-4) is answered in negative. It is held that there is nothing to show that Mahant Raghubar Das filed Suit-1885 on behalf of Janamsthan and whole body of persons interested in Janamsthan.
17. Issue 7(b) (Suit-4) is answered in affirmative, i.e., in favour of plaintiffs (Suit-4).
18. Issue 7(d) (Suit-4) is answered in negative to the extent that there is no admission by Mahant Raghubar Das plaintiff of Suit-1885 about the title of Muslims to the property in dispute or any portion thereof. Consequently, the question of considering its effect does not arise.
19. Issues 10 and 15 (Suit4) are answered in negative, i.e., against the plaintiffs and muslims in general.
20. Issue 11 (Suit-4)-It is held that the place of birth as believed and worshipped by Hindus his the area covered under the central dome of the three domed structure, i.e., the disputed structure in the inner courtyard in the premises of dispute.
21. Issue 16 (Suit-4)-No relief since the suit is liable to be dismissed being barred by limitation.
22. Issue 17 (Suit-4) is answered in negative holding that no valid notification under Section 5(3) of U.P. Act No. 13 of 1936 was issued.
23. Issue 18 (Suit-4)-It is held that the decision of the Apex Court in Gulam Abbas Vs. State of U.P. and others, AIR 1981 SC 2199 does not affect findings on issue 17 (Suit-4) and on the contrary the same stand supported and strengthen by the said judgment.
24. Issue 19(a) (Suit-4)-It is held that the premises which is believed to be the place of birth of Lord Rama continue to vest in the deity but the Hindu religious structures in the outer courtyard cannot be said to be the property of plaintiffs (Suit-5).
25. Issue 19(b) (Suit-4) is answered in affirmative to the extent that the building was land locked and could not be reached except of passing through the passage of Hindu worship. However, this by itself was of no consequence.

26. Issue 19(c) (Suit-4)-It is held that Hindus were worshipping at the place in dispute before construction of the disputed structure but that would not make any difference to the status of the building in dispute which came to be constructed at the command of the sole monarch having supreme power which cannot be adjudicated by a Court of Law, came to be constituted or formed much after, and according to the law which was not applicable at that time.
27. Issue 19(d) and 19(e) (Suit-4) are answered in favour of the plaintiffs.

29. Issue 20(a) being irrelevant not answered.
30. Issue 20(b) (Suit-4)-It is held that at the time of attachment of the building there was a Mutawalli, i.e., one Sri Javvad Hussain and in the absence of Mutawalli relief of possession cannot be allowed to plaintiffs who are before the Court in the capacity of worshippers.
31. Issue 21 (Suit-4) is decided in negative, i.e., in favour of the plaintiffs. The suit is not bad for non-joinder of deities.
32. Issues 23 and 24 (Suit-4) are held that neither the Waqf Board is an instrumentality of State nor there is any bar in filing a suit by the Board against the State. It is also not a 'State' under Article 12 of the Constitution and can very well represent the interest of one community without infringing any provision of the Constitution.
33. Issues 25 and 26 (Suit-4)-Held that as a result of demolition of the disp0uted structure it cannot be said that the suit has rendered not maintainable. Nothing further needs to be answered.
34. Issue 28 (Suit-4)-It is held that plaintiffs have failed to prove their possession of the disputed premises, i.e., outer and inner courtyard including the disputed building ever.

Gist on some point

1. The area covered under the central dome of the disputed structure is the birthplace of Lord Rama as per faith and belief of Hindus.

2. Disputed structure was always treated, considered and believed to be a mosque and practised by Mohammedans for worship accordingly. However, it has not been proved that it was built during the reign of Babar in 1528.

3. In the absence of any otherwise pleadings and material it is difficult to hold as to when and by whom the disputed structure was constructed but this much is clear that the same was constructed before the visit of Joseph Tieffenthaler in Oudh area between 1766 to 1771.

4. The building in dispute was constructed after demolition of Non-Islamic religious structure, i.e., a Hindu temple.

5. The idols were kept under the central dome of the disputed structure in the night of 22nd/23rd December 1949.

Other Original Suits no. 3 of 1989 and 4 of 1989 are barred by limitation.

''At that time there was neither death nor immortality, and there was also no knowledge of day and night in absence of the Sun and the Moon. In that stage of vacuum, Brahm (the Supreme Being) alone was imbibing life from His own power. There was

1. Sixty years and more since the first Suit was filed in the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad, twenty one years and more before a Full Bench of this Court (on transfer of the suits from the Court of Civil Judge Faizabad), 533 exhibits; 87 witnesses deposing in about 13990 pages; more than a thousand reference books on various subjects like History, Culture, Archaeology, Religion etc. and in different languages like Sanskrit, Hindi, Urdu, Persian, Turkish, French etc.; innumerable archaeological artifacts kept in the record room; dozens of C.Ds. and other record; and, the period of events ranging from crores to more than 550 years; religious faith, sentiments and pathos of millions of people of not only this Country but abroad also, give some indication towards length, width and depth of the dispute before us.

TOPOGRAPHY

2. The entire dispute in these four suits relates to the land situate in village Kot Rama Chandra (Ramkot at Ayodhya), Pargana Haveli Avadh, Tehsil Sadar, District Faizabad. At the disputed site there was an old structure--centre of controversy

www.vadaprativada.com

among two major communities of this country, i.e., Hindus and Muslims. Amongst Hindus also a religious sect known as "Ramanandi Vairagis" has an independent and separate claim. It is claimed by Hindus in general that the disputed site is the place where Lord Rama was born and it is his birthplace. There existed a Rama temple at the site which was demolished in 1528 by Mir Baqi, a Commander of Babar, and, he constructed the said disputed structure which the Muslims claimed to be "Babari Mosque". The claim of Hindus is that there cannot be another birthplace of Lord Rama. Therefore, by its very nature they cannot give away such a unique and singular pious place. Ramanandi Vairagis, however, claim that the structure was not a mosque but continued to be a "Rama temple" throughout and worshipped as such, it belongs to them, and they were/are in continuous possession and management thereof till December' 1949, i.e. the date of attachment. They, however, are in agreement with the orthodox Hindus' general belief that the site in dispute is the birthplace of Lord Rama.

3. On the eastern and southern side of the structure there was open land. On the northern and western side there was a public road and public pathway. Beyond the road, in the north, there was again open land and beyond the pathway in the west there is a deep slope.

4. The disputed structure was demolished on 6.12.1992 but its topography before its demolition has been noticed in this Court's judgment dated 11.12.1992 in Writ Petition No. 3540 (MB) of 1991, Mohammad Hashim Vs. State of U.P. and others. In the judgmdent of Hon'ble S.C. Mathur, J. details of the site is described as under:

"The aforesaid structure is divisible into three parts.

(1) the main roofed structure, (2) the inner courtyard, and (3) outer courtyard. The public road is to the north of the structure. Immediately adjoining the roofed structure to the east is the inner courtyard. To the east of this courtyard is the outer courtyard. On the outer courtyard there is a Chabutara which has been in possession of the Hindus. There are other signs on this courtyard which are objects of reverence or worship to the Hindus, like Sita Rasoi and Charan. To the east of the outer courtyard is a boundary wall having a gate. It is this gate which provides entry first to the outer courtyard, then to the inner courtyard and lastly to the roofed structure."

5. In view of the decision of the Apex Court in Dr. M. Ismail Faruqui etc. Vs. Union of India and others 1994 (6) SCC 360= AIR 1995 SC 605, the area of land in dispute, which is to be adjudicated by this Court is now restricted to what has been referred to in para 4 above, i.e. main roofed structure, the inner courtyard and the outer courtyard. In fact, the area under the roofed structure and Sahan, for the purpose of convenience, shall be referred hereinafter as "inner courtyard" and rest as the "outer courtyard". Broadly, the measurement of the disputed area is about 130X80 sq. feet.

Disputed Structure

6. Though the disputed structure was demolished on 6th December, 1992 but it would be necessary to have a broad idea of the above structure which is the bone of contention in all theses cases. It was situated on the north-east corner of the mound or plateau, about 30' – 40' higher than the level of Highway. It was a three-arched structure having three broad but pointed arches on the facade. The liwan (sanctuary) which stood on a low plinth was composed of three square bays, roofed by three single broad and high domes. The skeleton mainly built of brick and mortar. The enclosing wall through which the entrance given is said to have been constructed in the middle of nineteenth century. It had twelve corner pillars on the angles of six main piers which make up the nave or the central or the main bay of the mosque. These small pillars were of black stone of the family of "schist" polished and commonly called as "Kasauti" stone. These pillars did not support the main load of the ceiling which passed down to the main columns of the ground floor, but only carried the lintels of the opening extensions. The pillars were not load bearing but simply strengthened the piers at their corners. The three domes appeared to be disproportionate. They were allegedly repaired, restored or renovated from time to time. In 1949/1950 when the present dispute arose, there were three inscriptions. One is a Persian epigraph of 8 verses, carved in relief in 4 lines in Naskh, above the chhajja on the central arch. Below the Chhajjas, Quranic verses from Chapter-CXII were carved. Two other inscriptions are said to have lost in 1934 riots but were replaced. One was on the southern side of the pulpit and another was on the right hand of the pulpit. The contents of those inscriptions would be dealt with and reproduced later on while dealing with the relevant issue. A photograph of the disputed building published in 1902 in the book "Tarikh-E-Ajudhya" is appended to this judgement as Appendix '1'. This is the oldest photograph of the building made available to the Court.

O.O.S. No.1 of 1989 (earlier registered as Regular Suit no. 2 of 1950)

www.vadaprativada.com

7. Regular Suit No. 2 of 1950 was filed in the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad by Sri Gopal Singh Visharad on 16.1.1950 impleading Sri Zahoor Ahmad, Hazi Phenku, Hazi Mohd. Fayaq, Mohd. Shami and Mohd. Achhan Mian as defendants no. 1 to 5. Uttar Pradesh State, Lucknow, Deputy Commissioner, Faizabad, City Magistrate, Faizabad and Superintendent of Police, Faizabad were impleaded as defendants no. 6 to 9. During the pendency of the Suit, Sri Gopal Singh Visharad died and was substituted by his son Sri Rajendra Singh pursuant to Court's order dated 22.2.1986. Defendants no. 1 to 5 also expired in the meantime. No substitution except Plaintiff no. 1, has been sought in place thereof. Vide Court's order dated 7th January 1987, Sunni Central Waqf Board, U.P., Lucknow through its Secretary was allowed to be impleaded as defendant no.10. Similarly vide Court's order dated 23.8.1990, Nirmohi Akhara, Ayodhya through its Sarpanch Ram Swarup Das, Deputy Sarpanch M. Bhaskar Das and Panch Raja Ramachandracharya has been impleaded as defendant no. 11. So, presently, in effect, the parties to the suit consist of Rajendra Singh, the plaintiff and six defendants, i.e., defendants no. 6 to 11. On transfer to this Court vide order dated 10.7.89, the aforesaid suit was re-registered as O.O.S. No. 1 of 1989 (hereinafter referred to as “Suit-1”).

Reliefs

8. The reliefs sought in Suit-1 (duly amended pursuant to the Court's order dated 7.1.1989) are: a declaration that the plaintiff is entitled to offer worship without any obstruction according to rites and tenets of his religion at the birth place of Lord Shri Ram Chandra, described at the foot of the plaint and defendants no. 1 to 10 and their substitutes have no authority to create any hindrance/obstruction in the aforesaid right of the plaintiff, a permanent prohibitory injunction against defendants no. 1 to 10 and their substitutes not to remove the idols of Lord Shri Ram Chandra situated at the place of birth described at the foot of the plaint, neither obstruct ingress and egress to the aforesaid place or at the entry point nor create any obstruction in worship and Darshan (Pooja and Darshan). The cost of suit and any other relief which may justifiably be granted are also prayed.

www.vadaprativada.com

Plaint (Suit-1)

9. The case set up by the plaintiff is that he is a religious person, resident of Ayodhya and used to worship the idols of God according to customs of his religion (Sanatan Dharma). He has also been offering worship to idol and Charan Paduka (wooden sleeper) of Lord Shri Ram Chandra at his birth place, details whereof are given at the foot of the plaint and is entitled to continue such worship without any hindrance at the aforesaid place in future also. The plaintiff was ill for some time and when on 14.01.1950 he went to offer worship at the birth place of Lord Shri Ram Chandra, defendant no. 6 along with employees of the State restrained him from approaching the place at which the idol of Lord Shri Ram Chandra was situated. On enquiry he came to know that defendants no. 1 to 5 and 6 through its employees i.e. defendants no. 7 to 9 were depriving Hindu public from offering their lawful right of worship at the aforesaid place. Defendant no.6 on account of mala fide of defendants no. 1 to 5 had also made it open that in future also Hindu public would be continuously deprived of such right. This unjustified and illegal action has damaged the plaintiff's basic right which he has been exercising throughout. The present plaintiff also apprehends every possibility of continuance of such deprivation of his religious rights by the defendants. Defendant no. 6 through its employees and defendants no. 7 to 9 are exercising undue pressure upon Hindu public to remove the idols of Lord Shri Ram Chandra from the present place and other defendants are cooperating with them. In this way, the defendants are determined to continue with their illegal and unjust activities. The aforesaid action of defendants is illegal, unjustified and collusive, infringing the fundamental rights of the plaintiff and cannot be accepted by the plaintiff. Deprivation of such right by defendants no. 6 to 9 is illegal, ultra vires and against the provisions of the Government of India Act, 1935 (hereinafter referred to as "GOI Act, 1935"). The cause of action is said to have arisen on 14.1.1950 within the jurisdiction of Civil Judge, Faizabad when the plaintiff was deprived of exercising his religious rights. After the death of the plaintiff Gopal Singh Visharad his son has also similar right and is entitled to pursue the aforesaid suit. The plaint is signed and verified by the plaintiff on 13.1.1950.

10. The place of dispute has been described at the foot of the plaint as under:

East:	Janam Bhumi, Bhandar and Chabutara (Birth Place, Store and platform)
West:	Parti (Vacant land)
North:	Sita Rasoi (Kitchen of Goddess Sita)
South:	Parti (Vacant Land)

11. A temporary injunction was granted on 16.1.1950 which was modified on 19.1.1950 on an application filed by District Magistrate/Deputy Commissioner, seeking clarification/ modification of the earlier order. Thereafter a receiver was appointed by order dated 3.3.1950 who continued till a Civil

www.vadaprativada.com

Court's Receiver was appointed. In 1993 the property was acquired and now the "Authorised Person" i.e. Commissioner, Faizabad Division, Faizabad, a statutory authority is looking after the same.

Written statement of Defendants no. 1 to 5 (Jahoor Ahmad, Hazi Phenku, Hazi Mohd. Phayak, Mohd. Shami and Mohd. Achchhan Miya) (Suit-1)

12. Written statement dated 21.2.1950 filed on behalf of defendants no. 1 to 5 states that the disputed site is not a birth place. A mosque was constructed thereat by Emperor Babar Shah. The suit has been filed by giving wrong facts with an intention to mislead the Court and to obtain an order against the defendants which would be contrary to law. All the averments made in the plaint are denied. The plaintiff is not entitled to any relief. The additional pleas are that in the year 1528 Emperor Babar visited Ayodhya after conquering Hindustan and through its Minister/Commander Mir Baqi got a mosque constructed called 'Babari Masjid' and made it open to all Muslims for offering prayer through a general Waqf (Waqf-e-Aam). He also provided Rs. 60/- per annum for maintenance, repairs etc. of the aforesaid mosque, which was paid from the Government Treasury. The aforesaid amount was continuously paid by subsequent Mughal Rulers. Even Nawab Awadh continued with the said grant and, in fact, increased the amount to Rs. 302, 3 Annas and 6 paise per annum. This grant was maintained by British Government also. In 1885, Raghubar Das, Mahant, Janamsthan Ayodhya filed a suit against the Secretary of State for India in Council and Mohd. Asghar, Mutvalli/caretaker, Babari Masjid, in the Court of Sub Judge, Faizabad. He also filed a map showing the existence of mosque at the place in dispute and nobody disputed the same. He sought relief in respect to one Chabutara (platform) only. Now the claim of the plaintiff that the entire building is a birth place temple is incorrect and without any basis. The suit has been filed dishonestly and mala fide. The Court of Sub Judge, Faizabad vide judgment dated 24.12.1885 dismissed the suit of Raghubar Das, Mahanth.The said judgment was maintained in appeal. Though the suit was only in respect of right on a Chabutara, but that too was rejected by trial court as well as the appellate courts. The aforesaid case at that time was very sensitive. Many Mahanths and other followers of Hindu community pursued the aforesaid suit. Everybody was well informed of the aforesaid suit.

13. The written statement further says that pursuant to U.P. Waqf Act no. 13 of 1936 (hereinafter referred to as "1936 Act"), a Chief Commissioner of Waqf was appointed who made a spot inspection and on verification held that the place in dispute is 'Babari Masjid' constructed by Emperor Babar who was a Sunni. The mosque in question was held a "Sunni Waqf" and accordingly issued notification. The Muslim people have possession over the land in question as Waqf Babari Masjid since 1528 till date. Even if the plaintiff or any other Hindu prove that prior to construction of Babari Masjid there existed some temple, though it is not acceptable to the defendants, yet, for the last almost 400 years and above, the Muslims are in possession over the land in question and have completed their right of adverse possession being there for more than 12 years. The plaintiff and any other Hindu therefore have no right on the place in dispute. The plaintiff neither had any possession nor other kind of right in past, present or future. The suit is not maintainable in view of Section 42 of Specific Relief Act. It is barred by limitation. The plaintiff has neither shown any personal right on the building at the site nor otherwise has any ownership or other right on the property in question. The suit is liable to be dismissed. The plaintiff has not filed any application under Order 1, Rule 8 of the Code of Civil Procedure (hereinafter referred to as "C.P.C.") and, therefore, the suit cannot be treated to be in representative capacity filed on behalf of entire Hindu public and, hence not maintainable. The suit is bad for want of notice under section 80 C.P.C. against defendants no. 6 to 9. It is further said that the defendants are not aware of existence of idol in the property in question, i.e., Babari Masjid and till 16.12.1949 Namaz was offered therein. No idol existed thereat till 16.12.1949. If anybody has put idol in the mosque subsequently with bad and dishonest intention, i.e., only to damage the sacred place, i.e., the mosque, such attempt is a criminal and illegal act. If anybody wants to enter a mosque with an intention for idol worship, he deserves to be punished in law and no such permission can be granted. The plaintiff has not disclosed as to how and in what manner defendants no. 6 to 9 prevented him from exercising his alleged right and details are lacking. It is also not explained as to which employees of defendants no. 6 restrained plaintiff and in what capacity. So far as the defendants are aware, defendant no. 9 initiated proceedings under section 145 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (hereinafter referred to as "Cr.P.C.") in respect of Babari Masjid and pursuant thereto some action was taken by defendants no.7 and 8. Though the defendants are not accepting the proceedings initiated under Section 145, Cr.P.C. but the same being legal proceedings, no suit for injunction would lie so long the said proceedings are pending. Besides, in Ayodhya

there is a temple known as "Birth Place of Lord Shri Ram Chandra" at a different place whereat idols of Lord Ram Chandra also exist. The present suit with an intention to call the "mosque" as "birth place of Lord Shri Ram Chandra" is a misleading attitude of the plaintiff and his instigators, and, may be an attempt to gain some advantage in election. It is also contrary to the principle of a secular State. The suit has been filed to harass the defendants and, therefore, they are entitled to costs.

14. The plaintiff filed replication dated 5.12.1952 denying the existence of Babari Masjid and Waqf created by Babar as also the right of Muslims to offer prayers at the place in dispute. Denying issuance of notification, if any under 1936 Act, he claims to be unaware of the said proceedings and thus not bound by the same. He has individual right of worship and, therefore, is entitled to claim the relief as prayed. Order 1 Rule 8 C.P.C. would not come in his way. Since 1934 Namaz has not been offered at the place in dispute. The idols of Lord Shri Ram Chandra exist on the disputed site and this fact is well known to defendants no.1 to 5. The temple of Lord Shri Ram Chandra Janamsthan, existence whereof has been set out in written statement, is a different temple and boundaries of the said temple are as under:

North:	Ahata. Parti and temple in possession of Kallu Mahapatra
South :	Pitch Road
East :	Road, Sahan and a well
West :	Hata and Parti (Compound and vacant land)

www.vadaprativada.com

15. He also said that in Ayodhya almost every temple has idol of Lord Shri Ram Chandra which has nothing to do with the site in dispute and reference to election etc. is wholly irrelevant. The plaintiff is an Advocate practising before the local Indian Rulers (Deshi Rajware) in the earlier times and has a lot of own property. After constitution of Indian Union, he has now a right to practice. Even if there existed Babari Masjid as claimed by the defendants, yet it is a fact that since 1934 Muslims have neither entered the said premises nor offered Namaz or prayer thereat. Since then the place in dispute is in possession of Hindu people who visit the said place continuously treating it to be a temple. Any proceeding initiated by the Muslims collusively in any Court is all fictitious and not binding either on Hindu public or on plaintiff in particular.

Written statement dated 25.4.1950 of Defendant no. 6 (United Provinces, Uttar Pradeh State, Lucknow) (Suit-1)

16. On behalf of defendant no. 6 a separate written statement dated 25.4.1950 has been filed denying allegations made in the plaint and raising objection of want of notice under Section 80 C.P.C., non-description of the property in dispute properly, lack of cause of action and under-valuation. It is also averred that property in suit is known as Babari Masjid and has been in use as a mosque for worship by Muslims. It has not been used as a temple of Lord Shri Ram Chandra Ji. In the night of 22.12.1949 idols of Lord Shri Ram Chandra Ji were surreptitiously and wrongly put inside it. Apprehending disturbance of public peace and tranquility, the authorities intervened and passed an order under Section 144 Cr.P.C. on 23.12.1949 prohibiting carrying of firearm, swords, etc. and assemblance of more than five persons within the limits of Faizabad and Ayodhya municipalities. On 29.12.1949 Sri Markandey Singh, the then Additional City

Magistrate on police report and other information passed an order under Section 145 Cr.P.C., calling upon the claimants of the premises in question to appear and file their written statement by 17.1.1950 in his Court. The said Magistrate also formed an opinion of emergency, attached the said property and appointed Sri Priya Dutt Ram, Chairman, Municipal Board, Faizabad, Ayodhya as Receiver of the said property, authorizing him to take care thereof and also to submit a scheme for its management. The authorities have acted in accordance with law fraught with a situation of serious danger to public peace and tranquillity. The Court has no jurisdiction to grant any injunction causing interference in the performance of public duty by a department of the Government.

Written statement of Defendants no. 8 and 9 (Sri Markandey Singh, Additional City Magistrate, Faizabad and Sri Ram Kripal Singh, Superintendent of Police, Faizabad) (Suit-1)

17. Defendants no. 8 and 9 have filed written statements separately but the contents thereof are similar to the written statement of defendant no.6.

Written statement dated 24.2.1989 of Defendant no. 10 (U.P. Sunni Central Waqf Board) (Suit-1)

18. After impleadment, defendant no. 10, U.P. Sunni Central Waqf Board also filed a separate written statement dated 24.2.1989. The pleadings are similar as those in the written statement of defendants no. 1 to 5, and thus, are not being detailed herein but may be referred as and when occasion arises.

O.O.S. No. 3 of 1989 (earlier registered as Regular Suit No. 2 of 1959)

19. This suit was filed on 17.12.1959 by Nirmohi Akhara through its Mahant Raghunath Das (now substituted by Jagannath Das) and another in the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad. It was registered as R.S. No. 26 of 1959. However, after transfer to this Court it has been re-registered as O.O.S. No. 3 of 1989 (hereinafter referred to as "Suit-3"). Initially, when it was filed, Nirmohi Akhara and Mahant Raghunath Das were plaintiffs. Sri Babu Priya Dutt Ram, Receiver as well as the State of Uttar Pradesh and its authorities were impleaded as defendants no. 1 to 5. Three persons from Muslim community were impleaded as defendants no. 6 to 8 as representatives of the Muslim community. Subsequently, however, from time to time the array of parties has undergone amendments on various dates due to death etc. Presently plaintiffs are, Nirmohi Akhara through Mahant Jagannath Das (plaintiff no. 1) and Mahant Jagannath Das (plaintiff no. 2). The defendants are as follows :

> "1. Sri Jamuna Prasad Singh, 2. State of Uttar Pradesh, 3. Deputy Commissioner, Faizabad, 4. City Magistrate, Faizabad, 5. Superintendent of Police, Faizabad, 6. Haji Mehboob, 7. Haji Abdul, 8. Mohd. Faiq, 9. U.P. Sunni Central Board of Waqfs through its Secretary, Lucknow, 10. Umesh Chandra Pandey and 11. Mohd. Farook."
> (The defendants no. 9, 10 and 11 were impleaded on their application allowed by the Court vide orders dated 23.8.1989, 28.1.1989 and 3.12.1991 respectively).

20. The plaintiffs have sought relief of grant of a decree for removal of defendant no. 1 from the management and withdrawal of charge of the temple of Janam Bhumi and to deliver the same to the plaintiffs through Mahant and Sarbarahkar Mahant Jagannath Das.

Plaint (Suit-3)

21. The case set out in the plaint dated 17.12.1959 is that since the days of 'Yore' there exists an ancient Math or Akhara of "Ramanand Bairagis" called 'Nirmohis' with its seat at

www.vadaprativada.com

"Ramghat" known as "Nirmohi Akhara". Plaintiff no. 1, Nirmohi Akhara is a religious establishment of a public character and plaintiff no. 2 is the present Head as its Mahant and Sarbarahkar. The Janam Asthan commonly known as 'Janam Bhumi', the birth place of Lord Ram Chandra at Ayodhya always belong to plaintiff no. 1 who through its reigning Mahant and Sarbarahkar has ever since been managing it and receiving offerings made thereat in the form of money, sweets, flowers, fruits, other articles and things. The said Asthan of Janam Bhumi is of ancient antiquity. It is existing since before the living memory of men and lies within the boundaries shown by letters "A B C D" in the sketch map appended with the plaint within which there stands a temple building of Janam Bhumi marked by letters "E F G K P N M L E". The building denoted by letters "E F G H I J K L E" is the main temple of Janam Asthan wherein the idol of Lord Ram Chandra is installed with Lakshamanji, Hanumanji and Saligramji. The said temple has ever been in the possession of plaintiff no. 1 and none others, but Hindus have ever since been allowed to enter or worship therein and make offerings in various forms which were received by plaintiffs through their Pujaris. Nirmohi Akhara is a "Panchayati Math" of "Ramanandi sect of Vairagies" and as such is a "religious denomination" following its own religious faith and pursuit according to its own customs prevalent in Vairagies sect of Sadhus. The customs of Nirmohi Akhara have been reduced in writing on 19.03.1949 by a registered deed. The plaintiff, Nirmohi Akhara owns several temples and manages all of them through Panch and Mahants of Akhara. The temples and properties vest in Akhara being a Panchayati Math. It acts on a democratic pattern. The management and right of management of temples and Akhara vest absolutely with the Panch. No Mohammadan could or ever did enter the said temple/building. Even if it is attempted to prove that any Mohammadan ever entered it, at least from 1934 none has been allowed to enter or even attempted to enter the said premises. In 1950, City Magistrate, Faizabad (defendant no. 4) without any lawful cause, with the active connivance of defendants no. 2, 3 and 5 and on wrong persuasion of defendants no. 6 to 8 who claimed themselves to be the representatives of Muslim community, attached the main temple shown by letters E F G H I J K L E in the said sketch map with all the articles mentioned in list 'A' appended with the plaint in a proceeding under Section 145 Cr.P.C. and placed the temple and articles under charge of defendant no. 1 as Receiver on 05.01.1950. The plaintiffs claim to have been wrongfully deprived of charge and right to manage the said temple. The attachment is continuing with the connivance of all the defendants. There is no likelihood of early revival of charge since defendant no. 4, in connivance with other defendants, has refused to handover charge and management of the temple to the plaintiffs and, therefore, filing of the suit became inevitable. The plaintiffs are entitled for delivery of charge and management of the temple from defendant no. 1. Defendants no. 6 to 8 alleging themselves to be the representatives of Muslim community are exercising undue influence on defendants no. 1 to 5 to continue with the charge of temple and management in the hands of Receiver. They are being sued in representative capacity on behalf of entire Muslim community with the permission of the Court. The cause of action arose on 05.01.1950 when defendant no. 4 appointed defendant no. 1 as Receiver, and management and charge of the temple alongwith articles as stated was entrusted to him. A notice under Section 80 C.P.C. was given to defendants no. 1 to 5. It was delivered on 06.10.1959 and 12.10.1959 and replied by them through defendant no. 3, intimating their decision to defend the suit.

22. After demolition of the disputed building on 06.12.1992, the plaint was amended and now it has been stated that on 06.12.1992 the temples of Nirmohi Akhara were also demolished by some miscreants who have no religion, caste or creed. The main temple was demolished on 06.12.1992.

Written statement dated 28.3.1960 of Defendants no. 6 to 8 (Hazi Phenku, Hazi Mohd. Fayaq and Mohd. Achhan Mian) (Suit-3)

23. On behalf of defendants no. 6 to 8, a written statement dated 28.03.1960 has been filed. The allegations of the plaint in general are denied. In defence it is said that Shahanshah-E-Hind 'Babar' got constructed a building known as 'Babari Masjid' which is the property in dispute over which claim has been staked by the plaintiffs. The aforesaid building was constructed by Shahanshah Babar through its Wazir Mir Baqi in 1528 and made a Waqf-E-Aam for Muslims who got a right to offer prayers in the said building. For repairs and maintenance of the said building Shahanshah Babar provided Rs. 60/- per annum as grant from Royal Treasury which, since then, was being received continuously. Nawab Oudh not only continued the grant but also increased the amount to Rs. 302, 3 Anna and 6 Pai per annum. This grant was continued by British Government. In 1885 Mahant Raghubar Das of Janam Asthan Ayodhya filed a suit against Secretary of State in the Court of Sub-Judge, Faizabad wherein he also filed a map of the premises in question. The existing Masjid was shown very clearly and it was never disputed. The relief claimed therein was confined to a "Chabutara". It is incorrect and without basis that the said building is a temple of Janam Bhumi. The suit has been filed falsely and with dishonest intention. The suit of Mahant Raghubar Das was dismissed on 24.12.1885 and the judgement was confirmed in appeal. The Sub-Judge in his judgement also rejected the claim of the said plaintiff in respect of Chabutara. The said finding was confirmed in appeal. In the aforesaid suit various Mahants of Ayodhya and general Hindu public were very much interested. At that time the suit was very sensational and pursued by Hindu public in general. They had, therefore, knowledge of the said proceedings. Under U.P. Muslims Waqf Act, 1936 (hereinafter referred to as "UP Act, 1936"), a Chief Waqf Commissioner was appointed who made spot inspection and concluded that the building in question was Babari Masjid. Since Babar was a Sunni, therefore, it was held to be a "Masjid" belong to Sunni Waqf Board. A notification in this regard was also issued which has attained finality. The Muslims have possession over Babari Masjid since 1528 till date. Even if it is proved by the plaintiffs or any other Hindu that there existed any temple before construction of Babari Masjid, though it is denied, still for the last more than 400 years Babari Masjid exists on the place, maturing the rights of Muslims at the said premises by "adverse possession". The plaintiffs have no right or possession over the premises in dispute at any point of time. They have not given any notice under Section 80 C.P.C. to defendants no. 1 to 5. The existence of idol inside Babari Masjid is denied. On 16.12.1949 Namaz was offered and till then no idol existed therein. If subsequently somebody has placed any idol with a bad intention, it is an offence and contrary to Muslim religion and rights. Any such action would not confer any right upon the plaintiffs to claim interest in a Muslim religious place i.e. Masjid. As per the knowledge of defendants no. 6 to 8, defendants no. 1 to 5 initiated proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. and passed order appointing a Receiver at the premises in dispute which was in collusion with some Hindu people. At Ayodhya there exist a temple of Lord Ram Chandra. Mandir Janam Asthan is separate from the premises in question. The placement of idols at Babari Masjid and claim thereon by the plaintiffs is a collusive act on their part with an intention to get certain advantage in elections. The site mentioned in the appended copy is wrongly shown and is incorrect. There does not exist any “Shankar Chabutara” or “Sita Koop” or “Lomas Chaura” nor there exists any idol of Hanuman or Varah Bhagwan. The claim is fictitious and arbitrary having been made with mala fide. The plaintiffs have not shown as to how they got interest in the premises in question. One suit has been filed by one Sri Gopal Singh 'Visharad' and another by Param Hans Ram Chandra Das claiming their rights on Babari Masjid and, therefore, they are also liable to be impleaded in this suit. Building in question is clearly a Masjid. Government and everyone has always accepted and treated the same as such. The orders impugned have been issued under Section 145 Cr.P.C. and, therefore, the suit is not maintainable and liable to be dismissed. The plaintiffs have not impleaded the real persons who would have effectively represented the entire Muslim community. The defendants are not appropriate persons to represent the entire community. They have been impleaded only with an intention to harass them.

24. The plaintiffs' replication states that the property in suit is neither a mosque nor is known as Babari Mosque. It was not built by Emperor Babar through Mir Baqi nor made a Waqf. The property in suit is a temple of Janam Bhumi. Janam Asthan is a different temple unconnected with the temple of Janam Bhumi. The temple of Janam Asthan is situated to the north of the temple of Janam Bhumi across the road passing between Janam Bhumi and Janam Asthan. The plaintiffs are not aware of the suit said to have been filed by Mahant Raghubar Das. The Chief Commissioner of Waqf has no jurisdiction to declare the temple Janam Bhumi as mosque. The declaration is a nullity and has no effect in law. The plaintiffs were never intimated of any such proceedings held by the Chief Commissioner regarding temple Janam Bhumi building and if any proceedings were conducted separately, they have no effect in law. Notification, if any, is neither final nor binding on the plaintiffs. The Muslims were never in possession of the building in suit. The allegations regarding perfection of their right over the building by adverse possession is purely fictional and concocted. The plaintiffs have always been in peaceful possession of the building and there is no question of expiry of the period of limitation in this regard. The defendants have no right to take the plea of want of notice under Section 80 C.P.C. The Muslims and the entire community including the defendants know that the idols of Deity are installed in the building in suit i.e. in the temple of Janam Bhumi and regular Pooja of the idol is performed under the receivership of the defendant. No prayers were ever offered by any Muslim in the said building and suggestion otherwise of the defendants is false. The building is not a mosque. The relief sought is within the competence and jurisdiction of civil court.

The proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. were initiated in respect of Janam Bhumi temple and not of any mosque. It is admitted that the proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. were illegal since the plaintiffs have right of management of the said temple and defendants have no interest in the building in suit. No question of invasion of rights of defendants, therefore, arises. It is the plaintiffs who have suffered on account of appointment of Receiver since it is their right of management which has been impaired by appointment of Receiver. The old temple built on the sacred place at Ayodhya, admitted on the part of defendants is to create a confusion by referring the temple Janam Asthan and identifying it with the temple of Janam Bhumi is illegal. The defendants are encouraged by the proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. so as to set up their claim over the land and building in dispute. The description of property has been correctly made in the plaint. The sketch map is absolutely correct. The plaintiffs are in possession and management of the temple Janam Bhumi since living memory of men and it belongs to them who are managing it through its Mahant. Non acknowledgement by the Government of the temple Janam Bhumi is simply preposterous and collusive. The plaintiffs are in possession from time immemorial. The evidence of construction of temple by plaintiff no. 1 through Mahant Sarbarahkar, may not be traced due to lapse of immemorial age and for want of written record. The plaintiffs have acquired title by open and adverse possession for a period, larger than living memory of men.

Additional written statement dated 24.8.1995 of Defendant no. 9 (U.P. Sunni Central Board of Waqfs) (Suit-3)

25. Defendant no. 9 has filed an additional written statement dated 24.8.1995 disputing the assertions of amended plaint as

www.vadaprativada.com

contained in paragraphs 4-A, 4-B, 4-6 XI and XII and 10. It is said that since the plaint is not with respect to Chabutara, its demolition does not give any cause of action to the plaintiffs.

Written statement dated 21.10.1991 of Defendant no. 10 (Umesh Chandra Pandey) (Suit-3)

26. In the written statement dated 21.10.1991 filed by Umesh Chandra Pandey, defendant no. 10, it is said that Janam Asthan is a holy place of worship and belong to Deity of Bhagwan Shri Ram Lala Virajman. Neither it ever belong to nor could have belonged to plaintiff no. 1 and assertion of managing it at any point of time is denied. The holy Janam Asthan or Janam Bhumi is actually a very old temple while the Akhara of plaintiffs owes its existence for about 200 years. The correctness of sketch map and boundaries of the temple are not disputed. However, it is said that the main presiding Deity of the temple is Bhagwan Shri Ram, although there are several other idols of other deities termed as "Ram Darbar" and are worshipped. Besides, there are other symbols such as, "Charan", "Sita Rasoi" etc. through whereof the Deity of Bhagwan Shri Ram is worshipped. Shri Ramjanambhumi is in addition to the Asthan of Shri Ramjanambhumi which by itself is a Deity and worshipped as such. A Hindu temple is deemed to be possessed and owned by a Deity. The principal Deity of Shri Ramjanambhumi is Bhagwan Shri Ram. Any offering must have been received by the Manager of the same from time to time. It appears that in the first war of independence in 1857 AD, the Britishers, to divide Hindus and Muslims, acted mala fide and divided the said Asthan creating an inner enclosure, describing the boundary within the inner enclosure as a mosque. No Muslim who is a true Muslim would ever visit such a place for offering Namaz since it is prohibited by Shariyat. Even Aurangzeb issued a

mandate known as Fatwa-E-Alamgiri, prohibiting offering of Namaz by Muslims at such places. Moreso, the "Kasauti pillars" and the carvings of Gods and Goddesses clearly show that this place could not be used by a true Muslim for offering his prayer thereat. The place was wrongly alleged as mosque. It is land-locked by Hindu temples where the worship of Deities was going on. Entry to this inner enclosure was also prohibited. The Britishers tried to set up the descendants of Mir Baqi, a Shiya Muslim, as Mutwalli, but they denied the Taulkat and never looked after the disputed place in any capacity. The building was attached and Receiver was appointed by order dated 29.12.1949 by the Court of Additional City Magistrate, Faizabad in proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. Since the proceedings were initiated at the behest of Muslims represented by defendants no. 6 to 8 who have died, no cause of action survives and the suit stands abated. The suit is barred by time. The plaintiffs did not file any revision against the order of attachment and appointment of Receiver in proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. No individual Muslim came to contest the suit as representative of Muslim community. Defendants no. 6 to 8 are Sunnis and cannot represent Shiya community of Mohammadans and their representative capacity for Muslims is also denied. The permission granted to defendants no. 6 to 8 to represent all Muslims in representative capacity is bad. The suit is bad for mis-joinder and non-joinder and barred by time. The suit i.e. regular Suit No. 12 of 1961 is already pending involving similar issues wherein the plaintiffs are also parties and they can get their relief in the said suit.

Replication dated 8.11.1991 to written statement of Defendant no. 10 (Umesh Chandra Pandey) (Suit-3) 27. The replication dated 8.11.1991 states that defendant no.

10 has been used as a tool and lever by certain group of persons to defeat the claim of plaintiffs. Giving the history of the origin of "Nirmohi Akhara" it is said that its origin is more than 500 years ago. The entire hierarchy of persons has been mentioned. There was a great religious preceptor Shankaracharya at the end of 7th Century AC who established for the first time "Hindu Maths" in four corners of India i.e. Goverdhan Math at Puri, Jyotir Math at Badrinath, Saroda Math at Dwarka and Sringeri Math at Tungabhadra. The said practice was followed by other religious teachers and first in time was "Shri Ramanujacharya" followed by "Shri Ramanand". Shri Ramanand founded a sect of Vaishnavas known as "Ramats" which contains a large element of aesthetic population found in Banaras and Ayodhya. Ramanand established several Maths. Ramanadi Maths consist only of celibates. They obey no caste rules and admit even Sudras in their brotherhood. The "Ramats" worship one God in the form of 'Rama' and they call themselves "Dass" (servants of Lord). About 500 years ago, Shri Swami Brijnand Ji and Sri Balanand Ji, of Ramanandi Sect of Vairagies, established three Annis known as (1) Nirmohi, (2) Digamber and (3) Nirwani for protection and improvement of "Chatuha Rama Nandi Sampradaya". This comprised of seven Akharas namely, (1) Sri Panch Ramanandi Nirmohi Akhara, (2) Sri Panch Ramanandi Nirwani Akhara, (3) Sri Panch Ramanandi Digambari Akhara, (4) Sri Panch Ramanandi Santoshi Akhara, (5) Sri Panch Ramanandi Khaki Akhara, (6) Sri Panch Ramanandi Niralambi Akhara and (7) Sri Panch Ramanandi Maha Nirwani Akhara.

28. The Akharas as "Panchayati Maths" act on democratic pattern and real power vests in Panch. The appointment of Mahant is through election by Panchayat. The Mahant is the formal head of institution. The Nirmohi Akhara, being a Panchayati Math, own several temples and one of such is Ram Janam Asthan i.e. birth place of Lord Rama. Plot No. 163 of first regular settlement of 1861 has been a very big plot having 5 Bighas and 19 Biswas of land but when in the year 1895, amended map was prepared, a road bifurcated Janam Asthan. Sita Rasoi of Gudar Das Ka Asthan was separated. "Ram Janam Asthan" now known as "Ramjanambhumi" lies towards south of the road whereas "Janam Asthan of Gudar Dass" lies towards north side leading from Hanuman Garhi to Janam Bhumi Road shown in the last settlement of 1937 AD by Kistwar No. 159 and 160 (Appendix-1A, B to this judgment). At the time of attachment of main building, outer enclosure comprised of Ram Chabutara where Deity of Bhagwan Ram Lala Ji and Shatrughan Ji in a cage (Gufa) situate alongwith Sri Hanuman Ji. The said outer enclosure had Panchmukhi Shanker Ji, Ganesh Ji etc., with Chhatti Pujan Asthan where Holy Footprints of Lord Ram (Charo Bhaiya) exist which are perennial source of worship by followers of brotherhood of Rama Nandi Vairagies. This outer enclosure was in possession of Nirmohi Akhara as depicted by the Fard of 145 Cr.P.C. proceedings itself prior to attachment in February 1982. This attachment order was passed by Shree Pati, the then City Magistrate, Faizabad in the case under Section 145 Cr.P.C. Against final order of attachment dated 06.03.1982, Criminal Revision No. 60 of 1982, Dharam Das Chela Abhiram Das Vs. Sri Panch Rama Nandi Akhara was preferred which was dismissed on 13.05.1983 by IV Additional Sessions Judge, Faizabad. "Nirmohi Akhara" is a religious denomination. It had been maintaining and managing the disputed temple since long. Baba Baldeo Das was Pujari. His disciple Bhaskar Das now Up-Sarpanch and general agent of Nirmohi Akhara was there with him discharging the duties of Pujari. According to customs of Nirmohi Akhara, 5 Sadhus, 3 Pujaries, 2 cooks and one Panch always used to live at Shri Ramjanambhumi. Building certificate for outer enclosure has always been made in the name of Mahant Raghunath Das of Akhara. Idol of Lord Ram Chandra installed in main temple belong to Panchayati Math of Nirmohi Akhara. The big Deity of Lord Ram Chandra installed therein is Achal Deity. A small Ram Lala Ji, as called, which according to custom prevalent in Vairagi sect of Sathus in Ayodhya, is used to discharge certain outside ceremonies like Sharad Puno etc. Besides, there are six Shaligram Bhagwan. There are two Singhasans (Thrones) of Silver, one idol of Hanuman Ji and other Parshads as detailed in para 3 of the plaint. The Panch of Nirmohi Akhara and Nirwani Akhara fought together against many evil forces to save Hanuman Garhi and Ramjanambhumi. Hanuman Garhi belong to Panch Rama Nandi Nirwani Akhara. Similarly Shri Ramjanambhumi belong to Panch Ramanandi Nirmohi Akhara and same custom/riwaz/Parampara is applicable to Hanuman Garhi used to be observed for Darshan by Hindu public at large and by Nirmohi Akhara prior to attachment. In the year 1967 outer enclosure was released by Court of City Magistrate, Faizabad in favour of Ram Lakhan Das, a Panch of Nirmohi Akhara. Again in 1973, Regular Suit No. 9 of 1973 was filed in the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad and several disputes inter se were raised which continued upto Regular Suit No. 39 of 1982. The judicial record and its decision are in favour of Nirmohi Akhara proving its title and possession. Since 1982 the outer enclosure is in possession of the Receiver appointed by the

www.vadaprativada.com

Court in Regular Suit No. 39 of 1982 pending in the court of Civil Judge, Faizabad. The Nirmohi Akhara vehemently fought proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. and has filed affidavits in its favour. Defendant no. 10 has been utilised by Vishwa Hindu Parishad only as a lever for some ulterior motive.

O.O.S. No. 4 of 1989 (earlier registered as Regular Suit No. 12 of 1961)

29. The aforesaid suit was initially registered as regular Suit No. 12 of 1961 in the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad and after transfer to this Court has been re-registered as OOS No. 4 of 1989 *(hereinafter referred to as "Suit-4").*

30. It was filed by the Sunni Central Board of Waqfs, U.P., Lucknow (hereinafter referred to as "Sunni Board") through Shah Ghyas Alam, it's Secretary and nine others, namely, Molvi Mohammad Qasim, Haji Mohammad Ehtaram Ali, Molvi Mohammad Faiq, Molvi Mohammad Naseer, Shahabuddin, Mohd. Hashim, Vakiluddin, Mahmud Ahmad and Zahoor Ahmad who were impleaded as plaintiffs no. 2 to 10 respectively. During the pendency of this suit, Haji Mohammad Ehtaram Ali, Molvi Mohammad Faiq and Molvi Mohammad Naseer died and not substituted. Therefore, their names have been struck off/deleted under the orders of this Court. Plaintiff no. 2, Molvi Mohammad Qasim, plaintiff no. 6, Shahabuddin, plaintiff no. 8, Vakiluddin and plaintiff no. 10, Zahoor Ahmad have also died and in their place Mohd. Siddiq, Ziauddin, Maulana Mahfoozurahman and Farooq Ahmad have been impleaded as plaintiffs no. 2/1, 6/1, 8/1 and 10/1 respectively. Accordingly, besides Sunni Central Waqfs Board, presently, there are only six more plaintiffs.

31. Similarly, 10 defendants were impleaded initially but

thereafter many have been added, substituted and deleted. Presently the defendants in the suit are as under:

2. Mahant Suresh Das, 3. Nirmohi Akhara, 5. The State of Uttar Pradesh, 6. The Collector, Faizabad, 7. The City Magistrate, Faizabad, 8. The Superintendent of Police, Faizabad, 9. B. Priya Dutt, 10. President, All India Hindu Maha Sabha, 11. President, Maha Pradeshik Sabha, 12. President, All India Sanatan Dharm Sabha, 13/11. Dharam Das, 14. Pundrik Misra, 17. Ramesh Chandra Tripathi, 18. Mahant Ganga Das, 19. Shri Swami Govindacharya, 20. Madan Mohan Gupta and 22. Umesh Chandra Pandey. (in all 17 defendants)

32. The relief sought is :

"(a) A declaration to the effect that the property indicated by letters A B C D in the sketch map attached to the plaint is public mosque commonly known as 'Babari Masjid' and that the land adjoining the mosque shown in the sketch map by letters E F G H is a public Muslim grave yard as specified in para 2 of the plaint may be decreed.

(b) That in case in the opinion of the Court delivery of possession is deemed to be the proper remedy, a decree for delivery of possession of the mosque and graveyard in suit by removal of the idols and other articles which the Hindus may have placed in the mosque as objects of their worship be passed in plaintiff's favour, against the defendants.

(bb) That the statutory Receiver be commanded to hand over the property in dispute described in the Schedule 'A' of the Plaint by removing the unauthorised structures erected thereon.

(c) Costs of the Suit be decreed in favour of the plaintiffs.

(d) Any other or further relief which the Hon'ble Court considers proper may be granted."

Plaint (Suit-4)

33. The case of the plaintiffs is that at Ayodhya, Pargana Haveli Oudh there exists an ancient historic mosque commonly known as 'Babari Masjid' built by Emperor Babar about 433 years ago, after his conquest of India, and occupation of the territories including Ayodhya town. The said mosque was for the use of Muslims in general as a place of worship and performance of religious ceremonies. In the sketch map attached alongwith the plaint the construction of the mosque has been shown by letters A, B, C and D and the land adjoining the mosque in the east, west, north and south is the ancient graveyard of Muslims who lost their lives in the battle between Emperor Babar and the rulers of Ayodhya. The mosque and graveyard vest in the Almighty. The mosque since the time of its construction has been in use of Muslims for offering prayers, and, graveyard is used as such. It is situated in Mohalla "Kot Ram Chander" also known as "Ram Kot", Town Ayodhya. Khasra numbers of the mosque and graveyard are shown in Schedule-A appended to the plaint i.e. 238, 579-588, 590, 593, 595, 603, 606, 607, 610, 619, 620, 621 and 628, Ram Kot Ayodhya (Nazool Estate, District Faizabad). A cash grant used to be received from the Royal Treasury for maintenance of the mosque and other connected expenses. The grant was continued by the Emperors of Delhi and thereafter by Nawab Saadat Ali Khan and Nawab Wazir of Oudh. After annexation of Oudh, British Government also continued it till 1864 and thereafter the

cash Nankar grant was substituted by granting revenue free land in Village Sholapur and Bahoranpur (situate in the vicinity of Ayodhya). In the mosque, but outside the main building thereof, a Chabutara, size 17 feet/21 feet, existed. There was a small wooden structure in the form of a tent. In 1885 one Mahant Raghubar Dass instituted a suit (OS No. 61/280 of 1885) alleging himself to be the Mahant of Janam Asthan. The said suit was filed against the Secretary of State for India in Council and Mohammad Asghar, Mutawalli of Babari Masjid for permission to build a temple on the Chabutara size, 17"/21". The aforesaid suit was dismissed by the Sub Judge, Faizabad and appeal being Civil Appeal No. 27/1885 was also dismissed by the District Judge. In the aforesaid suit a sketch map was filed alongwith the plaint wherein the entire building with the exception of Chabutara 17"/21" was admitted to be a mosque and was shown as such. The cause of action for the said suit arose due to refusal to grant permission to Mahant Raghubar Dass, Mahant of Janam Asthan for construction of a temple by Deputy Commissioner, Faizabad on the representation of some Muslims on the ground that a temple could not be permitted to be built on a land adjoining the mosque i.e. Babari Masjid. The aforesaid suit was filed by Mahant Raghubar Dass on behalf of himself, Janam Asthan and the whole body of persons interested in Janam Asthan impleading Mohammad Asghar, Mutawalli of Babari Masjid, as defendant. The suit was contested by the aforesaid Mutawalli stating that the land on which temple is sought to be built is neither the property of Mahant nor Janam Asthan but the said land lies within the Ahata of Babari Masjid and is property of Muslims. The issues directly and substantially in the aforesaid suit were about the existence of Babari Masjid

and the rights of Hindus to construct temple on land adjoining Masjid. The existence of mosque was admitted by the said plaintiff. The suit was dismissed, besides others, on the ground of public policy also. The decision of the aforesaid suit operate as "resjudicata" against the present suit for the reason that the construction was admitted to be a mosque therein. It was a sensational case wherein the entire Hindu Public and more specially all Mahants of Ayodhya and other respectable Hindus of Faizabad were deeply interested. In 1934 there was a communal riot in Ayodhya when a portion of Babari Masjid was damaged. However, it was rebuilt at the cost of Government through a Muslim Thekedar. In 1936, U.P. Act 1936 was enacted. The Commissioner of Waqfs made an inquiry and held that Babari Masjid was built by Emperor Babar who was a Sunni Mohammadan and that the mosque was a public Waqf. The report was forwarded by the State Government to the Sunni Waqfs Board who published the same in the official gazette dated 26.02.1944. The said report was not challenged by any person on the ground that it was not a Muslim Waqf but a Hindu Temple. The Muslims have been in peaceful possession of the aforesaid mosque and used to recite prayer therein till 23.12.1949 when a large crowd of Hindus with a mischievous intention of destruction and damage, defiled the mosque and to insult Muslim religion entered and desecrated it by placing idols inside the mosque. The aforesaid conduct of Hindus amount to an offence punishable under Section 147, 295 and 448 I.P.C. Even if it is assumed that at one point of time, there existed a Hindu Temple as alleged by defendant-representatives of Hindus, at the site where Emperor Babar built the mosque about 433 years ago, the Muslims by virtue of their long, exclusive and continued possession, beginning from the time the mosque was constructed and continuing up to the time when some mischievous persons entered the mosque, have perfected their title by "adverse possession". The right, title or interest of the temple and of Hindu public, if any, extinguished. The incident that occurred on 23.12.1949 was reported by the Constable on duty (Mata Prasad) at Police Station, Ayodhya and the Sub-Inspector registered a report and proceeded to make inquiry on the spot. The City Magistrate, Faizabad cum Ayodhya initiated proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. By order dated 29.12.1949 he attached the mosque premises and handed over possession to Sri Priya Dutt Ram, defendant no. 9 as Receiver who continued to be in possession. The Muslims thus are deprived of their legal and constitutional rights of offering prayers in the said mosque. The action of City Magistrate, Faizabad is illegal, fraught with injustice to the plaintiff and has the effect of depriving large Muslim citizens in India from exercising their legal right guaranteed under the Constitution. On 16.01.1950 defendant no. 1 filed Regular Suit No. 2 of 1950 (Suit-1) in the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad in his personal capacity for declaration and injunction on false allegation that the building in suit was a temple and deities are installed in it. After sometime defendant no. 2 also filed Suit No. 25 of 1950 in the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad against the same set of defendants with identical relief. The only difference was that first suit was filed without notice under Section 80 C.P.C. to the State Government and its officers but the second suit was filed after giving the aforesaid notice. Another Suit No. 26 of 1959 (Suit-3) was filed by Nirmohi Akhara and Mahant Raghunath Dass, defendants no. 3 and 4 against defendants no.

5 to 9 and certain Muslim persons under Order 1 Rule 8 C.P.C. seeking removal of defendant no. 9 from the management of building which the Hindu public call temple of Janam Asthan and for delivery of possession to defendant no. 4 i.e., Mahant Raghunath Dass. On the application of plaintiff in Suit No. 2 of 1950 (Suit-1) a temporary injunction was graned restraining defendants of that suit from removing idols from the mosque in dispute and from interfering in Pooja etc. of Hindus as a result whereof the learned Civil Judge while permitting Hindus to perform their religious rights namely, Pooja of the idols placed by them in the mosque, has denied to the Muslims even entry in the mosque. The Muslims thereby are deprived of their just and legal rights and are disallowed even entry to the mosque constructed about 433 years back, declared to be a public Waqf and used as such by generations of Muslims. The order of injunction thus has caused injustice and this has necessitated the filing a suit by Muslim public under Order 1 Rule 8 C.P.C. against the Hindu public so that the decision may be binding on the Hindu community at large. The suit is being filed by plaintiffs in representative capacity for the benefit of the entire Muslim community alongwith an application for necessary permission under Order 1 Rule 8 C.P.C. The defendants are shown as representing the entire Hindu community and for that purpose also an application seeking permission under Order 1 Rule 8 C.P.C. has been filed alongwith the plaint. The building in suit claimed by plaintiffs as Muslim Waqf is in the possession of the Receiver holding for the real owner and is liable to be released in favour of the plaintiffs in case their suit succeeds, but, if for any reason, the Court finds it necessary that there ought to be a suit for possession, the plaintiffs, in the alternative, pray for delivery of possession. A notice under Section 80 C.P.C. sent to defendants no. 5 to 9 by registered post on 19.06.1961, was delivered to defendants no. 5 to 8 on 20.06.1961. Defendant no. 9 has refused to take delivery of notice on 23.06.1961. The suit has been filed after expiry of 2 months period of notice.

34. During the pendency of Suit-4, on 06.12.1992, the building in dispute was demolished. Thereafter by way of an amendment the plaintiffs got inserted paragraphs 21-A to 21-C pleading the following facts.

35. On 06.12.1992, in violation of interim orders dated 03.02.1986, 14.08.1989 and 07.11.1989 of this Court, and the order dated 15.11.1991 of the Apex Court, Babari Masjid in question was demolished, idols wrongly placed in the night of 22-23.12.1949 were removed, and thereafter an illegal structure was created on 07.12.1992. These acts of demolition and destruction were carried out by the miscreants and criminals with the connivance of the then State Government of Bhartiya Janta Party and in defiance of various Court's order. The plaintiffs, therefore, are entitled for restoration of building as it existed on 05.12.1992. Under the Muslim Law, a mosque is a place where prayers are offered publicly as a matter of right. It neither requires any structure nor any particular mode of structure is provided. Even on an open place prayers may be offered and it would be a mosque. Thus despite demolition of mosque building by miscreants, the land over which building stood is still a mosque and Muslims are entitled to offer prayers thereon. On 07.01.1993, vide Ordinance No. 8 of 1993 (replaced by Central Act No. 33 of 1993) the land of the mosque and the entire land appurtenant thereto including the land in suit was acquired by the Central Government. However, a writ petition challenging vires of the aforesaid Statute was filed. The Hon'ble Apex Court vide judgement dated 24.10.1994 has held Union of India to be a statutory Receiver of the land covered by the said mosque and has further provided that the land appurtenant and adjacent shall be provided for enjoyment of the crucial area of the mosque portion as per requirement in accordance with the judgement of the suits. The Commissioner, Faizabad is presently working as Authorised Person on behalf of the Government. Valuation of the suit is 22,000/-, whereon Court fees has been paid. The cause of action arose on 23.12.1949 at Ayodhya, District Faizabad when the Hindus unlawfully entered and desecrated the mosque by placing idols causing obstruction and interference with the rights of Muslims in general of offering prayers. They are also causing obstruction to the Muslims going to the graveyard and recite Fatiha to the dead persons buried thereat. The aforesaid injury is continuing. It arose against the defendants no. 5 to 9 on 29.12.1949 on which date the defendant no. 7 attached the mosque in suit and handed over possession to defendant no. 9 (Receiver) who assumed charge on 05.01.1950. The State Government and its official defendants no. 6 to 8 have failed in their duty to prosecute offenders and safeguard the interest of Muslims.

Written statement dated 12.3.1962 of Defendant no. 1 (Gopal Singh Viscera) (Suit-4)

36. Defendant no. 1 in his written statement dated 12.3.1962 while generally denying the averments of the plaint, said that no battle took place between Babar and Ruler of Ayodhya nor any graveyard or mosque was built as dictated by Babar. He filed case against a few Muslims and certain Government Officials for injunction and declaration and defendant no. 2 also filed a suit. Hindus perform pooja in “Janam Bhumi Temple” and Muslims are not allowed to go near that temple. They (Muslims) wrongly and maliciously describe the said building as mosque. The plaintiffs have no right to treat the defendants as representing the entire Hindu community, which extends from Madras to Kashmir and from Dwarika to Calcutta. None of the defendants represents all the Hindus of India. “Janam Bhumi Temple” is a public charitable institution and defendant no. 1 contests the suit as well as the previously instituted suit in his individual capacity. The suit is barred by time. Muslims are not in possession of the property in dispute since 1934 or even earlier. The suit deserves to be dismissed. In additional pleas, it is said that the Muslims were never in possession of the temple of Ramjanambhumi. In the alternative, if they were in possession of the so-called Babari mosque, the same ceased to be since 1934 and since then Hindus are having possession over the temple which has ripened into statutory adverse possession since 1934. Prior to 1934, continuous daily pooja in that temple was performed by Hindus. Muslims have never offered prayer since 1934 in the temple falsely described as Babari mosque. The temple in dispute is a public charitable institution and do not belong to any sect, group, Math or individual or Mahant or any Akhara and is a public place of worship open to all Hindus. No individual Hindu or Mahanth can be said to represent the entire Hindu community so far as the said ancient temple is concerned. The suit is time barred as no action was taken in time commencing from the order of the City Magistrate under Section 145, Cr.P.C. The suit is time barred as the plaintiffs were never in possession over the temple in dispute since 1934. Hindus are holding it adversely, to them (plaintiffs) overtly and

to their knowledge. On equitable ground also, the suit deserves to be rejected since Hindu pooja is going on in the said temple from the past at least 28 years, i.e., from 1934, and, admittedly from January, 1950 when the City Magistrate directed defendant no. 9 to carry on pooja as usual in the said temple. The suit deserves to be stayed since same issues are being tried in suits no. 2 of 1950 and 25 of 1950 between the same parties. Suit under Order 1 Rule 8 C.P.C. is bad as no one, representing the Hindu community, has been made a defendant and is also liable to be dismissed with special cost since plaintiffs, knowing that defendants no. 1 to 4 and 9 do not represent the Hindu community, have impleaded them though only their individual interest is involved.

Additional written statement dated 31.10.1962 of Defendant no. 1 (Gopal Singh Visharad) (Suit-4)

37. An additional written statement dated 31.10.1962 has also been filed by defendant no. 1 stating that U.P. Act, 1936 is ultra vires of Government of India Act, 1935 (hereinafter referred to as "GOI Act, 1935") as it does not come under any of the items of the List-II of Provincial list or List-III. Even on principles of pith and substances, the aforesaid legislation can not sustain. It cannot be validated under Section 80 (3) of the former Government of India Act, 1919 after the repeal of the said Act by Section 478 of the GOI Act, 1935. Even otherwise, the suit not being one relating to the administration of Waqf, taking of accounts, appointment and removal of Mutwallies, putting the Mutwallies in possession or settlement or modification of any scheme of management for which powers and duties have been specified under Section 18(2)(e) of the Act No. XIII of 1936, is misconceived and not maintainable having been filed on behalf of plaintiff no. 1, who can perform only such duties and

functions as are permitted under the Act. Section 5(3) of the Act is hit by Article 14 and 16 of the Constitution. The above Act has been repealed by U.P. Act 16 of 1960 vide Section 85(2). The saving clause in the subsequent enactment only saves the operation of the repealed Act in regard to any suit or proceeding pending in any Court or to an appeal or application in revision against any order that may be passed in suit or proceeding subject thereto anything done or any action taken in exercise of powers conferred by or under those Acts unless expressly required by any provision of later enactment. Since, there is no saving with respect to decisions under Section 5(3) in proviso to Section 85(2) of the Act, the finality attached by Section 5(3) vanished after the repeal of the former enactment. The building on land in suit lie in the Province of Oudh and subject to Lord Canning's proclamation, all previous rights became non est. Since no fresh grant in respect of the property in suit has been made after proclamation, the plaintiffs or the Muslim community have no right to sue. The Commissioner of Waqfs under the Act has limited right of making enquiry about the number of Waqfs of Shia and Sunni in the District, nature of Waqfs, gross income from property transferred to the Waqfs, the revenue, expenses and whether it is deposited under Section 2. The Commissioner has only to see whether any transaction is Waqf or not, to which sect the Waqf belongs, whether such Waqf is or not exempted under the Act. It has to do everything in accordance with Section 3 (1) of UP Act, 1936. The finality attached to such order of the Commissioner would not confer jurisdiction to decide the question of title against non Muslims. Section 5 (2) of the Act nowhere provides that the Court shall take judicial notice of the report of the Commissioner of Waqfs

www.vadaprativada.com

and shall regard them as conclusive evidence that the Waqfs mentioned in such report are Muslim Waqfs as was done in Section 10 of the O.E. Act. There is no legal publication of alleged report and hence, no question of finality arises. The purpose of publication is to show as to which sect the Waqf belong. It does not call upon objection or suit by a person not interested in what is held to be a 'Waqf' or not viz. non Muslims.

Written statement dated 25.1.1963 of Defendant no. 2 (Sri Paramhans Ram Chander Das) (Suit-4)

38. The written statement dated 25.1.1963 of defendant no. 2 is more or less similar to the written statement and additional written statement dated 31.10.1962 filed by defendant no. 1 except of certain additions, namely, that the earlier suits were neither filed in representative capacity nor they represent all Hindus and, therefore, would not bind the defendants or other Hindus, who are not party therein. Similarly, the defendants of the earlier suit neither represent the Muslims nor the Sunnis in general and the plaintiffs of the suit cannot be legally considered as claiming through the defendants in that suit. The issue in question nowhere directly or substantially arose therein and there is no res judicata or constructive res judicata. The Hindus are worshipping the land in dispute (site of Janam Bhumi) from time immemorial and they are entitled to continue worship. It was not a matter in dispute in earlier case.

Replication dated 11.9.1963 to written statement of Defendants no. 1 and 2 (Gopal Singh Visharad and Paramhans Ram Chander Das) (Suit-4)

39. Replication dated 11.9.1963 of the plaintiffs in reply to the written statements of defendants no. 1 and 2 states that the Hindu community never held the mosque and Ganje-Shahidan in their possession nor performed pooja therein since 1934 as alleged by them. It is also said that the property has not been a

temple as alleged by the defendants and, on the contrary, the Muslim public has been in possession for the last 450 years when it was constructed. The property has been placed in possession of a Receiver appointed by the Court of City Magistrate-1st Class, Faizabad. It is also denied that the Hindu public took possession of the property in question in 1934, holding the same since then, and, has completed title by adverse possession. The possession of the Muslim community continued since ever and they have been offering prayer in the mosque as such. Hindu public in 1934 did some mischief to destroy the mosque and damage was caused to some extent, which got repaired by the Government at its own cost and the Hindu Public was charged with punitive tax. The Hindu public never came in possession, much less peaceful possession of the property in suit. The Muslim public as representative of the Waqf has been in continuous possession of the property in suit for the last 450 years, i.e., since the time the mosque was constructed. Even if the Hindu public had any interest whatsoever in the property in suit before the said period, the Muslim public representing the Waqf perfected its title to the property in suit by their long undisturbed open possession against the interest of Hindu public which amounts to adverse possession and thus title or interest, if any, of Hindu public has extinguished.

Written statement dated 22/24.8.1962 of Defendants no. 3 and 4 (Nirmohi Akhara and Mahant Raghunath Das) (Suit-4)

40. The defendants no. 3 and 4 have filed their separate written statement dated 22/24.8.1962 through Mahant Raghunath Dass. While denying generally the allegations made in the plaint, they have said that there did not exist any mosque known as Babari Masjid in Ayodhya nor any mosque was built by Emperor Babar more than 460 years ago, as alleged, nor did Babar conquest or occupy any territory in India at the time alleged in the plaint. The story of the mosque as set up in para 1 of the plaint is purely fictitious. The sketch map is entirely false, imaginary and outcome of plaintiffs' fancy. On the khasra numbers mentioned in the plaint, no mosque or graveyard exist. The story of the alleged battle between Babar and previous ruler of Ayodhya, whose name has not been mentioned in the plaint, is a pure canard. Neither did any Muslim lost his life in a battle on the land of the said khasra numbers nor there is any grave or graveyard of Muslim. No question, therefore, arises of any mosque or graveyard having been vested or vesting in the Almighty. The allegations of Muslims with respect to offering payer or using the land covered by the said Khasra numbers as graveyard are altogether false and concocted. The real facts are that the said Khasra numbers pertain to the 'Temple of Janam Bhumi' and other land appurtenant thereto. Since no mosque exists, the question of its upkeep and maintenance does not arise. The existence of mosque is denied as well as that of Chabutra. The defendants have also denied knowledge of any suit filed by a person known as Mahant Raghubar Dass styled as Mahant of Janam Asthan. The Janam Asthan is situated in north of temple of Janam Bhumi across the road passing between Janam Bhumi and Janam Asthan. Any map filed by Raghubar Dass along with the alleged plaint would be false, fictitious and is not binding on defendants 3 and 4. The existence of alleged Babari Mosque is denied. The alleged damage, rebuilding or reconstruction at anybody's cost or through any Thekedar (contractor) is denied and is fictitious. Even if any communal riot is proved to have occurred in Ayodhya in 1934, no mosque whatsoever was damaged. Enactment of UP Act, 1936 is admitted. Any enquiry or report in pursuance thereto and publication thereof in the Gazette is denied. It is also said that even if such enquiry is proved and its report was published, the same was ex parte, having been made secretly and surreptitiously, without any intimation or information to the said defendants and, thus, is not binding on them. Since the defendants were not aware of any such enquiry report, the question of challenging the same in a suit would not arise and absence thereof would not convert a Hindu temple in a Muslim Mosque. The mosque never existed and, hence, the question of a Muslim or the Muslim community in peaceful possession thereof and reciting prayers till 23.12.1949 would not arise. The building has been wrongly described as 'Babari mosque' since it has always been the temple of Janam Bhumi with idols of Hindu Gods installed therein. The allegation regarding placement of idols inside the mosque is false. No such incident, as stated in para 12 of the plaint ever took place and if any report was made by any Constable, the same is mischievous and in connivance of plaintiffs. The proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. initiated by City Magistrate are not disputed but it is said that he passed an order attaching the temple of Janam Bhumi and placing it under the custody of defendant no. 9 as Receiver, who still continues as such and performs pooja at the premises. The Muslims have no right to offer prayer in the said temple.

41. By amendment of the written statement (allowed by the Court's order dated 21.8.1995) paragraphs no. 13 A, B and C have been inserted. It is said that on 7/10 October 1991, the U.P. Government issued a notification for acquisition of the property in dispute, the details whereof are as under :

Settlement Plot nos.	Area (in acres)	Village
159 (Part)	0.3600	Kot Ramchandra, Pargana Haveli Awadh, Distt. Faizabad.
160 (Part)	1.0706	- do -
171 (Part)	0.4375	- do -
Total	2.7744 Acres

42. On 22.3.1992, the B.J.P. Government in U.P. with the active connivance of local administration demolished the temples knows as Sumitra Bhawan etc. Bhagwan Ramlala Birajman in temple known as Sita Koop carries the Deity of Bhagwan Ramlala and prayer is being offered from time beyond the human memory. Bhagwan Ramlala Birajman at Mandir Loomarsh Chabutra is situated in plot no. 160 and part of plot no. 159. A big plateaxi known as 'Laxman Thekri' also exists over the disputed property. According to customs of Ramanandiya Akhara, Panch of Nirmohi Akhara used to live in vicinity of "Janam Bhumi Temple" and that is why these Holy places like Sumitra Bhawan, Sita Koop, Laxman Tekri, Loomarsh Chabutara which were in existence from time immemorial, before demolition, were all places of worship and situate within the disputed property marked by letters "E F G H I" of the sketch map filed along with the written statement of defendants no. 3 and 4. The notification of acquisition was struck down by this Court on 11.12.1992 and, therefore, the act of demolition by B.J.P. Government was wholly illegal. Before the judgment on 11.12.1992, the temple of Nirmohi Akhara along with Chatti Pujan Asthan and Panch's residential place were demolished on 6.12.1992 by some miscreants having no religion, caste or creed. The temple Ram Chabutra had a history of judicial scanning since 1885 and its existence and possession over temple Ram Chabutra ever since was with Nirmohi Akhara. No other but Hindus were allowed to enter and worship there and put offerings in the form of money, sweets, fruits, flowers etc., which have always been received by Panch of Nirmohi Akhara. The Muslims are not entitled to exercise any right in respect of the temple of Janam Bhumi. The defendants, being not party in the suit referred to in para 15 of the plaint, are not aware of any such suit. However, it is correct that the building in the present suit is a temple. Similarly, in respect of the suit referred to in para 16 of the plaint, the defendants are not parties and hence not aware of such facts. Suit no. 25 of 1950 has been filed against the entire Muslim community under Order 1 Rule 8 C.P.C. and not against certain individuals of Muslim community. The building in question in that suit is, in fact and in reality, the temple of Janam Bhumi. The defendants are not aware of the proceedings in Suit No. 2 of 1950 as they are not party in that suit and are also not aware of any order of injunction or result thereof. It is denied that the temple of Janam Bhumi is under attachment and in the custody of Receiver. Pujaries of the defendants only are allowed to enter the inner compound of the Temple which is guarded by armed police. The Muslims have no right to enter the temple. The assertions of building being a mosque, its construction, declaration as public waqf and use of it by Muslims as a mosque for prayer, are denied. The Sunni Board cannot represent the Shia community and the suit contemplated under Order 1 Rule 8 C.P.C. is misconceived. All the individual plaintiffs are Sunnis and cannot represent the Shia Community. Babar was a Shia and not a Sunni. The custody and management of the temple of Janam

Bhumi, at present, by a Receiver is admitted. Knowledge of any notice served upon other defendants is denied. The existence of Mosque and graveyard is denied. There is no cause of action.

43. In the additional pleas, the details given in the sketch map attached to the plaint are denied and the sketch map appended to the written statement of the said defendants is claimed to be correct. There exists in Ayodhya since the days of Yore, an ancient Math or Akhara of Ramanand Vairagis called 'Nirmohis' with its seat at Ramghat known as "Nirmohi Akhara", which is a "religious establishment" of public character. Defendant no. 4 is Mahant and Sarbarahkar thereof. The temple in question is known as Janam Bhumi, the birth place of Lord Ram Chandra, situated in Ayodhya. It belong to defendant no. 3 who through its reigning Mahant and Sarbarahkar has ever since been managing and receiving offerings made thereat in the form of money, sweets, flowers and fruits etc. The said Asthan of Janam Bhumi is of ancient antiquity and is existing since before the living memory of men and lies within the boundaries shown in sketch map (Annexure-A to the written statement) within which stands the temple building of Janam Bhumi. Within temple premises, there installed are idols of Lord Ram Chandra with Lakshmanji, Hanumanji and Shaligramji. The said temple has ever since been in possession of defendant no. 3. None other but the Hindus have ever since been allowed to enter or worship therein and make offerings like money, sweets, flowers and fruits etc. No Mohammedan could or ever did enter the said temple building. Even if some attempt is proved, no one has entered at least since 1934. In 1950, the City Magistrate, Faizabad without any lawful cause, and, with active connivance of defendants no. 5, 6 and 8, and wrong persuasion by some of the plaintiffs, attached the main temple of Janam Bhumi in a proceeding under Section 145 Cr.P.C. and placed it with all the articles mentioned in List B, appended with the plaint under the charge of defendant no. 9 as Receiver on 5.1.1950. The defendants have wrongly been deprived of their management and charge of the said temple for delivery of which they filed suit no. 25 of 1959 by removing the Receiver. The aforesaid suit of defendants has been filed against Muslim public under Order 1 Rule 8 C.P.C. The suit is time barred. The Muslim community or any of its members have never been in possession within limitation over the property in dispute. Even if the plaintiffs succeed in showing that any Muslim ever offered prayers in the building in question or used the same as a Mosque for sometime, but since 1934 no one has ever entered therein and, therefore, defendants, being in possession thereof, have matured their title by adverse possession.

Additional written statement dated 25.01.1963 of Defendants no. 3 and 4 (Nirmohi Akhara and Mahant Raghunath Das) (Suit-4)

44. One additional written statement dated 25.1.1963 has been filed stating that even if it is proved that any person known as Mahant Raghubar Dass made any admission or statement or averment in the said suit, the same is not binding upon the defendants and would not affect the title and interest of the said defendants in the temple of Janam Bhumi in any manner. The building in dispute is certainly a temple, not a mosque and the decision in respect thereto, in the alleged suit filed by Sri Raghubar Dass, cannot and would not operate as res judicata nor the said decision has any evidentiary value in the present suit. The building is Janam Bhumi and not a mosque. The defendants are not bound by the proceedings of suit no. 61/280 of 1885.

IInd Additional written statement dated 28/29.11.1963 of Defendants no. 3 and 4 (Suit-4)

45. Another written statement dated 28/29.11.1963 has been filed alleging that Babar never built mosque as alleged by the plaintiffs and Muslims were never in possession of building in question. The allegation that some mischievous persons entered the mosque and demolished it, is incorrect. No question of Muslims perfecting their title by adverse possession or by extension of right, title or interest in the temple of Hindu public at all arises as the Muslims were never in possession.

IIIrd Additional written statement W.S. dated 21.08.1995 of Defendant No. 3 (Suit-4)

46. Additional written statement dated 21.8.1995 filed on behalf of defendant no. 3 says that plaintiffs were not in possession of property in dispute either on the inner side or the outer side. The narration of Receiver's possession is only with respect to inner disputed site, i.e., main temple bound by letters "B, B1, B2, B3, D2, D1" and letters "D, C, B" shown in Annexure 'A' attached to the written statement. The outer part of the disputed site comprised of Shri Ram Chabutara temple, Chhatti Pujan Sthal, Panch Mukhi, Shanker Ganesh Ji Kirtan Mandap, Bhandar, House of Panch of Nirmohi Akhara, all belong to Nirmohi Akhara and have ever been in the possession of Nirmohi Akhara through Panch from before the human memory, and even on the date of attachment, when order dated 29.12.1949 was passed. The real facts regarding Shri Ram Chabutara temple, Chhatti Pujan etc. have been concealed and purposely not adverted in para-21 A of the amended plaint. The facts in this regard are that the Sub Judge, Faizabad, held that Charan (feet) is embossed on the Chabutara which is being worshipped, whereover Idol of Thakurji is installed, which is in possession of defendant no. 3, Nirmohi Akhara. The District Judge, held that it is most unfortunate that a Masjid should have been built on a land specially held sacred by Hindus. Regular Suit No. 256 of 1922 was contested between Mahant Narottam Das and Mahant Ram Swaroop Das with regard to realising dues from hawkers in the area belong to the parties, the statement made by counsel on behalf of Mahant Narottam Das was as under :

> "The land marked red in the map was all along parti land till the defendant made the constructions in dispute. The land belongs to the Nazul and the plaintiff as Mahant of the Janam Asthan and his predecessor have all along been in possession and has basis of his title on possession. No lease from Nazul has been taken. They have been holding the land under an Iqrarnama from the Shahi times. There has been no settlement decree."

www.vadaprativada.com

47. The defendant's pleader in suit of 1922 admitted the said averments and said that the land never belong to Nazul Department. In suit no. 95 of 1941 between Mahant Nirmohi Akhara, namely Ram Charan Das and Raghunath Das, a commission report was prepared wherein at item no.-2 description of temple Ramjanambhumi belong to Nirmohi Akhara was specifically mentioned. At Item no. 3, name of Sita Koop belong to Nirmohi Akhara was also mentioned. The main temple of Shri Ramjanambhumi has always been surrounded by the Holy and pious places like Sumitra Bhawan temple, Sita Koop temple etc. and Holy water has always inspired religious faith. Muslims had no way to access the inner structure of suit property since long back. The temple of Shri Ram Chabutara, Chhatti Pujan, Gufa temple of Chabutara shown in the map, in the outer part of disputed site, with main structure were demolished by miscreants and it is only defendant no. 3, who is entitled to get it restructured as it existed on 5.12.1992 and is also entitled to restore other pious places of temple of defendant no. 3, which were demolished on 22.3.1992 by U.P. Government. Denying para 21-B of the amended plaint, it is alleged that full description of the outer courtyard has not been given by the plaintiff purposely. "Nirmohi Akhara" is a Panchayati Math of Rama Nandi sect of Vairagies and, as such, is a religious denomination following its own religious faith and pursuit according to its own customs prevalent in Vairagies sect of Sadhus. The customs of Nirmohi Akhara have been reduced in writing on 19.3.1949 by a registered deed. The Akhara owns several temples and manages them through Panch and Mahant of Akahra. The whole property vests in Akhara. On 23.2.1992, the State of U.P. illegally demolished various temples including Sumitra Bhawan Temple, Lomash Chabutara temple and Sita Koop temple surrounded on eastern and southern places to main Ramjanambhumi Temple. Shri Ram Chabutara temple belong to Nirmohi Akhara who filed contempt petition in High Court. On 6.12.1992, the outer portion which included Chabutara Ram temple, Chhatti Pujan, Sita Rasoi and Bhandar Grih of Nirmohi Akhara were also demolished along with main temple.

Replication dated 11.09.1963 to written statement of Defendants no. 3 and 4 (Nirmohi Akhara and Mahant Raghunath Das) (Suit-4)

48. Replication dated 11.9.1963 to the written statement of defendants no. 3 and 4 has been filed by plaintiffs reiterating that the map attached to the plaint is correct; property in suit is not a temple and has never been in possession of the defendants and the Muslim public have always been offering prayers and

visiting the mosque and Ganje-Shahidan which is the property in suit for the last 450 years, when the mosque was built. Attachment of the mosque under Section 145 Cr.P.C. is admitted and appointment Sri Priya Dutt Ram as Receiver is also not disputed. It is said that he still continues as the Receiver. The defendants were never in possession or in-charge of the property in suit. The matter pending before the Additional Civil Judge, Faizabad has already been transferred to the High Court. The plaintiffs and Muslims were in possession of the property in question for the last 450 years. In 1934, the Hindu public and others, out of some mischief, attempted to destroy the mosque at places which was repaired by the Government on its own expenses and Hindu public was penalized by punitive tax. The Muslims remained in possession till December 1949 when Hindu public forcibly entered the mosque by breaking open the lock of the mosque and desecrated the mosque by placing idols inside therein. Pursuant thereto, proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. were drawn resulting in appointment of a Receiver. The interest, if any, of Hindus in the property in suit prior to last 450 years has extinguished since Muslim public is in possession for the last 450 years as representative of waqf and has perfected title to the property in suit by virtue of adverse possession thereof.

Application dated 21.4.1962/28.5.1962 of Defendants no. 5 to 8 (State of Uttar Pradesh, Collector, Faizabad, City Magistrate, Faizabad and Superintendent of Police, Faizabad) (Suit-4)

49. On behalf of defendants no. 5 to 8, an application dated 21.4.1962/28.5.1962 has been filed stating that they are all State officials and State Government is not interested in the property in dispute and as such, they do not propose to contest the Suit. The State officials had taken a bonafide action in respect of the property in dispute and in due discharge of their official duty. Therefore, they be exempted from the cost of the suit.

Written statement dated 27/28.7.1962 of Defendant no. 9 (Priya Dutt Ram, Receiver) (Suit-4)

50. On behalf of the defendant no. 9, i.e., the Receiver, a written statement dated 27/28.7.1962 has been filed wherein he has admitted the factum about his appointment as Receiver and said that the tent shaped structure as alleged in para 5 perhaps refers to small temple with idols installed belong to Nirmohi Akhara which stands outside the walls of the building in dispute and its existence is admitted.

Written statement dated 16.2.1990 of Defendant no. 10 (President, All India Hindu Maha Sabha) (Suit-4)

51. Defendant no. 10 has filed written statement dated 16.2.1990 wherein general contents of plaint are denied stating that U.P. Act, 1936 was an atrocity committed by the British Rulers and after regaining independence, when two nations theory was accepted, the part of India, now known as 'Bharat' is Hindu nation in which no such Act is ever acceptable unless adopted by a lawfully constituted Government of Union of India. After independence, all the old Hindu laws are revived and Country is to be ruled totally according to Hindu laws and canons and Hindu jurisprudence. The question of alleged legal constitutional right of plaintiffs does not arise.

52. In the additional pleas, it is said that the plaintiffs were never in possession of the property in dispute nor had any right to take possession thereof or make any construction thereon under the law of the Country. The property in dispute has been throughout in uninterrupted possession of Hindu Community as a whole and in the ownership of Lord Shri Ram. The plaintiffs have no concern with the property in dispute. They have no

locus standi to file the suit. It is bad for non joinder of necessary parties and barred by limitation. Suit is undervalued and no proper Court fee has been paid for the reliefs claimed. Community of Hindus is being harassed by the plaintiffs for no fault. The dispute can be settled by the Union of India represented by a lawfully constituted Government only by enacting a law and is beyond the scope of jurisdiction of the Court. The President of India promulgated Ram Janma Bhumi-Babri Masjid (Acquisition of Area) Ordinance, 1990 (Ordinance No. 9 of 1990) and the consequences followed are:

i. That the First Ordinance was implemented fully.

ii. That the land in question vested in the Government and the same was freed and discharged from any trust obligation, mortgage, charge, lien and all other encumbrances affecting them.

iii. That any order of attachment, injunction, decree or any order of court restricting the use of such property in any manner and also the order appointing the receiver in respect of the whole or any part of such property were withdrawn.

iv. That with the commencement of the First Ordinance, the pending suits, appeals or any other proceedings of whatever nature in relation to the property in question pending before any Court stood abated.

v. That the Central Government took the management of the property in question and also appointed authorised person who took charge of the property in question under Section 7 of the First Ordinance.

vi. That the Commissioner of Faizabad Division was appointed as authorised person to take possession of all the properties in question under Section 7 of the First Ordinance as also the entire management from the Receiver and in consequence of that, the possession as well as the management of the property in question was taken over by and on behalf of the authorised person.

53. However, subsequently the said Ordinance was withdrawn under pressure of certain fundamentalists and the issues kept alive so as to utilise them as a weapon in the election, by a second Ordinance, i.e., Ram Janam Bhumi-Babri Masjid (Acquisition of Area) Withdrawal Ordinance, 1990 (Ordinance No. 10 of 1990). Thereafter, property was sought to be restored though it could not have been restored once it stood transferred to the Government. Once the property vests in the Government, it cannot be re-transferred to original owner or owners specifically when the owners have not been named in the Ordinance. The Court neither can pass a judicial order restoring the suits and the proceedings which have abated as a consequence of acquisition of the property in dispute nor can revive the interim orders passed earlier by the Court. The Parliament cannot revive a matter once abated and, therefore, the President also could not have issued an Ordinance exercising co-extensive power with the Parliament since the power to issue an Ordinance is legislative. The revival of the proceedings etc. is illegal. The Ordinance issued by the President is an example of misuse of power. The second Ordinance hits the basic structure of the Constitution. The first Ordinance has been repealed by the second Ordinance which has been withdrawn. There is a difference between repeal and withdrawal. The suit filed by the Sunni Board having already been abated, cannot be revived by operation of law. The suit is not maintainable as Section 92 C.P.C. and Section 14, Religious Endowments Act have not been complied with. The plaint has not been verified by person of Waqf Board and has been verified by plaintiff no. 4 without any sanction, authority or power from the Waqf Board. Under Section 64 of the Waqf Act, only Waqf Board can file a suit. The suit has not been filed by Waqf Board as the same has not been verified by any authorised person of the Waqf Board. Waqf Board cannot file suit with private persons nor can it file suit against the State being an instrumentality of the State. No State authority can file suit against any particular community in respect of communal activities. Waqf Board is not a person within the meaning of Order 1 Rule 8 of C.P.C. and, therefore, cannot file the suit. It is time barred. No specific prayer has been made.

Replication dated 18.11.1991 to written statement of Defendant no. 10 (President, All India Hindu Maha Sabha) (Suit-4) 54. The plaintiff has filed replication dated 18.11.1991 to the written statement of defendant no. 10 stating that the land in dispute including the mosque could not have been acquired. The property never stood transferred to the State or its authorities. The property in question, in fact, was not acquired by the first Ordinance. Similarly, in the second Ordinance also the same was left untouched. Since the property was not covered by first Ordinance, the question of its acquisition, transfer, vesting or divesting does not arise. The suit had never abated as a result of promulgation of first Ordinance and, therefore, question of its revival also would not arise. The suit always remained to be pending before the competent Court.

Supplementary Replication dated 27.11/3.12.1991 to amended written statement of Defendant no. 10 (President, All India Hindu Maha Sabha) (Suit-4)

55. It is said that the State cannot interfere with the rights of parties as guaranteed under Article 25 of the Constitution and, therefore, if the Ordinance by the President has any such effect, the same would be violative of Articles 25 and 26 of the Constitution of India.

Additional written statement dated 12.9.1995 of Defendant no. 10 (President, All India Hindu Maha Sabha) (Suit-4)

56. Defendant no. 10 in additional written statement dated 12.9.1995 states that no Masjid or Babari Masjid existed over the land in question and, therefore, no question of its demolition on 6.12.1992 arises. Idols were in existence at the place since time immemorial and it is incorrect to say that the idols were placed only in the night of 22/23.12.1949. Babar was an invader and had no legal authority to construct Masjid at the sacred place of Hindus, i.e. the birth place of Lord Shri Ram. Mugal invader Babar through his commander Mir Baqi tried to demolish the old glorious temple of Lord Shri Ram at the place in question but could not succeed in its mission. After the riot in 1934, three domes of the temple were damaged. Prior to that date, the outlook of the building was of pure Hindu temple, but while carrying out repair works, the Britishers tried to give it the shape of a mosque and three domes were constructed over Kasauti pillars which were of temple. The Hindus have all along been in possession over the entire area of Shri Ramjanambhumi. The land in question has all along been in possession of Hindus and devotees of Lord Shri Ram. The worship of Lord Shri Ramlala Virajman is going on since the time immemorial. With a view to renovate the old temple and to construct a new one, Kar Sewa was performed and the said action was not in violation of any order passed by any Court. There was no order in force against Hindus in respect of the temple property/structure. The Hindus have never been fanatic. They allowed every religion to flourish in Bharatvarsh. There is no evidence in history to show that the Hindus ever demolished any mosque or place of worship of any other religion. On the contrary, every Mughal invader and ruler from Mohammad-bin-Quasim to Aurangzeb and even thereafter demolished, destroyed and looted the temples of Hindus. The plaintiffs never had any concern with the land in question and are not entitled for restoration of the building or its possession. Muslim law in India is subject to the Constitution. Muslims cannot use open place of land in question for offering prayers. They also cannot encroach upon the land of religious places of Hindus. Under Shastrik law applicable to Hindus, the property once vested in the Deity continues to remain of the Deity. The entire property in question belongs to Shri Ramlala Virajman who is in existence from the time immemorial and is being worshipped by His devotees at the place in question without any interruption till date. The place of dispute has got no significance for the plaintiffs as they can offer prayer at any place. It would be appropriate and in consonance with the principles of 'secularism' that the Muslims do not offer prayers within the vicinity of the birth place of Lord Shri Ramlala Virajman, which is sacred for Hindus and offer their prayers beyond the area of Panchkoshi Parikrama. That will create brotherhood and peace. Over the land in question, no mosque ever existed and the Muslims are not entitled to encroach upon the land in question or offer prayer at that place. The Apex Court has never held that the land covered by the Act No. 33 of 1991 belong to any mosque or that the adjacent area will be provided for enjoyment of the crucial area of mosque portion as per requirement. The property in dispute has not been described in Schedule-A to the plaint since its dimensions, width, survey number etc. are not mentioned for the purpose of identification. The plaintiffs are not entitled for possession of the structure standing at the site as the land in question and the adjacent area belong to Hindus and devotees of Lord Shri Ram. In the additional pleas, it is said that Bharatvarsh was divided on the basis of the religion. Pakistan was created for Muslims and the rest part of Bharatvarsh remained for Hindus. Consistent with Vedic scriptures, secularism was adopted in the Constitution. The rights of other religions, groups or community are subject to rights of Hindus. Lord Ram, Lord Krishna and Lord Shiva are cultural heritage of India which has been recognized by the Constituent Assembly. In the original Constitution signed by the members, pictures of recognized cultural heritage exist which include scene from Ramayana (conquest over Lanka and recovery of Sita by Lord Ram). Thus the citizens of Country are entitled to pay homage to their Lord at His birth place. Being sacred place for Hindus it cannot belong to Muslims or any other community or religious group. Therefore, the claim of Muslims over the land in question is unconstitutional and is also against Islamic laws. The plaintiffs cannot claim themselves to be Muslims entitled to file suit. Even if it is correct that Hindus came into possession of the disputed structure on 22/23.12.1949 and placed idols, the act is not wrong. The Hindus have rectified the curse of Mughal slavery before the commencement of the Constitution. The action of invaders had no sanction of law and after independence, it is the right of citizens to nullify every misdeed

and wrong action of the invaders. The entire area including the place in question belong to Deity Lord Shri Ramlala Virajman and His devotees. The worshippers are entitled to offer prayers, Pooja, Arti, Bhog etc. and to pray their great Lord. They also have a right to construct a glorious temple. Under the debris of demolished temple structure, a lot of signs and material concerning temple was found. A very big Chabutara beneath the present structure exists which also reveals that there existed a glorious and big temple of Lord Shri Ram. There is no evidence, sign or material at all to show that there was any mosque. The State has not been arrayed as a party to the suit and, as such, plaintiffs cannot claim any relief against the Receiver. The Sunni Waqf Board has no legal authority to file the suit. The suit is time barred. Amended relief cannot be granted. The suit has to be decided on the principles of justice, equity and good conscience. Prayer of injunction deserves to be refused as it does not come within the four corners of the principles of injunction.

Written statement dated 20.7.1968 of Defendant no. 13 and 14 (Baba Abhiram Das and Pundarik Misra) (Suit-4) 57. Baba Abhiram Das, defendant no.13, and Pundarik Misra, defendant no.14 filed their common written statement dated 20.7.1968. It is said that neither any battle took place between Babar and the Ruler of Ayodhya nor any graveyard or mosque was built by Babar. The Muslims wrongly described the building in question as mosque. They were not allowed to go near the temple where Hindus performed Pooja etc. on the Janam Bhumi temple. The plaintiffs have no right to make defendants to contest suit in a representative capacity as a self-appointed representative of Hindu community which extends from Madras to Kashmir and Dwarika to Calcutta. None of the defendants can represent all Hindus in India. Janam Bhumi Temple is a public charitable institution and the aforesaid defendants contest the suit in individual capacity. The other averments of the plaint are generally denied. The suit is barred by time. Muslims are not in possession of the property in dispute since 1934 and earlier.

58. In additional pleas it is said that the Hindu community from time immemorial has been worshipping the site of Janama Bhumi upto this time by virtue of their rights. Muslims were never in possession of the temple called "Ramjanambhumi". If ever, they were interrupted in possession of the falsely called "Babri Mosque". The same ceased on/in 1934 and since then Hindus are holding the temple in their possession and their possession has ripened in statutory adverse possession. Even prior to 1934 continuous daily Pooja by Hindus had been performed in the said temple. The Muslims never offered prayer in 1934 in the temple falsely described as "Babri Mosque". The temple being a public charitable institution no individual belong to any sect, group, Math or otherwise has any right to represent all Hindus as it is a public place of worship open to all the Hindus. In any case, from January 1950 when the City Magistrate directed defendant no. 9 to carry on Pooja as usual in the said temple, it is being performed by Hindus without any interference by Muslims. The suit under Order 1, Rule 8 C.P.C. is bad as no one representing Hindu community has been made defendant and also for the reason that the plaintiffs have impleaded defendants no.1 to 4 and 9 knowing fully well that they do not represent Hindu community but have their individual interest only. The plaintiffs' claim based on U.P.Act No. 13 of 1936 is baseless for the reason that (a) the aforesaid

Act is ultra vires; (b) the Government of India Act 1935 came into force before passing of the above Act; it does not come under any of the items of List 2 of the Provincial List or list 3 of the Concurrent list. Item no.9 of the Concurrent List or item no. 34 of the Provincial List cannot save the above legislation on the principle of pith and substance. Item no. 28 of list 3 of the Constitution has been remodelled. Any sanction under sub-section 3 of Section 80-A of the former Government of India Act will not validate legislation after the repeal of the said Act by Section 321 of Government of India Act 1935. Even if the Act is treated to be intra vires, the suit is not related to administration of Waqf , taking of accounts, appointment and removal of Mutwallis, putting Mutwallis in possession or settlement or modification of any scheme of management for which powers and duties have been specified under section 18 (2) of the Act. The suit on behalf of the plaintiffs is not maintainable. The Act containing privileges based on classification of Waqf on the ground of religion, particularly, Section 5(2) is hit by Articles 14 and 19 of the Constitution. After the enforcement of U.P. Act of 16 of 1960, the suit in question is not one which is saved under section 85(2) of the said Act. Further Section 9(2) of the said Act would not save the finality of the decision of the Commissioner of Waqfs from being affected by provisions of Chapter I of Act 16 of 1960, particularly when there is no saving clause with respect to decision under Sections 5(2) and 9(2). The finality attached by Section 5(3) will vanish after the repeal of the enactment. The building and land in question lying in the Province of Oudh became subject of Lord Canning's proclamations and all previous rights became non est. No fresh grant in respect of property in suit having been made after the proclamation, the plaintiffs or Muslim community have no right to sue. The Commissioner of Waqfs only had to make an inquiry about the number of Shia and Sunni Waqfs in the District, the nature of each waqf, the Government revenue, expenses and whether it is one exempted under Section 2. The Commissioner had only to see as to whether any transaction is Waqf or not; as to which sect the Waqf belong and whether such Waqf is or is not exempted by Section 2 of the Act. He had to discharge above duties in accordance with definition of Waqf in Section 3(1) of Act No. 13 of 1936. The Act exclusively is meant for certain classes of Muslim Waqfs. It does not confer any power to decide the question of title against non-Muslims. Section 5(3) nowhere says that the Court shall take judicial notice of the report of the Commissioner of Waqfs and shall record it as conclusive evidence. Moreover, there has been no legal publication of the said report, hence, there is no question of its finality. The capacity of plaintiffs as well as defendants acting as representatives of Hindu and Muslim in general is denied. Any judgment between some individuals or group of individuals would not be binding on others, and, therefore, there is no question of res- judicata. The land in question is being worshipped from time immemorial as site of Janam Bhumi and they are entitled to worship thereat. The issues involved in the present case were not those involved in earlier suits, therefore, the question of res judicata or constructive res judicata does not arise.

Written statement dated 4.12.1989 of Defendant No.13 (Dharam Das) (Suit-4)

59. Defendant no. 13 Dharam Das has filed a very detailed written statement dated 4.12.1989 which was also amended

www.vadaprativada.com

subsequently. The defence taken is that Babar was not a fanatic but a devout Muslim who did not believe in destroying Hindu temples. It was Mir Baqi who was a Shia and commanded Babar's orders, who demolished ancient Hindu temple of the time of Maharaja Vikramaditya at Shri Ramjanambhumi and tried to raise a mosque like structure in its place with its material. Babar was not an emperor. He was a marauder. What was constructed was not a mosque nor it was constructed for use of Muslims in general. It was not known as Babri Masjid but described as Masjid Janamsthan in British times. The objective evidence of demolition of ancient temple and attempted construction of mosque at Ramjanambhumi existed in the form of 14 Kasauti pillars, sandal wood beams and other structural features of the building. Mir Baqi did so on account of his superstitious influence of so called "Faqir Fazal Abbas Qalandar" who had demanded destruction of ancient temple at Shri Ramjanambhumi and construction of a mosque for him thereat to offer prayers. The aforesaid act, however, is opposed to the tenets of Islam as disclosed by holy "Quran" and Fatwas issued by Muslim theologians. The sketch map attached to the plaint is disputed. It is said that there is no graveyard anywhere at Shri Ramjanambhumi nor any existed within 12 years of the institution of the suit. Neither any mosque nor a graveyard existed which might have vested in the almighty of Muslims namely, Allah. According to Islamic faith as explained in Fatwa-E-Alamgiri Volume VI, page 214, it is not permissible to build a mosque on an unlawfully acquired land. There may be many forms of unlawful acquisition, namely, if some people forcibly take somebody's house or land and build a mosque or even Jama Masjid. Namaz in such a mosque will be against

Shariat. The assertion with respect to loss of many lives appears to be with reference to the battle fought between Babar's hordes led by Mir Baqi and the Ruler of Ayodhya relating to demolition of ancient Hindu temple at Shri Ramjanambhumi and hence not disputed. The assertion that graves of Muslims who lost their lives in that battle more than 450 years ago situated on or near Janam Bhumi is denied. Mosque and graveyard according to the tenets of Muslims cannot go together. Offering of prayer except funeral prayer on the death of a person buried is prohibited to be made at a graveyard. Khasra numbers of the alleged mosque at graveyard are imaginary, fictitious and not identifiable at the site. There was no mosque, hence the question of its upkeep and maintenance does not arise. There is no evidence of any expenditure from the alleged grant on the upkeep or maintenance of the building alleged to be “Babri Masjid”. The alleged grant if any, in cash or by way of revenue free land described as “Nankar” must have been for personal services rendered or promised to be rendered by the grantee to the British in enslaving India for suppressing the First War of Independence of 1857 miscalled as “Sepoy Mutiny”. The existence of Chabutara within the premises of building is admitted but the facts about its construction as stated in para 5 are denied. It is said that it was a temple of Bhagwan Shri Ram Lala. Originally, there was a temple erected at that place after the demolition of ancient temples of Maharaja Vikramaditya's time. No Muslim ruler could have permitted raising of temple in the premises which would have been a mosque. On demolition of that temple by Aurangzeb, the worship of Bhagwan Ramlala was carried on at that Chabutara. There was a small temple existing thereon and not merely a wooden structure in the form of tent. The Deity stalled therein had been continuously worshipped without any break or interruption and the place is called Ram Chabutara. Filing of suit by Mahant Raghubar Das against the Secretary of State is not denied but rest of the facts are incorrect. The suit was for permission to erect a permanent temple in place of the then existing structure at Ram Chaubtara. It is denied that the alleged mosque at Janamsthan was a mosque or that Mohd. Asghar was its Mutwalli. He was added later as a defendant on his own request. The plaintiffs' suit and result thereof is wholly irrelevant for the present suit and is not binding either on the answering defendant or the Hindus in general or worshippers of Bhagwan Shri Ramlala Virajman at Shri Ramjanambhumi in particular. The Sthan of Shri Ramjanambhumi called as Janamsthan is a sacred place of Hindu worship of Bhagwan Shri Ram being incarnation of Lord Vishnu and symbolised by the existence of objects of worship like Sita Rasoi, Charans and the idols of Bhagwan Shri Ramlala Virajman at Chabutara within the precincts of the building at Janamsthan alleged to be a mosque. There was no access to the said place except through the place of worship of Hindus by which it was landlocked. Such a building could not be a mosque according to the tenets of Islam. The UP Act, 1936 as such is not disputed but the report of inquiry alleged to have been made by the Commissioner of Waqfs is disputed and is an ex parte affair not binding on Hindus. The Muslims were never in possession of the alleged mosque nor they ever recited any prayer therein and at least till 23.12.1949 or on any date even remotely within 12 years of the institution of the suit. The construction of mosque by Babar at a place where the ancient Hindu temple existed is denied. It is also denied that he was an

www.vadaprativada.com

Emperor. The possibility of the building in question to be a mosque is also disputed. The question of possession of property in question by Muslims does not arise since the Hindus considered it to be a place of worship. Shri Ramjanambhumi by itself is an object of worship, it has the status of juridical person in the eyes of law. The act of demolition of temple and entering thereupon was a wrongful act of trespass impermissible under the tenets of Islam. Allah does not accept waqf of any property or thing taken by force or by illegal act. The attempt to raise a mosque like structure failed and no mosque deemed to be Waqf according to Muslim law, ever came into existence. The act of Mir Baqi was a fleeting act of trespass and not an act of entering into adverse possession by a person claiming ownership. No Muslim by an act of trespass or its repetition could confer any right, title or interest in the nature of Waqf in favour of Allah for the purpose of mosque. According to the Muslim Law, Allah alone is the owner in possession of all Waqf property. A Mutwalli is a mere manager and neither the Mutwalli nor the beneficiaries of a Muslim Waqf can claim or have any right of ownership or possession as an owner for and on behalf of Allah. Title by way of a Muslim Waqf cannot, therefore, be acquired by adverse possession for Allah through an artificial act of adverse possession. Ramjanambhumi being itself a deity and worshipped as such since ever, has a juristic personality of its own, continued to own and possess the property rights of ownership and possession of the space at Ramjanambhumi at Ayodhya without any dent by any such act of trespass or demolition of temple or attempt to raise a mosque like structure thereat. The act of installation of Deity of Bhagwan Ram under central dome of the building at Shri Ramjanambhumi in the form of idol of Bhagwan Shri Ramlala by his worshippers led by others namely, defendants Guru Baba Abhiram Das, was not a mischievous act but a perfectly lawful exercise of their right and that of Hindus to worship the Deity. The Muslims did not get any title by adverse possession and the pre-existing right, title and interest of the defendants continue to exist uninterrupted and unaffected by such act of Mir Baqi. The Hindus' act on Pausa Shukla 3, Vikram Samvat 2006 was in furtherance and re-assertion of pre-existing property right of the Deity and their own right of worship. It was an act of manifestation of Bhagwan Shri Ram himself. Even the Muslim Havaldar Abdul Barkat who kept guard at the police outpost experienced manifestation by its grace. Since then, this day is celebrated as “Prakatya Divas” every year at Ayodhya. Muslims, in any case, have lost any right or interest. The alleged report with respect to incident of 23.11.1949 is not disputed. The proceedings under section 145 Cr.P.C. are also admitted. The order allowed Sri Priya Dutt Ram Receiver to worship the Deity of Bhagwan Shri Ram Lala Virajman, meaning thereby the Muslims were prohibited from entering the building premises and the surrounding area at Shri Ramjanambhumi. They had no right to offer Namaz in the building or doing anything else at that place. The action of City Magistrate was illegal. If the plaintiffs claim that the said order affected them by ousting entry, they ought to have challenged the same. Since the order was passed before the enforcement of the Constitution, it cannot be said that the order of the Magistrate is unconstitutional. Filing of suit by Sri Gopal Singh Visharad is not disputed. Representation by the plaintiffs of the entire Muslim community is disputed. In the civil suit, an injunction was granted which was confirmed in appeal upto the High Court vide judgment dated 26.4.1955. Filing of suit no. 25 of 1950 is not disputed. The earlier suit no. 2 of 1950 and the latter one, both were consolidated. Similarly, filing of suit no. 26 of 1959 is not disputed. The suit for possession over a mosque can only be filed by a Mutwalli and no others. The plaintiffs neither claim themselves to be Mutwallis nor, in fact, so, hence, the suit is not maintainable and is stillborn. It is barred by limitation.

60. In the additional pleas, it is said that in history, there was an ancient temple of Maharaja Vikramaditya's time at Shri Ramjanambhumi which was demolished by Mir Baqi. The dominant motive of iconoclast was the prejudice born of ignorance/misconception that Hindu temples were places of idolatory which was condemned by Quran. As per Quran, a mosque cannot be built on the place of a Hindu temple and that too after forcible demolition. Allah does not accept Namaz offered at a place taken by force or in a mosque built on a land obtained by Gasba or forcibly taken without title. The structure was never intended to be used as a mosque and never used as such. It was with an objective of putting down idolatry. From the public records and relevant books of authority it is established that the premises in dispute is a place where Bhagwan Shri Ram manifested himself in human form as incarnation of Bhagwan Vishnu according to traditions and faith of Hindus. According to Hindu faith Ganga originates from the nail of the toe of Bhagwan Vishnu and cleanses and purifies whatever is washed by or dipped into its water. Bhagwan Vishnu having manifested himself in human form of Maryada Purshottam Shri Ram Chandra Ji Maharaj at Shri Ramjanambhumi, those who touch the earth or footprints of

Bhagwan Shri Ram symbolised by Charans at that place are cleansed of their sins and get purified. The earth at Shri Ramjanambhumi could not have acted differently towards Muslims who went there. They were also cleansed and purified by the touch of Bhagwan Shri Ram's footprints, which, like the water of Ganga purify all without any discrimination. The place like water of Ganga remains unsullied. It has been an object of worship with a juridical personality of its own as a Deity distinct from juridical personality of the presiding Deity of Bhagwan Shri Ram installed in the temple thereat. It has existed since ever, even before the construction of first temple thereat and installation of the idol therein. It is the Divine spirit which is worshipped. An idol is not indispensable. There are Hindu temples without any idol. The Sthan Shri Ramjanambhumi has existed immovable through the ages and has ever been a juridical person. The actual and continuous performance of Pooja at Shri Ramjanambhumi was not essential for the continuous existence and presence of Deity at that place. They have continued to remain present and shall continue to remain present so long as the place lasts since the land is indestructible. Deities are immortal being the Divine spirit or Atma and may take different shapes and forms as idols or other symbols of worship according to faith and aspiration of the devotees. Indisputably there was an ancient temple of Maharaja Vikramaditya's time at Shri Ramjanambhumi, Ayodhya. It was partly demolished and was attempted to be constructed a mosque by Mir Baqi, Commander of Babar's hordes. He was a Shia. Although demolition of a temple for constructing a mosque is prohibited by Islam, he attempted to do so under the superstitious influence of so called Faqir named, Fazal Abbas

Qalander. He, however, could not succeed. As the story goes, whatever was constructed during the day fell down during the night and it was only after making certain material concessions in favour of Hindus for continued preservation of the place, as a place of Hindu worship, that the construction of three dome structure was somehow completed. The construction of minarets and certain other features of a public mosque were not undertaken. The facts which would show that the three domed structure raised by Mir Baqi was not a mosque are:

(a) Allah does not accept dedication of property for purposes recognised as pious and charitable like Waqf from a person who is not its rightful owner, like Allah would not accept stolen property from a thief. The act of trespass supported by violence for erecting a mosque on the site of ancient Hindu temple at Sthan Shri Ramjanambhumi after demolishing it by force of arms, Mir Baqi violated all the true tenets of Islam. It was a highly un-Islamic action. Allah did not forgive him and in the ensuing battle he was killed without mercy. The whole history of rise and fall of Mughal empire in India stand testimony to it. Babar who did not believe in iconoclasm founded the rule of Mughals in India. Akbar his grandson by tolerance and secularism expanded it on all sides and converted the Mughal Rule into an Empire. Auranzeb, the iconoclast fanatic, destroyed the Empire which was at the pinnacle of its glory when deposed and imprisoned his own father Shahjahan to grab the crown.

(b) Despite what Mir Baqi did with the temple, the space always continued to be in possession of Deity of Bhagwan Shri Ram Virajman and the Sthan Shri Ramjanambhumi.

The worshippers continued to worship through such symbols as the Charans, Sita Rasoi and the idol of Bhagwan Shri Ramlala Virajman on Chabutara, called Ram Chabutara. No one could enter the three domed structure except after passing through the aforesaid places of Hindu worship. According to tenets of Islam, there could be no idol within the precincts of a mosque. The passage to a mosque must be free and unobstructed, open to the faithful at all times. It can never be landlocked by a Hindu place of worship. There can be no co-sharing in the title or possession with Allah particularly in the case of a mosque. His possession must be exclusive.

(c) A mosque which is a public place of worship for Muslims must have a minaret for calling Azan. According to 'Baillie', a prayer without Azan is private instead of public and the place could not be a Masjid. According to P.R. Ganapathi Iyer's "Law relating to Hindu and Mahomedan Endowments", (2nd Edition, 1918, Chapter XVII, at p. 388), after first half century from the Flight, there has been no mosque without a minaret.

(d)There was no arrangement for storage of water for Vazoo and there were Kasauti pillars with the figures of Hindu Gods inscribed on them. The sandalwood beam were there. Such a place can never be a mosque.

(e) In Faizabad Gazetteer, it is mentioned that 75 Muslims were buried at the gate of Janamsthan and the place was known as "Ganje Shahidan" after the battle of 1855 between the Hindus and Muslims in which Hindus succeeded and resumed control over the premises including the three domed structure. There is no graveyard anywhere near the building or its precincts or the area appurtenant thereto or surrounding it for the last 50 years at least. If the building was surrounded by a graveyard soon after the annexation of Oudh by the British, the building could not be a mosque and could not be used as a mosque for offering prayers or Namaz except funeral prayers.

61. The worship of Bhagwan Shri Ram Virajman thus continued through the ages at Shri Ramjanambhumi, Ayodhya. The space belongs to Deities. No valid Waqf was or could ever be created at Shri Ramjanambhumi or any part of it in view of the title and possession of the said Deities thereon, which has all along been pervasive and continuous. No person living or juridical was there to claim ownership or possession as owner of the said premises or any part thereof. Occasional act of trespass by iconoclasts were successfully resisted and repulsed by the Hindus from time to time. There had been no blemish or dent in the continuity of the title and possession of the said Deities over Shri Ramjanambhumi. No title could or did vest in Allah over any part of Shri Ramjanambhumi by adverse possession. Neither Allah nor any person on His behalf had any possession over any part of the premises at any point of time. Muslims never acquired any right to worship at the place as a mosque by adverse possession because the consequence of violation of any injunction of Quran could not be worked out by lapse of time howsoever long, as per the Muslim Law. So far as the right of prayer is concerned, every single Muslim has a right to pray in a mosque in his own independent and individual character. He does not derive that right from anyone else. Such rights are similar to all Muslims independent of each other. Even duly converted Muslim gets that right on conversion although none of his ancestors or members of his family had any such right. It is impossible to say in law that those who have a right to pray in a mosque are in possession of that right in the mosque as a community. Fluctuating body of individual Muslims have this right as individual to go into the mosque and pray therein but only so long as the mosque continues to exist as a mosque. This right to pray cannot be tagged on by a Muslim to the similar right of another Muslim and cannot form the basis of any adverse possession in law or acquisition of title of land by prescription as a Waqf for the mosque. The body of worshippers is only an undulating, ever changing body of individuals and not a corporation. The claim of right to worship by going to a place as a mosque is not a claim of right to possession of the place as its owner. The factum of occupation of a place without any claim to title as owner cannot clothe the occupier with the ownership of the place. The true owner's title remains unaffected by any such occupation, howsoever long it may be. A place can become a mosque only when Namaz is offered there with the permission of the owner and publicly in a group after calling of the Azan. After the annexation of Oudh and the First War of Independence miscalled as 'Sepoy Mutiny' by the British, an inner enclosure for the three domed structure was created by raising a boundary wall with iron gratings in the courtyard of the building which separated Ram Chabutara, the Charans and the Sita Rasoi from the building and divided the courtyard in two parts. The inner part in which the three domed structure situated was landlocked by all sides by the outer part in which the Ram Chabutara, the Charan and Sita Rasoi situated. The British thus tried to confine the Hindus to worship their

Deities in the outer part of the courtyard, but no Muslim could enter the inner part of the courtyard or the three domed structure within it, without passing the outer courtyard which had Hindu places of worship and was in their exclusive and constant occupation. This laid the seeds of trouble off and on whenever any Muslim wanted to go inside. The result was that no Namaz was offered inside the three-domed structure, despite attempt of the British Government to induce the Muslims to do so by raising the inner boundary wall. This was a calculated attempt by the Britishers to encourage the Muslims to use the abandoned place as a 'Mosque', and create differences between their Hindu and Muslim subjects with the object of maintaining their power particularly in the context of the First War of Independence in which Hindus and Muslims had fought with the British power neck to neck as brothers. This attempt failed. There was overwhelming number of Hindus living all around the place and local Muslims knowing that it was not a place for offering Namaz, Hindus never left the place and continued to worship Charan Sthan, Sita Rasoi and idols of Bhagwan Shri Ramlala Virajman on the Ram Chabutara within its precincts. The attempt of Britishers to reconstruct damaged structure in 1934 at the cost of the then Government was another attempt to create rift in the two communities. It appears that there was no Mutwalli otherwise he would have taken care of the said building. The Britishers were in fact sowing the seeds of the two nation theory which ultimately led to the partition of India. However, despite the British efforts, no prayers were ever offered in the three domed structure at Shri Ramjanambhumi even after its reconstruction and renovation since the Muslims knew that the building was not a mosque for offering Namaz. In

www.vadaprativada.com

1936, U.P. Muslim Waqfs Act was passed whereby two Central Boards of Waqfs, one for Sunni and other for Shia were established to supervise and control Muslim Waqfs. No notification was issued in respect of the building in question declaring it to be a Waqf. The plaintiff Waqf Board has no jurisdiction in respect of the premises even if it were a mosque. It took no action or positive steps for the custody or the care of the building or its establishment as a mosque. No one was appointed or acted as its Mutwalli, or Mauazzinn or Imam, or Khatib or Khadim. The descendant of Mir Baqi sought to be set up as Mutwalli by the British was an opium addict. He denied that the grant of revenue free land was for the purposes of the mosque. On the contrary, he claimed that it was his Nankar for services rendered to the British and he never looked after the alleged mosque at all. At the time of independence, acting upon the two nations theory resulting in partition, Baba Abhiram Das, Guru of the answering defendants concerned alongwith Paramhans Ram Chandra Das, defendant no.2 and Sri Gopal Singh Visharad, defendant no.1 and several others resolved to restore the sacred Janamsthan of Ramjanambhumi to its pristine glory, in particular by removing the three-domed structure raised thereat by Mir Baqi which was an object of national shame for the Hindus. Pursuant to such resolution they took collective vow at a public meeting held on 2.10.1949, which was the day in that year, of Vijyadashami, for restoration of Ramjanambhumi as the first step towards fulfilment of dream of Mahatma of establishing Rama Rajya in Bharatvarsha after independence from British bondage. First they cleared up the scattered mounds of earth which the Muslims claimed to be their graves, in the areas around Shri Ramjanambhumi. This followed up by Navahna Pathas, Japa and Sankirtan at Shri Ramjanambhumi. The first batch of 108 Navahna Pathas commenced on 16.10.1949 which was followed by 1108 batches of Navahna Pathas. Japa and Sankirtan performed continuously. They continued in and outside the three domed building, within its precincts and on the adjacent land all around, unabated, resulting in the great manifestation of Bhagwan Shri Ram Lala within the three-domed building, under its central dome, to be more precise, by the installation of idol of Bhagwan Shri Ram Lala with all due ceremony at the auspicious hour of Brahmamuhurta during Shrawan Nakshatra and Tula Lagna in the most auspicious constellation of the planets, named, Harshan Yoga, on Thursday, Pausha Shukla 3 of Vikram Samvat 2006. At that time although the planet Sun was Dakshinayana but Sanyasis and Vairagis are permitted by the Shastras to instal a Deity even during Dakshinayan. The idol of Bhagwan Shri Ram Lala is Chala and seated on a silver Singhasan (throne). Akhand Sankirtans and Japa have continued ever since without any break for the last about 40 years at Shri Ramjanambhumi. The suit is bad and not maintainable in law inasmuch as the Deity of Bhagwan Shri Ram Lala Virajman under the Central dome of the building on the Ram Chabutara with such symbols of worship as the Charan and Sita Rasoi have not been made parties to the suit. It is also bad for want of Mutwalli of the alleged Waqf. The Sunni Central Board of Waqfs, U.P. has no jurisdiction or competence to meddle with the alleged waqf or the alleged mosque or to sue in respect thereof for want of proper and valid notification in its favour under section 5 of the U.P. Muslims Waqfs Act 1936. The notification dated 26.2.1944 having already been held to be invalid by the Court's finding on

issue no.17, has become final and irreversible between the parties. Even otherwise, the suit when filed in 1961 was barred by the provisions of U.P. Muslim Waqfs Act, 1960 and the civil court had no jurisdiction to entertain it. The suit is incompetent and not maintainable under Order 1, Rule 8 C.P.C. The permission granted by the Court to the plaintiff to sue in the representative capacity for all the Muslims is liable to be revoked, particularly because the plaintiffs are all Sunnis, while the Shias did not claim the alleged mosque and waqf to be a Shia Waqf. The defendants named in the suit cannot represent various sects of Hindus in India. None of the plaintiffs has any right to sue for possession over the alleged mosque. The relief for possession by removal of the idols and other articles of Hindu worship is, in fact and in law, a relief for mandatory injunction and is barred by six years' limitation prescribed by Article 120 of the Schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1908. Even otherwise, a person other than Mutwalli of a mosque cannot sue for its possession and can sue only for a declaration that it is a mosque and if it is out of possession or dispossessed, that its possession be made over to the Mutwalli. To such suit also Article 120 applied and not Article 142 or 144 of the Schedule, Limitation Act 1908. Even otherwise, the suit is barred by Article 14 of the Schedule, Indian Limitation Act 1908. It is not a case of continuing wrong within the meaning of Section 23 of the Limitation Act and, therefore, the suit is barred by limitation. It is in the interest of parties that this matter be decided at the earliest. The defendant is willing to arrive at a negotiated settlement with the Muslim community under the supervision or mediation of the Court. The mosque building may be shifted since place of birth of Lord Rama cannot be changed. There are no Muslims residing anywhere near the place who may require a mosque there for offering prayers. The number of existing mosques at Ayhodhya is so large as compared to the need for them that some of them have fallen due to disrepair and have ruined for want of maintenance. Such a statement was made by Prince Anjum Qader, the President of All Indian Shia Conference and a descendent of Nawab Wajid Ali Shah who ruled Avadh when it was annexed by the British, in reply to the suit no. 236 of 1989 filed on behalf of the Deities in the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad, now re-registered as O.O.S. No. 5 of 1989 in this Court.

62. On 27th July 1937 Mahatma Gandhi also expressed similar views that it is great sin to occupy by force any religious building of worship. During Mughal time due to religious fanaticism, Mughal Rulers had occupied many such Hindu religious places which were sacred places of worship for the Hindus. Many of them were looted and destroyed and many of them were given shape of a mosque. Although a temple and a mosque are both sacred places for worship of God and there is no difference between them but the traditions and forms of worship of Hindus and the Muslims are different from each other. From the religious point of view, a Muslim can never tolerate placing of an idol by a Hindu in his mosque where he has been worshipping Khuda and in the same way, a Hindu will not suffer demolition of a temple where he has been regularly worshipping Rama, Krishna, Shankar, Vishnu and Devi and construction of a mosque in its place and, therefore, both should try to resolve all such disputes by returning such places to each other. The three domed structure excluding the Kasauti columns and sandalwood beams can be constructed near the Mazar of

Mir Baqi at village Sahanwa, or at any other place where the Muslims have sizeable population and agree to its re-erection on the land provided by them. In view of the Apex Court's decision dated 24th October 1994 the acquisition of the area excluding the one described by the Apex Court as Ramjanambhumi-Babri Masjid, situated in a part of plots no. 159 and 160 of village Kot Ram Chandra Ayodhya by Ayodhya Act 1993, was absolute. There is no cause of action. In any case, after demolition of the three domed structure, no cause of action survies. Sunni Central Board of Waqfs has not been constituted for the past many years validly and as such it has no right to file the suit. Sunni Board or the Shia Central Board of Waqf cannot represent the entire Muslims generally and more particularly, when the mosque claimed is a Shia Mosque and, therefore, they cannot file the present suit in representative capacity.

Additional written statement dated 29.8.1995 of defendant no. 13 (Mahant Dharam Das) (Suit-4)

63. An additional written statement dated 29th August 1995 has been filed by defendant no.13 Mahant Dharam Das replying the amended paragraphs of the plaint. It is said that the building which was demolished on 6.12.1992 was not a mosque and could not be called “Babri Masjid”. Demolition of structure did not constitute violation of any order of the Court. No relief for restoration of building can be granted to the plaintiffs. Correct details for identification of the land in question have not been provided. The suit is rendered infructuous and even otherwise is not maintainable.

Additional written statement dated 14.9.1995 of defendant no. 17 (Ramesh Chandra Tripathi) (Suit-4)

64. It says that allegation of placement of idols in the night of 22nd/23rd December, 1949 is false. On the contrary, they existed

www.vadaprativada.com

at the place in question from time immemorial. Babar was an invader. He had no legal authority to construct a Masjid at the sacred place of Hindus, i.e., the birth place of Lord Shri Ram. Mughal invader Babar through his Commander Mir Baqi tried to demolish the old glorious temple of Lord Shri Ram at the place in question but could not succeed in his mission. Some further details have been given in additional pleas of the written statement of respondent no. 17 similar to that contained in written statement filed on behalf of defendant no.13, therefore, we are not repeating the same and shall refer later as and when the occasion arises.

Written statement dated 18/19.7.1969 of defendant no. 18 (Mahant Ganga Das) (Suit-4)

65. A separate written statement dated 18/19th July 1969 has been filed by defendant no.18. Damage to the building allegedly called Babri Masjid in 1934 has been denied in para 8 of the written statement. The report, if any, with respect to Waqf is ex parte and not binding upon the defendants. The capacity of Sunni Board to represent the entire Muslim community including Shia is disputed. In the additional pleas, it is said that sketch map was totally incorrect and misleading. The temple in question is known as Janam Bhumi, the birth place of Lord Ramachandra situate in Ayodhya and belong to defendant no.3. The defendant-3 has been doing Darshan and Pooja at the place in question for the last 30-32 years.

Written statement dated 5.11.1989 of defendant no. 20 (Madan Mohan Gupta) (Suit-4)

66. He has filed written statement dated 5.11.1989. Any battle between Babar and the then Ruler of Ayodhya has been denied. Existence of graveyard or mosque is also denied. Sketch map said to have been filed by Raghubar Das is not binding on the defendants. The building in question is a temple and not a mosque. The decision of earlier suit is not binding or would not operate as res judicata. Neither the defendant nor Hindu public in general derive any title from the said Mahant Raghubar Das or his representatives and are neither bound by any of his action or conduct, nor the decision in Suit no. 61/280 of 1985 is binding on them. Inquiry, if any, by the Waqf Commissioner is ex parte and not binding on Hindus as such. The building throughout has been Ramjanambhumi Temple with idols of Hindu Gods throughout. The Muslims have no legal or constitutional right of offering prayer at the site of Ramjanambhumi since the building was a temple. Installation of deities in the temple as alleged in para 15 of the plaint is denied. In the additional pleas it is said that Lord Shri Ram an incarnation of God, took birth thousands of years ago in Ayodhya. His birth place is known as Ramjanambhumi or Ram janam Sthan. This birth place is worshipped for the last many thousand years by Hindu public who believe in Divine presence at Ramjanambhumi in Ayodhya and have a devout faith that by offering worship at that place, they are recipients of the bounties and blessings of God, which constitute the features of a temple in Hindu religion. A holy temple stood at that place in ancient times. Later on Maharaja Vikramaditya reconstructed and resuscitated Ramjanambhumi temple. For Hindus, it is a spiritual base of Hindu religion. According to Hindu scriptures and traditions, Lord Ram was born in between the end of Treta Yuga and beginning of Dwapar Yuga. The span of Dwapar Yuga was about eight Lac years. He was God incarnate and took birth in human form to protect the saints, to destroy evils, to establish Dharma and save the world. Since then, from time immemorial, He is being worshipped by Hindus with highest devotion and reverence. The literature is full with the narration of ideal life lived by Lord Ram on this earth, beginning with Ramayana of sage 'Valmiki', who according to the evidence in the treatise was a contemporary of Ram. Thereafter, the sage 'Vyasa' mentioned Ram at many places in 'Mahabharat' and has written a summary in his holy Biography in 'Ramopakhayan Parva', which is part of 'Bara Parva'. 'Purans', 'Arthshastras of Kautilya', 'Raghubansh of Kalidas', 'Satrabandha of great Bhakta King Prabarsein' and multitudes of other books in many languages of India describe the life of Ram. In all this literature, Ayodhya and its sanctity is repeatedly described. In 'Uttarkand' of 'Ramcharitra Manas' written by 'Goswami Tulsidas' (1497-1623 AD) who was a contemporary of four Mughal Emperors viz., Babar, Humayun, Akbar and Jahangir, the devotion with which the functions of Ram Janam (birth of Ram) were celebrated in Ayodhya is described. Not a single word is to be found in this great treatise about the existence of Babri Masjid or performance of Namaz at Ramjanambhumi. Ram is most renowned and respected incarnation born in India. He was born on Navami in the month of Chaitra according to Hindu calendar which is popularly known as 'Ramnavami'. He killed devil 'Ravana' and the entire episode is celebrated every year as 'Dushera' in every part of India. After the conquest of Lanka when Ram returned to Ayodhya, the said occasion was celebrated with great enthusiasm and 'Diwali' was celebrated, which is still continuing and participated by members of all religions, communities and sects. The father of Nation Mahatma Gandhi was a devotee of Lord Ram. In an ancient book known as 'Ayodhya Mahatamya' (a Guide for travellers), (the original of which is in Sanskrit, but its translation by Ram Narain has been published in the journal of the 'Asiatic Society of Bengal', Volume 54, Part I, Chapter I-C-4-1875,Calcutta 1875), it is said that all the four sons of Emperor Dashrath were born in the palaces of their respective mothers. At one place, it is described that Sita Rasoi is in Kaushalya Bhawan, the Janamsthal. The researchers have concluded that this ancient book appears to have come into existence during the period of Emperor Akbar. There is no description of so called Babri Masjid alleged to have been constructed by Emperor Babar. 'Faizabad Gazetteer', Volume 43, of the District Gazetteer of the United Provinces of Agra and Avadh, compiled by Sri 'H.R. Nevill', ICS, published by Government Press in 1905 under the topic 'Directory' while dealing with Ayodhya at page 12-F, affirmed that Janamsthan was in Ramkot and marked the birth place of Lord Ram. Later on it is said that the mosque has two inscriptions, one on the outside and the other on pulpit and both are in Persian bearing the date 935 Hizri. On the authenticity of the inscriptions there can be no doubt but no record of visit of Babar has been found by Muslim historians. It must have occurred about the time of his expedition to Bihar. There is nothing to show about the visit of Babar to Ayodhya. Only on the basis of these two inscriptions, the conclusion is being drawn all around that the mosque was built by Babar. It is very doubtful that it was so built. It appears to be a creation of Britishers sometimes in 19th Century in order to create hatred between the two communities of India, viz. Hindus and Muslims and thereby implement the policy of communal disharmony and create problems of law and order effectively so that their annexation of Avadh may be justified on moral grounds. The script of the outer inscription of mosque is pretty bold and more artistic, a style which was developed sometimes in the middle half of the 19th century while the inner inscription is very fine and thin, a style developed in the latter half of the 19th century. It is, therefore, absolutely certain that on the basis of these two inscriptions it cannot be concluded that either the mosque was built in 1528 AD or in 935 Hizri or it was built by 'Emperor Babar' or his Governor 'Mir Baqi' as stated therein. “U.P. District Gazetteer Faizabad” published in 1960 by the U.P. Government and edited by Smt. Esha Basanti Joshi, at page 47, quotes the inscription inside the mosque and relies on it for the purpose of date of construction of the mosque. To determine the year of construction and the authority who got it constructed, only these inscriptions are being relied and nothing else. In the 'Babarnama' translated by 'Annette Susannah Beveridge', Volume II, published by Sayeed International, New Delhi in Appendix 'U', the heading is “The inscriptions of Babar's Mosque in Ayodhya (Avadh)”. While reproducing the inscription inside the mosque and translating it at page XXVIII, after quoting the couplets and giving its translation and working out the number 935 to identify the year, the author at the bottom appended a note creating doubt. For the first time, a book was published in 1813 by Leyden and known as “Memoirs of Zahiruddin Mohd. Babar, Emperor of Hindustan” and for the first time therein it was said that in March 1528 Babar passed through Ayodhya. Even though Leyden did not mention anything about the demolition of Hindu temples in Ayodhya and building of mosque in their place, yet the British Rulers gave currency to this false news that Babar demolished Ramjanambhumi Mandir and constructed Babri Masjid thereat. The translated 'Babarnama' published thereafter has mentioned that Babar never interfered with the religion of others and he visited various Hindu temples and appreciated their archaeological beauties. There is no evidence of Babar ever having arrived at Ayodhya and demolished Hindu temple. Claim of construction of mosque 400 years ago by Babar is wholly wrong. In Faizabad Gazetteer of 1960 at page 352 it is said that at the time of Muslim conquest there were three important Hindu shrines (Ayodhya) and little else, the Janamsthan temple, the Swargadwar and the Treta Ke Thakur. The Janamsthan was in Ramkot and marked the birth place of Ram. Till 1855 also there was no mosque. It is established from Faizabad Gazetteer 1960 at page 63. In Faizabad Gazetteer 1905 at page 174 it is said that the desecration of the most sacred spot in the city caused great bitterness between the Hindus and Musalmans. On many occasions the feelings led to bloodshed and in 1855 an open fight occurred. The Musalmans occupied Janamsthan by force and thence making a desperate assault on the Hanumangarhi. They charged up the steps of the temple but were driven back with considerable loss. It resulted in death of seventy five Mussalmans who were buried at the spot called 'Ganje Shahidan'. In A-in-i Akbari also there is no mention of the existence of Babari Masjid. In Faizabad Gazetteer of 1960 at pages 351 and 352 it is said that with the departure of the Court, the Hindus were left to themselves and numerous temples and monasteries sprang into existence. Naval Rai, Deputy of Nawab Safdar Jung built a fine house in Ayodhya which still stands on the river front. Probably this rise in importance was due to the popularity gained of Ramcharitra Manas of Tulsidas. The progress of this place became more rapid after annexation of Avadh by the British. Before the middle of nineteenth century

www.vadaprativada.com

Ayodhya was regarded as a stronghold of Hinduism.

67. There are some more facts to establish that neither the mosque in dispute was built by Babar in 1528 nor is it a mosque at all:

i. The tomb of the disputed Masjid if looked from behind would show that it is not in the style developed by Turks during fifteenth century, nor the Mehrab of Masjid in that style is to be found. There is no tomb in the disputed Masjid as is found in other mosques generally.

ii. On the north door, in the front, facing each other, there are two tigers. They are in the style of taking leap and their tails are just in the same style when a tiger takes leap. Between these two tigers there is a peacock. This is not a characteristic of a mosque.

iii. Various Hindu idols are painted or their inscriptions are to be found in the disputed mosque.

iv. There is no provision for reciting Namaz. To this day it has no minarets and no place for storage of water for Vazoo.

v. The Muslim Faith as adumbrated in Holy 'Quran' does not permit construction of a mosque at the site of temple after demolishing it.

vi. Babar never dedicated property of disputed mosque to Allah. Even supposing without admitting that Babar constructed the disputed mosque, yet as it has been done by committing trespass by demolishing the temple, the abode of God, either by Babar or at his instance by Mir Baqi , the Governor of Oudh, the dedication is wholly invalid and void. The material of the old temple was largely employed in building the mosque and a few of the original columns are still in good preservation. They are of close grained black stone (Kasauti) bearing various Hindu Vase-reliefs. The outer beam of the main structure being of sandalwood, the height of the columns is 7 to 8 ft., the shape of the vase, the middle section and the capital is square, the rest being round or octagonal. There are two inscriptions in Persian. One on the outside and the other on pulpit bearing the date 935 Hizri. Subsequently, Auranzeb also desecrated the shrines of Ayodhya which led to prolonged bitterness between Hindus and Musalmans. Latter also occupied Janamsthan by force and also made an assault on Hanumangarhi. Attacks and counter attacks continued under the leadership of 'Maulvi Amir Ali' (See page 353 of Faizabad Gazetteer 1960).

vii. A mosque must be built in a place of peace and quiet and near a place where there is a sizeable and large number of Muslim population. According to the tenets of Islam, a mosque cannot be built at a place which is surrounded on all sides by temples where the sound of music of Conch Shells or Ghanta Ghariyals always disturb the peace and quiet of the place.

viii. A mosque must have a minaret for calling Azan. According to 'Baille', an assembly of worshippers pray in a Masjid with permission, i.e., delivery. But it is a condition that prayers be with Azan or the regular call and be public and not private, for though there should be an assembly yet if it is without Izah and the prayers are private instead of public, the place is not a Masjid according to the true disciples. Indeed there has been no mosque without a minaret after the first half century fight.

ix. According to the claim laid by Muslims in the present suit, the building is surrounded on sides by a graveyard known as Ganje Shahidan. There is a mention in the Faizabad Gazetteer also of the burial of seventy five Muslims at the gate of Janamsthan and the place being known as Ganje Shahidan after the battle of 1855. Although there are no graves anywhere near the building of Shri Ramjanambhumi or in its precincts or in the area appurtenant thereto for the last more than 50 years and if the building was surrounded by a graveyard during the British times, soon after the annexation of Oudh by them, the building could not be a mosque and could not be used as a mosque for offering prayers except funeral prayers.

68. Mere displacement of a part of the ancient Hindu temple of Ramjanambhumi Sthan will not take away the religious sanctity of the temple and the site, inasmuch as, the Hindu religion believes the presence of the Divine spirit at Ramjanambhumi Sthan. The act of vandalism perpetrated either by Babar or by any other person after him would neither take away the religious sanctity of the place nor destroy the religious belief of Hindus attached to that place nor the place as such would be deemed out of possession of the Hindus as such. It is a place of great antiquity and Hindus have always been worshipping through the ages and always remained in possession thereof. Babri Masjid is a Sunni Waqf, but its Mutwallis being the descedants of Mir Baqi were Shia Muslims, and this itself demolishes the case of the plaintiffs. In any case,

it was inter se dispute between Shia and Sunni, Hindus were not party. Upto middle of the 19th century, Ayodhya was regarded as a stronghold of Hindus. Ramjanambhumi was at all material time accessible to Hindus. In 1949 some Muslim members tried to raise a dispute resulting in proceedings under section 145 Cr.P.C. and thereby also Hindus were allowed to continue worship and Muslims were restrained from entering the building. Faizabad Gazetteer 1960 has recorded an important fact at page 50 as under:

> "William Finch, the English merchant, who travelled through the Mughal Empire (1608-1611) says that Avadh is "a citie of ancient note, and seate of Potan King, now much ruined; the castle built foure hundred yeeres agoe. Heere are also the ruines of Ranichand(s)[3] castle and houses, which the Indians acknowledge for the great God, saying that he tooke a flesh upon him to see the tamasha of the world. In these ruines remayne certaine Bramenes who record the names of all such Indians as wash themselves in the river running thereby; which custome they say, hath continued foure lackes of yeeres (which is three hundred nintie foure thousand and five hundred yeeres before the world's creation)."
> At the footnote against the number (3) which is indicated in the citation against the word 'Rani Chand' it is explained as follows :-
> "Ram Chandra, the Hero of Ramayan. The reference is to the mound known as Ram-kot or fort of Rama."

69. Even from the above, it is evident that during the time of Emperor Akbar, Ramjanambhumi Sthan was worshipped by Hindus which was noticed by the English Traveller as well. The

www.vadaprativada.com

temple and the Sthan has always been the public religious worship place for the last several years and the alleged act of Babar could not take away its spirituality. The presence or absence of idols would neither in any way affect the right, title and interest of Hindus over the Sthan and the temple in dispute nor will it affect in any way the religious character of Ramjanambhumi as a place being a part of Hindu religion. For example, Lord Krishna left this world at the place near Somnath in the State of Gujarat. The place is known as Prabhas Patan (Somnath) but at this place there is no idol of Lord Krishna. Yet the place is a very holy place for Hindus and is worshipped. The Hindus firmly believe that worship at that place would be conducive to their spiritual well being and peace. In the present case, what is of the maximum religious importance for Hindus is the birth place of Lord Ram, i.e. the Janamsthan. The presence of idols on the place are of later origin when Vikramaditya repaired and resuscitated the temple for the benefit of the worshippers who subsequently started imagining a particular image in which God Ram is manifesting himself as a Divine person to them. It is said that ouster of Hindu community from Ramjanambhumi never took place. Hindus have always been and are still today in lawful possession over the site in dispute. Alternatively, even otherwise, they have regained possession by exercising their right of worship peacefully, and to the knowledge of the plaintiffs for more than twelve years and thus have perfected their title in the eyes of law. The suit is barred by limitation. Babar is alleged not to have made any endowment or waqf, nor he could. An emperor does not ipso facto become the true owner of the whole earth of which he may be a Ruler. There is no such concept that the Ruler becomes the true owner of all the land in his kingdom ipso facto. The site in dispute admittedly belongs to Hindus for the last thousands of years. The Ruler might have a superior right to levy taxes etc. but could not be deemed to be the actual owner. In the circumstances, the claim of the plaintiffs that Babar by annexation, which is emphatically denied, as there was no annexation as such, became the owner and made a waqf. There was no battle between Babar and Raja of Ayodhya and no question of annexation of territories arose. The general religious notions of Hindu community prior as well as subsequent to Babar have always been that the temple and the Janam Bhumi sthan, i.e., Ramjanambhumi, the birth place of the Creator Lord Ram are and have always been for religious benefit of the Hindus, for the benefit of the truth and good as against evils and vices and the worship for which the place was used and stood dedicated had at no time been taken away. Neither the plaintiffs nor the Muslims acquired the right, title or interest in the suit property. Babar had no right to give religious place of Ramjanambhumi of Hindus in perpetuity to Muslims or create any right in favour of Muslims over the religious place of Hindus, which is against all canons of justice, morality and good conscience. Moreover, a place already dedicated cannot be re-dedicated. The birth place of Lord Ram is located at a particular spot in Ayodhya. It cannot be shifted to any other place in the world. It is of the same status for Hindus as Mecca for Muslims. As Mecca cannot be shifted, so Ramjanambhumi cannot be shifted. On the basis of national policy, while assigning the weightage to a particular place of a particular religion or a particular community, the belief and religious feelings of Hindus in this regard be given supreme importance. A mosque

can be built in any other part. Following the same, the Government of India under the regime of Pt. Jawahar Lal Nehru and Sardar Patel permitted reconstruction of Somnath Temple in Gujarat inspite of opposition of some Muslims fundamentalists. Likewise, the claim of Christian fundamentalists on Vivekanand rock was brushed aside and the Government of India okayed the construction of Vivekanand Mandir near Kanya Kumari. The plaintiffs have no right to maintain the suit and the same is liable to be dismissed.

Additional written statement dated 17.10.1995 of defendant no. 20 (Madan Mohan Gupta) (Suit-4)

70. An additional written statement dated 17th October 1995 says that Babar when invaded India and sought to construct a mosque at Ayodhya, he partly destroyed the said temple. He is said to have constructed a mosque by keeping the lower structure as such and only constructed the upper structure with the malba (debris) of the temple. Pillars of the temple were also used in its construction and the figures of Hindu Deities and holy signs over the pillars were the evidence that Hindu temple was not completely destroyed. Thus the temple structure existed and it is wrong to claim that a new mosque was constructed by Babar and handed over to Muslim community. Due to engraved figures of Hindu deities on the pillars of the disputed structure, the Muslims were not offering prayer therein. It is denied that the Muslims offered Namaz for the last more than 46 years. The nature of Ramjanambhumi will never be changed and it shall always remain Ramjanambhumi even if Muslims have offered Namaz therein at some point of time. In case the court directs for reconstruction of demolished structure, it is necessary that it should be built in the original shape and model having 14 pillars with the figures of Hindu Deity, lotus, Swastik, Ram Chabutara,

Sita Rasoi and temple of Ram Lala. Babar never became an Emperor of India. He was only an invader. However, no King or Government had a right to hand over or give religious land to any person, as such, Babar had no right to construct a mosque over Ramjanambhumi and give it to Muslims, nor Muslims have any right to claim Ramjanambhumi.

Reliefs (Suit-5)

72. The reliefs sought in the suit are (a) a declaration that the entire premises of Shri Ramjanambhumi at Ayodhya, as described by Annexures I, II and III belong to plaintiff Deities and (b) a permanent injunction against the defendants prohibiting them from interfering with or raising any objection to, or placing any obstruction in the construction of the new Temple building at Shri Ramjanambhumi, Ayodhya.

Plaint dated 1.7.1989 (Suit-5)

73. The case set up by the plaintiffs in the plaint is that plaintiffs no.1 and 2 are juridical persons with Bhagwan Shri Ram as the presiding Deity of the place, namely, Shri Ramjanambhumi, Ayodhya. Plaintiff no.3 is a Vaishnav Hindu and seeks to represent the Diety and the Sthan as the next friend. The site of Shri Ramjanambhumi building premises and that of adjacent area of Shri Ramjanambhumi is as per the site plan, prepared by Sri Shiv Shankar Lal, Pleader, in discharge of his duty as Commissioner appointed by the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad in O.S. No. 2 of 1950 (O.O.S. no.1/1989), alongwith report dated 25.5.1950 filed as Annexures no.1 and 2 to the plaint. Suit No. 2 of 1950 (Suit-1) mentioned above was filed on 16th January 1950 by Sri Gopal Singh Visharad impleading five individuals as defendants no.1 to 5, the State of U.P. and its officials as defendants no.6 to 9. The plaintiff Gopal Singh Visharad died and was substituted by his son, who has been impleaded as defendant no.1. Defendants no. 1 to 5 of suit no. 2 of 1950 have also died and, therefore, their names have been struck off under the orders of the Court in the aforesaid suit. Those persons have not been substituted by anyone. Defendants no.6 to 9 of Suit No. 2 of 1950 have been impleaded as defendants no.7 to 10 in the present suit. A similar suit being O.S. No. 25 of 1950 (Suit-2) was filed after few months of filing the earlier suit no. 2 of 1950 by Paramhans Ramchandra Das who has been impleaded as defendant no.2 in the present suit. Defendants no.1 to 5 in the aforesaid suit were the same persons who were impleaded as defendants no.1 to 5 in O.S. No. 2 of 1950 and, being dead, have not been impleaded in the present suit. The third suit namely, O.S. No. 26 of 1959 (Suit-3) was filed in the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad by Nirmohi Akhara, Ayodhya who has been impleaded as defendant no.3 in the present suit. Defendants no.2 to 5 of the said suit are already impleaded as defendants no.7 to 10 in the present suit. Defendant no.1 therein was the Receiver appointed in proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. Rest of the defendants have already died and, therefore, there is no occasion to implead them in the present suit. Then there is fourth suit also, being O.S. No. 12 of 1961 (Suit-4) filed by Central Sunni Board of Waqfs and 8 other Sunni Muslims. Central Sunni Board of Waqfs is being impleaded as defendant no.4 and the remaining surviving plaintiffs no.7 and 9 of the the said suit are already impleaded as defendants no. 5 and 6 in the present suit. Rest of the defendants are other defendants of the said suit and are impleaded as defendants no. 1, 11 to 19.

74. By an order dated 4.8.1951 of the Civil Judge, Faizabad, Suits no. 2 and 25 of 1950 were consolidated. Later on by order dated 6.1.1964, all the four suits were consolidated making suit no. 12 of 1961 as leading case. In suit no. 2 of 1950 an interim injunction was granted on 16.1.1950 permitting continuance of Pooja, etc; the parties were restrained from removing idols in question from the site in dispute and the same is continuing till date. Initially, Sri Babu Priya Dutt Ram, was appointed as Receiver but later on replaced by Sri K.K. Ram Verma in 1970. Thereafter Sri L.P.N. Singh was appointed Receiver and thereafter by order dated 22.11.1988 Sri Jamuna Prasad Singh was appointed Receiver. The suits remained pending for almost two and half decades and could not be decided. The worshippers, however, continued to be prevented from a closer Darshan of the Deity. Hence, an application was filed, which was rejected by the Court of Munsif, Sadar, but in appeal, vide order dated 1.2.1986, the then District Judge, Faizabad directed the authorities to remove the barrier by opening the locks on the gates 'O' and 'P' of the map annexed as Annexure-1 to the present suit. The plaintiff Deities and their devotees are extremely unhappy with the prolonged delay in disposal of the suits and deteriorating management of the affairs of the Temple and are desirous of having a new Temple constructed, befitting to its pristine glory, after removing the old structure at Shri Ramjanambhumi, Ayodhya. In order to improve the temple administration and to reconstruct a new Temple, the duty of management and performance of religious functions, like Sewa, Archana and Pooja etc., by an unanimous public opinion, was entrusted to Jagadguru Ramanandacharya Swami Shivaramacharya of Kashi who was the Head of the Ramananda Sampradaya to which most of the Sadhus and Vairagis of Ayodhya belong. The trust so reposed in him by the Hindu public was formally declared by him by Deed of Trust dated December 18, 1985, registered on the same day with the Sub Registrar, S.D. No.1, at Delhi, vide no. 16510 in Additional Book No.4, Volume 1156, pages 64 to 69. Besides the aforesaid named Shankaracharya, who declared himself to be the first Trustee for life and Pramukh and Dharmakarta of the Trust, other persons were also appointed as Trustees for life, whose names are mentioned in para 16 of the plaint. Shri Ramjanambhumi Nyas (Trust) is directly interested in the Sewa, Pooja and other affairs of the plaintiff Deities and is impleaded as defendant no.21 in the present suit.

75. The four suits were pending for long. Since they did not result in settlement of the dispute, it led to various

complications. Besides, there are some technical defects also, namely, the Presiding Deities who are juridical persons and others were not impleaded. Plaintiffs have been advised to file a fresh suit of their own for proper adjudication of the dispute relating to Ramjanambhumi, the land and the building appurtenant thereto.

76. The facts stated in the plaint are virtually repetition of the defence taken by defendant no.13 in his written statement and additional written statement filed in Suit-4 but since they are assertions made in the plaint of a suit separately filed on behalf of Deities, we are mentioning the same in brief though it may appear to be more in the nature of repetition.

77. It is averred that from the public record of unimpeachable authority, it is established manifestly that the premises in dispute is the place where Maryada Purushottam Shri Ramchandra Ji Maharaj was born as the son of Maharaja Dashrath of Solar Dynasty. According to the traditions and faith of devotees of Bhagwan Shri Ram, it is the place where he manifested himself in human form as an incarnation of Bhagwan Vishnu. The place has since ever been called Shri Ramjanambhumi by all and sundry through the ages. The place itself has been the object of worship as a Deity by the devotees of Bhagwan Shri Rama as it personifies the spirit of Divine, worshipped in the form of Shri Ramlala or Lord Ram, the child. The Sthan was thus deified and has a juridical personality of its own even before the construction of a Temple building or the intallation of idol of Bhagwan Shri Rama thereat. Hindus do not worship the stone or the metal shaped into the form of their Ishta Deva or the stone of Saligram which has no particular shape at all. They worship the Divine, which has no quality or

shape or form, but can be known only when it manifests itself in the form of an incarnation and, therefore, adopt the form of his incarnation as their Ishta Deva. Some persons meditate upon formless and shapeless Divine and aspire for knowledge of him through his grace. It is the spirit of the Divine which is worshipped by most Hindus and not its material form or shape of an idol. The spirit of Divine in an idol is invoked by the ritual of Pranpratistha. The spirit of Divine is indestructible and ever remains present everywhere at all times for anyone to invoke it in any shape or form in accordance with his own aspiration. Different persons are at different levels of realization of reality. Some find it helpful to pursue a particular set of rituals for their spiritual uplift. A large section of Hindus follow Bhakti Marga, and Bhagwan Shri Rama or Bhagwan Shri Krishna is their Ishta Deva. According to faith of the devotees of Bhagwan Shri Rama Lala, it is the spirit of Bhagwan Shri Ram as the Divine child which resides at Sthan Shri Ramjanambhumi and can be experienced by those who pray there and invoke that spirit for their spiritual uplift. That spirit is the Deity. An idol is not necessary for invoking Divine Spirit. Another example of such Deity is Kedar Nath where there is no idol in the temple. It is the undulating surface of stone which is worshipped there as the Deity. Another example is the Vishnupad Temple at Gaya where too there is no idol. The place is believed to have borne the footprints of Bhagwan Vishnu which is worshipped as Deity. Similarly, at Ayodhya, the very Sthan Shri Ramjanambhumi is worshipped as a Deity through such symbols of the Divine Spirit as the Charan and the Sita Rasoi. The place is a Deity. It exists in this immovable form through the ages and has ever been a juridical person. Actual and continuous performance of Pooja of such an immovable Deity by its devotees is not essential for its existence as a Deity. The Deity continues to exist so long as the place exists and being land, it is indestructible. The Sthan Shri Ramjanambhumi is an indestructible and immovable Deity who has continued to exist through the ages. Books of history and public record of unimpeachable authenticity establish undisputably that there was an ancient Temple of Maharaja Vikramaditya's time at Shri Ramjanambhumi, Ayodhya. That Temple was destroyed partly and an attempt was made to raise a mosque thereat by force of arms of Mir Baqi, a Commander of Babar's hordes. The material used was almost taken from the Temple including its pillars of Kasauti or touchstone with figures of Hindu Gods and Goddesses carved on them. There was great resistance by the Hindus and many battles were fought from time to time by them to prevent the completion of the mosque. Presently, it has no minarets and no place for storage of water for Vazoo. Many lives were lost in these battles. The last battle occurred in 1855. The building and the place was in possession and control of Hindus at that time.

78. According to Faizabad Gazetteer published by the Government Press, U.P. (at page 179), Ayodhya is pre-eminently a city of temples. It is locally affirmed that at the time of the Musalman conquest there were three important Hindu shrines at Ayodhya and little else. These were the Janamsthan temple, the Swargadwar and the Treta-Ka-Thakur and each was successively made the object of attention of different Musalman rulers. The Janamsthan was in Ramkot and marked as the birthplace of Lord Ram. In 1528 Babar came to Ayodhya and halted there for a week. He destroyed the ancient temple and at its site built a mosque, still known as Babar's mosque. The material of the old structure was largely employed and many of the columns are in good preservation. They are of close-grained black stone, called by the natives 'Kasauti' and carved with various devices. Their length is from seven to eight feet, and the shape square at the base, centre and capital, the rest being round or octagonal. The mosque has two inscriptions, one on the outside and the other on the pulpit, both are in Persian and bear the date 935 Hijri. In the same Gazetteer (at page 180), it is mentioned as under:

> "This desecration of the most sacred spot in the city caused great bitterness between Hindus and Musalmans. On many occasions the feeling led to bloodshed, and in 1855 an open fight occurred, the Musalmans occupying the Janamsthan in force and thence making a desperate assault on the Hanuman Garhi. They charged up the steps of the temple, but were driven back with considerable loss. The Hindus then made counter-attack and stormed the Janamsthan, at the gate of which seventy-five Musalmans were buried, the spot being known as the Ganj Shahidan or the martyrs' resting-place. Several of the king's regiments were present, but their orders were not to interfere. Shortly afterwards Maulvi Amir Ali of Amethi in Lucknow organised a regular expedition with the object of destroying the Hanuman Garhi, but he and his forces were stopped in the Bara Banki district (Gazetteer of Barabanki, p. 168). It is said that upto this time both Hindus and Musalmans used to worship in the same building; but since the mutiny an outer enclosure has been put in front of the mosque and the Hindus, who are forbidden access to the inner yard, make their offerings on a platform which they have raised the outer one."

79. Such a structure cannot be a mosque having been made after destroying the temple using its material including Kasauti pillars with figures of Hindu Gods carved thereon. Despite the Britishers treated it as a mosque but it could not become so. Some of the reasons for not treating the building as a mosque are that it is not in accordance with the Tenets of Islam, some of which are stated in para 24, sub paras (A) to (G) which are similar as we have already reproduced while noting down the pleadings in the written statement of defendant no.13 in Suit-4. The plaintiff Deities have continued to be worshipped since ever throughout the ages at Shri Ramjanambhumi. The place belongs to the Deities. No valid Waqf was ever created or could have been created at that place or any part of it, in view of the title and possession of the plaintiff Deities thereon, contrary to the Islam religion. No prayer was ever offered thereat. Treating it a Waqf under U.P. Act No. 13 of 1936, is also illegal for the reasons stated in detail in paras 25 and 26 which are similar to the additional written statement of defendant no.13 in Suit-4. After independence from British Rule, the Vairagis, Sadhus and the Hindu public, dug up and levelled whatever graves had been left in the area surrounding Ramjanambhumi Sthan and purified the place by Akhand Patha and Japa by thousands of persons all over the area. Ultimately, on the night between the 22nd and 23rd December, 1949, the idol of Bhagwan Shri Rama was installed with due ceremony under the central dome of the building. Since there was no Muslim residing anywhere near the place, no resistance was put by any Muslim to those acts. However, the local authorities acting with mala fide lodged a first information report of their own resulting in initiation of proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. and issuance of preliminary order dated 29.12.1949. The aforesaid attempt was a device to take over the administration of Janambhumi Mandir by the Government by appointing a Receiver which had continued thereafter, though the City Magistrate had dropped the proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. by order dated 30.7.1953 with the finding that there was no apprehension of breach of peace any longer. The appointment of Receiver however continued thereafter under order passed by the Civil Court in pending suits. Plaintiff Deities were not parties in any of the earlier four suits filed by different parties in which the order of appointment of Receiver was passed. The Receiver derived power solely from the orders of the Court and was not authorised to remove any person from the possession or the custody of the premises. In fact, he never interfered with the possession of plaintiff Deities. The Receiver acted like a Shebait and did not disturb the possession of plaintiff Deities. The period of possession of the plaintiffs over the building in question since the installation of Deities, i.e., since the intervening night of 22nd and 23rd December, 1949, is admitted by all concerned parties. Thus, independent of original title of the plaintiff Deities, which continued all along, the admitted position of their possession places the matter of their title beyond any doubt or dispute. Even if any person is claiming title to the property in dispute adversely to the plaintiff Deities, that would have extinguished by their open and long adverse possession which created positively and affirmatively a proprietary title to the premises in the plaintiff Deities.

80. Hindu public and devotees of plaintiff Deities are keenly

desirous of restoring Janamsthan to its pristine glory. A plan to this effect has already been drawn and the active movement is planned to commence from September 30, 1989. Foundation stone shall be laid down on November 9, 1989. The plaintiff Deities not being a party to any of the suits pending in the Courts were not bound or affected by anything which may be decided or not decided in any of the four suits pending as aforesaid for the last so many years. Plaintiff no.3 felt that the pendency of the said suits may present a hindrance, inasmuch as, a declaration has been sought by the Sunni Board frivolously in suit no. 12 of 1961 that the building at Shri Ramjanambhumi, Ayodhya is a mosque known as 'Babri Mosque' and that the adjacent land is a Muslim Public graveyard, known as 'Ganje Shahidan' and the Court had permitted the plaintiffs of that suit to sue the defendants no.1 to 4 thereof as representatives of the entire Hindu community. The plaintiffs of that suit cannot represent the entire Muslim community as they are all Sunnis and thus only a segment of the Muslim population who have wide ranging differences with other sects of Muslims, particularly, the Shias. Similarly, defendants no.1 to 4 are also not capable of representing the entire world of Hindus. Defendants no. 1 and 2 of that suit have categorically stated that they do not represent anyone else except themselves. The defendant no. 3 has put forward a personal interest in the management of the plaintiff Deities. In the circumstances, the plaintiff no.3 has been advised to file this suit as the next friend for and on behalf of the Deities against all the contending parties. According to the case taken up by defendants no. 4, 5 and 6 and the documents filed by them or on their behalf, the Babri Masjid was a Sunni Waqf but its Mutwallis, being the descendants of Mir Baqi were Shia Muslims. A judgment dated 30.3.1946 of Sri S.Hasan, Civil Judge, Faizabad in suit no. 29 of 1945 where Shia Central Board of Waqfs U.P. was plaintiff and the Sunni Central Board of Waqfs U.P. was the defendant, has been produced in this context although the judgment has not been relied on or referred in the plaint of suit no. 12 of 1961 to show that Waqf of Babri Masjid was a Sunni Waqf and its Mutwallis were Shias. This position is incomprehensible in law. The waqf created by a Shia Waqif would be a Shia Waqf and could not be a Sunni Waqf. Admittedly, as per their case, the mosque was built by Mir Baqi who was a Shia and that he being a Waqif his heirs were the Mutwallis one after the other, but the Shia Central Board of Waqfs U.P. did not agitate the case any further either because of negligence or collusion in those difficult days of communal conflict immediately before the partition. In any case, the judgment is not binding. According to the report dated 10.12.1949 of Mohd. Ibrahim, Waqf Inspector and an office note signed by the Secretary, Sunni Central Board of Waqfs, U.P. dated 25.11.1948, Sri Javed Husain, the Numberdar of village Sahanwa and in the line of descendants of Mir Baqi was the Mutwalli of the Waqf though he did not act and submit to the jurisdiction of the Waqf Board. Shia Waqf Board and Sri Javed Hussain are also impleaded as defendants no. 22 and 23. Prince Anjum Qader, who is the President of All India Shia Conference has also been impleaded as defendants no. 24 and 25 in the suit.

81. The entire premises of Shri Ramjanambhumi,Ayodhya, besides Deity of plaintiff no.1, has other idols of Deities, i.e., Ram Chabutara, the Charan and the Sita Rasoi etc alongwith the yards, enclosures and buildings, including Sita Koop and all that constitute one integral complex. They have a single identity. The claim of the Muslims represented by defendants no. 4, 5 and 6 is confined to the building and the area enclosed within the inner boundary wall, erected after annexation of Avadh by the British. The rest of the area has not been claimed as Babri Masjid. The claim that the surrounding area is a Qabristan known as Ganj Shahidan is vague and unidentified. There are no graves anywhere for the last fifty years at least. The claim of the aforesaid defendants is hollow and even otherwise they do not represent the entire Muslim community. Defendant no.23, the present Mutwalli of the Babri Masjid since before 1948 had not joined as plaintiff or defendant in Suit No. 12 of 1961 despite well established position in law that only a Mutwalli of a mosque can sue for its possession and even when a worshipper sues in respect of an existing mosque, he must sue for possession being delivered to the Mutwalli and that he cannot ask for possession being delivered to him. Some of the Muslims tried to settle the dispute suggesting for removal of mosque to a suitable place. Though the plaintiffs do not admit that the building at Ramjanambhumi or any part of its precincts had ever been mosque, they are not averse to the proposal of removal of mosque building except the Kasauti pillars. The building will in any case have to be demolished for construction of a new Temple which they propose to construct at the place. The situs of Shri Ramjanambhumi cannot be changed considering the nature and significance of the 'Sthan' as the birth place of Lord Ram. On the other hand, under the tenets of Islam a mosque can be shifted under certain circumstances and its shifting would not in any way be contrary to Islamic tenets.

82. In view of later events, major amendments made in the plaint. It says that due to long delay in disposal of the matter, the Hindu saints from time to time resolved to take steps for construction of a Temple and in a meeting held at Ujjain during May 1992 resolved to start Kar Sewa for the construction of a New Temple. On 9.7.1992, in their assembly at Ayodhya, the resolution was reaffirmed. The entire building was brought down by Kar Sewaks with their bare hands in just about five hours after 11 A.M. on 6.12.1992. The debris was collected and carried away by the Kar Sewaks as holy momentos leaving the place where the Deity of Bhagwan Shri Rama Lala was installed under the central dome of the demolished structure flat in the form of Chabutara on which the Deity was immediately reinstalled. The place was enclosed by a brick boundary wall and a canopy was also erected for the protection of the Deity and Pooja was continued as of yore. The then Chief Misnister of U.P., owning the entire responsibility resigned from his office in the evening of 6.12.1992 and the President imposed President's Rule in the State in the midnight. On 7.1.1993 the President promulgated the "Acquisition of Certain Area at Ayodhya Ordinance" (No. 8 of 1993) and simultaneously referred the matter to the Hon'ble Apex Court under Article 143(1) of the Constitution the following question:

> "Whether a Hindu temple or any Hindu structure existed prior to the construction of the Ram Janam Bhumi-Babri Masjid (including the premises of the inner and outer courtyards of such structure) in the area on which the structure stood."

83. The object and purpose of both the said measures adopted by the President was to settle the long-standing dispute relating to the structure. The reference shows that the area in which the structure stood, is located in Revenue Plot Nos. 159 and 160 in Village Kot Ramchandra. The said Ordinance was replaced and re-enacted as Parliament's Act No. 33 of 1993 and came into force w.e.f. 7.1.1993. The plaintiff Deities who are juristic person in law could not, nor do they appear to have been acquired under the said enactment. The rights of Hindus in general and the devotees of Shri Ram in particular, to worship the said Deities also could not have been acquired or taken away. Right to manage their property includes the arrangement to be made for maintaining their worship on the Shebaiti rights which in themselves constitute heritable property under the Hindu Law. The same seems to be taken away and entrusted for the time being to the Commissioner, Faizabad Division, Faizabad, (ex offico) under Section 7 of the said Act. The validity of the said Act was challenged in several writ petitions in this Court which were withdrawn by the Supreme Court for hearing and decision alongwith the hearing of the preliminary objection to the maintainability of the Presidential Reference under Article 143(1) of the Constitution of India. The said Act was also sought to be challenged in Connected O.O.S. No. 3 and 4 of 1989 in this Court as well but proceedings were stayed by the Apex Court while withdrawing the writ petition against acquisition from this Court for hearing and decision. Vide judgment dated 24.10.1994, a three Judges Bench of the Apex Court in Dr. M. Ismail Faruqui (supra), declared sub-section (3) of Section 4 of Act No. 33 of 1993 unconstitutional and invalid but upheld the validity of other provisions thereof subject to the interpretation put thereon by the Apex Court and the Reference was returned unanswered to the President of

www.vadaprativada.com

India. The cause of action for filing the suit accrued day today, particularly recently when the plan of Temple reconstruction is sought to be obstructed by violent action from the side of certain Muslim communalists.

Written statement dated 14.8.1989 of Defendant no. 3 (Nirmohi Akhara) (Suit-5)

84. Defendant no.3 Nirmohi Akhara has filed its written statement dated 14.8.1989 reserving its right to file a supplementary written statement on the ground that due to paucity of time, it could not collect entire material. It is said that the suit is malicious and designed to damage the title and interest of the defendant. Plaintiff no.3 has no right to act as next friend of plaintiffs no.1 and 2. Plaintiffs are not even a juridical person nor have any personal right to file the suit. It is denied that Bhagwan Shri Ram is also called Ram Lala Virajman. Impleadment of plaintiff no.1 is also said to be wrong. Bhagwan Shri Ram is said to have been installed not at Janambhumi but in the Temple known as Janambhoomi Temple for whose delivery of charge and management, the defendant had filed suit no. 26 of 1959 (Suit-3). Virajman is said to be neither a name or title of any Deity and is wholly vague. Sthan Shri Ramjanambhumi, Ayodhya is also said to be a meaningless phrase as 'Sthan' simply means a place and not a juridical person. It is also denied that plaintiff no.3 (Deoki Nandan Agarwal) is a Vaishnavite. He is not even a worshipper of the Deity installed in Shri Ramjanambhumi Temple and has no right to sue, nor can he represent the Deity or the so-called Sthan. He is not at all interested in the welfare of the Deity in question. He lives in Allahabad and is not at all interested in Shri Ramjanambhumi Temple but to obtain cheap popularity, maliciously, by raising a slogan of constructing a new Temple

has arranged to spend Rs. 25 Crores. The temple belongs to defendant no.3. However, the birth place of Lord Ram is not disputed. The whole world knows that his birth place is in Ayodya where the Temple Ram Janambhumi stands in Mohalla Ramkot, Ayodhya which is in dispute in various suits transferred to this Court. Muslims claim thereat a mosque while defendant no. 3 claims it to be a Temple of Bhagwan Shri Ram under the charge and management of Nirmohi Akhara as Shebait of Bhagwan Shri Ram. Annexures I, II and III to the plaint are incorrect. Many important places of the temple have not been shown in the said annexures. They pertain to another suit and have no evidentiary value. It is said that Nirmohi Akhara alone has right to control, supervise and repair or even to reconstruct the temple, if necessary. Knowledge of any trust is denied. It is said that the Trust has no relevance at all to the dispute. Inclusion of the name of Mahant Ramkewaldas as Trustee would not make any difference so far as the rights of defendant no.3 are concerned. Relevance and continuity of the Trust of the disputed property is denied. It is, however, not disputed that no prayers have ever been offered by any Muslim in the Ramjanambhumi Temple which is claimed by some Muslims as mosque though it never was. The idol of Bhagwan Ram is said to have always existed over there. Proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. were initiated illegally affecting the rights of defendant no.3. There was no movement for construction of a new Temple in place of the present temple nor anyone else has a right to construct a new temple in its place. The plaintiffs have no real title to sue. They have wrongly been advised to file the suit only to harass defendant no.3 and try to encroach upon its rights of management of the temple. The entire premises belong to Nirmohi Akhara. There is no question of any mosque as Babri Masjid or any Qabristan thereat.

Additional written statement dated 20.4.1992 of Defendant no. 3 (Nirmohi Akhara) (Suit-5)

85. An additional supplementary written statement dated 20.4.1992 has also been filed stating that site plan annexure II to the plaint does not bear any plot number nor is it bounded so as to give definite identity of the property. The Temple Shri Vijay Ragho Ji Sakshi Gopal has never been subject matter of any of the suit i.e., O.O.S. Nos. 3 of 1989 or 4 of 1989, pending before this Court. Sumitra Bhawan is another temple shown in the site plan, which is the temple of Sheshawatar Laxmanji Maharaj which has been in possession of Mahant Raj Mangal Das, one of the Panch of Nirmohi Akhara. Nazul Plot no.588 measuring 1-6-13-15 Kachwanceis of Mohalla Ram Kot is recorded with Deity Laxamanji Maharaj through Ramdas Nirmohi who is Guru of Raj Mangal Das. Mahant Ramdas is recorded in settlement plot no. 168 to 174 as Qabiz of Sumitra Bhawan. Similarly, Lomash Chaura Mandir, Sita Koop Mandir, Kuti shown in the said map have distinct Deity of Bhagwan Ram Lalaji managed by other Panches of Nirmohi Akhara, namely, Mahant Dwarika Das, Mahant Naval Kishore Das and Ram Gopal Das. Sankatmochan Mandir has been omitted in the map whereas it did exist on the date of filing of suit. It has its Deity Sankatmochan Hanuman Ji and Thakur Ram Janki represented by Sarbarakar Ram Dayal Saran, Chela of Ram Lakhan Saran, who was Naga Chela of Golaki Ram Lakhan Das one of the old panch of Nirmohi Akhara. The outer Sahan carried a small temple of Bhagwan Ramlalaji alongwith other place, regularly worshipped according to prevailing customs amongst Ramanandi Vairagies. The outer part of the temple Ram Lalaji and Deities have always been in management and charge of Nirmohi Akhara as Shebait till this outer portion with Bhandar was attached under Section 145 Cr.P.C. A Receiver was appointed in Suit No. 239 of 1982, Shri Ram Rama Nandi Nirmohi Akhara Vs. K.K. Ram Verma etc. due to lootpat committed by Dharam Das. Plaintiff no.3 has himself named Dharam Das as witness. The suit by plaintiffs no.3 is not maintainable for want of possession and is also barred by Section 34 of Specific Relief Act. The outer portion consists of Bhagwan Ram Lala on Shri Ram Chabutara along with other Deities, "Chhathi Pujan Sthan" and 'Bhandar' (store) with eastern outer wall carrying engraved image of Varah Bhagwan with southern and northern wall and also western portion of wall carrying the present municipal nos. 10/12/29 old 506, 507 and older 647 of Ram Kot Ward of Ayodhya City, which have been referred in many litigations since 1885 till Regular Suit No. 239 of 1982 in the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad. The suit is bad for want of necessary party, as "Nirmohi Akhara" was also held in possession and management of the temple in every case. Bhagwan Ramlalaji installed by it on the Ram Chabutara is a distinct legal entity owned by defendant no.3. Attachment of the property was wholly illegal and bad. Plaintiff no.3 is an office bearer of V.H.P. and is also a member of defendant no.2, the alleged Nyas (Trust), who has no concern with the matter. They are trying to usurp the property of defendant no.3. Outer portion with surrounding temples, were illegally acquired by VHP backed by B.J.P. Government, vide notification dated 7.10.1991, which is under challenge in a writ petition. However, it is void and illegal in view of section 52 of the Transfer of Property Act.

IInd additional written statement dated 13.5.1994 of Defendant no. 3 (Nirmohi Akhara) (Suit-5)

86. The second additional written statement dated 13.5.1994 has been filed on behalf of defendant no.3 challenging the very existence of alleged Trust. It is illegal and void. Jagadguru Ramanand himself had condemned the alleged Trust. The disputed property belongs to Nirmohi Akhara and the Trust is a non-constitutional body devoid of any title of disputed property.

Written statement dated 26/29.8.1989 of Defendant No. 4 (Sunni Central Board of Waqfs) (Suit-5)

87. The defendant no. 4 has filed a very detailed written statement dated 26/29.08.1989. Denying the claim of the plaintiffs about being juridical persons, it is said that neither of the plaintiffs are juridical persons nor there is any presiding deity of Shri Ram Chandraji at the place in dispute nor the plaintiff no. 3 has any locus standi or right to represent the so called and alleged deity and Asthan as next friend. The plaintiffs no. 1 and 2 have no right to file this suit as they are not legal personalities. It is denied that there has been any installation of deity within the premises of the disputed place of worship known as Babri Masjid. The idol in question, it is said, was stealthily and surreptitiously kept inside the mosque in the night of 22/23.12.1949 by some mischief-mongers against whom a first information report was lodged at Police Station Ayodhya on 23.12.1949. Plan and report submitted by Sri Sheo Shanker Lal, Commissioner made part of the plaint do not depict the correct position of the spot hence cannot be relied upon for identification and description of the property in suit. The plaintiffs are obliged to give correct boundaries of the property in suit and the plaint is defective in this respect.

88. Filing of Suit-1 by Sri Gopal Singh Visharad and Zahoor Ahmad is not disputed but rest of the contents of para 3 of the plaint are denied. It is denied that the original plaintiff of the said suit has died recently. It is said that in fact he had expired several years ago and no application for substitution was filed within the prescribed time hence the suit stood abated much before 1986. The order of substitution passed in favour of the defendant no. 1 is illegal and improper. The names of Muslim defendants of the said suit is said to have been wrongly struck off. The heirs of the Muslim defendants were liable to be substituted in place of the original Muslim defendants. For verification of the contents, the record of the aforesaid suit itself may be perused.

89. Similarly, filing of Suit No. 25 of 1950 (Suit-2) is not disputed but the rest of the contents of para 5 may be verified from the plaint of the suit. The Suit No. 25 of 1950 (Suit-2) also suffers from the defects as in Suit-1.

90. The filing of Suit-3 is also not disputed but in respect to the averments contained therein it is said that the same may be verified from the plaint of the suit. The idols of Shri Ram Chandraji were never installed in the premises of Babri Masjid which has wrongly been described as Janam Bhumi. The suit is defective and not maintainable. Heirs of Muslim defendants have not been substituted though the cause of action survives against them and all of them ought to have been impleaded. The property in suit is a mosque and it has never been admitted that the said building was a temple.

91. Filing of Suit No. 12 of 1961 (Suit-4) by defendant no. 4 and some other Muslims is also not disputed but for the reliefs claimed therein it is said that the plaint of the suit itself may be perused. Any defect in the suit is denied. The Suit-4 has been filed in representative capacity. The application for permission to sue in representative capacity was allowed by the Court.

92. All the four suits have been consolidated and Suit-4 is the leading suit. There is no question of Pooja or Sewa in the premises in question since the alleged deities did not exist in the building in question and the idols kept therein could not be treated as deities. Only a restricted Pooja was carried on 16.01.1950 which cannot be treated as Sewa and Pooja of the alleged deity. There is no likelihood of the suits being decided in a manner that a close Darshan of the idols would be permissible. Defendant no. 20 had no right to title or locus stand to move the application for opening of the gate of the mosque for close Darshan. He was not a party in any of the aforesaid two suits and had no locus standi. The District Judge, Faizabad illegally passed order dated 01.02.1986 whereagainst two writ petitions are pending in this Court. The building in dispute is not Janambhumi of Shri Ram Chandraji and no idols of Shri Ram Chandraji were installed therein, hence, there arises no question of right or claim of defendant no. 20 or anyone else to perform Pooja or Darshan thereover. The fact is that the property in dispute is an old mosque known as Babri Masjid, constructed during the regime of Emperor Babar. There is no question of construction of any new temple over the site of Babri Masjid. The plaintiff or anyone else has no right or locus standi to claim removal of old structure of mosque. Prior to 22/23.12.1949, no idols were kept in the said mosque. It was never used for performing Pooja and Darshan etc. prior to the aforesaid date. Due to unnecessary and unusual delay in disposal of the suits and continuance of the order of attachment of the mosque for the last about 39 years condition of the building has also deteriorated. The Receiver appointed by the Court is not taking proper interest in maintenance of the building. Despite Court's order, no repairs of the buildings has been undertaken for the last several years. The alleged desire of removing the structure of mosque and construction of a new temple on the site is wholly uncalled for, unwarranted and mischievous. Any such attempt is fraught with very dangerous consequences besides being an offence and also in violation of the restraint order of this Court in Writ Petition No. 746 of 1986, Mohd. Hashim Vs. State of U.P. and others. Since there existed no temple, the question of improvement in the administration or reconstruction thereof or managing performance of alleged Sewa and Pooja does not arise. Since there is no deity, the question of protection, renovation, reconstruction and development of alleged temple premises does not arise. The building in question being a mosque, the occasion for creation of any Trust does not arise. The entire exercise is based on imaginary concept of Ramjanambhumi Temple though no such temple ever existed over the premises in question. The so called Ramjanambhumi Nyas has no connection with the building in dispute. It is not a legal person and there is no question of impleadment of the Trust as defendant no. 21. Even the idol surreptitiously placed on 22/23.12.1949, has not been installed in accordance with the traditions and rituals of Hindu Law. The ceremony prescribed by Hindu Law for installation of Idols has not been observed. The idols kept in mosque are not legal entity and question of their impleadment does not arise. The suit is barred by time having been filed after more than 39 years after the attachment of the property in suit and, therefore, is not maintainable. There is no public record, much less any record of unimpeachable authority, showing that the premises in dispute is the place of birth of Shri Ram Chandraji. There is no historical or judicial

record to testify the said fact. The religious books as well as the writings of Hindu Scholars make it very doubtful whether the personality of Shri Ram Chandraji is historical personality. There are several versions about the place of birth of Shri Ram Chandraji. It is not at all settled even amongst the Hindu Scholars as to where and in what period such a religious leader known as Shri Ram Chandraji was born. The booklets circulated at Ayodhya by Vishwa Hindu Parishad and other Hindu organisations as well as other books of Hindu mythology describe the period of Shri Ram Chandraji as that of Treata Yug, meaning thereby that he was born more than nine lakh years ago. According to Hindu mythology there were three Maha Pralayas during which period the entire earth got submerged into water. Accordingly, as per Hindu Mythology itself no specific place can be said to be the birth place of Shri Ram Chandraji. The greatest author in the recent history on Shri Ram Chandraji is Goswami Tulsidas who has written Ramcharitmanas during the regime of Mughal Emperor Akbar, the grandson of Mughal Emperor Babar. The said book was composed by Goswami Tulsidasji at a place known as “Datun Kund” situate at a distance of about 1 km. from Ayodhya in District Faizabad. Had there been any birth place of Shri Ram Chandraji in Ayodhya, Goswami Tulsidasji must have specifically mentioned about the same in his book Ramcaritmanas. As a great devotee of Shri Ram Chandraji, Goswami Tulsidas cannot be expected to have skipped over, concealed or kept quiet over such an important fact of life history of Shri Ram Chandraji. If there would have been any iota of truth about the story of Shri Ramjanambhumi Temple at Ayodhya at the site of Babri Masjid during the regime of

Emperor Babar or prior thereto, and, had there been any incident of demolition of such temple and construction of Babri Masjid over the same, it would have been mentioned by Goswami Tulsidas in his book. He also would have taken up this matter in the Court (Darbar of Emperor Akbar) who must have undone the alleged wrong. The Court of Emperor Akbar was full of advisers, counsellors and ministers of Hindu community and his own Queen was Jodha Bai, a Hindu lady. Even the location of present Ayodhya does not tally with the location of Ayodhya as given in Valmiki Ramayan. This creates doubt about there being any place of birth at the present Ayodhya situate in District Faizabad. According to Valmiki Ramayan, Ayodhya was situated about a distance of one and half Yojan (equivalent to about 14-1/2 miles) from river Saryu flowing East to West which is presently running quite adjacent to the present Ayodhya from West to East. It is incorrect that any historical or other evidence exists to the effect that Shri Ram Chandraji manifested himself in human form at the place where idols are kept presently in the mosque in question. Prior to December, 1949, the place known as Babri Masjid was never called as Shri Ramjanambhumi. In 1885, Mahant Raghubar Das, Mahant of Janam Asthan of Ayodhya, filed a suit against Secretary of State for India in Council and Mohd. Asghar, Mutawalli of the mosque in the Court of Sub-Judge, Faizabad. He annexed a site plan alongwith plaint wherein the mosque in question was specifically mentioned in the western side of Chabutra in respect whereof the suit was filed seeking permission to erect temple over the said Chabutra but could not succeed as the suit was dismissed on 24.12.1885 by Sub-Judge, Faizabad. The first appeal was dismissed by District Judge, Faizabad and second appeal was dismissed by the Judicial Commissioner of Oudh. The suit was filed in representative capacity on behalf of other Mahants and Hindus of Ayodhya and Faizabad. The plaintiff, therefore, cannot claim that any portion of Babri Masjid has been deified or has become a juridical personality by the name of Asthan Ramjanambhumi. There is no installation of any deity at the premises in question. The plaintiffs are estopped from claiming the mosque in question as Janam Bhumi of Shri Ram Chandraji. The predecessors of the plaintiffs namely, Mahant Raghubar Das confined his claim to Chabutra (platform) of 17 ft. x 21 ft. outside the mosque as being Janam Asthan of Shri Ram Chandraji. There already exists another temple known as Janam Asthan Temple at a distance of 100 yards only from Babri Masjid and from its southern side. Mythological concept of incarnation etc. is irrelevant for the purpose of suit in question. A Hindu Officer himself has lodged first information report about surreptitious placement of some idols in the mosque in the night of 22/23.12.1949 by some mischievous elements, which resulted in registration of a criminal case as also initiation of proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. due to communal tension flared up in the area concerned. The building was attached on 29.12.1949. A Supurdagar/ Receiver was appointed for its care and custody who drew a scheme of management which was submitted to the Court on 05.01.1950. The spirit of Shri Ram Chandraji as the divine child cannot be said to reside at any place or in the idol kept inside the mosque. No idol or place of mosque can be said to be Deity. There is no comparison of Kedarnath or Vishnupad Temple of Gaya with the Babri Masjid. There is no Charan or Sita Rasoi within the premises of Babri Masjid. The place known as “Sita Rasoi” is situate outside the premises of the mosque. No Pooja was ever performed inside the mosque at any time prior to 23.12.1949. There was no temple of Maharaja Vikramadittya's time at the site of Babri Masjid. No authentic book of history or public record of unimpeachable authenticity is citable in this respect. The averment of construction of mosque in question at the site of temple or after destruction of any temple by force or arms is incorrect. Use of material after alleged destruction in the construction of mosque is also denied. It is also denied that the pillars of the mosque were brought out of Kasauti or touchstone with figures of Hindu God and Goddess carved on them. Such pillars are available at some other places also. The alleged resistance put up by Hindus or battle fought from time to time to prevent construction of mosque is also denied. Regarding the shape, it is said that there is no requirement of any specific type of construction or structure for a mosque. Existence of minarets or domes is not at all required for any mosque. There is no necessity of any place for storage of water for Vazoo. In the close vicinity of Babri Masjid a well is there for taking out water for Vazoo. There are several other mosques in India and even in Faizabad which have no minarets or domes. One of such mosques is situate within the premises of Dargah Hazrat Jahangir Samdani in Kachaucha Shareef, District Faizabad in which there are no domes or minarets. Another is in District Lucknow in which there are five domes but no minarets. No life was lost in any battle fought in respect of Babri Masjid and no battle had taken place in respect thereto till 1885. The place in question was not in possession and control of Hindus since the date of its construction during Babar's time. The facts contained in Faizabad Gazeteer are based on hearsay and is not true. They are incorrect and are unreliable piece of evidence. Bitterness had been created between Hindus and Muslims in respect of the mosque situate inside Hanuman Garhi. It was on the report of the demolition of that mosque that some muslims tried to take up arms under the command of Maulvi Ameer Ali but they could not succeed on account of the army of Nawab as well as British posted for facing such challenge. The expedition of Maulvi Ameer Ali has no concern with Babri Masjid. The observations to the contrary in the Gazeteer of Faizabad and Barabanki are incorrect and unreliable. At no point of time Hindus and Muslims both worshipped at the place known as Babri Masjid. Had it been so, it would have been mentioned by Mahant Raghubar Das in his plaint of Original Suit No. 61/280 of 1885. The quotation of Quran in para 24(A) is totally out of context and it is said that it is not even correct and complete. The land in question undoubtedly belong to the State when the mosque in question was constructed on behalf of State and as such it cannot be said that it could not be dedicated for the purpose of mosque. Emperor Babar was a "Sunni Muslim". The Babri Masjid was built on the vacant land in the State territory of Emperor Babar. It did not belong to anyone and could very well be used by his officers for the purpose of mosque specifically so when the Emperor Babar himself consented and gave approval for the purpose of construction of mosque. The site in question was never the site of any temple and no temple was destroyed by Meer Baqi. Had any such incident taken place, the same would have been reported in the authentic books of Mughal history. It is denied that the entry of mosque would not be possible except after passing through the place of Hindu worship. The concept of mosque has wrongly been described and, therefore, denied. There is no such condition that the mosque should be constructed at a place of peace, quiet and near a place having sizable Muslim population. It is also incorrect that the mosque cannot be built in a place surrounded by the temple where the sound of music and Konch shell, Ghanta Ghariyal would disturb the site of peace of that place. There is no specific shape of building of a mosque and no mandatory requirement of minarets. There is also no requirement of any specific place for calling the "Azan". The contents in para 24(E) of the plaint are incorrect. Non existence of graves near the building of the mosque is denied. The graves were existing in Ganj-Shaheedan but have been mostly demolished by Bairagis and that is how they are now not visible. The mosque in question was used for offering regular five times prayer (namaz) up to 22.12.1949 and even Friday prayer was offered therein till 16.12.1949. The Imam of the said mosque who used to lead prayers in 1949 namely, Maulvi Abdul Ghaffar son of late Mohd. Abdul Qadir has filed his affidavit in Writ Petition No. 746 of 1986, Mohd. Hashim Vs. District Judge, Faizabad and others. It is denied that no valid Waqf of the mosque was ever created. The possession of Muslims remained uninterrupted and continuous from the date of construction of the mosque till 22.12.1949. The alleged right or title, if any, of anyone else stands extinguished on account of adverse possession of Muslims for more than 420 years. The alleged communal riot of 1934 has nothing to do with Babri Masjid. However, some Bairagis damaged a portion of the mosque. The District Magistrate, Faizabad got the same repaired through a Muslim contractor. It is incorrect to say that after 1934 no one dared to offer Namaz in the said mosque. It is denied that there was no

Mutawalli or Moazzim or Imam or Khatib or Khadim of the said mosque. The Mutawalli of the mosque finds mention even in the Gazette of 1944 declaring the said mosque as Waqf. Even at present there is a Committee of Management of the said mosque appointed by defendant no. 4. The graves existing near Babri Masjid were dug-up and levelled mainly after 1949 and not just after independence. In the night of 22/23.12.1949 some Bairagis forcibly and illegally entered the mosque and kept idols therein below the middle dome of the mosque. Some of the culprits are named in the first information report. It is incorrect that no Muslim has been residing near Babri Masjid and no resistance was offered by them. In fact Muslims reside not only behind the mosque but also in the localities situated in the southern and eastern side of the mosque. Since no one was aware of the incident which took place in the late hours of the night, hence could not offer resistance at that time. On 23.12.1949 they came to know of the said incident, collected and insisted for offering Friday prayers in the said mosque but the District Magistrate present over there persuaded them not to offer prayer and assured that the idols stealthily kept in the mosque would be removed by the next Friday. In the circumstances, the Muslims exercised restraint being law abiding citizens and started pursuing legal remedies. This resulted in the proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. which were not dropped but has been consigned to record due to filing of civil suit and were likely to be revived after decision of the civil suit. The idols were kept in connivance of some district officials, the then District Magistrate, Sri K.K. Nayyar. The then Prime Minister and Chief Minister asked the District Magistrate, Faizabad to get the idols removed from the mosque. One Akshay Bramhachari, the then

www.vadaprativada.com

President of the District Congress Committee, Faizabad went on fast to press his demand for removal of idols from the said mosque but deferred the same on the assurance given by the then Chief Minister, Pt. Govind Ballabh Pant. The proceedings under Section 145 Cr.P.C. were dropped on 30.07.1953 after recording the finding that there was no apprehension of breach of peace of any order any longer. Due to the injunction order restraining removal of idols, the same could not have been removed. It is incorrect to say that the Receiver acted like a Shebait. There is no question of creating any right in favour of the plaintiffs due to alleged long adverse possession. The theory of restoration of the alleged Janam Asthan is wholly imaginary. Mahatma Gandhi never considered or treated Babri Masjid to be Janam Asthan of Shri Ram Chandraji. His disciples have also disapproved the forcible placement of idols in the mosque. The demand of demolition of mosque and construction of a new grand temple of Shri Ram Chandraji is being raised by some disgruntled elements having vested interest and they are misleading the large number of persons as if the said Babri Masjid is the birth place of Shri Ram Chandraji. The alleged wide ranging differences amongst Shias and Sunnis sects of the Muslims in respect of mosque in question is incorrect. The Shia sect has nothing to do with the Waqf of mosque in question and this matter has already been settled by Civil Judge, Faizabad in 1946 holding that the Babri Masjid is a Sunni Waqf. It is incorrect that Mutawallis of mosque in question were Shia Muslims or the distant relatives of Mir Baqi. The judgement dated 30.03.1946 in Suit No. 27 of 1945 given by Civil Judge, Faizabad in this respect is final. There is no legal bar in appointment of a Shia Mutawalli to a Sunni Waqf or vice versa.

A person who constructs a mosque or under whose supervision a mosque is constructed does not become a Wakif of the said mosque ipso facto specially when an Officer or General of a Army of a King constructs a mosque on behalf of the King. The Waqf would be said to have been created by the Emperor and not by the Officer. From the record of Sunni Waqf Board it is not borne out that Sri Jawwad Hussain was ever recorded a Mutawalli of the said Waqf. He is wrongly impleaded as the defendant in suit. Similarly, defendants no. 22, 24 and 25 have also been wrongly impleaded. The suit is bad for misjoinder of parties. The alleged Charan and Sita Rasoi do not constitute one integral complex having a single identity. Defendant no. 23 is not admitted to be the present Mutawalli of Babri Masjid since before 1948. At present the mosque in question has got a Managing Committee appointed by defendant no. 4. It is incorrect that a Mutawalli of the mosque can sue for its dispossession. The "Board" is a statutory body created by U.P. Muslim Waqf Act, 1936 and is continuing under the U.P. Muslim Waqf Act, 1960. Under Section 19 the Board has general powers of supervision of all the Waqfs, institute and defend suit and proceedings in any Court of Law relating to all Waqfs etc. It is denied that Anjum Qudar, defendant no. 24, or any sensible and sizeable section of the Muslim community would not approve the course adopted by defendants no. 4 to 6. Any responsible Muslim has not made any suggestion of removal of mosque to any other place. The concept of removal of the structure of mosque to any other place is quite foreign to the Muslim law and there is no possibility of any such course being accepted by the Muslims in respect of the mosque in question. The concept of mosque is that the entire area below as well as above the portion of the mosque remains dedicated to God Almighty. It is not the construction or structure of a mosque alone which is important but more important is the land on which mosque stands constructed because the land also stands dedicated to God Almighty and the same cannot be removed. If any person bearing the Muslim name makes any suggestion for removal of mosque to any other place, that is of no value and significance as the principles of Islamic law do not permit any such removal. It is also preposterous to suggest that the building in question will have to be demolished for construction of a temple in place thereof. While making such a statement, the plaintiffs do not appear to be conscious about the grave and disastrous consequences that will follow, if any such proposal is given effect to. The Muslims will never tolerate demolition of mosque for construction of a temple at the site thereof. There is no dispute that all human beings including Muslims and Hindus are creation of one and the same God. The plaintiffs of Suit-4 as well as other Muslims also believe in the policy of living in amity and goodwill with members of all communities and religious denominations. That, however, does not mean that the gesture of goodwill and amity should be shown to such persons, who are bent upon demolishing mosque. The site in question has nothing to do with the place of birth of Shri Ramchandraji, and, as such, the same has got no significance of the alleged Asthan Shri Ramchandra Janam Bhumi. The entire propaganda and publicity in this respect is being carried out by Vishwa Hindu Parishad, Ramjamanbhumi Yagya Samiti, their associates and allied bodies and it is nothing but sheer concoction. It is being done with vested interests and political ambitions. It is not at all difficult for the plaintiffs of the suit as well as for the defendants of Regular Suit No. 12 of 1961 to abandon their claim over the mosque in question and to construct magnificent and grand temple of Shri Ramchandraji at any other free site which may not be property of any other person or community. It is incorrect that under the tenets of Muslim law, a mosque can be shifted under certain circumstances. No cause of action accrued to the plaintiffs as they were never associated with the management and administration of the property in question. Even if any cause of action in respect of the property in suit can be said to have accrued to plaintiff no. 3, the same must be deemed to have accrued in December, 1949, when the property in question was attached and when the Muslims had categorically denied the alleged claim of Hindus to perform Pooja in the mosque in question and that being so, the present suit is highly barred by limitation. Plaintiff no. 3 is required to give specific date, month and year when the alleged cause of action accrued as no such description has been given. The averment of cause of action is incomplete and defective. The plaint is liable to be rejected as there is no cause of action. The suit is not properly valued. The Court fee paid is insufficient. The plaintiffs are not entitled to any relief.

93. In the additional pleas, it is said that plaintiffs no. 1 and 2 are neither Deities nor can be treated as juristic person. Plaintiff no. 3 cannot claim himself to be the next friend of Bhagwan Shri Ram. None of the plaintiffs has any right to file the suit. The plaint lacks the material facts and particulars. Notice under Section 80 C.P.C. was not given to the defendants no. 7 to 10. The property in question is a Waqf property registered as a Waqf in the Register of Waqfs maintained by Sunni Waqf

Board under Section 30 of the Waqf Act. A Gazette notification of this effect was issued by the State Government in 1944, and even in the revenue and other Government records, the same stands recorded as a mosque. The State Government and its officers also have accepted it as mosque in their written statement filed in Suit 1 and 2. Even the reports of Archaeological Experts have been to the effect that there appear to be no symptoms of human habitation in the present Ayodhya of more than 700 B.C. There also appears to be no symptom of any Fort or Palace or old temple at the site of Babri Masjid. The suit is barred by Section 34 of Specific Relief Act as well as mis-joinder and non-joinder of parties.

Written statement dated 14/21.8.1989 of Defendant no. 5 (Sri Mohammad Hashim) (Suit-5)

94. Defendant no. 5 has filed a separate written statement dated 14/21.8.1989 and basically the averments therein are similar to that contained in the written statement of defendant no. 4. The additional averments, contained therein, are that existence of mosque as Babri Masjid is established by records-historic, judicial and revenue. There is no evidence, historic or otherwise, to indicate that Shri Ram Chandraji was born at the place in dispute. It is all a later concoction and there is no question of devotees. The so called Asthan is not a juristic person, hence, the suit is not maintainable. The concept of Hindu religion as well as philosophical and spiritual elements sought to be invoked by the plaintiffs in para 21 and 22 are irrelevant. The quotation of Quran in para 24 is incorrect. There is no evidence of demolition of any temple. The entire complex belongs to the waqf Babri Masjid. According to inscriptions in the mosque, the BabriMasjid was constructed by Mir Baqi, one of the Commanders of Babar in 1528 and since then it has been in use as mosque. The Muslims always regularly offered namaz in it till the attachment. Some averments of the plaint contain a threat and constitute contempt of courts of law including an excitement to violence and disregard for the rule of law. Lord Rama, in whose name controversy in question has been created, according to authoritative text of the historians and other scholars of Hindu religion is mere an epic, an imaginary figure and never existed in fact. There have been authoritative pronouncements by various historians that Lord Rama never existed. It is mere an epic. Besides above, no period and place could be fixed till date. After long research Holy Barahmins have come to conclusion that it is all mere an epic and legend. As per Valmiki's Ramayan, which is supposed to be the only authoritative source of Lord Rama, the city Ayodhya, where the property in question situate, is not the place described in that book. It is incorrect that there existed any temple which was demolished at the behest of Babar and at that site Babri Masjid was constructed. Shri Tulsidas, author of Ramcharitmanas has elevated the status of Lord Rama from Maryadapurushottam to Bhagwan in his book, which was written after construction of Babri Masjid, at Datoon-Kund in Ayodhya itself which situates at a short distance from the Babri Masjid. Before Tulsi's Ramcharitmanas, there were no temples of Lord Rama in any part of India and instead there were temples of other Gods and Goddesses. The contention, therefore, regarding demolition of Ram Mandir is baseless, designed to thatch up communal disharmony and hatred between the two communities. Recent scientific investigations and C-14 test, which is a radio carbon dating method, have revealed that the stones used in the building in question are less than 500 years in age. The claim that the temple was demolished and same material was used to build the mosque, therefore, stands falsified. The property in question is continuously recorded in revenue records from prior to first settlement and the said entry remained unchallenged and is final. Notification under the Waqf Act, 1936 was issued after due enquiry and survey. The same has not been challenged. The mosque, since very beginning, was receiving grant from Emperor Babar, which was continued by the British regime also. Suit No. 57 of 1978 filed on behalf of and in the name of alleged Deity for the very property has been dismissed by the Court of Munsif, Faizabad and the said order has not been set aside by any other Court and, hence, it operates as res judicata. Suit on behalf of a Deity cannot be filed through next friend and, therefore, is not maintainable. No period of birth of Ram Lala has been given. Lord Rama, Janki or any person having faith in them has no concern with the land in question over which Babri Masjid exists and the adjoining area of graveyard. The mosque and the graveyard cannot be the subject matter of any other type of Pooja. Practice and Astha could not give a right of demolition of mosque. Manifestation in human form is beyond comprehension and vague. Property, once vested in the God, becomes "Waqf property" and cannot be divested.

Additional written statment dated 22.8.1995 of defendants no. 4 and 5 (Sunni Central Board of Waqfs and Mohammad Hashim) (Suit-5)

95. It contains reply to the amended paragraphs added in the plaint, i.e., paragraphs no. 35-H to 35-U. Demolition of Babri Masjid is a pre-planned, deliberate and intentional act on the part of miscreants and criminals. So called construction of make-shift temple and placement of idols therein can not be described as Deity under Hindu law. Most of the paragraphs of the amended plaint have been denied being irrelevant, vexatious and frivolous and it is said that the plaintiffs have no right, title or claim over the property in suit. It is also said that on removal of the idols on 6.12.1992 from the site, the claim, if any, stood extinguished.

Written statement dated 21/22.8.1989 of Defendant no. 6 (Mahmood Ahmad) (Suit-5)

96. Defendant no. 6, Mahmood Ahmad, vide his application dated 21/22.8.1989 has adopted the written statement of defendant no. 5 and has said that he does not propose to say anything further.

Written statement of Defendant no. 11 (President, All India Hindu Maha Sabha) (Suit-5)

97. It has supported the case of the plaint and said that the All India Hindu Mahasabha is cooperating for construction of new Ram temple at the site in question for performing Pooja etc.

www.vadaprativada.com

Written statement dated 14.8.1989 of Defendant no. 17 (Ramesh Chandra Tripathi) (Suit-5)

98. Similarly, defendant no. 17, vide his written statement dated 14.8.1989 has supported the plaint in its entirety.

Written statement dated 18.9.1989 of Defendant no. 23 (Sri Javed Husain) (Suit-5)

99. Defendant no. 23, though has filed his separate written statement dated 18.9.1989 disputing the claim of the plaintiffs, but its reply is virtually similar to that as given in the written statement of defendant no. 4.

Written statement dated 4.9.1989 of Defendant no. 24 (Prince Anjum Quder) (Suit-5)

100. The written statement dated 4.9.1989 of defendant no. 24, while denying the claim of the plaintiffs, states that the holy Deity and Asthan cannot be made party to the suit. Plaintiff no. 3 has not secured any authority to file suit on behalf of plaintiffs no. 1 and 2. The defendant considers Lord Ram above the jurisdiction of the Court and it is sacrilege to drag the name of Lord Ram into these mundane proceedings. Plaintiff no. 3 has impleaded plaintiff no. 1 to ensure his victory since Lord Ram cannot be defeated and this attempt cannot be allowed to succeed. The defendant has no knowledge of Shri Ramjanambhumi by which it meant the exact spot of birth of Lord Ram. As per his version, there are at least three spots in Ayodhya claimed as the exact spots where Lord Ram was born :

1. The spot being presently claimed by the plaintiffs known as Ram Janam Bhumi only since 22.12.1949.

2. The Ram Chabutra, in the court-yard outside the Babri Masjid structure, is known as Ramjanambhumi only since 1855.

3. The Janamsthan site Rasoi Mandir, facing the Babri Masjid across the street, is traditionally known as Ramjanambhumi since time immemorial.

101. The items at (b) and (c) are the spots, which have not been abandoned by believing devotees in Ayodhya. Reference to various suits is not within his knowledge since he (defendant no. 24) was not a party in those cases, but in his view, this matter should be decided without any further delay. Against the order dated 1.2.1986 of District Judge, Faizabad, the writ petition, which is pending before this Court should also be disposed of simultaneously with the pending suits. The structure popularly known as Babri Masjid cannot lawfully be removed to make way for a Mandir. Formation of a Trust comprising the disputed property is illegal so long as the dispute pertaining to ownership etc. in the pending suits is not decided. The act of plaintiff no. 3 is collusive since he is one of the trustees, yet has impleaded the Trust as defendant no. 21 and, therefore, he represents both the plaintiffs as well as defendants. The defendants and the Muslims of India have highest regard for Lord Ram. These sentiments of Muslims are best reflected in the poem entitled "Ram" composed by the greatest Muslim thinker of India, namely, Muhammad Iqbal, and one verse of the long poem shows what Muslims of India think of Shri Ram Chandraji:

"Hae Ram ke wajood pe Hindostan ko naaz Ahl-e Nazar Samajht-e-hein usko Imam-e-Hind."

102. The meaning of the said verse is that the India is proud of the existence of Ram. The intelligentia consider him as the leader of India. The defendant think if Lord Ram himself could help it, he could not have been dragged into this unseemly and undignified controversy. Impleadment of the great names of plaintiffs no. 1and 2 is unauthorised and unwarranted. Plaintiff no. 3 has not obtained consent to make the Deity and Asthan as plaintiffs no. 1 and 2 from the said plaintiffs nor has been authorised by them. Politicians and communal minded fundamentalists have set up plaintiff no. 3 to file this frivolous suit in the name of the Asthan and Bhagwan Shri Ram to serve their own narrow political and selfish ends. Lord Ram would not have subordinated himself, the way, his devotees have done him. It is denied that Lord Ram was born at the premises in dispute. Such belief came into existences only on 22.12.1949. If any documentary or recorded evidence is produced by plaintiff no. 3 establishing beyond doubt that the present belief existed before 22.12.1949 also, this defendant will surrender all his opposition. When the Babri Mosque was being constructed in 1528, no such belief existed in Ayodhya or elsewhere that the place where the mosque was built was Ramjanambhumi. Goswami Tulisdar has also not made any such complaint in his

epic biography "Ramcharitmanas" written about the year 1558. Balmiki also did not identify the present contentious spot as Ram Jaman Asthan. In none of the other Ramayans written in several other languages, the spot in question is mentioned as place of birth of Lord Rama. The averments in para 12 of the plaint are strongly contested. The idea of Ram Janamasthan was first floated by British East India Company's agents in 1855 in order to destabilise the regime of this defendant's forebear, the King of the realm, Wajid Ali Shah. At that time, a spot outside the structure of the Babri Masjid, in a corner of the court-yard was claimed as Ram Janam Asthan. But the King settled the dispute by partitioning out the plot 17 ft. X 12 ft. naming it as Ram Chabutara, by giving it to Hindus to do "Paaths" of Ramayana and peace was then restored. Again for the first time on 22.12.1949, the Ram Jamanasthan claim was shifted from Ram Chabutara to right inside the mosque just beneath the main large dome of the Babri Masjid. Prior to 1855, the undisputed Ram Janamasthan was the old Janam Asthan, Sita Rasoi Mandir, across the street on a mound facing Babri Masjid. The first two sentences of paragraph 23 of the plaint are the most important. All the Muslims of India are willing that the issue be decided and the dispute be settled one or the other way. The plaintiffs has relied on a Faizabad Gazetteer, 1928 Edition and the story mentioned therein about the visit of Emperor Babar to Ayodhya and destruction of ancient temple at Janamsthan to build Babri Mosque, but it is a well known fact of history that Emperor Babar never came to Ayodhya. Babri Mosque was made by Mir Baqi and not by Babar. In Babarnama, a daily diary, Babar has not mentioned about Ayodhya visit, destruction of Mandir or building of mosque thereat, although in other pages of Babarnama, many things adverse are also mentioned. Faizabad Gazetteer of 1877 does not contain any mention of destruction of any Mandir and building of Babri or any Masjid on the Mandir land. Out of the two Gazetteers, the one contemporary and more near to the date concerned will have to be relied on. District Gazetteers of the British Government, as is well known, are not work of history. They only reflect the policy of the alien Government to divide the vast population of India by creating conflicts such as the present one and to perpetuate minority rule of the foreign imperialist power. All the aforesaid and other conflicting facts need to be investigated by this Court or by a Commission of Experts of history and archaeology to arrive at the truth. It is submitted that if it is proved that a Mandir was demolished and Babri Masjid was built on the Mandir land, the defendant and all other Muslims will gladly demolish, shift the mosque and return the land for building of Mandir thereon and if it is not a fact, then the BabriMasjid must in all fairness be returned to Muslims. Jagad Guru Shankeracharya, Swami Swaroopananda Saraswati in a quotation published in national newspaper on 14.5.1987 stated that an Authority should be constituted to resolve Ramjanambhumi-Babri Masjid tangle. He also said that if Mandir was demolished for construction of the mosque, Hindu must get it otherwise it must be given to Muslims. Same is the statement given by Muslim historian and scholar Maulana Syed Sahabuddin Abdur Rahman in his well known treatise "Babri Masjid" at page 5. In the monumental theological work Fatawa-e-Alamgiri, Volume 6 Page 214, the following ruling is given :

> "It is not permissible to build mosque on unlawfully acquired land. There may be many forms of unlawful acquisition. For instance, if some people forcibly take somebody's house (or land) and build a mosque or even Jama Masjid on it, then Namaz in such a mosque will be against Shariat."

103. Plaintiff no. 3 is not competent to interpret Quran, Islamic Shariat and Islamic customs and practices as referred to in para 24 and the defendant contests the same and submits that the same is wholly irrelevant. Emperor Babar or Mir Baqi did not destroy or demolish any Mandir. The mosque was not constructed on the land or on the ruins of any Mandir. It was built on a vacant land. Sanctity of Babari mosque was not affected by creation of Ram Chabutara in the courtyard or by the mosque being surrounded by Mandirs. There is no tenet of Islam against existence of a mosque in a noisy place or in a non-Muslim locality. Minaret is not an essential part of a mosque. Non existence of a water reservoir would not effect the status of a mosque. Friday Namaz used to be regularly held in Babri Masjid and the last Namaz was held on 22.12.1949. The Imam who led the prayers regularly till 22.12.1949, was Maulana Haji Abdul Gaffar and he is alive and lives at Mohalla Qaziana, Ayodhya, District Faizabad. What happened in the night between 22/23.12.1949 is best narrated by the then Deputy Commissioner of Faizabad himself in an affidavit filed by him on behalf of the State in Regular Suit no. 25 of 1950, the relevant portion whereof is annexed as Annexure 'A' to the written statement. The destruction of the graveyard was an act of sacrilege and was illegal. Protection of religious rights of all communities is the constitutional obligation of the Government. The claim of adverse possession in respect of religious places like Babri Masjid is unjustified and illegal. The defendant

believes that the Hindu population of India has always been, by and large, secular, when a small minority amongst Hindus are those who believe and think like defendant no. 3 though they do not represent even one or two per cent of Hindus. The Hindus will never commit an act of Adharma by demolishing Babri Masjid and constructing a Mandir over it by illegal means particularly when this Court is seized of the matter. The present suit is nothing but an attempt to cover the shortcomings of other original suits. For the purpose of Namaz, both Shia and Sunni Muslims used to offer Namaz in Babri Masjid. Every mosque is a public property and all Muslims regardless of their sect are beneficiaries. Every member of the Muslim community has right to represent the case of a mosque. The Sunni Central Waqf Board has full support of Shias represented by All India Shia Conference. The defendant is deadly against any form of sacrilegious action. No place of worship of any religion should be destroyed and no place of worship should be constructed on the ruins of the destroyed one. The defendant firmly believes that the Babri Masjid was certainly not built after destroying Vikramaditya Mandir or any other temple. However, if any such thing is proved, or if it is proved that the site where the Babri Masjid existed was a place known as Ram Janamasthan spot then the defendant will withdraw his opposition. Once it is admitted that the mosque was built hundreds of years ago and used as such, it became waqf by user irrespective of the fact whether or not legal formalities for creating a Waqf were observed. The suit is barred by limitation and the claim is also barred by principle of estoppel.

Written statement dated 16/18.9.1989 of Defendant no. 25 (All India Shia Conference) (Suit-5)

104. A separate written statement dated 16/18.9.1989 has been filed by defendant no. 25, but substantially it contains similar defence as has been given in the written statement of defendant no. 4 as well as 24 and, therefore, is not being given in detail, but wherever necessary, shall be referred later on.

PROGRESS OF THE SUITS - JOURNEY IN THE LAST MORE THAN 61 YEARS AND SOME IMPORTANT STAGES - A BRIEF RESUME

105. Proceeding under Section 145 Cr.P.C.: First we propose to have a bird eye view of the proceedings relating to Section 145 Cr.P.C.

106. The present chain of litigation resulting in the suits in question commenced on 22/23.12.1949 when a First Information Report (in short 'FIR') was lodged by Sub-Inspector, Ram Dev at Police Station Ayodhya alleging that as per information received from Constable, Mata Prasad, certain persons broke open the lock of the inner courtyard of disputed building and placed the idols of Lord Ram in the disputed structure beneath the central dome in the night of 22/23.12.1949 after tresspassing the inner courtyard.

107. Sri Markandey Singh, the then Additional City Magistrate, First Class, Faizabad-cum-Ayodhya issued a preliminary order dated 29.12.1949 in purported exercise of powers under Section 145 Cr.P.C. stating that the dispute between Hindu and Muslims over the disputed structure raising question of right of proprietorship and worship is likely to lead a breach of peace and accordingly he directed the parties to appear before him on 17.01.1950 at 11.00 a.m. at Ayodhya Police Station in person or through pleader and put in written statement of their respective claim with respect to the facts of actual possession of the subject of dispute. He described the parties as follows:

1. The Muslims who are bona fide residents of

Ayodhya or who claim right of proprietorship or worship in the property in dispute;

2. The Hindus who are bona fide residents of Ayodhya or who claim right of proprietorship or worship in the property in dispute;

108. Recording his satisfaction of the case being one of emergency, he directed for attachment of the said building pending decision. He further directed that the attachment would be carried out immediately by Station Officer, Police Station, Ayodhya, who would then place the attached property in the charge of Sri Priya Dutt Ram, Chairman, Municipal Board, Faizabad-cum-Ayodhya who would thereafter be the "Receiver" of the said property and would arrange for care of the property in dispute. He also directed the Receiver to submit a scheme for management of the property in dispute for approval during attachment and the cost of management was to be defrayed by the parties to the dispute in proportions as may be fixed from time to time. The order was directed to be published in three newspapers for giving information to parties besides affixing the same on the walls of the building in dispute and the notice board at Ayodhya Police Station.

109. The Receiver, Priya Dutt Ram took charge of the premises on 05.01.1950 and executed a Supurdaginama (Inventory) verifying the following items he received/attached :

110. One Sri Anisur Rahman son of Maulvi Waziruddin filed an application dated 17.01.1950 before the Addl. City Magistrate stating that he proposed to move an application of transfer in the High Court and, therefore, proceedings be stayed, to enable him to move the said transfer application. The Addl. City Magistrate on the same date passed an order staying the case subject to furnishing of personal bond of the applicant to the effect that he will put in transfer application in the High Court before 15.02.1950. Sri Anisur Rahman furnished the aforesaid bond on the same date.

111. Sri Anisur Rahman thereafter filed Criminal Transfer Application No. 208 of 1950 in this Court under Section 526/528 Cr.P.C. on 02.02.1950 seeking transfer of the said case from the Court of Addl. City Magistrate, Faizabad to some other Court of competent jurisdiction outside the District Faizabad and also prayed for stay of the proceedings in the meanwhile.

112. This Court (Hon'ble Raghubar Dayal, J., as His Lordship then was) stayed further proceedings on 03.02.1950 and passed the following order:

> "Issue notice. Stay meanwhile. A copy of the order may be handed over to the learned counsel on payment of the necessary charges."

113. The then District Magistrate, Faizabad, Sri K.K. Nayar was changed meanwhile and in his place one Sri J.N. Ugra took over charge on 14.03.1950 (afternoon). He brought this fact to the notice of this Court vide his letter dated 06.04.1950.

114. The Transfer Application came up for hearing before Hon'ble V. Bhargava, J. (as His Lordship then was) on 30.05.1950. Considering the fact that the allegations against the City Magistrate were not substantiated and those made against the District Magistrate, Sri Nayar were of no help since the officer had changed in the meanwhile, this Court rejected the Transfer Application observing as under:

> "The allegations have been made without giving grounds on which they are based. These allegations are denied by the learned Magistrate who is trying the case. There were specific allegations against Shri K.K.K. Nayar who was District Magistrate, Faizabad at the time when this transfer application was presented. It now appears that he has since been transferred and another District Magistrate has taken over charge. These specific allegations against Shri Nayar need not, therefore, be considered at all, as whatever apprehensions could have arisen on account of those circumstances have now disappeared with the change of the District Magistrate.
> There is nothing at all in the circumstances appearing within would show that the case would not be tried impartially by the learned Magistrate before whom it is pending. This application for transfer is rejected."

www.vadaprativada.com

115. It appears that a number of affidavits were filed before the City Magistrate by certain individual Muslims stating that since 1934, 1935 and 1936, Muslims have not offered any prayer in the disputed building and it is in possession of Hindus since then, and, they have no objection if the disputed premises be allowed to remain in possession of Hindus.

116. Sri Anisur Rahman, however, filed his objection dated 08.07.1950/29.12.1950 stating that Namaz had been offered in the disputed premises till 16.12.1949 and some miscreants have kept idols illegally in the night of 22/23.12.1949 in respect whereto a first information report has been lodged. The building in dispute is a mosque and is registered as Waqf with the Sunni Board hence its possession be handed over to him after removal of idols from the disputed premises. He also said that the building in dispute was constructed by Emperor Babar in 1528 who made a Waqf in favour of Muslims for offering prayer therein and since then it is in possession of Muslims.

117. Some other objections were filed, by Baba Abhiram Das on 29.12.1950, Baba Baldev Das on 27.12.1950/29.12.1950, Sri Salar Mohammad and Sri Srivastava N.P. Singh etc on other dates.

118. Since in the meantime Suit 1 was filed by Sri Gopal Singh Visharad wherein interim injunction was granted on 16.01.1950 as modified on 19.01.1950 and 03.03.1951, consequently, Sri Prem Shanker, the then City Magistrate, Faizabad passed an order on 30.07.1953 the relevant extract whereof is as under :

> "The disputed property i.e. Babri mosque/Janmabhumi premises are already in possession of the receiver. Sri Priya Dat Ram appointed by the Additional City Magistrate under his order dated 29th December, 1949 referred to above and the said receiver has been looking after the property since 5.1.1950, the date of assuming charge. As the finding of the civil court will be binding on the criminal court it is no use starting proceedings in this case under Sec. 145 Cr.P.C. and regarding evidence specially when a temporary injunction stands, as it cannot be said what may be the finding of this court after recording the evidence of parties. From the administrative point of view the property is already under attachment and no breach of peace can occur.

to records as it is and will be taken out for proceeding further when the temporary injunction is vacated."

119. The office of the City Magistrate thought that the proceedings have been finalized and, therefore, the record may be weeded out. Consequently, an application dated 22.07.1954 was filed by Sri Gopal Singh Visharad, plaintiff (Suit 1), requesting that since certified copies of about 20 affidavits filed in the case under Section 145 Cr.P.C. were obtained and filed in the pending civil suits, and, the file itself may be required by the Civil Court, therefore, the record may not be weeded out. He pointed out therein that besides Suit 1 another suit i.e. Suit 2 has also been filed and both have been consolidated on the application of Muslim defendants and are being heard together.

120. It appears that thereafter when the suits from the Trial court were transferred to this Court, the record of the case under Section 145 Cr.P.C. was also summoned by this Court and received vide letter dated 22.11.1991 of the City Magistrate, Faizabad.

121. Suit 1 was presented before the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad on 16.01.1950 alongwith an application under Order 39 Rule 2 and Section 151 C.P.C. It was registered on the same date and notices were issued to the defendants. An interim injunction in the meanwhile, as prayed, was granted on 16.1.1950 fixing 18.02.1950 for disposal of injunction application.

122. The prayer in the application for ad interim injunction was as under:

"Therefore, the applicant prays that a temporary injunction be issued against the defendants to the effect that they should not remove the idols of Shri Bhagwan Ram Chandra and others from Asthan Janam Bhumi, the details of which are given in the plaint, till the decision of the case, and they further be ordered not to close the Pravesh Dwar and other passages of ingress and egress to the visitors and also that they should not place any obstacle in the Pooja and Darshan."

123. On 19.01.1950 the Civil Judge modified the injunction order dated 16.1.1950, on an application filed on behalf of defendants no. 7 to 9, in the following manner:

"The opposite parties are hereby restrained by means of a temporary injunction to refrain from removing the idols in question from the site in dispute and from interfering with "Puja" etc. as at present carried on. The order dated 16.01.1950 stands modified accordingly."

124. An objection dated 13.02.1950 was filed on behalf of defendants no. 1 to 5. It alleged that the disputed site was part of the Babri Mosque which was built by Emperor Babar and it had been in the use of Muslims as a Mosque ever since. Hindus never worshipped or performed any Pooja thereat. The idols at the site in question were recently planted.

125. On 25.03.1950, after hearing the parties on the objections filed against ex parte injunction dated 16.1.1950, the Civil Judge decided to get a map of the locality and building prepared through a Commissioner and ordered accordingly. One 'Shri Shiv Shanker Lal, (Vakil)', was appointed 'Commissioner' to prepare the map and one 'Shri Bashir Ahmad, Vakil' was appointed as 'Commissioner' to take photographs.

126. On 25.05.1950 Shri Shiv Shanker Lal, Commissioner submitted his report and map. Shri Bashir Ahmad, however, sought some more time for photographs. Ultimately, on 3.8.1950 Shri Bashir Amhad filed 13 photographs of the disputed building alongwith his report.

127. The parties filed objections to the above reports of the Commissioners which were dealt with by the Civil Judge vide order dated 20.11.1950. He observed as under:

> "The defendants 6 to 9 object to the commissioner's report on the grounds that the learned commissioner has used wrong and erroneous nomenclature in describing the gates, images and foot prints*. It is further objected that the learned commissioner has erred* by naming certain structures as Samadhi, Chaura and Chabutra*. It is also disputed that there is any pucca path round the building in dispute.*
> It should be noted that the existence of gates, images and foot print in the premises in dispute are not disputed*. Certainly the nomenclature given to these things by the learned commissioner is a matter of evidence. It will be open to the parties to prove the nomenclature by means of reliable evidence independent of the commissioner's report. As to certain structures being named Samadhi, Chaura and Chabutra I am of opinion that it is also a matter of evidence and that the learned commissioner's report on this point is not final. Nor can the Commissioner's report regarding the existence of so called Parikarma be held to be final. If the commissioner's report contains any irrelevant material, it will not certainly be considered to that extent.*
> The defendants 1 to 5 object that the commissioner has prepared plan no. 2 beyond the terms of his

commission. If that is so, the plan no. 2 will not be considered. Whether a portion shown outside the yellow portion in plan II is a graveyard or not is clearly a question of evidence and it will be considered in the present case, only if it is found relevant and proved. It will be open to the parties to adduce evidence on this point, if relevant.

It is further objected that the defendants were not allowed to enter the disputed building. The commissioner's report shows that they reached the spot rather too late. If the defendants want to enter the building for the purpose of pointing out any particular thing there, it is open to them to apply to the Court accordingly.

Any opinion expressed or the nomenclature given by the learned commissioner can be disputed by the parties by adducing evidence. As already pointed out, the commissioner's report regarding the names of the images is nothing better than hearsay. The objectors contend that the images referred to in the report are the images in dispute and they were surreptitiously installed in December, 1949. If the learned commissioner has failed to show anything pointed out by the objectors, they can apply to the Court to inspect the building and then show these things to the Court*.*

The rest of the objections relate to questions of facts. As already stated, the learned commissioner's report on those points is not final. It will be open to the parties to substantiate their objections by relevant and independent evidence.

The plaintiff objects to Sri Bashir Ahmad's report dated 3.8.50 on the ground that it contains personal observations. In my opinion the learned commissioner's report is relevant only to the extent to which it helps in explaining the photographs for which he was appointed. Any opinion expressed by the learned commissioner is not final.

Defendants 1 to 5 also object to certain extent to Sri Bashir Amhad's report and photographs. As already pointed out, the learned commissioner's report is not final. The parties may apply to the Court for further photographs, if they think that any more photographs are needed for clear decision of the case.

Fix 09.12.1950 for disposal of the application for injunction."

128. The objections to the ex-parte injunction dated 16.01.1950, modified on 19.01.1950 came to be considered on 03.03.1951. The trial court passed a detailed order and confirmed interim injunction. Relevant extract of the order is as under:

"For the purpose of these proceedings, it has to be seen whether the plff has a fair question to raise as to the existence of the right alleged, whether he is in danger of losing that right, and whether irreparable injury or inconvenience is likely to result to him, in case the injunction order is withdrawn. It is conceded on all hands that the idols in-question were on the disputed site before the filing of the suit. It further appears from the copies of a number of affidavits of certain Muslim resident of Ayodhya that at least from 1936 onwards the Muslims have neither used the site as a mosque nor offered prayers there and that the Hindus have been

performing their Pooja etc. on the disputed site. Nothing has been pointed out to discredit these affidavits*, which, along with the existence of the idols on the disputed site, clearly show that the plff has got a fair case to go to the trial. The defts 1 to 5 rely on a number of documents to show that the building in dispute has always been a mosque. It is not possible at this stage to anticipate any decision on this point, because it will have to be decided after considering all the oral and documentary evidence that may be adduced by the parties in this case. The undisputed fact remains that on the date of this suit the idols of Shri Bhagwan Ram Chandra and others did exist on the site and that worship was being performed by the Hindus including the plff, though under some restrictions put by the executive authorities.* This coupled with the affidavits referred to above does make out a prima facie case in favour of the plaintiff.

As to the balance of convenience, it is obvious that the affect of vacating the interim injunction at this stage is likely to deprive the plff of the right claimed by him in this suit. Moreover, it is a matter of admission between the parties that there are several other mosques in the mohalla in question. The local Muslims will not, therefore, be put to much inconvenience, if the interim injunction remains in force during the pendency of the case.

Order

The interim injunction order dated 16.1.50 as modified on 19.1.50 shall remain in force until the suit is disposed of."

129. On 15.09.1951 the Court recorded statement/answer of the

plaintiff's counsel to certain questions put in by the Court, as under:

> "Q. In what capacity does the plff. seek to exercise the relief which he seeks in the plaint.
> Ans. In my individual capacity.
> Q. What is your individual capacity.
> Ans. My individual capacity is distinct from public capacity and in this matter an idol worshipper.
>
> This shows that the plff counsel is not in a position to answer the Court question. The plff. must present himself personally in Court on the date fixed.
> Q. Has your client any religion.
> Ans. the plff is a Sanatan Dharmi Hindu."

130. Defendants no. 1 to 5 filed an application praying that the suit be treated as representative suit under Order 1 Rule 8 C.P.C. which was opposed by the plaintiff. The application was rejected on 27.10.1951.

131. Suits 1 and 2 both having been clubbed, a preliminary issue was framed on 08.01.1957 with respect to sufficiency of Court fees as under:

> "1. Whether the valuation for purposes of jurisdiction and court-fees is insufficient as alleged on behalf of the defendants?"

132. For adjudication of the said preliminary issue an assessment from Public Works Department was sought vide Court's order dated 14.02.1958.

133. The assessment was made for Rs. 135265/- in respect whereto the Draftsman/Computer, Shri Zulfikar Ahmad son of Shri Ali Mirza was examined and cross-examined by the parties. The said issue was decided finally by order dated 21.01.1959

holding that the Court fee paid is sufficient.

134. Two defendants, namely, Hazi Fenku and Mohammad Sami having died, applications filed for substitution of their legal heirs were, however, rejected by learned Civil Judge on 17.01.1962 and he directed that names of the said defendants be deleted from the array of the defendants in the two suits i.e. Suit No. 1 and 2.

135. Another Suit no. 25 of 1950 (on transfer to this Court, re-registered as O.O.S. No. 2 of 1989) was filed by Paramhans Ramchandra Das vide plaint dated 5.12.1950, seeking an injunction restraining the defendants from interfering in the worship of Lord Ramachandra at the place 'Janambhumi' details whereof are given at the end of the plaint and further not to disturb or remove the said idols from the place they are kept on that date nor to create obstruction in the worship of the idols. It was admitted on the same date, i.e., 5.12.1950 by the order of Civil Judge, Faizabad and on 01.02.1951 it was consolidated with Suit-1. Suit-2 since has been dismissed as withdrawn in 1990, we are not giving any further details in respect thereof.

136. Nirmohi Akhara filed Original Suit No. 26 of 1959 which was registered as Suit-3 on transfer to this Court. It was filed on 17.12.1959 and was registered on the same date. On 21.12.1959 the Civil Judge allowed the plaintiffs to sue defendants no. 6 to 8 in representative capacity. It appears that on 07.01.1961 the District Judge stayed further proceedings in Suit-3 and thereafter stay order continued pursuant to this Court's order which was vacated and communicated to the trial court on 02.05.1962. This suit was clubbed with other suits on

SUIT-4 (FROM 9.12.1961 TO 1962)

137. Suit-4 was filed on 18.12.1961. It was admitted and registered by the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad by order dated 18.12.1961. On plaintiff's application for permitting them to pursue the suit in representative capacity, by order dated 8.8.1962 the Court allowed the plaintiffs to represent the entire Muslim community against defendants no. 1 to 4 representing the entire Hindu community.

138. On an application filed on behalf of defendant no. 1 in Suit-4, by order dated 20.3.1963 Civil Judge, Faizabad allowed impleadment of defendants no. 10 to 12.

SUIT 1 TO 4 (FROM 6.1.1964 TO 10.7.1989)

139. On 06.01.1964 all the parties in Suit-1, 2,3 and 4 filed joint application requesting the trial court to consolidate the aforesaid suits and hear those matters collectively and jointly. The trial court allowed the application with the consent of learned counsels for the parties on the same date consolidating all the suits and to treat Suit-4 as leading case.

140. On 20.1.1964, the Civil Judge recorded statement of plaintiff's counsel Mohd. Ayub in the leading case under order X Rule 2 C.P.C.

141. On 5.3.1964, 16 issues were framed by the Civil Judge and vide order dated 17.07.1965, an additional issue was also framed. All the said issues framed initially by the learned Civil Judge, read as under:

Issue No. 17 :-

Whether a valid notification under Section 5(1) of the U.P. Muslim Waqf Act No. XIII of 1936 relating to the property in suit was ever done? If so, its effect?

142. As agreed by learned counsels for the parties, issue No. 17 was taken up as a "primary preliminary issue" and vide judgment dated 21.04.1966 the Civil Judge, decided the same against plaintiffs (Suit 4) and in favour of the defendants therein. The Civil Judge, after reading the definition of 'Waqf' and 'Waqif' as contained in Section 3(1) of 1936 Act, held that whenever the word 'waqf' is conveyed to any person, it must necessarily convey simultaneously the idea or description or a

tangible connotation about the existence of "any property" covered or included in the 'Waqf". Meaning thereby, if someone wants another to know that a particular property is waqf, it would be necessary for him to mention simultaneously the description of atleast tangible connotation about the identity of the property of the waqf. After perusing the alleged notification dated 26.2.1944 said to have been published under Section 5 of 1936 Act, the Court found that Item 26, at which the alleged Waqf of Waqif Badshah Babar was mentioned, was blank in its last column and consequently it did not give any idea of the property of which Waqf was created. It held that the alleged Government notification at Item no. 26 was meaningless. Meeting the argument that the notification if not challenged within one year by the Hindus or defendants of the leading case would result in rendering the said notification to be final and conclusive, the Civil Judge held that the said principle would follow when a valid notification of the proposed Waqf property is made under 1936 Act. Since in his opinion, it was not a valid notification at all, failing to convey the idea or identity of necessary particulars about the property proposed by the Waqf Commissioner to be enlisted as Sunni Wqaf property dedicated by Badshah Babar, there was no question of rendering the said notification final and conclusive qua the property in dispute. He also held that; mere mention of the name of Badshah Babar as "Waqif" of a property in “Faizabad District” is not enough to convey the identity of the property in dispute since Badshah Babar was the Emperor of the Mughal Empire in India, who never resided in Faizabad District according to the pages of history of which a judicial notice can be taken by the Court; it is not known as to how many waqfs were created by Badshah

Babar in various parts of Faizabad District; in Column-3, Item No. 26 of the notification, the Name of Mutwalli mentioned as Syed Mohammed Zaki, Mutwalli Masjid Babari, Qasba Shah Nawa, Dak-khana Darshan Nagar; judicial notice of the fact that qasba Shah Nawa lying within the jurisdiction of Post Office Darshan Nagar is at a distance of about 8 to 10 mile from Ayodhya was taken; and, therefore, the aforesaid entry shows on its face that the Mosque referred to therein is built by Emperor Babar in Qasba Shah Nawa, post office Darshan Nagar; it is not the case of the plaintiffs of the leading case that the property in suit was originally a temple, which was ever conquered by Emperor Babar, who got it remodelled in the shape of a mosque; the case of the aforesaid plaintiffs as contained in the plaint of the leading case, as well as in the statement of the plaintiffs' learned counsel made under order X, rule 2 C.P.C. on 10.1.64, at paper No. 187A, is that the property in suits was originally mosque, which was built for the first time at its place, by Emperor Babar in 1528 AD in the shape of a mosque which he had dedicated to the followers of Islam thereafter; the knowledge of the educated persons regarding the conquest of Emperor Babar derived from the pages of popular history books cannot profitably be utilised by the plaintiffs of the leading case because according to the plaintiffs' own case, the property in suits was not a conquered property but a property which was originally and for the first time built at its place by Emperor Babar for use of the Muslim public.

143. There were two more issues namely, issues No. 5(a) and 5(c) in Suit-4. In view of the findings recorded in respect to issue No. 17, the Civil Judge held that issues No. 5(a) and 5(c) also stand answered against the plaintiffs (Suit-4).

144. There was another issue No. 5(d). Pursuant to the findings on issue No. 17, the defendant's counsel made a statement on 21.4.1966 that it is not necessary to press issue No. 5(d) (Suit-4) and the said stand was endorsed by other counsels also.

145. Two applications i.e. paper no. 132-C dated 15.10.1962 and 271-C dated 08.08.1966 relating to appointment of another Survey Commissioner came to be considered by learned Civil Judge on 26.08.1966 and the Court held :

> "The property in suit is admittedly situate on specific plots which have been detailed in the plaint*. There is, therefore, no need for demarcation of those plots on a map by the Commissioner after survey. Whatever structures exists on the said plot are in dispute in these cases. The parties have already named them in their pleadings and statements under Order X Rule 2 CPC. The map of the Commissioner prepared earlier is already on record which gives an idea about the location. Consequently at this stage when the parties are required to establish their cases by their evidence there is no occasion or need to issue a fresh Commission."*

146. He also held that in case after recording evidence of both the parties, if necessary, the Court may decide to issue a Commission suo motu or otherwise or itself make local inspection and get necessary objects or sites or structures in suit photographed at the instance of any or both the parties. Besides, a large number of documents were also filed by the parties. The Court directed parties to endorse the said papers whether they admit or deny the same as early as possible.

147. Thereafter in the year 1970 a number of applications were filed seeking appointment of Civil Court Receiver and the same

were decided by order dated 17.11.1970 whereagainst FAFO 389 of 1970 was filed in which this Court granted an interim order. The FAFO was decided on 20.03.1974 and the matter was remanded to the court below.

148. An order dated 18.3.1975 was passed by the Civil Judge under Order 40 Rule 1 with respect to appointment of Receiver whereagainst again FAFO No. 81 of 1975 (renumbered as 17 of 1977) was filed wherein a stay order was passed on 9.5.1975 by this Court.

149. Though this Court had stayed the order dated 18.03.1975 of the Civil Judge but it appears that the trial court misread the order as if further proceedings in pending suit was stayed, and, did not proceed but simply adjourned the cases from time to time. In the circumstances no progress is shown from May, 1975 till January 1986. An application was filed in January, 1986 before Munsif Sadar, Faizabad by one Sri Umesh Chandra Pandey, Advocate in Suit 1 stating that the authorities are violating injunction order by not permitting unobstructed worship. The learned Munsif on 21.01.1986 referred to the interim order of this Court in F.A.F.O. 17 of 1977 and directed the parties to inform the latest position about the continuance of the said interim order and fixed 01.02.1986. It appears that another application was filed by Sri Umesh Chandra Pandey, Advocate seeking a direction to defendants no. 6 to 9 (Suit-1) not to create any obstruction in Darshan, Pooja etc. by keeping the premises under lock and key. On said application, the learned Munsif on 25.01.1986 directed District Government Counsel to file objections and fixed the matter for 28.01.1986.

150. On 28.01.1986 the District Government Counsel informed that the High Court by interim order dated 09.05.1975 has only stayed the order dated 18.03.1975 and there is no order staying further proceedings. He further pointed out that the defendants no. 6 to 9 (Suit-1) were not creating any obstruction in the matter. However, the learned Munsif deferred the matter observing that the original record of the leading suit had already been summoned by the High Court and in the absence thereof it is not proper to pass any order on the said application.

151. Thereafter a revision was filed before the District Judge, Faizabad who treated the same as Misc. Appeal and passed order dated 01.02.1986 directing to open the locks placed on the gate of the inner courtyard. Challenging the order dated 01.02.1986, Writ Petition No. 746 of 1986 was filed by Mohd. Hashim. Another Writ Petition No. 3106 of 1986 was filed by the U.P. Sunni Central Board of Waqf.

152. In the Writ Petition No. 746 of 1986 an interim order was passed by this Court on 03.02.1986 to the following effect:

> "Until further orders of this Court the nature of property in question as existing today shall not be changed."

153. The Writ Petition No. 3106 of 1986 filed by Sunni Central Board of Waqf on 12.05.1986 was connected with the earlier one. Both are still pending.

154. The F.A.FO. No. 17 of 1977 was decided on 23.3.1987. This Court directed that record of all the four suits pending in the lower Court be placed before the District Judge, Faizabad, who will arrange to transfer all the suits to an Additional District Judge, Faizabad who may not be transferred out of Faizabad for about 18 months and that Addl. District Judge shall try these suits as early as possible. The stay orders in those suits were vacated. However the site position continued as such in view of interim order dated 3.2.1986 passed in Writ Petition No. 746 of 1986 by this Court.

155. The State Government on 15.12.1987 moved an application no. 29 of 1987 under Section 24 read with 151 C.P.C. requesting this Court to withdraw all the suits pending in the Court below at Faizabad for trial and disposal by this Court. Another Application No. 11 of 1989 for similar relief was filed in February 1989 on the administrative side requesting for early disposal of the applications filed under Section 24 C.P.C. The Government said that though the dispute is purely of civil nature but it has assumed importance in the context as it sometimes excites religious sentiments and generates tension between two communities. Since the State was concerned in preserving amity and brotherly relations between the two communities and, therefore, early disposal was necessary. These two applications were taken up for hearing on 23.2.1989 but could not be concluded.

156. When the said matter was pending, Suit-5 was filed as a fresh suit on 1.7.1989 in the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad. The plaintiff (Suit-5) of the said suit also moved an application under 24 C.P.C. for transfer of all suits to this Court.

157. All the aforesaid applications were allowed on 10.7.1989 by a Division Bench of this Court comprising of Hon'ble Mr. U.C. Srivastava and Hon'ble S.H.A. Raza, JJ. This Court withdrew all the aforesaid suits from the Court of Addl. District Judge, Faizabad and Civil Judge, Faizabad for trial. The Court also observed that the historic city of Lucknow is famous throughout the world for its composite culture, softness and sweetness of its language, mild, tender and suave manners, has since centuries been free from communal hatred, bias or prejudices and, therefore, the congenial, peaceful and amicable atmosphere of this City is best suited for the trial of such cases. The Court also requested the Hon'ble Chief Justice to nominate a third Judge so that a Full Bench may hear these matters.

158. On 21.07.1989 the Hon'ble Chief Justice constituted a Special Bench consisting of three judges.

159. On an application of the State of U.P. this Court passed an interim order dated 14.08.1989 directing the parties to maintain status quo with respect to property in dispute.

160. On 20.09.1989 the Court ordered Suit-5 to proceed ex parte against defendants no. 1, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 20 and 21 who despite service failed to file their written statement.

161. The defendants no. 2 and 13 (Suit-4) moved Application No. 14(o) of 1989 in Suit-4 under Order 7 Rule 11 for rejection of plaint as barred by law and in particular clause (d) of Rule 11 Order 7 C.P.C. 1908. This Court vide order dated 23.10.1989 rejected the aforesaid application by two separate but concurrent judgments.

162. On Application No. 5(o) of 1989 of the State of U.P. filed under Order 39 Rule 1 and 2 read with Section 94 C.P.C., vide order dated 23.10.1989 the Court directed to maintain status quo until further orders in all the five connected suits and also for not changing the nature of the property in question. This Court also expressed its doubt about some of the questions involved in the suit, if soluble by judicial process.

163. By order dated 24.10.1989 this Court stayed proceeding of Suit-5 till the final disposal of four previously instituted suits on the application of the defendants no. 4, 5 and 6 (Suit-5) and as agreed by one of the plaintiff also. However, the said order was recalled on 05.02.1992 on the application made by plaintiff no. 3 (Suit-5) and the Court directed that the aforesaid suit shall proceed alongwith Suit-4 and other connected suits.

164. On Application No. 48 of 1989 of the State of U.P., vide order dated 07.11.1989 the Court clarified that its order dated 14.08.1989 was in respect of the entire property mentioned in the suit including plot no. 586 in so far included within the boundary described by letters E F G H in the site plan.

165. Defendant No. 2 (Suit-4) filed Application No. 18(o) of 1989 under Order 14 Rule 2(2)(b) and Section 151 C.P.C. stating that in view of the findings recorded by the Civil Judge, Faizabad vide order dated 21.04.1966 on issue No. 17, the suit is liable to be dismissed without considering other issues.

166. The plaintiffs (Suit-3) were allowed by order dated 21.12.1989 to sue the defendants (Muslims) in representative capacity under Order 1 Rule 8 C.P.C..

167. It appears that the defendants (Suit-4) aggrieved vide order dated 23.10.89 passed in Application No. 14(O) of 1989 filed Special Leave Petition No. 14891 of 1989 which was disposed of vide order dated 12.01.1990 (clarified vide order dated 13.03.1990) by the Apex Court. The ultimate result was that no relief in effect was granted to the defendants (Suit-4) and the order dated 23.10.1989 remained intact.

168. Counsel for the plaintiffs also requested, accompanied by some respondents that issues No. 3, 5(b), 5(e), 5(f), 6, 18, 19(d), 19(e), 20(b) and 21 be heard and decided as preliminary issues. The said issues read as under:

"Issue No. 3- Is the suit within time?

Issue No. 19(d)- Whether the building in question cannot be a mosque under the Islamic Law in view of the admitted position that it does not have minarets?

Issue No. 19(e)- Whether the building in question cannot legally be a mosque as contained vide order dated 23.08.1990 on order sheet on plaintiffs' own showing it is surrounded by a grave-yard on three sides?

having joined in the suit, the suit is not maintainable so far as it relates to relief for possession?

Issue No. 21- Whether the suit is bad for non-joinder of alleged deities.?"

169. This Court vide order dated 22.08.1990 rejected the aforesaid application.

170. On 07.10.1990 the State of U.P. acquired certain land as described hereunder vide notification issued under Section 4(1) read with 17(4) of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894:

"Settlement of Plot number	Area in acres	Village

171. Another notification dated 10.10.1991 was issued under Section 6 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894. The purpose of acquisition as disclosed in the notification was "development of tourism and providing amenities to pilgrims at Ayodhya, District Faizabad".

172. On 16.10.1991, Writ Petition No. 3540 of 1991 (M/B) was filed by Mohd. Hashim assailing the aforesaid notification. A Division Bench of this Court directed it to be placed before the Special Bench. On 25.10.1991 after hearing the parties, this Court passed an interim order. In the meantime, two more Writ Petitions No. 3541 (M/B) of 1991, Panch Ramanandi Nirmohi Akhara and others Vs. State of U.P. and others and 3542 (M/B) of 1991, Khalid Yusuf Vs. Union of India and others were filed wherein also the said interim order was extended. Later on Writ

Petitions No. 4183 (M/B) of 1991, Mohd. Aslam Vs. Union of India and others; 4184 (M/B) of 1991, Mohd. Aslam Vs. Union of India and others; 4185 (M/B) of 1991, Nabib Yar Khan Vs. State of U.P. and others; and, 4201 (M/B) of 1991, Jama-e-tul Ulma-e-Hind and others Vs. State of U.P. and others were also filed which were also connected with the leading case of Mohd. Hashim (supra). The aforesaid Writ Petitions were decided vide judgment dated 11.12.1992 and this Court struck down the aforesaid notifications of acquisition of land measuring 2.7744 acres.

173. On 19.10.1990, the Ramjanambhumi Babri Masjid (Acquisition of Area) Ordinance, 1990 (Ordinance No. 3 of 1990) was promulgated by the President of India in exercise of its power under Article 123 of the Constitution of India whereby all the pending suits were declared 'abated' and the property in dispute declared to be vested in the Government of India. However, on 23.10.1990 i.e. just within four days the aforesaid ordinance was repealed by Ramjanambhumi Babri Masjid (Acquisition of Area) Withdrawal Ordinance, 1990 (Ordinance No. 10 of 1990) and it further provided that all the pending suits etc. shall stand revived and continue as they were.

174. The State Government vide Application No. 3(O) of 1991 sought permission to carry out certain repairs in the disputed building which was damaged in October 1990. This Court in its order dated 3.9.1991 observed that the property is admittedly of religious significance and, therefore, the State Government's offer for maintaining the building should not reasonably be objected as the party which would succeed in the suit will be ultimate beneficiary. This Court, thus allowed repairs with further clarification that no addition or alteration to the property

shall be made and the property shall be restored only to its former position.

175. Application No. 18(O) of 1991 of defendant No. 10 (Suit-4) seeking framing of additional issues was rejected on 30.09.1991.

176. Application No. 32(O) of 1991 in Suit-4 was filed on behalf of defendant no. 10, stating that the constitution of the Full Bench was not in accordance with law as the matter is cognizable by a Single Judge and evidence should also be recorded by only a Single Judge so as to protect the time of two other Hon'ble Judges. This application was taken up by the then Hon'ble the Acting Chief Justice (Hon'ble P.S. Gupta, J.) and vide order dated 17.12.1991 it was disposed of observing that the constitution of Full Bench was in accordance with law and further that the evidence shall also be recorded by the Full Bench.

177. Vide order dated 15.04.1992 this Court also allowed the defendants no. 4, 5, 6, 22, 24, 25, 26 and 27 to defend Suit-5 as representatives of Muslim community. Application for review of the said order filed by plaintiff no. 3 (Suit-5) was rejected on 02.09.1992.

178. An application filed under Para 14 of U.P. High Court's Amalgamation Order, 1948 seeking transfer of the aforesaid suits from Lucknow to Allahabad by plaintiff no. 3 (Suit-5) was dismissed on 6.8.1992 by Hon'ble the Chief Justice (Hon'ble M.K. Mukharjee, CJ, as His Lordship then was).

179. Vide order dated 02.09.1992 this Court allowed plaintiffs (Suit-5) to abandon the suit against defendants No. 1, 2, 11, 12, 13, 14, 17 and 21 and allowed deletion of paragraphs no. 15, 16 and 17 of the plaint but rejected the prayer for deletion of the names of the aforesaid defendants from the array of parties.

180. On 06.12.1992 the disputed structure namely, Temple Ramjanambhumi/ Babri Masjid was demolished. On 07.12.1992 a temporary structure was created where the worship and Pooja of Lord Ram/Ram Lala and other Deities continued by the Hindus. This resulted in substantial change in the situation, causing various amendments in the pleadings, which were allowed by this Court, as found fit. We are not giving details thereof to avoid volume though wherever necessary it would be referred later on.

181. The Central Government in its attempt to get the matter settled amicably out of Court, sought to acquire certain land including the land over which the disputed structure existed and consequently enacted Acquisition of Certain Area of Ayodhya Act, 1993 (Act No. 33 of 1993) (hereinafter referred to as the "Ayodhya Act")

www.vadaprativada.com

182. The Ayodhya Act was published in the Gazette of India, Extraordinary, Part II-Section 1 dated 3rd April, 1993 and vide Section 1(2) it came into force with effect from 7th January 1993. It has, in all, 13 Sections and a Schedule.

183. The statement of object and reasons contained in the said enactment is as under:

> "WHEREAS there has been a long-standing dispute relating to the structure (including the premises of the inner and outer courtyards of such structure), commonly known as the Ram Janma Bhumi-Babri Masjid, situated in village Kot Ramchandra in Ayodhya, in Pargana Haveli Avadh, in tehsil Faizabad Sadar, in the district of Faizabad of the State of Uttar Pradesh;
> AND WHEREAS the said dispute has affected the maintenance of public order and harmony between different communities in the country;

AND WHEREAS it is necessary to maintain public order and to promote communal harmony and the spirit of common brotherhood amongst the people of India;

AND WHEREAS with a view to achieving the aforesaid objectives, it is necessary to acquire certain areas in Ayodhya;"

184. The word 'area' is defined in Section 2(a) and reads as under:

(a) "area" means the area (including all the buildings, structures or other properties comprised therein) specified in the Schedule;"

185. Section 3 of the said Act provides for acquisition of area in Ayodhya and Section 4 gives the general effect of vesting and the same reads as under:

www.vadaprativada.com

"3. On and from the commencement of this Act, the right, title and interest in relation to the area shall, by virtue of this Act, stand transferred to, and vest in, the Central Government.

4.(1) The area shall be deemed to include all assets, rights, leaseholds, powers, authority and privileges and all property, movable and immovable, including lands, buildings, structures, shops of whatever nature or other properties and all other rights and interests in, or arising out of, such properties as were immediately before the commencement of this Act in the ownership, possession, power or control of any person or the State Government of Uttar Pradesh, as the case may be, and all registers, maps, plans, drawings and other documents of whatever nature*

(2) All properties aforesaid which have vested in the Central Government under section 3 shall, by force of such vesting, be freed and discharged from any trust, obligation, mortgage, charge, lien and all other encumbrances affecting them and any attachment, injunction, decree or order of any court or tribunal or other authority restricting the use of such properties in any manner or appointing any receiver in respect of the whole or any part of such properties shall cease to have any effect.

(3) If, on the commencement of this Act, any suit, appeal or other proceeding in respect of the right, title and interest relating to any property which has vested in the Central Government under section 3, is pending before any court, tribunal or other authority, the same shall abate. "

186. The total area sought to be acquired was 67.703 acres of land.

187. Section 5 of the Ayodhya Act provides for the duty of the person or State Government in charge of management of the area, to deliver all assets etc. Section 6 deals with the power of the Central Government to direct vesting of the area in another authority or body or trust. Section 7 deals with the management and administration of property. Section 8 deals with the miscellaneous provisions regarding payment of amount and Section 9 gives overriding effect to the provisions of the said Act over any other law inconsistent therewith for the time being in force including any instrument having the effect by virtue of any law other than the said Act or any decree or order of any Court, Tribunal or other authority. It is important to notice that Section 4(3) provides that any suit, appeal or other proceedings in respect to rights, title and interest relating to any property vested in Central Government under Section 3, if pending on the commencement of the Ayodhya Act before any court, Tribunal or other authority, the same shall abate.

188. The immediate result of the said enactment was that all the four suits pending before this Court, by operation of law, stood abated.

189. The President of India in the meantime also made a special reference to the Apex Court under Article 143(1) of the Constitution of India on 7.1.1993 on the following question.

> "Whether a Hindu temple or any Hindu religious structure existed prior to the construction of the Ram Janma Bhumi--Babri Masjid (including the premises of the inner and outer courtyards of such structure) in the area on which the structure stood"

www.vadaprativada.com

190. Vires of Ayodhya Act was assailed before this Court by filing certain writ petitions under Article 226 as well as before the Apex Court under Article 32. The Apex Court got the petitions filed before this Court transferred, heard all the matters collectively along with the reference made under Article 143 (1) of the Constitution and decided vide its judgment dated 24.10.1994, Dr. M. Ismail Faruqui (Supra).

191. The Apex Court considered and decided the question of maintainability of said Special Reference also in its judgment dated 24.10.1994, Dr. M. Ismail Faruqui (supra). The majority judgment was delivered by Hon'ble J.S. Verma, J. for himself and on behalf of Hon'ble M.N. Venkatachaliah, C.J. and Hon. G.N. Ray, J. The majority view recorded its conclusion in para 98 as under:

"Conclusions

98. As a result of the above discussion, our conclusions, to be read with the discussion, are as follows :

(1)(a) Sub-section (3) of Section 4 of the Act abates all pending suits and legal proceedings without providing for an alternative dispute resolution mechanism for resolution of the dispute between the parties thereto. This is an extinction of the judicial remedy for resolution of the dispute amounting to negation of rule of law. Sub-section (3) of Section 4 of the Act is, therefore, unconstitutional and invalid.

(1) (b) The remaining provisions of the Act do not suffer from any invalidity on the construction made thereof by us. Sub-section (3) of Section 4 of the Act is severable from the remaining Act. Accordingly, the challenge to the constitutional validity of the remaining Act, except for sub-section (3) of Section 4, is rejected.

(2) Irrespective of the status of a mosque under the Muslim Law applicable in the Islamic countries, the status of a mosque under the Mahomedan Law applicable in secular India is the same and equal to that of any other place of worship of any religion; and it does not enjoy any greater immunity from acquisition in exercise of the sovereign or prerogative power of the State, than that of the places of worship of the other religions.

(3) The pending suits and other proceedings relating to the disputed area within which the structure (including the premises of the inner and outer courtyards of such structure), commonly known as the Ram Janma Bhumi-Babri Masjid, stood, stand revived for adjudication of the

dispute therein, together with the interim orders made, except to the extent the interim orders stand modified by the provisions of Section 7 of the Act.

(4) The vesting of the said disputed area in the Central Government by virtue of Section 3 of the Act is limited as a statutory receiver, with the duty for its management and administration according to Section 7 requiring maintenance of status quo therein under sub-section (2) of Section 7 of the Act. The duty of the Central Government as the statutory receiver is to hand over the disputed area in accordance with Section 6 of the Act, in terms of the adjudication made in the suits for implementation of the final decision therein. This is the purpose for which the disputed area has been so acquired.

(5) The power of the courts in making further interim orders in the suits is limited to, and circumscribed by, the area outside the ambit of Section 7 of the Act.

(6) The vesting of the adjacent area, other than the disputed area, acquired by the Act in the Central Government by virtue of Section 3 of the Act is absolute with the power of management and administration thereof in accordance with sub-section (1) of Section 7 of the Act, till its further vesting in any authority or other body or trustees of any trust in accordance with Section 6 of the Act. The further vesting of the adjacent area, other than the disputed area, in accordance with Section 6 of the Act has to be made at the time and in the manner indicated, in view of the purpose of its acquisition.

(7) The meaning of the word 'vest' in Section 3 and Section 6 of the Act has to be so understood in the different

(8) Section 8 of the Act is meant for payment of compensation to owners of the property vesting absolutely in the Central Government, the title to which is not in dispute being in excess of the disputed area which alone is the subject-matter of the revived suits. It does not apply to the disputed area, title to which has to be adjudicated in the suits and in respect of which the Central Government is merely the statutory receiver as indicated, with the duty to restore it to the owner in terms of the adjudication made in the suits.

(9) The challenge to acquisition of any part of the adjacent area on the ground that it is unnecessary for achieving the professed objective of settling the long-standing dispute cannot be examined at this stage. However, the area found to be superfluous on the exact area needed for the purpose being determined on adjudication of the dispute, must be restored to the undisputed owners.

(10) Rejection of the challenge by the undisputed owners to acquisition of some religious properties in the vicinity of the disputed area, at this stage is with the liberty granted to them to renew their challenge, if necessary at a later appropriate stage, in case of continued retention by Central Government of their property in excess of the exact area determined to be needed on adjudication of the dispute.

(11) Consequently, the Special Reference No. 1 of 1993 made by the President of India under Article 143(1) of the Constitution of India is superfluous and

unnecessary and does not require to be answered. For this reason, we very respectfully decline to answer it and return the same.

(12) The questions relating to the-constitutional validity of the said Act and maintainability of the Special Reference are decided in these terms."

192. The result of declaration of Section 4(3) unconstitutional was that the suits in question continued as if nothing had happened in the meanwhile and this Court accordingly proceeded to consider the same on merits, but with one distinction, i.e., it had reduced the area of dispute now to be considered in all these suits. The disputed area now is confined to the area within which the structure (including the premises of the inner and outer courtyards of such structure) existed. The land beyond the above is out of the scope of these suits having been validly acquired under Section 3 of the Ayodhya Act, though the said vesting has also been made limited. The claim over the area beyond inner and outer courtyard is now not open for adjudication in these suits.

193. Further pursuant to Ayodhya Act the Commissioner, Faizabad Division, Faizabad is the 'authorized person', a statutory Receiver of the disputed area vide Section 7 of the said Act. He is also responsible for preservation of artefacts etc. and to maintain accounts of the property including moveable and liquid assets.

194. Since the Apex Court also allowed the parties to seek amendment in their pleadings, a number of applications were filed seeking amendments in the pleadings and also for impleadment of Union of India etc. This Court, by various orders, after hearing the parties, allowed necessary amendments

as found fit and rejected the rest. It however rejected impleadment of Union of India. It allowed the State of U.P. to withdraw its application to file written statement, which right the State of U.P. had already surrendered in Suit-4 as long back as on 28.05.1962 by filing an application that it does not propose to file any written statement.

195. Since this Court in presenti is considering the pleadings as they stand amended at the time of hearing, it is not necessary to refer such applications and the orders passed thereon in detail. We only reiterate that the disputed area which this Court has to consider has shifted and confined to inner and outer courtyard only.

196. This Court time and again also considered various applications seeking dismissal of one or the other suit on various technical grounds and it took considerable time in disposing/dismissing the same after hearing long drawn arguments of the parties.

197. Time and again this Court also expressed its desire of early disposal of the matters. It also did not hesitate in placing its anguish on record as is evident from the order dated 21.08.1995, the very opening paragraph :

> "In a suit filed in 1961 and drawn to this Court in 1989, we are even this day considering only amendment of pleadings. This stares on its face, speaks volume of lethargy, the approach of parties, the procedural wrangles, not the least the sensitive issues, the causes for which this case is crawling. Pleading though could be amended at any stage including appellate but the farthest so far it has gone was only framing issues, when on account of changed circumstances we are back to this stage. This reflects on our judicial system not that it has any infirmity but only projects the image of the way of working or contribution of all who are involved in the administration of justice. We have all to trigger and shake up our very approach of finding the truth by awakening our awareness with our deep-rooted conscience. The procedures are only in aid not hurdles in delivering justice. Any delay prolongs agony, aggravates sensitivities leading to further consequential inevitable damages, changing circumstances, giving rise to a party to amend its pleadings. If any example is to be placed, there could not be more glaring than the present and other connected suits. Present application is also in the same direction."

198. However, it appears that the parties were more interested in either delaying the proceedings or to get the suits disposed or dismissed on some technical reason instead of having a verdict on merits and this is how the aforesaid suits have travelled and continued for more than 61 years.

199. It would however be useful to refer the order dated 08.05.1996, noticing that there was no issue between the parties about the fact that Lord Ram is cultural heritage of India, and, the citizens of country have a right to pay homage to his birth place and in this admitted factual state of affairs, issue No. 14 as proposed at that time, was rejected. The relevant observations are as under:

"It is not in issue between the parties whether L. Ram is cultural heritage of India and the citizen of this country has a right to pay homage to his birth place. When this has not been challenged it has got no connection with the facts in issue we do not consider that any decision in this regard is required to be taken by this Court and, accordingly, it has rightly been rejected as it has got no relevance with the present controversy."

200. The Court referring to its earlier orders and reasons, reiterated the same while rejecting review application filed on behalf of defendants no. 10 to 17.

201. The recording of oral evidence commenced on 24.07.1996. On behalf of plaintiffs (Suit 4) statement under Order 18 Rule 2 C.P.C. was made on 23.04.1996 and thereafter they proceeded to examine their witnesses on various issues and statement of 16 witnesses was recorded.

202. An objection was raised by Sri V.K.S. Chaudhary, Advocate in Suit-5 that it was only connected with other suits and not consolidated. This Court to avoid any technical objection, clarified by order dated 26.8.1996 that Suit-5 be also treated, connected and consolidated with Suit-4 and said:

"Sri D.N. Agarwal one of the plaintiffs also agrees to which other learned counsel have no objection that all the proceedings here-in-before including the examination of this witness P.W.1 be also treated to be as if this consolidation was made since here-in-before. This agreed as to eliminate any possible technical objection."

203. Defendant no. 24 (Suit-5) died on 23.07.1997 and, therefore, CMA No. 8(O) of 1997 was filed by the plaintiffs (Suit-5) for deletion of defendants no. 24 and 25 (Suit-5) which was allowed vide order dated 10.11.1997.

204. CMA No. 19(O) of 1999 was filed by the plaintiffs (Suit-5) for recording statement of Sri Paramhans Ram Chandra Das of Digamber Akhara, Ayodhya through commission due to his old age, which was allowed vide order dated 04.09.1999

directing Sri Hari Shanker Dube, Additional District Judge, Faizabad to examine him in the Civil Court Room at Faizabad.

205. CMA No. 18(O) of 2000 was filed by the plaintiffs (Suit-4) purporting to be under Order 18 Rule 3 read with Section 151 C.P.C. praying for permission to reserve their right to produce evidence on issues No. 1(b), 4, 11, 13, 14, 19(a) and 19(c) by way of answer to the evidence that may be produced by the defendants. This Court examined the matter in detail by its order dated 19.10.2000 and rejected the same observing :

> "However, in case this Court finds at a later stage that the plaintiffs' interest is likely to be prejudiced by production of such evidence by the other party which the plaintiffs could have neither imagined nor had the opportunity to rebut, the inherent powers of the Court may be invoked under Section 151 CPC and the Court may pass fresh orders as may be necessary in the ends of justice.
> The crux of the matter is that since the plaintiffs have not exercised their option of keeping their right reserved to make statement and lead evidence in rebuttal at the time of making their statement under Order 18 Rule 2 CPC i.e. before they started leading evidence, they cannot now be permitted to exercise that option at this stage and reserve their right to lead evidence in rebuttal under Rule 3 of Order 18.
> In the result, the C.M. Application No. 18(o) of 2000 is hereby rejected."

206. Again for recording statement of Sri Deoki Nandan, plaintiff no. 3 (Suit-5) and one Sri Swaraj Prakash Gupta, resident of B-17, Kutub Institutional area, New Delhi through commission, Application No. 9(O) of 2001 was allowed vide order dated 23.05.2001 permitting recording of statement of Sri Agrawal at Allahabad and Sri Gupta at Gautambudh Nagar through commission.

207. Sri Agraw0al, plaintiff no. 3 (Suit-5), however, died on 08.04.2002 and thereafter vide order dated 25.4.2002 Dr. Thakur Prasad Verma was appointed as next friend of plaintiffs no. 1 and 2 in the said suit and allowed to pursue the same on their behalf. Now Dr. T.P. Verma has also been replaced by Sri Triloki Nath Pandey vide Court's order dated 18.3.2010.

208. This Court on 4.5.2002 also visited not only the disputed site, but also Ram Katha Kunj where certain artefacts/material, said to have been discovered from the disputed area were collected.

209. The evidence of the plaintiffs (Suit 4) closed on 30.7.2002. Thereafter the evidence of defendants commenced. There appears to be some dispute as to the order in which evidence was to be produced after close of the evidence of plaintiffs (Suit-4). This aspect was clarified by Court's order dated 31.07.2002 while disposing C.M.A. No. 34 (O) of 2002. It directed the parties to adduce the evidence in the following manner :

> "1) The plaintiffs of OOS No. 5 of 1989 shall lead the evidence as they are not defendants in OOS No. 4 of 1989. The plaintiffs in OOS No. 5 of 1989 have already begun their evidence. They have already produced the evidence of Sri Deoki Nandan Agarwal and Dr. S.P. Gupta (his cross-examination has yet not completed). It may be that they were originally examined on Commission on their application on the ground that they were aged and suffering from

ailment. It may be so but as they have already filed documentary evidence and proceeded with the evidence, they may produce the evidence and thereafter,

2) The plaintiff of OOS No. 1 of 1989 shall lead evidence as he is not a defendant in OOS No. 4 of 1989. The pleadings of OOS No. 1 of 1989 are almost similar to that of OOS No. 5 of 1989 claiming the right of worship and, therefore, he may be permitted to lead the evidence after OOS No. 5 of 1989, and thereafter,

3) The plaintiffs of OOS No. 3 of 1989 shall lead evidence. Nirmohi Akhara, plaintiff, is also defendant No. 3 in OOS No. 4 of 1989, and thereafter,

4) The remaining contesting defendants of OOS No. 4 of 1989 shall lead their evidence in seriatum,

5) The contesting defendants in OOS No. 1 of 1989, OOS No. 3 of 1989 and OOS No. 5 of 1989 shall lead evidence thereafter in seriatum (if they were not parties in other suits).”

210. On 1.8.2002, this Court invited views/suggestions of the parties in the suits with regard to excavation of disputed site to find out as to whether there existed foundation of Hindu Temple or any Hindu religious structure prior to demolition of the disputed structure. Without understanding the said order, it appears that several persons, in one or the other way, expressed their views in different ways and this was also given a wide publicity in print media. When this was brought to the notice of this Court, an order was passed on 20.8.2002, operative part whereof is as under :

"If the newspapers publish opinion of the parties or any other person threatening the Court from passing the order, it amounts to contempt of the Court by the press as it conveys threat of the parties or any other person from passing an order, which they do not wish to be passed. The party or any other person, who expresses opinion pending proceeding, is also guilty of contempt of Court as it interferes in the administration of justice.

The Editors take the responsibilities for whatever is published in the newspapers. If anything is published, which hampers fair trial or poisons public mind it is contempt by the press. We are of the opinion that the publication in the newspapers regarding the opinion by the parties, counsel for the parties and any other person in the pending matter amounts to contempt of Court. However, instead of issuing show cause notice we, at present, warn them that in future they shall not publish :-

1. any opinion of the parties or their counsel or any other person in regard to the pending dispute before us otherwise it shall be treated as contempt of Court.
2. They are further restrained from publishing any article in regard to the merit of the case as it may affect public mind in regard to which the Court is yet to take decision on the basis of the evidence, which parties may produce in the Court.
3. We have come to know that the TV Channels are taking interview of the counsel of the parties or other persons in regard to the matter, which is pending in the Court. Television interview, at a time, when the matter is still pending in the Court, may affect the mind of the public and it also undermines the judicial authority and thwarts the majesty of the Court while the Court has yet to take decision in the matter on the evidence, which may be produced by the parties. This will amount to interference in the administration of justice. The TV Channels are prohibited from televising interviews in respect of the Ayodhya matter, which is still subjudice.

The registry is directed to send copy of this order to the Editors of all the newspapers, Press Trust of India and all the TV Channels forthwith."

211. Thereafter, an application for review/recall of the order dated 20.8.2002 was filed on behalf of National Union of Journalists (India). After hearing them and other concerned parties, this Court says "it is true that Press is a limb of the State and watchdog of the democracy and freedom. An independent Press is essential and integral part of the democracy. The Press/Electronic Media, however, should remain cautions while publishing the proceedings of the Court. It should not publish the opinion of a person or a party or his counsel if the matter is subjudice and the Court has yet to take a decision in the matter. The expression of the opinion by a person about the correctness of the wisdom of the Court, in regard to pending case, may be taken as contempt of Court. The newspapers are not to take upon themselves to publish material expressing opinion of the persons in regard to the pending matters. It is called "Trial by Newspapers" in contradiction of the "Trial by the Courts". It interferes in the administration of justice and also influences the public mind." Considering matter from various angles thereafter, the Court clarified its earlier order dated 20.8.2002

vide order dated 21.02.2003 and issued following directions:

> "1. The Press/Electronic Media is entitled to publish a fair and accurate report of the proceedings of the Court.
> 2. The report about an order should be made after obtaining the true copy of the order and the headnote of the reporting should not be misleading.
> 3. The Press/Electronic Media should not publish any article on any matter, which is pending before the Court for adjudication.
> 4. The statement of witness be not reproduced as his statement is to be scrutinized and assessed by the Court. The Press can report as to which person appeared in Court as a witness.
> 5. The Electronic Media should not interview any person in regard to the merit of the case.
> 6. It should not express its opinion in editorial notes or express opinion of any person including any party or his counsel."

Excavation of the Site by Archaeological Survey of India

Excavation Report of Archaeological Survey of India and objections thereon :

212. On 1.8.2002, this Court referring to Issues No. 1(b) (Suit-4), 14 (Suit-5) and the Reference made to the Hon'ble Supreme Court by the President of India, noticed that one of the basic issue engaging attention of the Court in these suits is "whether there was a Hindu temple or any Hindu religious structure existed or the alleged Babari masjid was constructed after demolishing temple at the site in dispute." Considering the observations of Sri D. Dhaneshwar Mandal, Archaeologist in his Book "Ayodhya-Archaeology After Demolition" that sufficient

archaeological material is available regarding temple-mosque issue prompting need for further excavation at Ayodhya, this Court required the parties to give their views/suggestions, why the disputed land be not allowed to be excavated by Archaeological Survey of India (hereinafter referred to as 'ASI'). Further, till decision in this respect, the Court directed ASI to get the disputed site surveyed by Ground Penetrating Radar or Geo-Radiology (hereinafter referred to as 'GPR') and obtain report.

213. Almost all the parties, namely plaintiffs, defendants no. 2, 3, 4, 20 and 22 (Suit-4) and State Government filed their objections in one or the other manner. However, except defendant no. 2, others did not raise any specific objection regarding survey of the disputed site by GPR. Sri Jilani, learned counsel for plaintiffs in Suit-4 in fact made a statement before the Court that he has no objection on G.P.R. survey of the disputed site.

214. The objections were considered and decided by Court's order dated 23.10.2002. The relevant extract thereof is as under :

> "Having heard the learned counsel for the parties, we are of the opinion that we should get a report in regard to foundations, if any, of any structure at the site in question. One of the issues in the suit is whether there was any Hindu temple or any Hindu religious structure existed and the alleged Babri Masjid was constructed after demolishing such temple/structure at the site in question.
> The nature of super structure to a great extent is related to the foundations. In 'History of Mughal Architecture' Vol. I, filed as paper no. 197C-2/1 to 197C-2/8, Shri R. Nath has expressed the view that the

www.vadaprativada.com

Muhammadans have no written text as to the construction of their sacred mosques, but, on the other hand, the Hindu temples are constructed on the principles for the construction of temple detailed in various text books. The view expressed by him is as follows:-

> "It is surprising that though they built large and magnificent mosques in Syria, Iraq, Iran, Turkey, Egypt and Spain, the Muhammedans have no written text as to the construction of their sacred architecture. Except the universal law that the congregation would face the Ka'ba (in Mecca) in accordance with the Quranic injunction and the Qiblah would mark its direction, there are no prescribed rules and absolutely no norms for its making. The Hindus, on the other hand, were very particular in this matter. The 'sastra' (theory) closely followed the standardised form of 'prayoga' (practice) in India and they laid down principles for the construction of temple (prasada) in minutest details, in numerous types and varieties, from the Gupta age to the beginning of the Mughal period. Iconography similarly dealt with the subject of image-making in exhaustive details. Such grand treatises as the Brhat-Samhita, Sukra-Niti-Sara, Hayasirasa Pancharatra, Agni-Purana, Visnu-Dharmottara-Purana, Kasyapa Silpa, Mayamatam, Manasollasa, Manasara, Samarangana-Sutradhara, Aparajita-Prchchha, Silpa-Ratnam, Visvakarma-Prakasa, Pramana-Manjari, Vastu-Sara-Prakarana, Prasada-

Mandana and some 15th century texts on Silpa (combining all the applied fine arts, viz. Architecture, sculpture, iconography, iconometry and painting) are available to us."

If any foundations is existing of any construction, it may throw light as to whether any structure existed and if so what would have been the possible structure at that time.

The plaintiffs of O.O.S. No. 5 of 1989 have themselves relied upon archaeological evidence that the Court may draw an inference whether that temple existed on the site. The archaeological evidence, according to the plaintiffs of O.O.S. No.5 of 1989, relates to three places:

i. The excavation in the area located in close proximity to the southern wall of the alleged mosque. It is alleged that two trenches were laid and pillar bases were found;

ii. Two trenches were laid at the back side of the alleged mosque on the western side;

iii. Two pits located at a distance of about 8.80 meters south to the alleged mosque. The discovery was alleged to be made during the land levelling operation and from there big hoard of stone sculptures were found and some structural remains were also located at a distance of roughly 9 meters south-east to the alleged mosque.

The plaintiffs of O.O.S. No. 4 of 1989 have led evidence to prove that these excavations do not prove that any temple existed on the site in question. We are not going to assess the evidence at this stage regarding rival

contentions of the parties and evidence led by them on the record. It is, however, clear that none of the above excavations were made on the disputed site. The excavation of the site in question would have been more relevant to one of the issues involved in the suit. We have passed the order asking the parties to give their suggestions in regard to excavation at the disputed site and till any excavation is done, without disturbing the nature of the land, we directed that the area in question can be surveyed by Ground Penetrating Radar or Geo-Radiology system which is now a developed science and can trace out the foundation without disturbing the nature of the land.

By adopting Ground-Penetrating Radar/Geo-Radiology system and also with the help of magnetometer the archaeologists can map archaeological foundations of any structure. It is also possible for them to draw a plan with enough accuracy to make out/create a case for excavation at the disputed site. The archaeologists, if they feel so, have to dig the place/site where they consider to excavate the site but they are handicapped for two reasons, first, they do not really know whether to dig the area to its hilt; and second, once they have dug, the area it is destroyed. Both these problems can be solved by adopting Ground-Penetrating Radar/ Geo-Radiological technology. In this technology of Ground-Penetrating Radar/ Geo-Radiology, magnetometer can also be used to trace out the foundations of any structure without destroying anything on the ground.

The question is whether the Court has power to take this course without any of the parties requesting the Court for tracing out the foundations of any structure on the disputed site. The Code of Civil Procedure itself gives power to the Court to suo motu summon any witness to record evidence, to summon any document from any person, to make local inspection or to appoint a commission for investigation, if it thinks necessary or expedient in the interest of justice.

Order XVI Rule 14 of C.P.C. provides that where the Court at any time thinks it necessary to examine any person including a party to the suit and not called as a witness by a party to the suit, the Court may, of its own motion, call such person to be summoned as witness to give evidence, or to produce any document in his possession. This provision envisages that when none of the parties produce as witness, the Court has power to suo moto summon the witness if it thinks necessary or direct any person to produce any document in his possession. It clearly contemplates a situation where none of the parties desire to produce witnesses or documents, for any reason, the Court in the interest of justice can call the witness to give evidence or to produce documents in his possession. It is to find out the truth which is integral part of justice.

In R.M.Seshadri Vs. G. Vasantha Pai and others, A.I.R. 1969 S.C. 692*, where neither of the parties examined the witness which the Court found to have been examined, summoned such witness and his evidence was taken into account while recording the finding. The Apex Court held that the Court had power to summon him as the Court witness if it thinks that the ends of justice require or that the case before it needs that kind of evidence. The*

Court observed as under :

> "The power of a Civil Court to summon court witnesses is contained in Order XVI, Rule 14 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Now the Representation of the People Act enjoins that all the powers under the Code can be exercised and all the procedure as far as may be applicable to the trial of civil suits may be followed in the trial of election petitions. It would appear therefore that in the absence of any prohibition contained in the law, the Court has the power to summon a court witness if it thinks that the ends of justice require or that the case before it needs that kind of evidence."

In Shaikh Mahamad Umarsaheb Vs. Kadalaskar Hasham Karimsab and others, AIR 1970 SC 61*, the Apex Court upheld the order of the Trial Judge summoning a person as a Court witness. It is, however, a matter of discretion when it is to be exercised. The Court is not obliged to summon a person as a Court witness. It is the discretion of the Court to exercise its discretion in the facts and circumstances of each case as observed in* Khaje Khanavar Khadarkhan Hussain Khan Vs. Siddavanahalli Nijalingappa and another, AIR 1969 SC 1034 and Bishwanath Rai Vs. Sachhidanand Singh, A.I.R. 1971 S.C. 1949*.*

The principle laid down for obtaining the evidence by the Court suo moto can also be applied for obtaining the report through scientific investigation.

The Court has further power under Order XVIII Rule 18 C.P.C. to inspect any property or thing concerning which any question may arise at any stage of the suit. It is also not dependent on any application being filed by any of the parties in this respect. It is for the satisfaction of the Court to find out the truth for which the Court takes burden of making local inspection under Order XVIII Rule 18 C.P.C.

The Court has further power under Section 151 C.PC. to pass any appropriate order in the interest of justice provided such power is not in conflict with what has been expressly provided in the C.P.C. or against the intention of legislation vide Ram Chand and Sons Sugar Mills Pvt. Ltd. Vs. Kanhaya Lal Bhargava and others, AIR 1966 SC 1899*, where the Court struck the defence under Section 151 C.P.C. on the ground that the Court has inherent power to strike the defence of the defendant if he does not comply with the order of the Court.*

The Court has thus a power applying principle of Order XVI Rule 14 C.P.C. to obtain a report through the Archaeological Survey of India in respect of a matter which is one of the important issues involved in the suit. The Court has further power under Order XVIII Rule 18 C.P.C. to inspect any property or thing concerning which any question may arise at any stage of the suit. It is also not dependent of any application being filed by any of the parties in this respect. It is for the satisfaction of the Court to find out the truth for which the Court takes burden of making local inspection under Order XVIII Rule 18 C.P.C.

The Court has been conferred power under Order XXVI Rule 10A CPC to issue commission for scientific investigation which reads as under :-

"10A. Commission for scientific investigation.-(1) Where any question arising in a suit involves any scientific investigation which cannot, in the opinion of the Court, be conveniently conducted before the Court, the Court may, if it thinks it necessary or expedient in the interests of justice so to do, issue a commission to such person as it thinks fit, directing him to inquire into such question and report thereon to the court.

(2) The provisions of rule 10 of this Order shall, as far as may be, apply in relation to a Commissioner appointed under this rule as they apply in relation to a Commissioner appointed under rule 9."

The second question is why the Court should exercise its power suo moto in the matter. The reasons are two fold- firstly, to remove any suspicion or doubt as to the facts of the case which is in dispute and secondly, to find out the truth in regard to the contentious issues raised by the parties. As noted above, the plaintiffs of O.O.S. No. 5 of 1989 have themselves relied upon the evidence in regard to excavation, levelling and trenches laid near the site of the disputed area. It would be appropriate that the matter may be thoroughly investigated to find out the truth.

The third question is why the Court should exercise its power at this stage when the evidence of all the parties have not closed as yet. The plaintiffs in O.O.S. No. 4 of 1989 have closed its evidence. The plaintiffs of O.O.S. No. 5 of 1989 have examined seven witnesses by this time including Dr. S.P. Gupta, Archaeologist, as one of the witnesses, O.P.W. 8 is being examined. None of the parties

has filed application for excavation at the disputed site. It is not suggestion of the objectors that they would move an application for excavation at a later stage. In our view, this is a proper stage for obtaining the report of GPR/Geo-Radiology without disturbing the nature of the land which will throw light in the matter.

Lastly, it is contended that the report, if obtained, may not be very accurate and the exercise will be futile. It is an assumption by the objectors. The Survey through GPR/Geo-Radiology is a scientific investigation. It is after the report is submitted, the Court can examine such report. This objection at the present moment is unfounded.

In view of the above, we do not find any substance in the objections raised by learned counsel appearing for defendant no. 2 and defendant no. 22 in O.O.S. No. 4 of 1989.

1. The area shown in the report of the Commissioner submitted in Suit No.2 of 1950 (O.O.S. No. 1 of 1989) covering an area of approximately 100 x 100 shown in the map plan no. 1 referred to by letters A,B,C,D,E,F and thereafter northern portion up to the end of the raised platform and further to the west, south and east to the said site to the extent of 40 feet so that the position may be clarified regarding excavation alleged to have already been done earlier,

2. The agency conducting GPR/Geo-Radiological test shall not disturb any area where the idol of Shri Ram

Lala has been installed and approximately 10 feet around it.

The objections in regard to GPR/Geo-Radiology are disposed of accordingly."

215. ASI initially showed its reluctance in getting the survey of the disputed area done by GPR and submitted that no agency in the Country was found competent to undertake the said work. Sufficient time was consumed by various applications filed before this Court and their disposal on GPR survey. Ultimately, by order dated 26.11.2002, the Court permitted M/s Tojo Vikas International (Pvt.) Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as 'Tozo') to visit the site and submit report by 12.12.2002. M/s Tozo submitted a site inspection report after visiting the site in question on 9.12.2002. It was considered on 13.12.2002 and then the Court directed M/s Tozo to undertake the project of GPR survey at the disputed site as early as possible but latest by first of January, 2003 and complete the work and submit report by 26.1.2003. M/s Tozo constituted a team consisting of (1) Mr. Manoj Kumar, Deputy General Manager and Team Leader, (2) Mr. Sudhir Chauhan, Senior Geophysicist, (3) Mr. Shakti Singh Mittal, Geophysicist, (4) Mr. S.A.H. Jaffari, Senior Land Surveyor and (5) Mr. Vobhor Mittal, Land Surveyor. The aforesaid team was assisted by Mr. Claude Robillard from Canada, an expert in the work of survey interpretation etc. The survey report was submitted by M/s Tozo ultimately through ASI on 17.2.2003 reporting its conclusions as under:

1. In General terms, the main georadar features detected by the present survey are "anomaly alignments" across the main platform, north and south of the Sanctum Sanctorum extending to the Ram Chabutra area, the high

amplitude "ringy sequence" towards the south, and the mound structures to the east.

2. In their cross-section appearance and the areal pattern, the "anomaly alignments" may correspond to a wall foundation of some sort. In the Rama Chabutra area, the crossing patterns of those alignments and the different stratigraphic units from where they ((emerge)) suggest that they belong to successive construction periods rather than being contemporary to one another. As mentioned earlier, similar indications of successive structures are shown in other areas of the site such as shown on the example radar cross section 2 (Annex D).

3. The (ringy and high amplitude)) sequence in the southern portion of the Ram Chabutra area extends across the fences to the east to the main platform area to cover a rather large area. This sequence may be indicative of a flooring structure of some sort, possibly stone slabs if its origin is ancient.

4. A third type of buried structures covers the entire eastern boundary of the site. It consists of buried mound structures with some internal texture or structure indicative of collapsed material. Similar types of anomalies have been detected to the southwest area just before the terrain slopes down.

5. Many small discrete anomalies have been detected at various depths- from 0.5 to 5.5 meters. Some of those anomalies appear to line up in some directions but could not be detected on some survey lines between them. As such they have been referred to "discontinuous alignment" on the geophysical interpretation map of Annex A. They may

6. In the zones of reworked material or rubbles indicated on the map, little penetration was achieved as the signal was severely scattered in those units. It is possible that some of the trends or alignments stopping in those zones actually also extend further.

7. In the slope area to the west, which is undulating, filled with rubbles and steeply dipping, only small anomalies were detected at relatively shallow depths. They appear to line up somewhat as indicated on the map; however, the wider line spacing and the poor data quality, on account of ground conditions in this area, due to bad coupling of the antenna with the ground, makes this interpretation difficult. This area as explained earlier is a debris zone where heterogeneous material was apparently dumped from the upper platform and the origin of those detected anomalies could also be debris.

8. We are also showing some indications on the map relative to the radar signal that are most probably related to geological factors such as dipping layers, recent fill sequence and zones of higher soil conductivity. They are part of the geophysical interpretation.

9. In conclusion, the GPR survey reflects in general a variety of anomalies ranging from 0.5 to 5.5 meters in depth that could be associated with ancient and contemporaneous structures such as pillars, foundations walls slab flooring, extending over a large portion of the site. However, the exact nature of those anomalies has to

216. The said report was considered by the Court after permitting parties to file their objections and the same were disposed of by order dated 5.3.2003 directing ASI to go ahead with the excavation of the disputed site. The relevant extract of the order is as under :

"Considering the entire facts and circumstances, the Archaeological Survey of India is directed to get the disputed site excavated as under:-

(1) The area shown in the report of the Commissioner submitted in Suit No. 2 of 1950 (O.O.S. No. 1 of 1989) covering an area of approximately 100x100 shown in the map plan no. 1 referred to by letters A, B, C, D, E, F and thereafter northern portion up to the end of the raised platform and further to the west, south and east to the said site to the extent of 50 feet.

(2) If it is necessary to excavate towards north or any area more than 50 feet to the disputed area, it can do so to find out the true position as regards to any foundation.

(3) It is made clear that the Archaeologists (Excavators) shall not disturb any area where the idol of Shri Ram Lala is existing and approximately 10 feet around it and they shall not affect the worship of Shri Ram Lala and thus, status quo as regards His Puja and worshippers' right of Darshan shall be maintained."

(4) The excavation shall be done by Excavation Branch concerned specialized in excavation work within a period of one month from today. If they are engaged in other work it shall be suspended till the excavation in question is complete. If any additional staff is required the Archaeological Survey of India and Central Government shall provide it.

(5) Tojo-Vikas International (Pvt.) Limited which has surveyed the site in question by GPR etc. shall assist the excavators by providing technical assistance at the time of excavation.

(6) The work will commence within one week from today. The report will be submitted within one week from the date of completion of the excavation.

(7) The Archaeological Survey of India shall intimate the date of the commencement of the work to the Officer on Special Dutuy, Ram Janma Bhumi-Babri Masjid. On receiving such information he shall intimate the date to the parties who can watch the excavation work.

(8) Learned counsel for the parties can also appoint nominee including Archaeologist to watch the excavation work. It is made clear that only one nominee of each contesting party at one time shall be entitled to remain present.

Put up on 24th March 2003 by which date the Archaeological Survey of India shall intimate to the Court of the progress made by it in regard to excavation."

217. The Director General, ASI constituted a 14 members team consisting of the following :

1. Dr. B.R. Mani, Suptdg. Archaeologist
2. Shri C.B. Mishra, Dy. Suptdg. Archaeologist
3. Shri A.A. Hashmi, Astt. Archaeologist

218. He also directed for engagement of 80 local labourers to help the excavation team in the field work. The ASI team reached Ayodhya in the night of 10.3.2003, carried out its general survey of the site and lay out of the trenches on 11.3.2003.

219. On the application of the counsels for the parties, this Court gave certain more direction on 11.3.2003 so that excavation by ASI would proceed keeping intact the confidence of the parties in the above proceeding etc. The directions are :

"1. The general survey of the site and layout of the trenches if already done shall be done again in presence of the contesting parties or their counsel or nominees.

2. It should commence from 12.03.2003 at 10.00 a.m.

3. The excavation work should be done from 10.00 a.m.

4. List containing names and addresses of all persons including labourers engaged in excavation process be submitted to the Hon'ble Court for record.

5. Names of the equipments and tools likely to be used in excavation work may also be submitted.

6. Videography if being done may be kept in tact and under sealed cover.

7. Materials likely to be recovered may also be kept in sealed cover/bundles and may be preserved in some near by located building under lock and seal.

8. The Authorised person/Director A.S.I./Team Leader A.S.I. Excavation Team, Ayodhya should submit periodical progress report of the work to the Hon'ble Court and they should not make any briefing/disclosure to the media.

9. Transparency should be maintained."

220. In compliance of the above directions, Director General, ASI submitted list of its officials engaged in the excavation branch (located at Delhi and Patna, i.e. the Northern Region) vide its letter dated 13.3.2003. Along with letter dated 20.3.2003, he supplied a list of 14 member team as well as the labourers engaged in the excavation work and the equipments likely to be used therein.

221. A brief note on the excavation work carried out from 12.3.2003 to 16.3.2003, prepared by Sri R.C. Mishra, Addl. Director General on 20.3.2003, was also submitted showing that the actual excavation started in the first half of 12.3.2003 itself. The note contained the following information :

"As per the court directives, the excavation was started in the area indicated in the report of the Commissioner submitted in Suit No. 2 of 1950 (O.O.S.No. 1 of 1989) shown in the map plan no. 1 and referred to by letters A, B, C, D, E, F. The excavation methodology consists of laying out square trenches measuring 4 X 4 m each in the entire area which are marked by numbers written on wooden pegs for reference and taking readings.

A site plan is also prepared indicating the number of trenches laid out with the peg numbers clearly indicated therein.

Four trenches (4 X 4 m each) with numbers J3, J4, J5, J6 were initially taken up for excavation (Plan enclosed). After a dig of nearly 5-14 cm depth, a cement floor was encountered in all the trenches. This cement floor was encountered with squarish and rectangular impressions of stone slabs/ tiles, very similar to that found extant in situ in marble and incised, datable to the second half of the 20th century A.D. As the cement floor was encountered in all the above four trenches, the excavation area was shifted to the east of above with numbers K3, K4, K5, K6. All these trenches show high intensity of signals of anomalies as per Tojo-Vikas International Pvt. Ltd. The excavation revealed four formations, two oblong, one circular and last roughly circular which is partly in section. The oblong formations have edges of burnt clay and some ash is also noticed within these formations. The irregular circle formation was plastered entirely with lime and filled with brickbats, few bone pieces and shreds of red ware. Here red ware was obtained with shapes of pots, vases and basins. A wall in two phases was exposed in K3 up to a depth of 75 cm with the associated finds consisting of red ware having bowls, dishes and basins as the prominent shapes. Due to intervening structures and floors, in many areas working area is reduced very much. In one trench a modern brick pavement was removed to obtain more space. The other finds include terracotta head of an animal figurine."

222. The plaintiff (Suit-4) filed civil misc. application no. 18 (O) of 2003, praying for review and recall of the order dated 5.3.2003, contending that the report submitted by M/s Tojo has not been approved, no order was passed on the admissibility of the said report, hence direction for excavation by ASI was not justified and must be reviewed. This application was rejected by order dated 26.3.2002 holding that all the objections have already been considered and decided and no case for review is made out.

223. Another application was submitted on behalf of plaintiffs (Suit-4) being CMA No. 19 of 2003 (Suit-4) making the following complaints :

> "A- Stratigraphic context is a Key issue in the interpretation of the excavation. Therefore there should be accurate noting of position (i.e. of the layer) of each find of whatever nature (potsherds, seeds, bones, other organic material, bricks or brickbats, mortar bonded rubble, loose debris fragments , stones, boulders and the like) and the record of the same has to be maintained and preserved with the signatures of the parties/ counsels/ nominees taken on the said report/ Register on day to day basis. The top and bottom of each layer and the edges of pits may be marked on all relevant Section (S) with the use of Section labels, of paper or aluminum, in indelible ink.
> Recording of the identification of Strata and features like walls, floors and pits as well as objects like pottery etc. should be done immediately as they are identified or found. The discovery/ recovery of objects should be noted in Both, i.e, the trench notebook / diary, as well as in the register of finds (simultaneously), at the time when these Discoveries

B- In order to ensure that observers/ person watching, are not distracted, not more than 2 Trenches should be excavated at one time, after the completion of work in the Trenches already being excavated, and out of these Trenches also, actual digging should be carried out only in 2 Trenches at one time.

C- After the noting by the A.S.I. team, the Archaeologists nominated by the parties should be allowed to enter the trenches to observe the stratification of the A.S.I. (and its Section labels) and in order to do this they may be allowed to scrape the Sections. This may be allowed at the end of each day or every few days, after the A.S.I.'s work is over for the day. Without being allowed to scrape the Sections, Archaeologists will not be able to verify the stratification.

D- The details about each find and the strata identified should be noted in the site note book/ register (with rough sketches of Sections and the plans of walls, pits and other features) to be maintained regarding day to day excavation work and one copy of the same be supplied to each side of the contesting parties by the A.S.I. team, on day to day basis. As the relative dates of all the walls are important, the floors and foundation pits associated with those walls may be clearly specified on the trench sections and / or plans.

E- The copies of colour photographs of all the important objects, trenches, features and Sections may be supplied to the contesting parties on payment of necessary charges so that there may remain no apprehension or

doubt about the introduction of any external material or about Interpolation/ Destruction/ substitution of any find.

F- The Antiquity Register should be maintained making specific mention of the bones and glazed ware etc. on day to day basis and the same be sealed in the presence of the parties/ counsels or their nominees.

4. That the site notebooks and other records including Video-tapes, diagrams, plans and Section drawings, on which the Archaeological Survey of India may prepare the report, should be preserved and be made available for Inspection to the parties immediately after completion of the report.

5. That Archaeological Survey of India is an organization under the direct control of the B.J.P. MINISTER of the government of India, who is an associate of the Vishwa Hindu Parishad etc. in the matter in issue and as such the exercise of political influence in the preparation of report of the excavation can not be ruled out. Hence it is all the more essential and in the ends of justice that the parties to the suits and specially the Muslim Parties/ their nominees must have access to all those materials in their original forms including the excavated trenches, drawings of their plans and Sections, and all finds labelled with their stratum provenance, upon which the Archaeological Survey of India would be basing its conclusions and interpretation.

6. That the depth below present surface, upto which digging has to be done, may be specified by the court and the same may be at the most 5-6 feet (1.5 or 2 meter) as the Issue regarding which the order of excavation has been passed, relates to the alleged demolition of temple (though denied) said to have been made in 1528 A.D. and as such the present excavation is not all concerned with anything of any period earlier than 16th century.

7. That plaintiff of O.O.S. No. 4 of 89 having filed the suit as the representatives of the Muslim community and the suit being contested also as a representative suit and the nature of the dispute also being very sensitive, it was not only desirable but rather necessary that the persons engaged by the A.S.I. in the entire process of excavation, should belong to both the communities in equal proportion, so that there may not remain any feeling among any community that any favour was being shown to any one side or that more importance was being given by the A.S.I. to the members of one community as against the other. In this respect the conduct of the A.S.I., even from 8-3-03 to 17-3-03, has been giving strength to all kinds of apprehensions and speculations of partiality and biased attitude. The letters dated 8-3-03 and 10-3-03 sent by the Director of A.S.I. and Excavation Team Leader of A.S.I. describe the O.S.D. of this court as the "O.S.D., Ram Janam Bhoomi" while the O.S.D. has never described himself as O.S.D. of Ram Jaman Bhoomi only but he always describes himself as O.S.D. (R.J.B. -B.M.) or O.S.D. of Ayodhya Bench or O.S.D. of special Full Bench hearing Ayodhya Matters. Similarly the appointment of only one Muslim in a team comprising of 14 persons can also not be said to be an impartial constitution of the excavation team. So also the engagement of all labourers of one community cannot be treated to be an impartial and

justified action and inclusion of 3 Muslims only in a team of more than 50 labourers on 17/2/03, even after written demand made by the plaintiffs' counsels, shows their reluctance to act in an independent and impartial manner. True copy of the said representation dated 15.3.03 is filed herewith as ANNEXURE No.-1.

It is therefore, not only desirable, but necessary, in order to create confidence about the impartiality of the excavation work, that the A.S.I. be directed to include at least half of the members of Excavation Team and labourers from among the Muslims and 5 eminent Archaeologists (Excavators) and an observer be also appointed by this Hon'ble court with the consent of the parties, as per order dated 1-8-2002."

224. The plaintiffs (Suit-4) also filed a copy of their letter dated 18.3.2003 along with the said application wherein they had requested Sri B.R. Mani, Team Leader, ASI Excavation Team to include appropriate number of muslims labourers so as to inspire confidence in the community. The aforesaid application was opposed by the other side.

225. A brief report was also submitted by Sri B.R. Mani, Superintendent (Archaeology) and Team Leader, ASI on 23.3.3003 through the Director General ASI, and the relevant extract thereof is as under :

*"II. Planning and Progress of Excavations

The present excavation undertaken by the ASI under the Hon'ble High Court's direction at the disputed site of Ayodhya is of a very special nature well defined objective. All precautions have been taken to plan it in such a way that the work could be taken up and completed as per the

II 1. In place of general practice of lay out of 10 x 10 m squares divided into four quadrants of 4.25 x 4.25 m separated by 0.50 m baulk all-around,the latest technique of lay out trenches at sires where limited spaces are available was adopted. Accordingly, page were fixed at every 5 m in both north-south, and cast-west orientation with cutting area of 4 x 4 m leaving 0.5 m baulk all around, which in contiguous trenches effectively left a space of 1 m in between two cutting for the movement of archaeologists and labourers. One meter wide baulk was specially provided considering the fact that due to modern fillings and debris, etc. the trench may collapse due to the earth pressure in a most sensitive area.

II 2. To avoid any confusion and for the better understanding of even layman instead of the X, Y and Z areas of traditional layout with central point at the highest part, the initial peg 'A1' was fixed at the north-west corner of the site and accordingly A, B, C, D letters were put to denote the trenches in west to east direction and numerals 1, 2, 3, 4, etc. in the north to south direction.

II 3. Full attention was given to the report and GPR drawing submitted by the Tojo-Vikas International (Pvt.) Ltd. And the matter regarding anomalies shown in their drawings were discussed with Shri Manoj Kumar, Dy. G.M. TVIPL and his representative Mr. Shakti Singh at several occasion and accordingly decision was taken to start the excavation at first to the north of Ram Chabutra and also to its adjoining areas where greater signals have

II 4. As the work of excavation is required to be completed as a time bound programme, the archaeological documentation including drawing and photography of the structural remains and pottery and antiquities are arranged to be done simultaneously.

II 5. Arrangements have also been made to collect the samples of soil, mortar, carbon (for C^{14} dating), pottery (for Thermoluminiscence dating), grains and pollens (for palaco botanical studies) and bone (for study of faunal remains). Although these samples would have to be sent for laboratory testing and scientific studies to the scientists in the survey and outside agencies, who may take some time to study and submit their findings.

II 6. Trenches have been laid in the entire disputed area on all sides excepting the area of the makeshift structure where Ram Lala is enshrined along with its periphery having brick wall and the surrounding sand bag-mound covering an area of approximately 400 square metres. The excavation work has also been planned in phased manner in particular areas as per significant signals for anomalies pointed out by the GPR survey.

II 7. The excavation work was started as per Hon'ble High Court's order from 12.03.2003. Holidays were observed on Muharram (14.03.2003) and Holi (18.03.2003) and non-field day would be observed on Mondays (this Monday being 24.03.2003). No labourers came for work on 19.03.2003 although the team was present at the site and worked for documentation. Thus from the beginning of the work till 24.03.2003, i.e. the day of hearing of the case by the Hon'ble High Court only 9 days would be utilized for excavation purpose. There also since the work is starting at 10 am one hour of work is being lost for which the Director General has been approached by the team leader to request the Hon'ble High Court through Sr. Standing Counsel to allow the team to start the work at 9 am so that the work may continue till 6 pm with one hour usual break for lunch.

II 8. Huge chunks of masonry blocks and other architectural members are lying on the western slope of the mound of the disputed area. They require shifting to facilitate surface study and planning of excavation in that area. These masonry blocks can either be broken into pieces and then shifted or lifted through crane and kept aside. Preferring the second alternative the Authorized Person has been requested to arrange a crane for the job.

III. The Present Wrok

III 1. After layout of trenches excavations were started initially in four trenches on the first day itself, i.e. 12.03.2003. These four trenches J3, J4, J5 & J6 laid bare cement floors, brick impressions of 1924 and cement mortar put over the lime floor for fixing votive slabs (marble)/tiles. Some of the extent marble slabs are inscribed with date as late as 1968-69 A.D. A request was made to the Director General to inform the team whether these floor remains could be cut or is there any direction from the Hon'ble Court in this regard.

III 2. In the meantime four adjoining trenches K3, K4, K5 & K6 were taken up for excavation which revealed the lowest portion of the eastern enclosure wall of the disputed

III 3. Two more trenches were taken up to the east and south-east of the so called Ram Chabutra at K7 & K8 where more space was found to go further deep.

III 4. It is noticed that in almost entire area of the disputed structure, the floor of it still remains at most of the places, which has to be necessarily cut through to make further space and correlation possible.

III 5. An interesting feature has been noticed in trench K4 in which the eastern enclosure wall constructed of brick bats was found over riding another earlier wall of the same width (1.04 m) but made of comparatively fuller bricks (which are not lakhauri bricks), the earlier wall is found resting on a still earlier lime floor which extends beneath it and also spreads on the other side (outer side) of it. All together, the two walls and the lower floor point towards three distinct structural phases.

III 6. Some structural activity during the part was also noticed outside the eastern enclosure wall.

III 7. The pottery and other deposits from the above 10 trenches is mixed deposit and cannot be categorized as a habitational deposit of successive phases. Pottery yield also is a mix of ancient black slipped ware, red ware medieval red ware, glazed ware, celadon were and modern red ware and other material. The antiquities like human head and human foot of Kushan style, two copper coins of medieval period, beads of stone, glass and terracotta; pieces of glass bangles, animal figurines and such other objects have come from the mixed deposit 27 of such antiquities have been found so far from these deposits in

III 8. An interesting surface investigation was made towards north-west side of the disputed area in the trenches C1, C2, D1 & D2 where only the surface cleaning provided evidence of at least three structural phases- the top being the floor and its connected structure of the disputed structure, below which is an evidence of four courses of calcrete stone blocks which rest over a brick structure having no less than twenty five courses of bricks of various shapes and sizes. Only further careful digging in the area may show the details of structural activities.

III 9. Digging has been done in at least four trenches upto the depth of 1.50 metres. A total area of about 250 square metres comprising 10 trenches have been put to excavation at present and an area of 100 square metre is under surface investigation in four trenches.

Since utmost care is to be given to the site so that all the relevant details could be recorded and in haste nothing should escape unnoticed and nothing may get damaged, the work is taking the required time and therefore, extension for at least two months more for excavation and 15 days further for writing the report may please be sought from the Hon'ble High Court.

Submitted to the Director General, Archaeological Survey of India, Janpath, New Delhi."

226. Another report dated 21.3.2003 showing some findings of ASI in the excavation work carried out till that date is as under :

"BRIEF REPORT-21.03.2003

"The excavations continued for the eighth day in K4, K6, K7 & K8, while trench nos. C1, C2, D1 & D2, situated on the northern side of the western slope of the mound were cleaned of bushes and other smaller loose debris.

K4 In the eastern half of the trench excavation continued down to the depth of 80 cm without encountering any structural activity. In the western part the cement floor was removed after proper recording and the area was sunk to the depth of 80 cm where a lime plastered surface was touched along side the wall.

K6. 95 cm wide portion between the two almost parallel walls was further dug down to the depth of 95 cm. The wall to the east stopped after running into 5 courses, while the thicker wall to the west still continues. A lime floor was reached at a depth of 95 cm. A small foot of a human figurine was found from the floor which on stylistic basis shows affinity to the Kushan type.

K7. The same eastern half was further deepened to the depth of 90 cm. While the concrete piling still continues in the west. No structural activity in the part was noticed. However, the dark loose earth yielded large amount of potsherds of mainly red ware with sprinkling of other early and late wares.

K8 Eastern part of the northern half of the trench was subjected to further excavation down to the depth of 110 cm. The concrete piling in the west still continues. The wall running north-south stopped at five courses and the east-west running wall along the northern section went down to four courses. The pottery yield is of mixed ware including mainly red ware but also having few sherds of glazed ware with TC core, celadon ware, etc. A moulded human head in terracotta found from this trench appears to be of Kushan

Note:

Several points regarding signals for anomalies were discussed with Shri Manoj Kumar, Dy. G.M., TVIPL, when he visited the site at the starting of the excavation. He has further confirmed through e-mail that floor like anomalies could not be detected. However, it seems strange that though the GPR survey line passed through the eastern half of the K6, but it failed to locate the wall which runs at a depth of 45 cm from the surface and is no less than of five courses down to 85 cm. Similarly in the area where trench

K7 is located the area of 4x2 m towards eastern half has only earth filling noticed upto the depth of 80 cm, which is mentioned in the map of GPR survey report as zone of strong amplitude and rangy signals from flat reflection upto 2m depth. The enclosure wall being 104 cm thick is also not noticed by the present GPR survey. Thus the present GPR survey seems to be contradictory at certain points and creates confusions also."

227. From the aforesaid, it is evident that during the course of excavation, it does not appear that any objection was raised before the members of ASI team or the Team Leader himself that certain material like bones etc. are not being preserved but are being thrown away. For the first time, before this Court, a complaint was made vide application no. 9 (O) of 2003 dated 20.3.2003. Sri B.R. Mani, Team Leader, ASI, gave reply pointwise to the said application vide his letter dated 23.3.2003 with respect to the engagement of the labourers pointing out that the ASI has no role therein. The entire labour force at Ayodhya was engaged, at the request of ASI, by District administration, after verification of their characters and antecedents in view of security perception at the site in dispute. He also said that the parties having been permitted to remain present through their counsels/nominees and the labourers being subject to various checking at the time of entry and exist, there is hardly any scope for placing of anything in trenches in presence of ASI staff as well as the learned counsels/nominees.

228. After hearing the parties, some further directions were given by this Court on 26.3.2003, the relevant extract whereof is as under :

"The applicant has sought further directions in the

matter. We deal with each of the points raised and suggestions made by the applicant and parties as under :-

1. It is suggested that each find of whatever nature (potsherds, seeds, bones, other organic material, bricks or brickbats, mortar bonded rubble, loose debris fragments, stones, boulders and the like), be accurately noted and the positions i.e. of the layer be also noted and the signatures of the parties/counsel, nominees be taken on the record. Considering the matter following directions are given in this regard:-

(i) ASI team shall note down in its own register to be maintained (in respect of recovery of finds) the depth in meter/feet of the trench where it is found. It may also note down the layer of the strata according to its own interpretation.

(ii)The signatures of either the contesting parties or their counsel may be obtained.

(iii) The register should further specify the nature of the finds i.e. bones and glazed ware etc.

(iv) The finds shall be sealed in the presence of the parties/counsel and signatures of either the contesting party or his/their counsel shall also be obtained who are present on the spot.

(v) If the nature of the finds is not certain, a noting may be made accordingly and when it is unsealed, its nature may be verified after the Court permits to do so.

2. The photographs (color/Black and white) of all the finds/objects, trenches, features and sections may be taken. The photographs may be prepared from the negatives and signatures of either of the contesting parties or their counsel may be taken. The copies of such photographs etc. shall, however, not be supplied to them or any one else unless they are filed in the Court and made part of the record. If they are made part of the record, the Court may consider the prayer of the parties concerned to provide their copies.

3. ASI team shall prepare a register of day today work, which shall be opened for inspection to the parties and the contesting parties or their counsel shall be permitted to put their signatures on such register.

4. It is suggested by Sri Jilani, learned counsel for the Sunni Central Board of Waqfs, that not more than two trenches should be excavated at one time after the completion of work in the trenches already being excavated for the reason that the parties or their counsel may not be able to observe the excavation of the trenches at one time.

Sri B.R. Mani, Superintending Archaeologist and team leader has submitted a report dated 22.3.2003 stating that it has carved out various trenches of area 4 x 4 meters leaving 0.5 meter balk all around. If the trenches are adjoining to each other, it can be observed by the contesting parties or their counsel and their nominees. We have permitted for each of the contesting parties to observe with their counsel as alleged their nominees (one nominee at one time). The result is that for each of the

contesting parties, there are three observers. If the distance is too much and it is difficult to observe another trench by any of them, they can legitimately raise grievance in this respect. It may be noted that the ASI team should ensure confidence of the parties and their counsel in the matter of excavation. It is, however, to be kept in mind that we have directed for expeditious excavation and for that purpose if necessary and without loosing the confidence of the parties more than two trenches may also be laid by the ASI team.

5. The applicant has suggested that there should be adequate representation of the Muslim community in ASI team as also in engagement of the labours for excavation work.

Archaeology is a Science and every Archaeologist has to perform excavation and related work in a scientific manner on the principles laid down for excavation. When he acts as Archaeologist to prefix the word denoting his religion is not a correct description of such Scientist, e.g. a doctor may have any religious faith but he cannot be described by prefixing the word 'Muslim', 'Hindu', 'Christian' etc. It is his performance of work is relevant. It will amount to tarnishing of a Scientist, Archaeologist or any person engaged in excavation. Even the plaintiffs of O.O.S. No. 4 of 1989 (Sunni Central Board of Waqfs, U.P. And others Vs. Gopal Singh Visharad (now dead) and others had produced Suraj Bhan and B. Mandal who are non Muslims.

They have also nominated some non-Muslim Archaeologists as their observers at the time of excavation.

It is, however, to maintain faith of both the communities. In the facts and circumstances, it is desirable that adequate representation of both the communities may be maintained in respect of the functioning of the ASI team and engagement of the labours.

We have been informed that Authorised Person seeks assistance of P.W.D. to engage the labours. He may take the help of P.W.D. or any agency, which adequately represents the labourers of Muslim community. Sri Jilani, learned counsel for the applicant submitted that if an Authorised Person is unable to get Muslim labourers, he can help him. We direct the Authorised Person to see that the labourers belonging to Muslim community may be engaged by any agency and if any agency is unable to find out such labourers, he can seek assistance of the counsel for the applicant.

As regards the ASI team, Sri A.A. Hashmi, Assistant Archaeologist has been included in the list. In our view out of 8 Archaeologists engaged in the team, at least two more Archaeologists can be included for which ASI shall take necessary steps.

The ASI team is further directed to submit the list of the names of the persons in the excavation trenches of various religious in India.

6. On behalf of Archaeological Survey of India in

Civil Misc. Application No. 21 (O) of 2003 it has been requested that the daily working time be changed. It is suggested that excavation work may start from 9.00 A.M. in the morning to 6.00 P.M. in the evening with one hour of lunch from 1.00 P.M. to 2.00 P.M. The changing of the time is not opposed by any of the parties and the direction in regard to the time earlier is modified accordingly.

7. The grievance of the applicant is that when the plaintiff-applicant submits the application to the leader of ASI Excavation Team Ayodhya, he does not take into account and pass any appropriate order. It is made clear that the ASI team is not authorised to pass any order on any application. If any of the parties wants to seek any direction of the Court, he can move an application before the OSD Ram Janam Bhumi-Babari Masjid on which the Court will issue necessary instructions.

8. It is suggested to maintain transparency at least two observers be appointed for maintaining transparency of the excavation work. Learned counsel for the applicant suggested the names of Sri Hari Shanker Dubey, additional District Judge, Faizabad and Sri Masood Ali Siddiqui, Additional District Judge, Faizabad. As regards their names, none of the parties have any objection. As they are working as Additional District Judge in district Faizabad, Hon'ble the Chief Justice is requested to pass appropriate order considering the situation for relieving them for the period the excavation work is being done by ASI team which is expected to be completed within two months.

9. The applicant has sought further two directions which are not related to the transparency of excavation but they are in respect of the nature of excavation.

The first direction sought is that the depth below present surface, upto which digging has to be done, may be specified by the Court and the same may be done at the most to the extent of 5-6 feet (1.5 or 2 meters). It is contended that the order of excavation has been passed relating to demolition of the temple (though denied) said to have been made in 1528 AD and as such the present excavation is not at all concerned with any thing of any period earlier than 16 Century. The depth, upto which the excavation is to be done, is not to be decided on the basis of any period. If the anomalies are existing or any foundation of any wall etc. is there, the excavation can be made accordingly. It is a matter of argument ultimately when the case is to be decided taking into account the stratification of trenches etc. At present we do not confine ourselves directing the ASI team to excavate only to a particular depth.

The second direction sought is that no excavation be done on the area covered by cement floors. It may be noted that Tojo Vikas International Pvt. Ltd. has submitted its report. It has prepared a detailed map indicating various anomalies. Those anomalies are to be verified by actual digging. The digging has to be done on the basis of the principles of excavation. The ASI team shall excavate in phases keeping in view the said report and the principles governing excavation.

The application is disposed of with the above direction/observations."

229. ASI submitted an application no. 27 (O) of 2003 on 7.4.2003 requesting for extension of two months' time for excavation and 15 days' thereafter for preparing report. Objection to the said application was filed on behalf of plaintiffs (Suit-4) on 8.4.2003 besides application no. 28(O) of 2003 complaining non observance of Court's order dated 26.3.2003 in the following manner :

"3. That in spite of specific directions contained in the order dated 26.3.2003 the following directions have not yet been fully complied with:-

(A) Authorized person has not so far taken necessary steps to ensure that adequate representation of the Muslim Community is maintained among labourers engaged for the excavation work and the following figures, gathered by the applicant, indicate the aforesaid position:-

(i) 27.3.2003–Total labourers 44 – Muslims 7.

(ii) 28.3.2003–Total labourers 45 – Muslims 3.

(iii) 29.3.2003– Total labourers 53 – Muslims 5.

(iv) 30.3.2003– Total labourers 66 – Muslims 5.

(B) That in spite of clear-cut directions given in para 1

www.vadaprativada.com

(iii) on page 2 of the order dated 26.03.2003, Archaeological Survey of India Excavation Team is not mentioning the number of bones and glazed wares etc. in the Register of Day to Day work, being maintained by them, although the bones and glazed wares etc. are being found in sufficient numbers almost daily, during the excavation and hardly 20-25% finds of this type are being recorded while the others are being mixed up with general pottery. Moreover they are recording bones and glazed ware etc. without giving any number and size of the same on the said register and that too only in respect of some the trenches.

(C) That consequently the glazed wares and bones etc. are not being sealed also and there is every possibility of the said bones and glazed ware etc. being removed from the site, as one such incident has already taken place on 3.4.2003 when a labourer was found taking away a glazed ware from the pottery yard and on being picked up, the matter was reported also to a member of Archaeological Survey of India, Team.

(D) That the measurements and weights of antiquity are also not being recorded on the Antiquity register.

3. That in order to ensure the correct periodization of different layers it was necessary that the antiquity being found from different layers be measured and weighed properly and entry of the same be made on the register to be maintained for this purpose.

4. That at the pottery yard, the classification of potsherds Terracota, moulded tiles and other clay objects is not being done in a proper and scientific manner and the

periodization of the same should be done for Mughal period, Sultanate period and then Kushan period separately.

5. That members of the Archaeological Survey of India Team should be instructed through their leader, that no one of their team should give a wrong description about the identity of any particular find and if something is beyond identification in terms of function or otherwise, then the safe method of describing it by Morphology (face impression) of the artefact or antiquity, should be adopted; for example, a broken piece of stone, measuring about 8 inch in length and 4 inch in width, should not have been described as "broken pillar" but rather the same should have been described as "curved stone" or "dressed stone".

6. That samples of Lime plaster floors should be taken and sealed in the presence of the parties/counsels/nominees and the same be sent for chemical analysis in order to determine the material and age of the same as well as for dating of the floor. The sample should specify the depth also from where the sample was taken. The samples, if any, taken behind the back of the parties should be ignored and be not taken into account."

230. Both these applications were disposed of by our order dated 10.4.2003 as under :

"The submissions are summarized and dealt with as under:

(1) It is alleged that ASI, excavation team, is not mentioning numbers on bones and glazed wares etc. in the register of day to day work being maintained by them,

although the bones and glazed wares etc. are being found in sufficient numbers almost daily during excavation and hardly 20-25% finds of those type are being recorded while the others are being mixed up with the general pottery and secondly, they record bones and glazed wares etc. without giving any number and size in the register and that too only in respect of some trenches.

We had already given direction in para 1 (iii) of our order dated 26.3.2003 that ASI team shall specify the natures of the finds i.e. bones, glazed wares etc. If the glazed wares etc. are found they should be recorded in the register of day to day work.

As regards giving the number and size of bones and glazed wares etc., if those items are sealed in presence of the parties and duly numbered, it may not be necessary to give the size and number. It is, however, open to the ASI team to make specification of the finds by measurement or size if there is no difficulty.

As regards the grievance that the bones and glazed wares which are found are not recorded, it is open to the applicants to submit their objection before the observers appointed by this Court. The observers can make inquiry from the leaders of the ASI team or such person who is in-charge of the excavation at the relevant time and take his view in the matter and note down on the application/objection of the objector.

(2) Another objection is that glazed wares and bones etc. are not being sealed and such bones and glazed wares are being removed from the site. The applicants have referred to some incident alleged to have taken place on 3.4.2003

when a labourer was found taking away glazed ware from the pottery yard and on being picked up and the matter was reported also to a member of the ASI team. The applicants have not given the details about the incident nor have prayed for any investigation of the matter. It is, however, open to the applicants to submit application before the observers who shall, on application being filed, make inquiry from ASI team and in case ASI team complies with any objection raised by the applicants or it has any difficulty or express any view in the matter it shall be noted by the observers.

(3) Another grievance is that measurements and weights of antiquity is also not being recorded in the antiquity register. It is made clear if any antiquity is found and such antiquity is sealed, it may not be necessary to register its measurement and wight. If, however, it is not sealed and its specification is necessary, the necessary description by measurement/weight etc. be made by ASI team in respect of such antiquity.

(4) Another prayer is that ASI team be directed that the antiquity being found from different layers be measured and weighed properly and entry of the same be made in the register meant for this purpose. We have already, in our order dated 26.3.2003, directed in Para 1 (i) that ASI team shall note down in its register in respect of recovery of finds both in meter/feet of the trench where it is found. It may also note down the layer and strata according to its own interpretation.

(5) Another grievance of the applicants is that at the pottery yard, the classification of potsherds Terracotta,

moulded tiles and other clay objects is not being done in a proper and scientific manner and the periodization of the same should be done for Mughal period, Sultanate period and Kushan period separately. We have already directed that if any finds are recovered the ASI team shall note down both in meter/feet of the trench where it is found and may also note down the layer and strata according to its own interpretation. It is for the parties to submit their views as to what period the objects belong. The views of the ASI team at this stage as to the period is not required to be noted in the register.

(6) The applicants have further sought direction that ASI team should not give a wrong description about the identity of a find and if something is beyond identification in terms of function or otherwise, then the safe method of describing it by Morphology (face impression) of the artefact or antiquity should be adopted. It may be noted that the description given by ASI team may not be conclusive and if the applicants find that the description is not correct, it will be open to them to file objection to such entry at a proper stage in regard to description made by the ASI team in the register.

(7) The applicants have sought that a direction be given to the ASI team that samples of lime plaster floor should be taken in presence of parties/counsels/nominees and the same be sent for chemical analysis in order to determine the material and age of the same as well as for dating of the floor, it is further stated that the sample should specify the depth also from where the sample was taken.

The ASI team shall take samples of lime plaster

floors in presence of parties/counsels/nominees specifying the depth from where it was taken and it shall be sealed. As regards it being sent for chemical analysis, if in view of the ASI team the chemical examination is necessary it shall send to the appropriate person for such examination and it does not think proper, prayer of the applicants for chemical examination shall be considered later on.

(8) Another prayer is that the observers appointed by this Court be authorized to ensure compliance of observations and directions of this Court.

The applicants or any of the parties or their counsels are entitled to submit application/objection before the observers. The observers can make inquiry from the ASI team and if the ASI team agrees to comply with the objection raised by the party, then the observers will note it down on their application and if the ASI team submits their views for non-compliance or puts forward difficulty, it shall be noted by the observers on the objection of the parties/counsels. The observers will then forward the objections with their report to the O.S.D., Ram Janm Bhumi – Babri Masjid, which will be subject to the final decision of this Court. But, it is made clear that the process of the objections being raised and decision taken will be resorted to in the manner that the functioning of the ASI team is not in any way hampered with.

(9) The applicants have further complained that adequate representation of Muslim labourers has not been made in excavation work. In this respect we have issued direction on separate application filed by the applicants.

(10) The applicants have further prayed that they may be permitted to note down the strata/layer of trenches. The parties can do so provided the excavation of such trench is complete. The ASI team shall submit report by 28.4.2003 as to how many trenches have been completely excavated.

(11) The ASI has filed application for grant of two months' time and two weeks' further time for submitting report. The excavation work should be done expeditiously. Keeping in views the importance of the matter we grant five weeks' time for excavation work. It may engaged additional staff, superintending/ Assistant Archaeologists/ labourers for the purpose.

(12) The observers are directed to ensure that this Court's instructions/directions are carried out in letter and spirit."

231. Along with an application No. 33 (O) of 2003, ASI submitted the interim project report upto 23.4.2003. The relevant extract thereof is as under:

www.vadaprativada.com

"In the true spirit of carrying out the instruction/ directions of the Hon'ble High Court in letter and spirit and to do the work of excavation expeditiously, the excavation team which got enlarged to almost double of its original size with more archaeologists and technical staff made available to it selected further areas in the already laid out demarcations of trenches around the disputed structure. The basis of selecting further trenches for excavation was the Ground Penetrating Radar Survey carried out at the site by the Tojo Vikas International (Pvt.) Ltd.

Full attention was given to study the anomaly alignments which could correspond to a wall foundation of some sort and to strong amplitude and ringy signal from flat reflection or weaker amplitude zones and also to small and discrete anomalies which may correspond to discontinuous alignments and detected at various levels of depths from 0.5 to 5.5 meters.

With the help of technical staff of the Tojo-Vikas International (Pvt.) Ltd., the team got the excavation trenches superimposed on their GPR Survey's Geophysical Interpretation Map. In another map the contour drawing of the disputed area was prepared on which the trenches for excavation were superimposed in order to easily understand the various levels in relation to the contour of the mound of the disputed area.

Till 31.03.2003 ten trenches were put to excavation. But during the month of April till 24.04.2003 thirty three trenches have been excavated fully or partly upto various depth as per requirement in view of collecting relevant evidence. As the objective of the excavation is very clear, emphasis has been given to excavate only upto a certain depth although the deposits at the mound seems to be more than 8.0 m at some points. Most of the trenches, thus, have not been excavated beyond 2 meters depth. Even the depths mentioned in the GPR Survey was considered for probing the anomalies.

Most of the anomalies and anomaly alignments were noticed in the J and K series of trenches, 11 of which were excavated down to various depths. A sub zone of weaker amplitude was marked in the GPR Geophysical Interpretation Map which is located in the centre of the zone of strong amplitude and ringy signals from flat reflection upto 2 m depth. This part is known as 'Ram

Chabutra'. Though the sub-zone of weaker amplitude was not found exactly at the place where it is marked in the map but it was noticed a little towards its east. Interestingly, after excavating five levels of the structure, each comparing a flat surface of lime-surkhi mortar having calcrete blocks below it, a squarish block of the same material component but with well polished surface measuring 1.55 m in north-south x 1.48 m in east-west orientation protruding out of the fifth level was found and after cutting the fifth level a chamber was noticed over whose projecting western part the above mentioned block was found fixed, probably indicating some place of importance. Towards north of the 'Ram-Chabutra' the floor of the outer courtyard of the disputed structure within the outer enclosure was exposed having a platform attached to it in the western side which was approached through a step. Remains of brick structures, floors and working levels below it were encountered. It seems that the area, particularly in the north eastern side of the disputed structure was low lying and therefore, it was filled up with debris to nearly 4 metres deep to reclaim the part for eastern extension. Stratified deposits were found below this filing which belong to the early two or three centuries of the Christian era.

Diagonally continued anomaly alignments coming from north east and south-east respectively and converging in the centre of the trench J5 and moving towards the sanctum sanctorum of the make-shift structure has also been marked on the GPR map which is being probed. A6 x 2 m trench is proposed to be taken beyond the gangway towards west to check this anomaly and other discontinuous anomaly alignments. The local administration has been requested to make arrangements for vacating this place and to ensure the security of the area from any damage.

Towards south of the disputed structure 14 trenches have been exposed, mostly in parts, after shifting of the security sheds and such other installations. During this course the foundation walls and floors of the southern chamber of the disputed structure were brought to light. It was observed that the foundation wall was constructed of mainly calcrete stone block veneer on both the faces with brickbats filled inside. However, a few sandstone blocks have also been found re-used, of which one is a decorated piece. This foundation wall lies over a brick wall having sixteen courses of bricks with decorated stone blocks used in its foundation. Another alignment of stone block with brickbats filling in its core was observed lying below the brick wall.

The appearance so far of eleven squarish of circular structural bases having brickbats at the base with two rectangular blocks of calcrete stone over three or four courses of brickbats are significant as some of which are sealed directly by the original floor attached to the disputed structure. The same type of the structural bases, with a sandstone block at their top having encasing of sandstone slabs/pieces on its four sides, were found in the northern area also, where eight trenches have been opened up so far. An interesting feature of these structural bases is that each one of it is located at a distance of 3.30 to 3.50 m

(from centre to centre). Three discontinuous alignment of anomalies were marked in the GPR map which are being checked and as a result the structural bases have been located along with floor levels sealing them and also contemporary to them. Their further alignments are being checked towards north and also towards west.

The large size masonry blocks and stone blocks from the western slope of the disputed structure have been carefully removed to a safer place towards further west with the help of a crane so that they may not get damaged. This has been done in order to carrying out surface study of the slopes where if required a few trenches can be laid out.

The excavation work gets suspended in some trenches temporarily for want of further connecting evidence and as such till now the team has now neither reached to the level of the natural soil in any of the trenches, nor it has completely closed work in any trench."

232. This project report was also opposed by plaintiffs (Suit-4) vide objection date 1.5.2003. Another application No.35 (O) of 2003 was also filed by plaintiffs (Suit-4) praying for a direction to ASI to complete excavation work by 10.5.2003. It also appended the extent to which various trenches were digged by ASI till 28.3.2003 which is as under :

233. The above applications of ASI and plaintiffs (Suit-4) were disposed of by order dated 22.5.2003 observing as under :

"Sri Jilani, learned counsel for the plaintiffs

submitted that while the team leader has submitted progress report, he has expressed opinion in regard to the merit of the matter which, according to him, is unwarranted. We clarify that we had only asked for the progress report in the sense as to what extent excavation work has been done to assess as to when the work may be completed.

(1) We are not taking into consideration any opinion expressed in regard to the merit of the matter. This report will not be taken as a substantive evidence in the case. It is only the final report that will be taken as an evidence on record which will be subject to the objection and evidence which may be led by the parties.

(2) The second contention is that this Court may specify the depth, upto which the excavation work is to be done. We have earlier, while disposing of the objection, made it clear that this Court will not determine as to the depth of the excavation of the trenches. The ASI, in para 10 of the parawise comments, has stated that no trench is completely excavated until the natural soil is reached or correlation with other trenches is done. So far natural soil has not been reached in any of the trenches opened till date nor have they been completely correlated to one another. We cannot give specific directions in this respect. It is for the Archaeologists to determine in regard to the depth.

(3) Learned counsel for the plaintiffs further submitted that the excavation be done within a specified time.

This Court had itself directed that the excavation should be done expeditiously and in that respect the time was granted to complete the excavation within the time frame. It is, however, made clear that the work is to be completed as per our directions given in our order dated 5.3.2003. In para 12 of the application, the plaintiff No. 1 has stated that the excavation does not appear to have been completed even in 1/3rd of the trenches. There is no allegation that the ASI team is either negligent or not doing the work expeditiously. We are extending the time only with a view that the work may be completed.

(4) A prayer has been made for our visit on the site. The Court may consider such prayer at a later stage but not at this time. The ASI team is directed to complete the excavation expeditiously, if not completed by 10.5.2003, it may be completed by 15.6.2003 and the final report be submitted by 30.6.2003.

234. Sri Mani, on 3.5.2003, requested the Observer, Archaeological Excavation, Ayodhya to permit him to open sealed packets for preparation of final report, their study, drawing and detailed photography etc. since the packets containing 'finds' were sealed everyday in presence of the parties and their counsels but needs to be unsealed and opened for further study etc. The said request was opposed by various parties before the Observer contending that the said permission cannot be granted at the level of Observer unless the order is given by the Court. Consequently we considered this application

on 22.5.2003 and disposed the same with the following order :

"Considering the prayer by the A.S.I. Team Leader and the suggestions made by the plaintiffs noted above, we pass the following order:-

1. The sealed packets containing archaeological finds be opened in presence of either counsel of the parties or parties themselves or any nominee of the parties present there;
2. The sealed packets once opened shall be again sealed in presence of either counsel of the parties or parties themselves or any nominee of the parties;
3. The items taken out of the said sealed packets be not taken outside the room where the packets are lying and if any item is required to be sent for some sort of technical/chemical examination or test, the same be taken out after proper note of the antiquity register and the said note be got signed by either counsel of the parties or parties themselves or any nominee of the parties;
4. If the packets are opened, photographs of such finds, if not already taken at the time of sealing, shall be taken and such photographs shall bear the signatures of either counsel of the parties or parties themselves or any nominee of the parties;"

235. Another application was filed by defendant no. 3 (Suit-4), i.e., CMA No. 41(O) of 2003 seeking some clarifications whereupon this Court passed an order on 22.5.2003 observing that the District administration shall not raise any construction at the site in question without permission of the Court and shall also not interfere in the work of ASI. We further directed :

"The A.S.I. Team Leader submitted a map indicating that seven trenches have been completed but final drawing and photographs remains to be done. About forty trenches have been excavated but they are incomplete. According to the map of the survey site and also the area specified in the order passed by this Court on 5th March 2003, more than 150 trenches have been shown.

It is not necessary to comment much upon the work of the Team Leader of A.S.I. For the last more than two months. We think it proper that another Team Leader should be appointed by the Director General, Archaeological Survey of India. However, Dr. B.R. Mani shall also continue to work in the team.

It may further be noted that the trenches may be carved out and their numbers be given on the basis of area as given in the site plan of Tojo-Vikas International (Pvt.) Ltd. with its report. The trenches which are incomplete should be completed as early as possible. The Team Leader shall excavate first those trenches where anomalies have been shown in the map submitted by the Tojo-Vikas International (Pvt.) Ltd. and thereafter other trenches, if necessary.

In our last order on 2nd May 2003 we had directed that the excavation be completed by 15th June 2003 and the report be submitted in the first week of July 2003 but number of trenches completed are only seven. It is expected that incomplete trenches and other trenches which require excavation be completed at an early date. However, if for any good reasons the work is not completed, the A.S.I. Team Leader may seek extension by moving an application

before this Court in its next sitting. But till the next date of sitting the application is filed and disposed of, the excavation work will continue.

The final report shall be submitted after completion of digging of the trenches. The A.S.I. shall submit progress report every two weeks and such report shall indicate (1) the trenches in which the digging was done (2) the depth of digging in each such trenches, and (3) the items found in such trenches."

236. The plaintiffs (Suit-4) filed an application no. 43 (O) of 2003 seeking permission to inspect the trenches and check the stratification given by ASI, which was allowed vide order dated 22.5.2003 but they were not permitted to make any scrapping, section etc. of the trenches.

237. Vide application no. 48 (O) of 2003, interim project report of the excavation from 22.5.2003 to 5.6.2003 was submitted by Sri Hari Manjhi, Team Leader, as under :

"Upto 21.05.2003, in total 52 trenches were excavated fully or partly and a request was made to the observers and the authorized person for allowing the ASI to excavate 10 trenches partly on the raised platform. Accordingly as per the instruction of the Hon'ble High Court the following 30 trenches having cutting area of 4x4 mt. were partly excavated on the raised platform and in the area where anomalies or anomaly alignments were shown in the site plan received from Tojo-Vikas International Pvt. Ltd. in connection with GPR Survey, viz.B2, B3, B4, B5, B7, B8, B9, C3, C4, C6, C8, D6, E2, E6, F2, F3, F6, F8, G5, G7, G9, J1, K6, K8, L1, L3, L4, L7, ZCI and ZJ2.

In trenches D6, E2, F2, G5 and L1 anomalies could not be confirmed due to structural activities at the upper levels. However no structural activities were noticed at the spots

238. The aforesaid interim report was also objected by the plaintiffs (Suit-4), which was disposed of by Court's order dated 3.7.2003 stating that the ASI need not submit any further project report but may submit final report.

239. ASI's application no. 53 (O) of 2003 seeking further time, was also opposed by the Plaintiffs (Suit-4), but we permitted ASI to submit its final report on or before 27.8.2003 by order dated 3.7.2003.

240. After completion of the excavation work, but before preparation of the final report, this Court, after hearing the parties, gave certain further directions on 8.8.2003, as under :

"Having heard all of them and considering their views, we issue the following directions:

(1) The ASI Team shall be permitted to visit the site for excavation upto 22nd August, 2003.

(2) As there is unanimity amongst all the counsel for the parties, all the trenches should be kept in tact as exist on date so as to facilitate the ASI Team to study the excavation site and submit their report until further orders of this Court.

(3) Although there is 'Shamiyana' over all the trenches yet further precaution may be taken to protect them from any damage or alteration. If needed, the trenches may be covered by plastic sheets or any other materials as the authorized person in consultation with the ASI Team and the Chief Engineer of PWD may deem it proper.

(4) No one except the ASI Team, the two observers, Chief Engineer, PWD, learned counsel for the parties, shall be permitted to enter the site in question without prior permission of this Court.

In short, all steps should be taken to protect and preserve the make shift the temple as well as trenches.

(8) The ASI Team shall prepare 15 copies with drawings and maps in original showing colours. If more copies will be required by the parties, the same may be provided on payment of costs. For that purpose, learned counsel for the parties shall move an application for providing extra copies before the OSD of this Court within 48 hours from the date of submission of the final report by the ASI Team.

(10) Until the report is submitted before this Court, the ASI Team shall not divulge its contents to any one even on the terms of the anonymity."

242. The ASI report came up before the Court on 25.8.2003. Supplying copies of the report to the learned counsels for the parties, they were permitted to file objections thereto. At this stage, we are not giving details of ASI report etc. as this would be dealt with later on at the appropriate stage. Suffice is to mention that the ASI report was objected mainly by Sunni Central Board of Waqfs, Mohd. Hashim (defendant no. 5, Suit-5), Mahmood Ahmad (plaintiff no. 9, Suit-4) and the defendants no. 6/1 and 6/2 (Suit-3), who raised mainly the following objections :

"1. That the report is one sided and is greatly influenced by certain preconceived theory of nations;

2. that ASI has adopted a biased and selective approach, as is evident from the fact that importance and impact of presence of several animal bones having cut marks, recovered from different floor levels of the respective trenches, has purposely and designedly been kept out of consideration and had the same been scientifically studied and the result taken into consideration, it would have not been possible for ASI to opine that things found were indicative of remains which are distinctive features found associated with temples of north India;

3. that in spite of clear cut directions of this Court to file all the papers-documents relating to the excavation, the ASI not only delayed the filing of certain relevant documents, but also destroyed the notes prepared by it at the time of study/analysis of various finds/architectural objects, which raises a grave doubt about the veracity of report;

4. that while the names of the authors of chapter I to IX are mentioned; but it is not known as to who authored chapter X captioned "summary of results" and so the whole of Chapter X deserves to be scored out from the report and cannot be allowed to form part of the evidence;

5. that on complaint, this Court directed that Sri B.R. Mani should not head the excavation teach and in compliance of those orders Sri Hari Manjhi was deputed to head the team, but it is not known as to how Sri B.R. Mani continued his association with the task of excavation and how he co-authored the report;

6. that periodization done by ASI in Chapter III captioned "Stratigraphy and Chronology" (Pages 37 to 47 of Vol 1) has no scientific basis:

7. that in absence of concordance of different layers/floors of respective trenches with each other, the basis of the report itself becomes doubtful;

8. that the report is full of inconsistencies and discrepancies and the conclusions therein appear to have been tailored to support a particular theory;

www.vadaprativada.com

9. that theory of existence of massive structure on wall-16 and the 50 pillars, as shown in figure 23-B page 42-C of Volume I, is a concoction and unacceptable for the reasons inter alia that there were no pillar bases and the same had not alignment with each other nor were at the same level nor had capacity to support load bearing pillars;

10. that theory of massive structure is totally ill-founded because ASI report is silent on the point as to where were the remaining three walls of that structure, if wall 16 was one of the walls;

11. that so called "circular shrine" (which according to ASI, had a waterchute in the north and could be associated with Lord Shiva) could also be a structure relating to Budhism or Jainism, as considering the thin passage and

little diameter, it was not possible for even a single person to enter and offer "Abhishekha";

12. that ASI has, without any firm basis, characterized mutilated stone sculpture (plates 235 of Vol II of the report) as 'divine couple' and appears to have invented it at some later stage, as reference to it does not find in corresponding Site note-book or Day to Day Register;

13. that pillar door jam, octagonal shaft of pillars, amalka, divine couple stone with Srivastsa motif, lotus medallion, which ASI has taken into consideration for saying that there were remains of temple on the site in question, were of not significance as the same had been recovered from debris;

14. that alleged Srivatsa (see Plate No. 88) could equally be associated with Jainism and lotus with Buddhism and Islamic religion;

15. that terra-cotta figurines (62 human & 131 animal) discovered from different trenches, belong to ancient period and had no relevance;

16. that glazed- wares and glazed- tiles so recovered during the course of excavation spoke against the theory of existence of temple as all these were found below floor No. 4 relating to Medieval Sultanat period;

17. that in view of what has been written by S.K. Meermira in his book "Indian Pottery" glazed tiles were proof of Muslim habitation;

18. that wall-16 had niches (mehrab) on the inner side which are distinctive features of Islamic building and even if it is accepted that the same existed prior to construction of Babri Masjid, the same could have been a Idgah or

Kanati (roofless mosque);

19. that no idol, or statute of any Hindu deity and no object of Hindu worship was found on the site so as to entitle the ASI to say that there were remains of existence of temple of north India;

20. that how the conclusions of ASI came in the Indian Express in its issue of 13.8.2003, much before 22.8.2003, when the report was filed in Court and that indicates that ASI tailored the report on the lines given in S.P. Gupta's book titled "Auodhya Puratatve Evam Itihas".

243. Besides, the defendant no. 3 (Suit-3) filed his objection contending that some more area towards east of trenches number G-3, G-4 and G-5 should have been excavated so as to reach a correct conclusion.

244. This Court after hearing the parties, vide its order dated 3.2.2005 held that the objections are basically such which can be considered and decided in the light of other evidence, which may come up before the Court. The objections against the report have to be considered before ASI report is acted upon but that situation will arise only when the Court would decide the matter finally. Therefore, the Court held that the ASI report shall be subject to the objections and evidences of the parties in the suit and all this shall be dealt with when the matter is finally decided.

245. An application was filed by plaintiffs (Suit-5) requesting to examine Dr. Bhuvan Vikram Singh and, accordingly, he was summoned to depose his statement. He filed an application no. 25(o) of 2006 requesting that he may be summoned as a Court's witness and not that of any party since he was a party to the excavation team and the said excavation was conducted under the order of this Court, hence he was not willing to depose his statement as a witness of any party to the suit. This application was not opposed by the plaintiffs (Suit-5) and in fact, learned counsel made a statement that he does not propose to examine Dr. Bhuvan Vikram Singh as witness of plaintiffs (Suit-5). He, however, insisted that Dr. Bhuvan Vikram Singh should be treated as a Court's witness and be allowed to be examined accordingly. This question was considered by this Court vide order dated 4.12.2006 and it was observed that this Court has discretion to call any witness and examine him as Court's witness but that situation cannot be imposed upon the Court by a party to the suit by filing an application requesting to summon a witness and then to press to treat the witness as Court's witness. Whenever the Court shall feel it expedient or necessary it may exercise its power by summoning a witness as a Court's witness but such a discretion cannot be fastened upon the Court by a party to the suit. Since the plaintiffs (Suit-5) was also not inclined to examine Dr. Bhuvan Vikram Singh as its witness, the said witness was discharged without recording his deposition.

Statements of party/party's counsel (under Order 10 Rule 2 C.P.C.)

247. Statement of Chaudhari Kedarnath in Suit-1 (Recorded on 15.09.1951) :

"Q. In what capacity does the plaintiff seek to exercise the relief which he seeks in the plaint.

Ans. In my individual capacity.*

Q. What is your individual capacity.*

(This shows that the plff's counsel is not in a position to answer the Court question. The plaintiff must present himself personally in Court on the date fixed.)

Q. Has your client any religion.

Ans. The plaintiff is a Sanatandharmi Hindu."

248. Statement of P.D. Goswami (Recorded on 13.1.1960) :

"Sri Goswami States ABCDEF is the land and building in suit as indicated in the map of the Commissioner Sri Shiva Shanker Lal dated 25.5.50. It is the temple since 1934. Deities installed are Sri Sri Ram. The building existed prior to 1934. The plaintiff can't say for how long it have been existing. The plaintiff can't say who built it and what it was prior to 1934. Sri Gopal Singh Visharad came in on about 1934 to Ajudhya. He saw the मूर्ति there, and began to worship them. Sri Paramhans instructs that the मूर्ति were there from before 1934. Whenever he saw it was a temple. It has always been a temple. He can't say who got it constructed and dedicated it.

The plaintiff do not admit that at any time the building was used for prayer or as a Mosque by the Mohammaden community. Babar never built it. He was never emperor of India. I deny that it was ever used as a mosque.

The plaintiffs confine their case to the construction shown by letters ABCDLKJPOHNGA as shown in the map of the Commissioner dated 25.5.50. The Chabutra and Mandir shown in the map of the Commissioner as "Ram Chabutara" and "Bhandar" are the same as those described in the eastern boundary of the temple in question in the plaint.

The replication para 31 filed in suit no. 25 of 1950 by Paramhans does not refer to the litigation mentioned in para 14 of the map filed by Zahur Ahmad and others. The proceedings mentioned in the last part of para 31 of the replication relate to those cases and proceedings which were between Mohammedans- sunnies & shias and others i.e. relating to suit no. 29 of 1945 of the Court of Civil Judge Faizabad."

249. Statement of Gopal Singh Visharad and Param Hans Ram Chandra (Recorded on 07.03.1962 in Suits-1 and 2) :

"Plaintiff Gopal Singh Visharad and Sri Param Hans Ram

www.vadaprativada.com

Chandra plffs of both the suits no.2/50 and 25 of 1950 accompanied by their counsel state that they do not want any relief with regard to constructions or structures indicated in the map of the Commissioner Sheo Shanker Lal dated 25.5.50. by the terms 'Sita Rasoi' 'Bhandar' and 'Ram Chabootra' . They say that the reliefs are asked for only with regard to property enclosed in the said map by letters A. B. C. D. L. K. J. P. O. H. N. G. A.

They further add that the term 'Janam Bhumi' used in the plaint refers to Janam Bhumi of Sri Ram Chandra Ji and according to the plff's belief the property in suit is the site of the same.

They add that there is no footprints carved over on any stone or any stone image of any Charan Paduka (Charan Paduka) referred to in para 2 of the plaint.

According to them at the place in suit near the idol of Bhagwan Ram Chandra Ji, are kept wooden sandals or Charan Paduka and also a small pair of silver Charan Paduka. They are not fixed to any stone, structure or floor but are placed loose near the idol.

They add that the idol of Bhagwan Ram Chandra Ji at the place in suit is an Achal (Achal) idol.

They add that the plffs claim right of worship with regard to the said idol and also with regard to the 'Charan Paduka'.

The plffs also claim a right to worship all the deities and idols situated in the in the property in suit besides that of Bhagwan Ram Chandra Ji as for example, Laxman Ji, Hanuman Ji, Sita J, Saligram Ji, etc. They also claim a right to worship and have Darshan of these as well as they have a right to have Darshan of the site in question as according to their belief it is the birth place of Sri Ram Chandra Ji."

250. Statement of Sri Mohd. Ayub Advocate (Recorded on 07.03.1962 in Suits-1 and 2) :

"Sri Mohd. Ayub Advocate for the defdts states that the decision referred to in para 11 to 14 of the W.S. was in original suit no. 61/280 of 1885 in the Court of Sub-Judge, Faizabad, Raghubar Dass Mahanth versus Secretary of State for India and others. He adds that this decision bars the present suit by principle of Res-judicata and estoppel."

251. Statement of Sri P.D. Goswami, Advocate (Recorded on 08/09.03.1962 in Suits-1 and 2) :

"Sri P.D. Goswami advocate for the plffs state that the report of the commissioner spoken of in para 15 of the W.S. has no effect on the rights of the plff nor do the provisions of Sec 5(3) of U.P. Act 13 of 1936 apply to the present suits as they are based on a right of worship of plff who is a Hindu. According to him the provisions of this Act are applicable to the property and the rights of the Muslims only.

He does not give up the plea taken by him in the replication in that connection.

According to him the said Act has been repealed by U.P. Act 16 of 1960. He further adds that in case the said Act be considered applicable to the present suits it is ultra vires the provisions of the Govt of India Act 1935 and is in conflict with the Ancient Monuments Preservation Act (Act No. VII of 1904). "

252. Statement of Sri Mohd. Ayub, Advocate (Recorded on

09.03.1962 in Suits-1 and 2) :

"Sri Mohd. Ayub Advocate for the defdts states that under para 15 of the W.S. in suit no.2 of 1950, the defdts plead that the suit is barred by provisions of Sec. 5(3) of Muslim Waqf Act 1936(U.P. Act No. 13 of 1936).

He adds that by the plea set up in para 19 of the W.S., it is meant that the suit is bad for want of consent in writing of the Advocate General and other provisions of Sec. 91 C.P.C.

He adds that from para 9 of the W.S. the plea arises that Almighty God in whom the property in suit vests duly represented by some authorised persons should have been made a party to the suit and the suit is bad for non-joinder of parties. He adds that the Muslims in general or the mutwalli of the said waqf or Sunni Central Board as waqf should also have been made defdts in this suit.

He adds that the present suit being a suit for injunction is barred by time under Article 120 of the Indian Limitation Act."

253. Statement of Mohd. Ayub, Advocate (Recoded on 08.08.1962 in Suit-4)

"Sri Mohd. Ayub Advocate for the plffs states that the property in suit is the property dedicated to Almighty God and is a mosque for the use of the entire Muslim community at large. He adds that Shias & Sunnis have the interest in the same. ''

254. Statement of Sri Sarab Jeet Lal, Advocate (Recorded on 17.05.1963) (Counsel for plaintiff in Suit-3)

"Present Sri Sarab Jeet Lal for plff

Sri Sarab Jeet Lal Advocate states as follows:

www.vadaprativada.com

The plff claims that this property in suit is believed to be the birth place of Lord Ram Chandra and so there is a temple of Lord Ram Chandra on it. The plff claims that this temple is in the management and control of the plff. It is further clarified that this property is not dedicated to the idol although the temple is made on the land which is the birth place of Lord Ram. It is owned by the plff and the temple was made by the plff. It is added that the present suit is confined to property shown by letters E F G H I J K L although the entire area shown by letters E F G H P N M L E belongs to the plff."

255. Statement of Mohd. Ayub, Advocate (Recorded on 28.08.1963 in Suit-4) :

"Sri Mohd. Ayub states that the mosque lies in A B C D as shown in the plaint map (sketch map) and the land around A B C D is graveyard of the Muslims as shown in it. "

Sri Mohd. Ayub states that the plaintiff pleads in the alternative that even if the defdts have any rights in the property in suit the same have been extinguished by lapse of time.

He clarifies that the same amounts to adverse possession and the rights of the defts have extinguished by it and the plff has acquired title by adverse possession."

The taking of these pleas of title by adverse possession and extinction of title of defdts by oral statement is strongly opposed from the side of the defts.

Let the plff therefore take up proper pleas in proper way, by amendment of plaint or replication as the case may be. Plff to move for the same within 15 days.

Put up for orders on 28.9.63 in this respect whereafter issues will be framed."

(Sri Mohammad Ayub, Counsel for Plaintiffs stated that the disputed property included Babri mosque and a graveyard adjoining to its boundary and facing east, north and south. There is no graveyard towards west. Emperor Babur built Babri mosque afresh in 1528 AD. Prior to the Babri mosque, no temple or worship place or any other construction of Hindus existed at the site where the Babri mosque was built. On the outer side of railing of Babri mosque and inside the boundary of main gate towards south-east, there is a platform measuring 17x21 feet over which a wooden temple is built in wooden structure. No idols of Hindus ever existed nor exist inside the same. That place is also a part of mosque of Muslims; I do not know whether that place had ever been in use of Hindus or not; it is also not known to me whether this place had ever been in use of Hindus or not; it is also not known to me whether this place had ever been in use of Muslims or not. I have no knowledge about changes effected, if any, at that place since December, 1949 AD when the Muslims were restrained from going near Babri mosque in a criminal case under Section 145 Cr.P.C. On entering through the main gate of Babri mosque, the constructions lying on right side, were never in existence prior to December, 1949. The same must have been constructed by someone after December1949. Towards north of main building of Babri Mosque inside the boundary wall, upto December 1949 A.D. there was never any construction or building or Chabutara etc. Over that place, the Chabutara termed as Sita Rasoi by the defendants has been constructed either by defendants or someone else after December 1949. There are two pillars of Kasauti stone in the main gate of the compound wall of Babri Mosque, which were affixed at the time of construction of the Mosque and 12 Kasauti pillars are affixed in the main building of Babri Mosque as well. They have also been affixed since very beginning. These 14 pillars do not carry any idols or inscription, indication of Hinduism.)" (E.T.C.)

This transfer of the idol was done by Paramhans Ram Chandra Das and Baba Abhi Ram Das and certain other persons whose names I do not remember at the moment. The idol is Chal Vigraha (moveable idol)

COMMISSIONER/RECEIVER APPOINTED FOR THE DISPUTED SITE :

265. Initially Sri Priya Dutt Ram, Chairman, Municipal Board, Ayodhya was appointed Receiver by order dated 29.12.1949 passed by the Addl. City Magistrate under Section 145 Cr.P.C. The said Receiver took charge on 5.1.1950. Sri Priya Dutt Ram continued as Receiver till 8.8.1970, i.e., upto the date of his death. Swami Govindacharya, defendant no. 19 (Suit-4) filed application dated 20.8.1970, requesting for appointment of a Civil Court Receiver. However, the City Magistrate appointed Sri K.K. Ram Verma as Receiver on 20.10.1970. Some more applications were filed requesting for appointment of Civil Court Receiver. By order dated 17.11.1970, Civil Judge, Faizabad appointed one Sri Ram Mishra as Receiver. The said order dated 17.11.1970 was assailed before this Court in FAFO No. 389 of 1970 filed by Pundreek Mishra, defendant no. 14 (Suit-4). The Court allowed the appeal vide judgement dated 20.3.1974. It held that the Civil Court is competent to appoint Receiver in place of the Criminal Court Receiver. It also noted that the Sunni Central Board of Waqf, plaintiff (Suit-4) had no objection to the appointment of Court Receiver. However, it

found that the question who should be appointed as Receiver needs to be considered again. The matter was ultimately remanded with the following order :

> "The case is remanded and the Court below is directed to re-consider the question of appointment of Receiver and appoint a suitable person on such terms and conditions as it deems fit."

266. This led to filing of a series of applications for appointment of Receiver. Some applicants requested to allow Sri K.K. Ram Verma to continue as Receiver, but some opposed it. In some applications, names of some other persons were recommended. Ultimately vide order dated 18.3.1975, the Civil Judge, Faizabad appointed one Sri Madan Mohan Dubey as Receiver whereagainst FAFO No. 181 of 1975 was filed in this Court at Allahabad which was admitted and an interim order was passed on 9.5.1975 staying the order dated 18.3.1975. This Court further directed Sri K.K. Ram Verma, Receiver appointed by the Criminal Court to continue to function as such. Sunni Central Board of Waqf as well as Mohd. Hashim filed stay vacation applications. Another stay vacation application was filed by one Abhiram Das. A Single Judge of this Court by order dated 25.10.1977 directed the District Judge, Faizabad to make an enquiry and submit report since allegations were made against Sri K.K. Ram Verma. In the meantime, while the said report was awaited, the appeal was transferred from Allahabad to Lucknow and re-registered as FAFO No. 17 of 1977. The District Judge, Faizabad submitted his report on 19.7.1978 and the appeal was decided vide judgment dated 23.7.1987 remanding the matter to Civil Court, requesting it to consider again the names of suitable persons for appointment as Receiver

and till then Sri K.K. Ram Verma was allowed to continue. Sri Verma functioned as Receiver till 24.08.1988. On 25.08.1988 one Sri L.P.N. Singh was appointed as Receiver, who was replaced by Sri Jamuna Prasad Singh appointed on 22.11.1988 and died on 20.02.1992 whereafter Sri U.C. Tiwari was appointed as interim Receiver and was replaced by Sri R.K. Sarkar on 28.08.1992. Sri Sarkar continued till he was replaced by authorised person under the provisions of Ayodhya Act i.e. on 03.04.1993 and the Commissioner, Faizabad Division, functioning as Authorised Person, is managing the site in dispute as its Receiver since then.

273. It is worthy to mention that after submission of ASI report neither the pleadings were got amended nor any new issue sought to be framed. The parties also did not find any reason or justification for requesting this Court for addition or alteration in the existing issues though arguments have been advanced and evidence also led. We may specifically place it on record that no issue has been framed whether Lord Ram existed or born in Ayodhya or that the present location of Ayodhya is the same as it was in the olden days and in particular at the time when Hindu believe that Lord Ram was born thereat. Further there is also no issue whether there existed any Islamic religious structure, building etc. at the disputed site before the construction of the disputed building or whether there existed a 'Kanati Masjid' or 'Eidgah' or 'other Muslim religious building' at the site in dispute before erection of the disputed structure. There is also no issue whether the temple if any, demolished for raising construction of the disputed building was constructed by Maharaja Vikramaditya or by Kings of Gahadwal Dynasty and regarding the shape, size etc. thereof. It is well settled and need no authority that the matter in respect whereof issues are not framed, should neither be allowed to be raised nor be examined by the Civil Court and it should confine adjudication in respect of the matter covered by the issues framed before it. (See Mohd. Saleh vs. Ram Ratan AIR 1924 Nagpur 156 and Suraj Bhan vs. Harchandgir 1954 PEPSU 65 (DB). We, therefore confine ourselves, in the present cases, only to the issues raised before us and not otherwise.

At that time, Friday's Namaz used to be performed in two mosques but Taravi Namaz (Special prayer/namaz performed after Isha Namaz during the pious month of Ramzan) used to be performed only in Babri mosque in the month of Ramzan. The prayer (Namaz) used to be offered five times in a day in Babri mosque. Then said that sometimes Namaz was offered five times besides Friday's and Taravi Namaz. The water (wazoo) used to be arranged in big pitchers. Imam of the mosque was Maulvi Abdul Gaffar who had died. Moazzim (a person calling Azan loudly) was Ismail. He last offered Namaz on 22.12.1949. From the night of 22/23rd December 1949, the Government imposed prohibition. Idols were placed inside by Abhay Ram Das, Dharam Das and many others. There was a large gathering. In the morning when he went for Namaz, Cops were present there. Ramdeo Dubey and Mata Prasad, Constables, were there who told that Dharam Das, Abhay Ram Das and many others have placed idols inside and he should keep patience. Consequently, he could not offer Namaz as the same was not allowed. Later on, Daroga told that he had lodged FIR and the mosque had been attached. In 1954 he and many others attempted to offer Namaz thereat for which the Government was also put on notice but could not offer. He and many others, i.e. 100 boys were imposed fine of Rs. 500/- each and six months imprisonment for committing breach of Section 144 Cr.P.C. In appeal the punishment was reduced to two months imprisonment and fine of Rs. 50/-which they underwent. When he went to offer Namaz, many persons, namely, Mohd. Kashim, Mohd. 298. PW 1 further deposed that Ganj-E-Shahidan is in the east of the mosque. On the northern side there is a road and beyond that is a temple Janam Asthan. A signboard is also affixed at Janam Asthan. On the southern side of the mosque is a graveyard. Leaving the western side of the mosque, on all sides there is a graveyard in 9½ Bighas. There were several graves in 1949 which were adjacent and large in number. There was a gate each on northern and eastern side of the mosque. The northern gate opened on the road while the eastern side did not join with any passage but was connected with a brick road. Entry was mostly from the eastern gate of the mosque. In the way there was no restriction/obstruction from entering the mosque through the gate. Earlier when they used to enter from the eastern gate there used to be a Chabutara whereupon sometimes the priest used to sit. This Chabutara was about ten steps away from the passage and covered by thatch. Near the northern gate of the mosque there was a Chulha used to be called "Sita Rasoi". No obstruction caused while entering from that side due to Rasoi. There was a wall in front of Sita Rasoi. When the crowd swell, the northern gate used to be opened for passage. The northern and eastern gates were surrounded by a boundary wall. There was another wall of the mosque where there was main door which was locked. This lock was put on the date when the mosque was attached. No idols were placed inside the mosque upto 22.12.1949. No worship (Pooja) was performed inside the mosque ever. Therein Namaz used to be offered. It was a mosque and never a temple. Had Babur constructed the mosque after demolishing the temple, no Muslim would have offered Namaz therein. The suit plaint was Papers no. 33 Ga (Ex. 57), 35Ga (Ex. 58), 37Ga (Ex. 59), 39Ka (Ex. 60) and 41 Ka-1 (Ex. 61) in Suit-4 are the acknowledgments received after service of notice. The building of the mosque was demolished on 6.12.1992 and a boundary wall has been constructed. The building was demolished by Kar Sewaks, many of whom belong to Bajarang Dal, Shiv Sena and RSS. The demolition took place in presence of the officers and Force. After demolition of the building, idols kept therein as well as bricks were taken away by the people. New idols kept inside the boundary wall constructed on 7.12.1992. On the outer side of the mosque, there is a Chabutara in respect whereto Mahant Raghubar Das filed a suit in 1885 but he lost that case throughout from Faizabad to Lucknow.

The Vazu took place in south of the mosque. Apart from mat and broom, there was provision of urinal at that place. Ajaan also was given from the mosque. There was a slightly higher platform on south of the mosque. The Muajjim used to give the Ajaan call from that platform. There was a staircase to go up in the mosque, at a short distance from the urinal. This Ajaan platform was different from the staircase. Lines from pages were present inside the mosque, at the place where Namaz was offered. Black stones had also been installed in the mosque but they did not contain any picture of Gods and Goddesses. They had pictures of flowers and leaves in form of pots.'' (English Translation by Court, now referred as 'E.T.C.')

"इमारत मुतदाविया बाबरी मस्जिद के नाम से जानी जाती थी। और मैं इसमें गया हुआ हूँ। वहाँ मैंने नमाज भी पढ़ी थी। मैं जब 12–13 साल की उम्र का था तो पहली मर्तबा अपने भाई साहब के साथ शब्बेरात की रात को इस मस्जिद में गया था। उसके बाद हर साल शब्बेरात की रात को मैं इस मस्जिद में जाया करता था। मैं वहाँ दिन में भी गया हुआ हूँ। मैंने वहाँ पर दिन में सिर्फ एक नमाज पढ़ी है बाकी शब्बेरात के मौके पर नफलें पढ़ी हैं। मैंने दिन की नमाज इस मस्जिद में सिर्फ उस वक्त पढ़ी थी जब वहाँ बुत रखा गया तो उससे पहले जुम्मे के रोज जो नमाज जमाती तौर पर हुई थी। बुत रखने के बाद मैं इस जगह पर एक तो सर्वे के वक्त गया था और एक बार 1991 में रात के वक्त जब तोड़ फोड़ हुई तो मुझे कमिश्नर साहब ने भेजा था। यह तोड़फोड़ दिन में हुई थी। कमिश्नर साहब ने मुझे रात को भेजा था। जब शब्बेरात की रात को वहाँ नमाज पढ़ने जाते थे तो फातिया भी पढ़ते थे। फातिया पढ़ने का ही असली मकसद उस नमाज पर होता है। फातिया बाबरी मस्जिद के गंजे शहीदा पर और अगल बगल की कब्रिस्तान पर, ख्वाजा हट्टी के मजार पर, शाह इब्राहिम साहब के मजार पर, नौगजी कब्र पर, शीश पैगम्बर की कब्र पर जहाँ उनकी दरगाह है पर फातिया पढ़ता था। इन जगहों पर मैं पिछले पांच सात साल में अपनी निजी मजबूरियों की वजह से नहीं जा सकता वरना 1949 के बाद सिवाय बाबरी

1949 में जब मूर्तिया मस्जिद में रखी गयी तो उससे पहले हमने इस जगह पर कभी कोई मूर्ति नहीं देखी।

''The disputed building was known as Babri mosque and I have been there. I have even offered Namaz there. When I was about 12-13 years old, I had gone to this mosque for the first time along with my brother in the night of Shabbe-Raat. I have been there during day time as well. I have offered Namaz only once at that place during day time and on remaining occasions I had read 'Nafle' on Shabbe-Raat. I had offered Namaz during day time in this mosque only at time of the collective Namaz of Jumma prior to installation of idol at that place. After installation of the idols, I had once been to that place at time of survey and once in 1991, the Commissioner had sent me in the night when the demolition took place. This demolition had taken place during day time and the Commissioner had sent me in the night. Whenever I went in the night of Shabbe-Raat to offer Namaz, I used to read 'Fatiya' (prayers for the dead). Reading of Fatiya is the main purpose of that Namaz. I used to read the Fatiya at the 'Ganje Shahinda' of Babri mosque, adjoining graveyard, tomb of Khwaja Hatti, tomb of Shah Ibrahim, grave of Naugji, grave of Shish Prophet. I have not been able to visit these places for last 5-7 years due to my personal problems otherwise after 1949 I had been visiting these places except for Babri mosque, to read Fatiya.

Prior to the placement of idols in the mosque in Till 1949 I had not seen any Hindu perform worship in the mosque or within its premises. There was no obstruction for offering Namaz in this mosque upto 22nd December, 1949." (E.T.C.)

''झगड़े वाली जायदाद जिसकी बाबत मैं गवाही देने आया हूँ, बाबरी मस्जिद कही जाती थी। मेरा मकान इससे तकरीबन एक फर्लांग के फासले पर वाका है। मैंने इस मस्जिद में नमाज पढ़ी है। मैंने इसमें जुम्मे की नमाज भी पढ़ी है और पंचवक्ता की नमाज भी पढ़ी है। मेरे अपने मकान के दालान (आहाता) में एक मस्जिद है। उस मस्जिद में 1949 से पहले जुम्मे की नमाज नहीं होती थी। 1949 से पहले जुम्मे की नमाज मैं बाबरी मस्जिद में पढ़ता था। कभी–कभी मुस्तकिल तौर से मैंने पांच वक्त की नमाज भी बाबरी मस्जिद में पढ़ी है। हमारे अपने अहाते की मस्जिद में जुम्मे की जमाती नमाज नहीं होती थी, लेकिन दूसरी नमाज वहॉ भी पढ़ लेता था। हमारे यहां अपनी इस मस्जिद में जमाती नमाज पंचवक्ती नहीं होती थी। उस जमाने में मौलवी अब्दुल ग़फ़्फार साहब बाबरी मस्जिद में इमामत करते थे। मियां ईस्माइल उस वक्त वहॉ पर मोअज्जिम थे। वह हमारे ही कैम्पस में रहते थे। और लोग भी नमाज पढ़ने के लिए बाबरी मस्जिद में जाते थे। उन लोगों में से जो अब तक जिन्दा हैं मोहम्मद अमीर, मल्हू, नूर मोहम्मद और कुछ फैजाबाद के लोग भी, जिनसे कभी कभी मुलाकात हो जाती थी, अभी तक हैं। शाहजहॉपुर के लोग भी इस मस्जिद में आते थे। यह जुम्मे की नमाज की लिए आते थे।

और और सफें बनी हुई थीं। मस्जिद में पेशाबखाना भी बना हुआ था। दक्खिन की तरफ एक जीना बना हुआ था, कभी जीने पर से और कभी उसकी नजदीक की जमीन से अजान दी जाती थी।''

''The disputed property, about which I have come to give evidence, is called the Babri mosque. My house is situated a furlong from it. I have offered Namaz in this mosque. The collective Namaz was not offered five times in this mosque of mine. In those days, Maulvi Abdul Gaffar was the Imam of Babri mosque. Miyan Ismile was the Muajjim at that time. He used to reside in my campus and they also used to go the Babri mosque for offering Namaz. Few of them still alive are Mohd. Amir, Mallhu, Noor Mohammad and few persons of Faizabad, and they come across occasionally. The people of Shahjahanpur also visited this mosque for Jumma's Namaz.*

I did not offer Namaz at that place after 22-23 December, 1949, because idols had been installed there and the mosque had been closed for Namaz.

The persons named above, who are residents of Ayodhya, used to offer Jumma's Namaz in this mosque and occasionally even the five times Namaz. The place where the Imam used to stand, was a special place like Meharaab in the wall. There was a member, for whom the Imam used to give 'Khutba' (recitation). Arrangement was also made in the mosque for Vazu, pots full of water were kept. Apart from them, there were 'Badhne' for taking out water from the pots. There was border of black stone on brown stones in the inner portion of the mosque, for common Namazists and 'Sarf' had been marked. Urinal had also been provided in the mosque. 325. By profession he is a motor mechanic and claims to have offered Namaz in the disputed building for about 8-9 years before its attachment in 1949. He has denied existence of any idol when he offered Namaz and also denied worship by Hindus in the said building. His statement runs as under:

"जिस जायदाद से संबंधित यह मुकदमा चल रहा है उसको मैं जानता हूं इसका नाम बाबरी मस्जिद है। बाबरी मस्जिद मेरे घर से 3 फर्लांग पर है। मैंने उस मस्जिद में पचासों बार नमाज पढ़ी है। मैंने वहां फजिर, जोहर, असिर, मग़रिब, ईशा और तरावी की नमाज पढ़ी थी। फिर

Namaz at the said mosque number of times. I have offered Fazir, Jauhar, Asir, Magrib, Isha and Tarawih Namaz over there. Then stated that I had also offered the Jumma Namaz. I last offered Namaz over there on 22 December, 1949. When I returned home on 22 December, 1949, after offering Isha Namaz, there was much noise over there and it appeared as if a riot would break out. *When I got up in the morning, my brother told me that idols had been installed in the mosque and police had been deputed and now Namaz may possibly not be offered over there. Four years after that episode, the Muslims gave a notice to the Government that they would offer Alvida Namaz over there i.e. at Babri mosque. When we were going to offer Alvida Namaz, the police stopped and apprehended us and produced us before the Magistrate. The Magistrate pronounced a sentence of six months and fine of Rupees five hundred in that proceeding. When I failed to deposit the fine, my house and shop were both attached. After awarding of sentence by the Magistrate, I remained confined at Basti prison for about 1 month 23 days. Thereafter, we made no attempts to offer Namaz over there because the mosque had also been attached. The mosque had been attached in the year 1949, after this incident. I had offered Namaz in that mosque for about 8-9 years. Whenever I went to offer Namaz, other persons of Ayodhya also accompanied me and offered Namaz, who included Habibullah, Farooq, Hashmat Ullah, Haji Mahbub, Hafiz Akhalaq Ahmad, Chunnu, Barkat Ullah and others, whose names I do not remember as of now. mosque, especially during the Jumma Namaz because it was Jama mosque as well. Besides Babri mosque, the Jumma Namaz was also offered at Kevra mosque in Ayodhya. As long as I offered Namaz over there, no idol had been installed over there. By that time the Hindus did not come to offer prayer at the mosque. The building of Babri mosque no longer exists. I know Mr. Yunus Siddiqui of Faizabad. On number of occasions I had seen him, as well, offering Namaz at the Babri mosque." (E.T.C.)

I was member of central committee of All India Shia Conference for many days." (E.T.C.)

330. About the disputed site, its being a mosque and offering of Namaz therein, PW-25 stated as under :

"मैंने विवादित ढांचे, जिसके संबंध में यह मुकदमे चल रहे हैं को दूर से देखा है। उसे बाबरी मस्जिद कहा जाता है। . . . मैं 1948 व उसके बाद अयोध्या में आता जाता रहा हूँ और 1948 से ही मैंने नमाज़ियों को नमाज़ पढ़ने के लिए बाबरी मस्जिद जाते देखा है। नमाज़ पढ़ते नहीं देखा। फिर बाद में उसमें नमाज़ पढ़ना बंद हो गया क्योंकि उसमें मूर्ति रख दी गयी और वह जगह विवादित होने के नाते कुर्क कर ली गयी। . . . . उस वक्त मूर्ति रखने के खिलाफ मुसलमानों के तरफ से कम प्रतिरोध (प्रोटेस्ट) हुआ परन्तु स्वामी अक्षय ब्रहमचारी जी आगे आये और उन्होंने प्रतिरोध किया और उन्होंने मरण ब्रत भी रखा और उन्होंने आमरण अनशन किया। . . . जब से मैंने होश संभाला तब से उसमें सुन्नी इमाम ही होते थे।

इस्लाम में मस्जिद का स्वामित्व अल्लाह में निहित होता है। मस्जिद में किसी मसलक का अर्थात शिया और सुन्नी मुसलमान नमाज पढ़ सकता है। बाबरी मस्जिद को जिसे मैंने बखूबी देखा है वह मुकममल मस्जिद थी।"

"I have seen the disputed structure, about which the present cases are pending, from distance. It was called Babri mosque..... I have been visiting Ayodhya in 1948 and afterwards and since 1948 I have seen Namajists going to Babri mosque to offer Namaz. I had not seen them offer Namaz. Subsequently offering of Namaz therein was stopped because idol had been installed and the place had been attached on account of being disputed. ..... At that time there was little protest from the Muslims against installation of the idol but Swami Akshay Brahmchari came forward and opposed and even went on fast unto death. ..... Since my memory, there were only Sunni Imams in it.

In Islam, the ownership of mosque vests in Allah. The Muslim of any sect i.e. Shia or Sunni, can offer namaz in mosque. I have very well seen Babri mosque. It was a complete mosque." (E.T.C.)

"शिया फिरके में मौलाना कल्बे सादिक, मौलाना कल्बे जव्वाद और मौलाना हमीदुल हसन सफे अव्व्ल लीडर हैं। शिया फिरके की बहुत बड़ी अक्सरियत बाबरी मस्जिद को मस्जिद मानती है।"

As per the religious treatises and faith of lakhs of years, the Janmbhumi and the birthplace are situated in Ramkot locality of Ayodhya. Although the entire Ayodhya is worth reverence as the birthplace of Maryada Purshottam Sri Rama, but the greatness of the place, which has been considered as the birthplace of Sri Rama in the Shastras, has been described in the religious, literary and historical books. Besides these, the Janmbhumi temple situated at Ramkot as per the faith and belief of general public,which has been made subject matter of dispute, has been considered as the janmbhumi (birthplace) of Maryada Purshottam Sri Ramchandra and after identifying the same, a grand temple was built there in early ages. *Since then, the prayer-worship of the deity of Lord Sri Rama present over there as well as the circumambulation of the Janmsthan has been performed." ''10. यह कि उपरोक्त धारा 8 और 9 में वर्णित दोनों ''जनमसाखियों'' के सम्मिलित पाठ से स्पष्ट हो जाता है कि अयोध्या दर्शन से श्री गुरू नानकदेव का अभिप्राय श्री राम के सभी लीला स्थलों के दर्शन करना था। अयोध्या में श्रीराम लीलास्थलों में सर्वाधिक महत्वपूर्ण लीलास्थल था: श्रीराम जन्मभूमि मन्दिर। इसी महत्वपूर्ण लीला स्थल पर अवतार धारण करके श्रीराम ने अपनी बाल–लीलाएं की थी जिसे देख के ही चलने की बात श्री गुरू नानकदेव ने दृढ़तापूर्वक कही है। ऐसे दृढ़ निश्चयी गुरूजी के कनिष्ठ पुत्र श्री लक्ष्मीचन्द के आठवें वंशज बाबा सुखबासी राम बेदी अपनी रचना ''गुरू नानक बंस प्रकाश'' (रचनाकाल : 1886 विक्रमी=1829 ई0, डा0 गुरमुख सिंह द्वारा सम्पादित, पंजाबी यूनीवर्सिटी, पटियाला, 1986 ईसवी,

उपरोक्त छन्द में ''दरसन राम निहार'' शब्द यह भली भॉति स्पष्ट कर देते हैं कि अयोध्या में श्रीराम जन्मभूमि मन्दिर नामक लीलास्थल में सुप्रतिष्ठित ''राममूर्ति'' के श्री गुरू नानकदेव ने निहार कर अर्थात् ध्यानपूर्वक दर्शन किए थे। इससे यह सिद्ध होता है कि महत्वपूर्ण लीलास्थल ''श्रीराम जन्मभूमि मन्दिर'' के रूप में श्री गुरू नानक के प्रारम्भिक तीर्थयात्रा काल में विद्यमान था। उक्त पुस्तक के संगत पृष्ठ की छायाप्रति इस शपथ पत्र का संलग्नक 7 है।''

''10. That from the combined reading of both ''Janam Sakhis'' mentioned in the afore-said paras 8 and 9, it transpires that by Ayodhya darshan Sri Guru Nanak Dev meant 'having darshan of all Leela Sthals of Sri Rama' (places where Rama performed His roles in a human form). The most important Leela Sthal of Sri Rama in Ayodhya was : Sri Ram Janam Bhumi temple. Sri Rama incarnated himself at this very important Leela Sthal and acted as a child. Sri Guru Nanak Dev has asserted to have darshan of it. Baba Sukhvasi Ram Bedi, 8th lineal descendent of Sri Laxmi Chandra, younger son of so resolute Guru Ji, in his work 'Guru Nanak Vans Prakash' (Time of composition : 1886 Vikrami = 1829 AD, edited by Dr. Gurumukh Singh, Punajbi Unversity Patiala, 1986 AD, page 151) says :

Sarju jal manjan kiya darsan Ram nihar. Aatam roop anant Prabhu chale magan hitu dhaar."

The expression ''Darshan Ram Nihar'' in the afore-said verse duly shows that Sri Guru Nanak Dev had a close darshan of 'Ram Murti' (idol of Rama) installed on the Leela Sthal named Sri Ram Janam Bhumi temple in Ayodhya. It goes to prove that the important Leela Sthal existed in the shape 'Sri Ram Janam Bhumi temple at the time of the first pilgrimage of Sri Guru Nanak Dev. यहॉ अयोध्या में दक्षिण दिशा की ओर पंचतीर्थो के ऊपर एक मठ में श्रीगुरू नानक द्वारा तपस्या करने की बात ज्ञात होती है। स्कन्दमहापुराण, वैष्णवखण्ड, अयोध्यामाहात्म्य के पहले दो अध्यायों में वर्णित पंचतीर्थो के नाम हैः चक्र, ब्रह्मकुण्ड, ऋणमोचन, पापमोचन और सहस्रसार। सहस्रसारतीर्थ से दक्षिण दिशा में चक्रतीर्थ की ओर जाते हुए चौथे स्थान पर ब्रह्मकुण्डतीर्थ पड़ता है। इसी ब्रह्मकुण्डतीर्थ के पास वह मठ था जहॉ बैठकर जुहदी=तपस्वी नानक जी ने तपस्या की थी। श्री गुरू नानकदेव की इस पावन तपस्थली के ठीक सामने सड़क के दक्षिण में ''गुरूद्वारा ब्रह्मकुण्ड साहिब'' बना हुआ है जो श्रीराम जन्मभूमि से लगभग 150–200 गज की दूरी पर स्थित है।

सोढ़ी मनोहरदास मेहरबान कृत ''सचखण्ड पोथीः जनम साखी श्री गुरू नानकदेव जी'' (पृष्ठ 187, 191–197, 198–99) के अनुसार अयोध्या में इस पावन तपस्थली पर रहते हुए श्री गुरू नानक देव जी ने पॉच शबदों (पदों) की संगीतबद्ध रचना की, भक्तजनों में उनका गायन किया और भावार्थ समझाया। इससे प्रभावित होकर अनेक श्रद्धालु लोग श्री गुरू जी के सिक्ख हुए और नानकपन्थी बने। उक्त पुस्तक के संगत पृष्ठ की छायाप्रति इस शपथ पत्र का संलग्नक 8 व 9 है।''

It comes to knowledge that Sri Guru Nanak Dev performed 'tapasya' (practice of austerities) in a monastery above Panchteertahs in the north here in Ayodhya. Names of Panchteerthas mentioned in the first two chapters of Skandha-Mahapurana, Vaishnavakhand, Ayodhya-Mahatmya are : Chakra, Brahmakund , Rinmochan, Paapmochan, Sahasrasar. While going towards Chakrateertha to the south of Sahasrasar-Teertha, we find Brahmakund Teertha at the fourth place. Near this very Brahmakund was a monastery where ascetic Nanak Ji seated himself and practised austerities. In the south of the road exactly opposite to Sri Guru Nanak Dev's pious site of austerity stood"Gurudwara Brahmakund Sahib", which is nearly 150-200 yards away from Sri Ram Janam Bhumi.

As per Sodhi Manohar Das Meharban's work "Sachkhand Pothi : Janam Sakhi Sri Guru Nanak Dev Ji" (pages 187, 191-197, 198-199), Sri Guru Nanak Dev Ji while staying on this pious site of austerity in Ayodhya composed a musical composition of five verses, and sang it in the midst of devotees and made them understand its meaning. Impressed by it many devotees became Sikhs as disciples of Sri Guru Ji and adopted the Nanak-Panth. men, held women hostages and plundered the houses of the people. These very treatises also reveal that Guru Nanak Dev Ji himself was an eyewitness to this calamitous incident. Expressing his deep anguish over this unfortunate incident, he composed four verses describing Babur as a manifest demon and his army as a Barat (party) of sinners. These four stanzas of Sri Guru Granth Sahib are available on pages 722-723, 417-18 and 360. Sri Guru Ji in his book "Sri Guru Granth Sahib Ji, Asa Mahla 1, page 418 says that in this cruel attack, invader Babur gutted the police stations, halts and steely temples of Saidpur, and decimated the princes and brought them to dust." "25. That Atharva Veda addresses male and female deities of Ayodhya as 'Puri' in the following manner:-

"People living in that Brahmapur where Brahma takes rest, that is to say, those living in Ayodhyapuri where Sri Rama resides, attain 'prusharthas'(objectives of life)." (28)

"The Brahmapur, that is, Ayodhya Pur, known in the Vedas, is filled with nectar. The Vedic deities provide eyes, souls and subjects, that is, progenies." (29)

''26. यह कि हिन्दू धर्म के प्रसिद्ध ग्रन्थ ''रूद्रयामल'' के अध्याया 30 श्लोक 54 में अयोध्या पुरी को सप्त प्रमुख पुरी के रूप में वर्णित करते हुए अयोध्या को सभी तीर्थो का मस्तक कहा गया है तथा ''वशिष्ठ संहिता'' नामक प्रसिद्ध धर्म ग्रन्थ में 'अयोध्या नगरी नित्या सच्चिदानन्दरूपिणी' के सम्बोधन के द्वारा साक्षात् सतचित आनन्द रूपी भगवान का स्वरूप एवं विग्रह रूप में परिभाषित करते हुए अयोध्या को गो लोक एवं वैकुण्ठ से भी अधिक प्रतिष्ठित माना गया है। इसी प्रकार का विवरण गोस्वामी तुलसीदास कृत रामचरित मानस में भी है।''

"26. That the famous treatise of Hinduism titled "Rudryamal" in verse 54 of chapter 30 depicts Ayodhyapuri as one of the seven main 'puris' (towns) and terms it as the head of all sites of pilgrimage. In the famous religious treatise titled "Vashishtha Samhita", Ayodhya Nagari is addressed as 'Nitya Sachchidanand-rupini' and is defined as the form and individual shape of God, a manifestation of existence, consciousness and bliss, and is regarded as more revered than even 'Go Lok' and 'Vaikuntha'(abodes of God). The same type of description also occurs in the Ram Charit Manas composed by Goswami Tulsidas." (E.T.C.)

''27. यह कि 'रूद्रयामल' हिन्दुओं का अति प्राचीन आध्यात्मिक धर्म ग्रन्थ है जिसमें विवादित स्थल को भगवान श्रीराम की जन्मभूमि को स्पष्ट रूप से वर्णन किया गया है तथा इसी ग्रन्थ में अयोध्या को भगवान वासुदेव, ब्रह्माजी व रूद्र का रूप माना गया है। उक्त ग्रन्थ की संगत पंक्तियॉ निम्न प्रकार है:

अकारो वासुदेवस्यात् यकारस्य ते प्रजापतिः

ऊँकारो रूद्र रूपस्य तु, ताम ध्यायन्ति मुनीश्वरः। ''

(Hindi translation of the above Shloka hereunder as appended by the witness himself alongwith his affidavit)

''इस श्लोक में अयोध्या शब्द का अर्थ बताया गया है। अकार, यकार, ऊँकार और ध्या की व्याख्या है। अकार=वासुदेव, वासुदेव=राम कण–कण में निवास करने वाले राम। यकार का अर्थ प्रजापति ब्रम्ह्मा से है और ऊँकार का अर्थ रूद्र रूप से है=शंकर रूप से है तथा ध्या शब्द का अर्थ मुनीश्वर लोग इन तीनों देवताओं का ध्यान करते हैं अर्थात् इसका भावार्थ यह है कि अयोध्या=ब्रम्ह्मा, विष्णु, महेश तीनों का रूप जिसे मुनीश्वर लोग=साधू, संत महात्मा लोग अयोध्या में सदा इन तीनों देवताओं का ध्यान करते रहते हैं।''

''27. That 'Rudryamal' is a very ancient spiritual religious treatise of Hindus which clearly depicts the birth place of Lord Sri Rama at the disputed site and this very treatise regards Ayodhya as the form of Lord Vasudeva, Brahma Ji and Rudra. The relevant lines of the said treatise are as follows:

"This verse gives the meaning of the word Ayodhya. it explains 'Akar, Yakar, Omkar, and Dhya'. Akar stands for 'Vasudeva', that is, Vasudeva-Rama who pervades every atom. Yakar means Brahma, creator of the world, and Omkar means Rudra, i.e. Shankara, and Dya stands for sages who meditate about these Trinities. That is to say, it means that Ayodhya is the manifestation of Trinities-Brahma, Vishnu and Mahesh–whom sages, ascetics and saints keep meditating about these Trinities in Ayodhya." (E.T.C.)

354. He claims in para 28 of the affidavit that Muslims and

Hindus both live together cordially in Ayodhya and Faizabad, and local Muslims except of a very few believe that the disputed site is the birthplace of Lord Ram and in support thereto has referred to the response given by some of Muslims in Section 145 Cr.P.C. proceedings initiated in 1949. Further in para 30 he says that neither the disputed site had any characteristics or requirement necessary for making it a mosque nor the Muslims in general treat it as such and since time immemorial it is most pious place of Hindus worshipped as birthplace of Lord Ram. Paragraphs 28 and 30 of the affidavit reads as under:

''28 यह कि अयोध्या फैजाबाद में स्थानीय तौर पर सदैव से साम्प्रदायिक सद्भाव रहा है तथा दोनों वर्गो में परस्पर सहयोग तथा मधुर सम्बन्ध रहे हैं तथा आज भी दोनों वर्गो में अत्यधिक सौहार्द है। स्थानीय मुसलमान (केवल कुछ गिने चुने निहित स्वार्थी कट्टरपन्थी मुसलमानों को छोड़कर) विवादित स्थल को हिन्दुओं के आराध्य भगवान श्रीराम की जन्मभूमि मानते हैं तथा विवादित स्थल को मस्जिद के रूप में कभी मानने को तैयार नहीं हैं।''

''28. That communal harmony has always prevailed at local level in Ayodhya, Faizabad and the relations between both the communities have always remained cordial and cooperative and even today, there is great harmony between the two communities. Local Muslims (except for few orthodox Muslims with vested interests) consider the disputed site to be the birthplace of Lord Rama, the ideal deity of Hindus and are not prepared to treat the disputed site as a mosque.'' (E.T.C.)

''30. यह कि शपथकर्ता के अब तक के सामाजिक, धार्मिक, राजनीतिक जीवन में तमाम इस्लाम मजहब के अनुयायी, उनके उलेमाओं तथा विद्वानों से बातचीत हुयी। वे सब लोग विवादित स्थल को इबादत गाह के रूप में स्वीकार नहीं करते उनका यह भी मानना है कि मस्जिद में मीनार व वजू के लिए समुचित व्यवस्था होना आवश्यक है। विवादित स्थल पर स्थित ढॉचा में न तो मीनारें थी, और न ही वजू की कोई व्यवस्था थी। विवादित

''30. That in the till date social, religious and political career of the deponent, he had discussions with a number of followers of Islam, their Ulemas and scholars. They all do not accept the disputed site as 'Ibadatgah' (Muslim place of worship). It is also their belief that a mosque must have minarets and proper arrangement for Wazoo. In the disputed structure over the site, neither there were any minarets nor any arrangement for Wazoo. The disputed site is the birthplace of Lord Rama which is proved by scriptures, hearsay, traditions etc. and from time immemorial that place has been continuously worshipped as the birthplace of Lord Rama." The evidence of this belief has been found by me in Valmiki Ramayana, Skand Purana, Rudrayamal, Tulsidas composed Ramcharit Manas and other historical and literary works, which shall be referred by me later.'' "4. सन् 1934 के दंगा मेरी जानकारी में हुआ था जो हिन्दू–मुस्लिम दंगा के नाम से मशहूर है। मार्च में हुआ था। इस दंगे में मुसलमान काफी मारे गये थे और काफी कब्रिस्तान क्षतिग्रस्त किये गये थे। मेरे जानकारी में अयोध्या में रामजन्मभूमि मंदिर के इर्द–गिर्द मोहल्ला सुटहटी में पांच घर आलमगंज कटरा में चार घर टेढ़ी बाजार में तीन–चार घर, पांजी टोला कजियाना में चार पांच घर में मुसलमानों की आबादी थी। इसके अलावा मोहल्ला बेगमपुरा, मुगलपुरा व सैयदवाड़ा मिलाकर तीन चार घर हैं जिसमें कुछ शिया भी हैं।" knowledge, which is famous as Hindu-Muslim riot. It had broken out in March. Many Muslims were killed and a large number of graveyards were damaged in this riot. In my knowledge, in the vicinity of Ramjanmbhumi temple in Ayodhya there were 5 houses of Muslims in Mohalla-Suthati, 4 in Alamganj Katra, 3-4 in Tedhi Bazar and 4-5 in Panji Tola Kaziyana. Besides these, there are in all 3-4 houses in Mohalla- Begumpura, Mughalpura and Saidwada, out of which few are of Shias." (E.T.C.)

"5. 1934 के दंगे के समय में मैं 19–20 वर्ष का था। उस दंगे में काफी संख्या में मुसलमान मारे गये थे, कब्रें तोड़ी गई थीं, लेकिन श्रीराम जन्मभूमि मंदिर का कोई भाग या शिखर की तोड़ फोड़ नही हुई थी। बाहरी दीवार मामूली क्षतिग्रस्त हुई थी। जहां तक मुझे याद है दो मुसलमान दीवान थे, नाम याद नहीं हैं, उस समय कोई अंग्रेज डी0एम0 थे। इस दंगे के बाद मुसलमानों में दहशत फैल गई थी और श्रीराम जन्मभूमि मंदिर के तरफ जाते ही नहीं थे।"

"5. I was aged 19-20 years at time of the riot of 1934. A large number of Muslims were killed in that riot, graves were destroyed but no part of the Sri Ramjanmbhumi temple or its dome was damaged. The outer wall was damaged slightly. To the best of my memory, there were two Muslim Diwans, whose names I do not remember. There was some British D.M. at that time. The Muslims were terror stricken after this riot and they stopped going towards the Sri Ramjanmbhumi temple." (E.T.C.)

''6. I always had 'darshan', since the year 1930 when I came to Ayodhya. I had the 'darshan' of 'Garbh-grih' portion also, where Ramlala was present over a wooden throne. In the year 1934, the windows outside the courtyard were fixed in wood-panes, where iron grills were fixed subsequently. The ingress-egress passage existed in the wall surrounded by the courtyard wall in the outer part. The eastern gate remained open. To the north south of the eastern gate, were two touchstone pillars, which I had been witnessing from the year 1930. An idol had been engraved over the said pillar, which is termed as the idol of Hanuman ji and due to this the said gate was famous as Hanumatdwar. The picture of flower-leaves were also present. There is a 1 ¼ feet wide and 3 feet long stone slab, over which the figure 1 and 'Sri Janmbhumi Nitya Yatra' is written or engraved in Devnagari script as well as Janmbhumi in English.''(E.T.C.)

the east. Touchstones have been used in the main gate. Since my childhood, I have been seeing a 1 ½ or 1 ¾ feet wide and approximately 3 feet high stone slab, near the touchstone in north and eastwards a bit earlier. The figure 1, words 'Sri Ramjanmbhumi Nitya Yatra' in Devnagari script and word Janmbhumi in English were engraved over it. I had seen the figure, idol of pitcher, peacock, Goddess and Hanuman ji over the said touchstone. When I started going there along with my father, few people told that it was called Hanumatdwar." (E.T.C.)

"8. पूर्वी द्वार से अन्दर जाने पर सहन लगभग 28–30 फिट थी जिसके बाद सीखचे वाली दीवाल है और सीखचे वाली दीवाल के पश्चिम थोड़ा सहन छोड़कर गर्भगृह तीन शिखर वाला है। जहां गर्भगृह में ही रामलला विराजमान हैं। जिनका दर्शन व पूजन व प्रसाद व चरणामृत 1941 से लेता, उनके समीप से दर्शन करके दिसम्बर 1949 तक बराबर लेता रहा। 1949 में कुर्की हो जाने के बाद सन 1950 में सीखचे वाली दीवाल से भगवान का दर्शन व पूजन करता रहा हूँ तथा ढांचा गिरने के बाद जनवरी 93 से नियमित केन्द्रीय सरकार के नियन्त्रण वाले रास्ते से दर्शन करता चला आ रहा हूँ और वहीं भगवान रामलला अभी भी कायम हैं। जिनका दर्शन 1941 से अभी हाल तक करता चला आ रहा हूँ।"

"8. After entry through the eastern gate, was the courtyard of size 28 x 30 feet, after which was the grill wall and a bit westward of the grill wall was the three domed 'Garbh-grih' beyond the courtyard. Ramlala was present in the 'Garbh-grih' and I have had His 'darshan' , worship, blessings and foot nectar from the year 1941. I had His 'darshan' from close distance till December, 1949. After the attachment of 1949, I had the 'darshan' and worship of God from the grill wall, from the year 1950 onwards. I have been regularly having the 'darshan' from January, 1993, after the demolition of the structure and the place being under control of Central Government. Lord Ramlala is still present at the same place and I have had His 'darshan' from the year 1941 till recently." (E.T.C.)

"9. भीतरी भाग जो कुर्कशुदा कहलाता है कुर्की के बारे में मुझे 1950 खिचड़ी के दो–तीन दिन पहले तब देखा और दर्शन सीखचे वाले मध्य दरवाजे से करने दिया पुलिस वालों ने। लेकिन सहन, रामचबूतरा, मंदिर, छठी पूजन स्थल, शिव दरबार जो बाहरी सहन के अन्दर था। उनका दर्शन, पूजा अर्चना निकट जाकर जैसा 1941 में किया था, उसी प्रकार सन 1992 ढांचा गिरने के पूर्व तक किया है लेकिन 1982 में मुझे यह पता चला था कि बाहरी भाग भी निर्मोही अखाड़ा के आपसी विवाद में कुर्क हो गया था और इसके रिसीवर भी वही भीतर वाले भाग वाले रिसीवर थे। यह बात वहां के नियुक्त पुजारी (रिसीवर द्वारा) ने बतलाई थी।"

"9. The inner part, which is called the attached part, was seen by me 2-3 days prior to 'Makar Sankranti' of the year 1950 and the police men had permitted me to have 'darshan' from the central grill door. However, the courtyard, Ramchabutara temple, Chhathi worship place, Shiv Darbar, which were inside the outer courtyard were worshiped by me till the year 1992, prior to demolition of the structure, in the same manner as done in the year 1941. In the year 1982 I came to know that the outer part had also been attached in mutual dispute of Nirmohi Akhara and the Receiver of the inner part was its Receiver as well. This was told by the priest nominated there (by Receiver)." (E.T.C.)

"10. 1941 में अपने पिताजी के साथ दर्शन करना चालू किया। भारतवर्ष की आजादी के पहले मुझे यह बात भलीभॉति मालूम थी कि उक्त मंदिर निर्मोही अखाड़ा के आधिपत्य में है और निर्मोही अखाड़ा के ही साधु पुजारी गर्भगृह में भगवान रामलला की पूजापाठ करते हैं और दर्शनार्थियों, भक्तों को आरती व चरणामृत प्रसाद लेकर प्रसाद का चढ़ावा देते हैं । ऐसा करते मैंने सभी दर्शनार्थियों को देखा। ऐसा मैंने दर्शन करते वक्त देखा था।

"10. I started to have 'darshan' along with my father in the year 1941. I knew this fact very well even before independence of India that the said temple was in the possession of Nirmohi Akhara and the saints-priests of Nirmohi Akhara used to perform the prayer of Lord Ramlala in the 'Garbh-grih' and accept and distribute the blessings amongst the devotees. I saw all the devotees do this. I had seen this at time of having 'darshan' . On growing up as a young man, I myself used to offer sweets, flowers etc. and accepted 'Arti' and blessings from the saints of Nirmohi Akhara." (E.T.C.)

''11. इसी प्रकार रामचबूतरा मंदिर पर मेरा व दर्शनार्थियों का दर्शन 1941 से लगातार दिनांक 6 दिसम्बर 1992 ढांचा गिरने के पहले व मेरा नवम्बर 1992 तक हुआ और छठी पूजा स्थल शिव दरबार का पूजन दर्शन ऐसे ही हुआ करता था। उन सभी पूजन स्थलों पर पुजारी, साधु निर्मोही अखाड़ा के रहते थे।''

"11. Similarly, I and devotees regularly had 'darshan' at the Ramchabutara temple from the year 1941 to 6th December, 1992 prior to demolition of the structure. I had it till November, 1992. The prayer- worship at Chhathi worship place and Shiv Darbar was also carried out similarly. The priests, saints of Nirmohi Akhara were present at all those worship places." (E.T.C.)

''12. मैं हाजिर अदालत महन्त भास्कर दास को जानता हूँ। इन्हें मैंने 1946 से ही श्रीराम जन्मभूमि गर्भगृह में बतौर पुजारी तथा रामचबूतरा मंदिर पर छठी पूजा स्थल शिव दरबार में बतौर पुजारी देखता चला आ रहा हूँ क्योंकि 1946 से लेकर 1949 कुर्की के पहले व कुर्की के बाद तक 1941 से मैं दर्शन करने श्रीराम जन्मभूमि जाने लगा तो मेरे माता–पिताजी ने बताया कि यहां के पुजारी निर्मोही अखाड़ा के लोग थे और इनके गुरु बलदेवदास

जी को भी मैं बतौर पुजारी देखा है। बलदेवदास जी से मैं भलीभॉति परिचित इसलिए हो गया था कि नाका हनुमानगढ़ी के महन्त थे। बलदेवदास जी को मैंने देखा है। हनुमानगढ़ी नाका मुजफ्फरा फैजाबाद के महन्त भास्करदास जी हैं जो इस समय निर्मोही अखाड़ा के सरपंच हैं। मैं भास्करदास को विवादित मंदिर के गर्भगृह में बतौर पुजारी देखा है और साथ ही साथ बाहरी भाग के रामचबूतरा मंदिर आदि पर पुजारी के रुप में देखा था लेकिन भीतरी भाग के कुर्क होने के बाद बाहर रामचबूतरे पर महन्त भास्करदास को 1965–66 तक देखा। उसके बाद बाहर वाले भाग में अखाड़े के दूसरे साधू सन्त रहते थे।''

"12. I know Mahant Bhaskar Das present in Court. I have seen him since the year 1946 as priest at Sri Ramjanmbhumi 'Garbh-grih', Ramchabutara temple, Chhathi worship place and Shiv Darbar i.e. from the year 1946 to 1949, before and after the attachment. I started going to Sri Ramjanmbhumi from the year 1941 to have 'darshan' and my parents told me that the priests here were of Nirmohi Akhara and I also saw their master Baldev Das as priest. I became very well acquainted with Baldev Das, as he was the Mahant of Naka Hanumangarhi. I have seen Baldev Das. Bhaskar Das is the Mahant of Hanumangarhi Naka Muzaffara Faizabad, who is the Sarpanch of Nirmohi Akhara at present. ''7. From my childhood, I have been seen people have darshan and arti of Lord Ramlala present in the disputed Sri Ramjanmbhumi, and receive charnamrit (foot nectar) and prasad. From my childhood, my mother used to make me receive charnamrit at the Ramjanmbhumi in my little hands. I have been regularly having the darshan of Sri Ramjanmbhumi out of my religious faith.'' ''8. यह कि बड़ा होने पर मैं अकेले ही अयोध्या श्री रामजन्मभूमि मन्दिर में दर्शन करने जाता रहा हूँ। हनुमान गढ़ी मन्दिर व कनक भवन मन्दिर भी प्रसिद्ध होने के कारण दर्शन हनुमान जी व कनक भवन में माता सीता जी

''8. That on growing up, I have been going alone to have darshan of Sri Ramjanmbhumi temple at Ayodhya. On account of being famous, I have also had the darshan of Hanumangarhi temple and Kanak Bhawan temple. The Ramjanmbhumi temple has immense importance on account of being the birthplace of Lord Rama. My mother and myself have always had faith in Ramjanmsthali. Due to this I regularly had the darshan of Sri Ramjanmbhumi temple, Lord Ramlala present therein and of other religious symbols such as foot marks, Chhathi worship place, Ramchabutara temple, Shiv Darbar etc., which are all within the disputed campus.'' ''9. यह कि विवादित परिसर दो भाग में है। पहला बाहरी भाग दूसरा भीतरी भाग विवादित उक्त परिसर में भगवान राम लला व छठी पूजा स्थल चरण चिन्ह व राम चबूतरा शिव दरबार का बराबर दर्शन करता चला आ रहा हूँ। वड़ा होने पर अकेले उक्त विवादित मन्दिर श्री रामजन्मभूमि पर दर्शन करता चला आ रहा हूँ। अयोध्या में तीन मेले कार्तिक, सावन, रामनवमी मुख्य तौर पर होता है। अगहन में राम विवाह का मेला होता है। रामनवमी का एक विशेष त्यौहार रहता है। विवादित परिसर भगवान राम की जन्मस्थली व मन्दिर होने के कारण भारत वर्ष के कोने–कोने से तमाम हिन्दू धर्मावलम्बी जनता भगवान राम लला का दर्शन करने प्रसाद फूल माला चढ़ाने पूजा करने व चरणामृत प्राप्त करते मैंने अपने बचपन यानि शुरू से सन् 1937 से लेकर 1948 तक उक्त मन्दिर व धार्मिक स्थल व भगवान का दर्शन बाहरी और भीतरी भाग में देखता रहा हूँ। मुझे यह भी अपने मॉ से मालूम हुआ कि निर्मोही अखाड़ा के अन्तर्गत ही श्री राम

जनमभूमि मन्दिर है। निर्मोही अखाडा के बारे में मेरी जानकारी मन्दिर हनुमान गढ़ी नाका में दर्शन करने वहॉ जाने से व बाबा बल्देव दास से काफी बढ़ गयी। निर्मोही अखाड़ा एक मठ है। पंचायती मठ है। धार्मिक न्यास है। सारी व्यवस्था पंचायती है। पंचो का निर्णय सर्वोपरि है। महन्थ अखाड़ा का पंचों के प्रस्ताव व बहुमत राय से कार्य करता हैं महन्थ को अखाड़े की जायदाद बेचने का हक नहीं है। जब तक पंचों का प्रस्ताव न हो महन्थ चुना जाता है। अखाड़े में सैनिक शिक्षा की पद्धति लागू है। ऐसा मैंने जाना है। हनुमान गढ़ी अयोध्या में बाबा को जानता हूँ। उन्होंने भी बताया कि हनुमान गढ़ी निर्वाणी अखाड़ा का मन्दिर है। अखाड़ा के रीति–रिवाज रामानन्दा स्वामी इस सम्प्रदाय के प्रवर्तक रहे हैं। इस सम्प्रदाय के साधु रामानन्दी वैरागी के इष्ट राम हैं। निर्मोही अखाड़ा का एक मन्दिर श्री विजय राधो मन्दिर रामघाट अयोध्या पर है।''

"9. That the disputed premises is in two parts. The first being the outer part and the second being the internal part. I have been regularly having the darshan of Lord Ramlala, Chhathi worship place, foot marks, Ramchabutara and Shiv Darbar at the aforesaid disputed premises. After growing up, I have been going alone to have darshan of the disputed Sri Ramjanmbhumi temple. The three main fairs at Ayodhya are Kartika, Sawan, Ramnavami. The fair of Ram Vivah is held during the month of Aghan (a month of Hindu calendar). There is a special festival on Ramnavami. From my childhood i.e. from the beginning in the year 1937 to the year 1948, I have seen numerous Hindu public from different corners of the country have darshan of Lord Ramlala and make offerings, offer flowers-garlands, offer prayer and receive charnamrit at the disputed premises, since the same is the birthplace and temple of Lord Rama. I also got to know from my mother that Sri Ramjanmbhumi temple was also under the Nirmohi Akhara. My knowledge about Nirmohi Akhara improved

greatly by my darshan of temple at Hanumangarhi Naka and meeting Baba Baldev Das. The Nirmohi Akhara is a Math, a Panchayat Math. It is a religious trust. The entire working is as per Panchayat system. The decision of Panch is above all. The Mahant of the Akhara works on advise of Panchas and the majority view. The Mahant has no right to sell the property of the Akhara. The Mahant is elected unless there is a recommendation of the Panchas. I have so come to know that the system of military education is applicable in the Akhara. I know the Baba at Hanumangarhi, Ayodhya. He also told that Hanumangarhi is a temple of Nirvani Akhara. The customs and practices of this Akhara have been laid down by Swami Ramanand, the promoter of this sect. Rama is the Isht of Ramanand Vairagi, a saint of this sect. Another temple of Nirmohi Akhara, Sri Vijay Raghav temple, is at Ramghat Ayodhya." (E.T.C.)

''10. मैं 1948 तक लगभग हर माह कई बार उक्त मन्दिर में दर्शन करता रहा लेकिन उसके बाद रेलवे में झांसी तैनात होने पर तीन चार माह में जब भी घर आता रहा भगवान रामलला का पूरे मन्दिर के धर्मस्थल का दर्शन करता चला आ रहा हूँ। और नौकरी से रिटायर्ड होने पर पुनः अपने घर से हर माह दर्शन करने जाता रहा हूँ।''

"10. I had darshan in the said temple on number of times almost every month till the year 1948. However, after my posting at Jhansi under the Railways, I have been having the darshan of the entire temple site of Lord Ramlala, every 3-4 months whenever I come home. Now after retirement from service, I have again started going from my home to have darshan every month." (E.T.C.)

''12. मैं जब अपनी मॉ के साथ विवादित परिसर में दर्शन हेतु गया मेरी मॉ ने ही मुझे बताया कि यह रामजन्मभूमि मन्दिर है। अन्दर भीतरी भाग में

भगवान राम लला विराजमान थे व बाहरी भाग में राम चबूतरा मन्दिर व छठी पूजन स्थल चरण चिन्ह चारों भाइयों का रहा है। चूल्हा बेलना–चकला भी था। शिव दरबार भी बाहरी भाग में था। जहॉ शंकर जी पार्वती जी गणेश जी नन्दी व शंकर जी का अरघा था। परिसर के पूर्वी गेट से दर्शनार्थी व भक्तगण आते–जाते थे। उत्तर भी गेट था जो ज्यादातर मेला भीड़ बढ़ने पर खुलता था। पूर्वी गेट से घुसते ही उत्तर तरफ भण्डार गृह सन्त निवास व कोठार था। जिसमें साधुओं वैरागियों को रहते व भगवान का प्रसाद बनाते शुरू से देखा था। धीरे–धीरे कई बार में दर्शन कराते समय मेरी मॉ ने बताया था यहॉ पुजारी व साधू लोग रहते हैं। वह निर्मोही अखाड़ा के साधू वैरागी है। और तभी से बराबर भीतरी भाग में 1949 दिसम्बर तक निर्मोही अखाड़ा के साधूओं वैरागियों को पुजारी की तरह कार्य करते व प्रसाद लेकर भोग लगाकर दर्शनार्थियों को प्रसाद भोग लगा देते। भगवान का चरणामृत देते। फूल माला आदि दर्शनार्थियों से लेकर भगवान पर चढ़ा दर्शनार्थियों को फूल माला देते देखा और तभी से देख रहा हूॅ। निर्मोही अखाड़ा के साधूओं वैरागियों को राम चबूतरा मन्दिर पर विराजमान राम लला पर भी वैसे पुजारी का कार्य करते देखा जैसे भीतरी भाग में बयान किया है। इसी तरह देखभाल पूजा आरती शिव दरबार व छठी पूजा स्थल चरण चिन्ह चकला बेलना चूल्हा पर भी निर्मोही अखाड़ा के लोगों को पूजा आरती व इंतजाम करते देखा है। निर्मोही अखाड़ा के बारे में मेरी मॉ को विशेष जानकारी थी क्योंकि वही मंगल, शनिवार जब अयोध्या नहीं जा पाती थी तो हनुमान गढ़ी नाका मुजफ्फरा पर हनुमान जी का दर्शन करने जाती रही हैं जो मेरे गॉव से 5 या 6 किमी दूरी पर है। नाका मुजफ्फरा पर हनुमान जी मन्दिर प्राचीन से स्थित है। जहॉ नाका मुजफ्फरा के वैरागी ही महंथ थे वहॉ महंथ बल्देव दास बहुत प्रसिद्ध मं0 हुए हैं। जिनके शिष्य मं0 भाष्कर दास इस समय मं0 है। इस कारण से ही निर्मोही अखाडा का ही अधिपत्य व्यवस्था विवादित परिसर श्री रामजन्मभूमि पर शुरू से मैंने देखा है।''

''12. Whenever I went to the disputed premises, alongwith my mother, to have darshan, it was my mother who told me that it was Ramjanmbhumi temple. Lord Ramlala was present in the inner part and the Ramchabutara temple, Chhathi worship place and foot marks of the four brothers were present in the outer part. The stove, belna-chakla were also present. The Shiv Darbar was also in the outer part, where Shankar Ji, Parvati Ji, Ganesh Ji, Nandi and argha of Shiva existed. The devotees used to enter through the eastern gate of the premises. There was gate in north also, which was mostly opened during fair on crowd increase. Immediately on entering through the eastern gate, was the store room, saints' accommodation and granary in the north, and from the beginning I had seen the saints-recluses live there besides the preparation of prasad taking place over there. Gradually during the course of darshan, my mother told me that priests and saints used to live there. They were the saints-recluses of Nirmohi Akhara and since then to December, 1949, the saints-recluses of Nirmohi Akhara functioned as priests and used to accept prasad from the devotees and delivered it to them after offering them to God. They used to distribute the charnamrit. I have seen them accept the flowers-garlands etc. from the devotees and return them to the devotees after offering them to God. I saw the saints-recluses of Nirmohi Akhara perform similar saint like work at the Ramchabutara temple as well, as described by me regarding the inner part. I have seen the Nirmohi Akhara people perform similar maintenance, prayer, arti at Shiv Darbar, Chhathi worship place, foot marks, chakla-belna, stove. My mother had special knowledge about Nirmohi Akhara because whenever she was unable to go to Ayodhya on Tuesday and Saturday, she used to go to have darshan of Hanuman Ji at Hanumangarhi Naka Muzaffara, which is at a distance of 5-6 kilometers from my village. Hanuman Ji is present in the ancient temple at Naka Muzaffara. The recluses of Naka Muzaffara were the Mahant over there. Mahant Baldev Das has been a very famous Mahant of the same, whose disciple Mahant Bhaskar Das is the present Mahant. Due to this, I had found the possession of Nirmohi Akhara extend over the disputed premises, Sri Ramjanmbhumi." (E.T.C.)

''13. यह कि भीतर वाला भाग जो तीन शिखर व सिकचें के अन्दर था। दिसम्बर 1949 में कुर्क हुआ यह मैंने जनवरी में घर आने पर जाना उस समय दर्शन मुझे भगवान रामलला के बाहरी भाग में पूर्ववत दर्शन भगवान के व पूज्य तीर्थ स्थली छठी पूजा स्थल शिव दरबार व राम चबूतरा मन्दिर पर पास जाकर निर्मोही अखाड़ा के पुजारियों से प्रसाद व चरणामृत लेकर होता रहा है। 1982 में बाहरी भाग निर्मोही अखाड़ा के आपसी विवाद से कुर्क हो गया जिसके भी रिसीवर भीतर वाले भाग के रिसीवर हुए। रिसीवर द्वारा पुजारी व व्यक्ति अब सभी पूज्य धर्मस्थलों पर जैसे छठी पूजा धर्मस्थल व राम मन्दिर चबूतरा शिव दरबार व भीतर भाग भगवान रामलला आदि पर बैठते हैं। इसलिए बाहर के कुर्की के बारे में रामनवमी 1982 में मुझे मालूम हुआ रामनवमी को देर तक परिसर में रूककर मैं पूजन व कुछ मानस पाठ करता हूॅ। उसी दिन बारह बजे भगवान राम का जन्म हुआ है। प्रसाद लेकर ही आता था रिसीवर के इन्तजाम में दोनों भाग बाहरी भाग व भीतरी भाग सम्पूर्ण ढॉचा गिराने तक यानि 6.12.1992 तक रहा है। ढांचा गिरने के बाद केन्द्रीय सरकार रिसीवर हो गयी लेकिन भगवान रामलला वही भगवान राम लला हैं जिनका मैं शुरू से दर्शन करता चला रहा हूॅ। अब भी विराजमान है। जिनका भी दर्शन मैं बराबर केन्द्रीय सरकार द्वारा नियंत्रित रास्ते से बराबर करता चला आ रहा हूॅ। अभी नहान, पूर्णिमा कार्तिक के दूसरे दिन में भी दर्शन करने गया था।''

"13. That the inner part was under the three dome and within the grill. I came to know that it was attached in December 1949, when I came home in January. At that time, I continued to have darshan of Lord Ramlala in the outer part along with the revered Chhathi worship place, Shiv Darbar and Ramchabutara temple and received prasad and charnamrit from the priests of Nirmohi Akhara. In the year 1982 the outer part was also attached due to internal dispute of Nirmohi Akhara and the Receiver of inner part, was appointed Receiver thereof. The priest and people appointed by the Receiver now look after all revered worship places such as Chhathi worship place, Ramchabutara temple, Shiv Darbar and Lord Ramlala in the inner part. I came to know about the attachment of the outer part on the occasion of Ramnavami, 1982. I stay back in the premises on the occasion of Ramnavami and offer my prayers and recite the Manas. Lord Rama was born at 12 'O' clock on this day. I used to bring along the prasad. Both, the inner and outer part, remained in control of the Receiver till demolition of the structure on 06.12.1992. After the demolition of the structure, the Central Government became the Receiver but Lord Ramlala is the same Lord Ramlala, whose darshan I have had since beginning, and He is still present there. I regularly have darshan even today through the route controlled by the Central Government. Recently I went to have darshan on the occasion of Nahan (occasion for a holy dip in sacred river), the second day of Kartik Purnima." (E.T.C.)

"6. On account of belonging to a religious Brahman family, I daily went to the Ramjanmbhumi temple to have 'Darshan' (offering prayer by sight). I had been to the arena near Sita Koop opposite Sri Ramjanmbhumi temple, till the year 1936 to practice wrestling. I regularly went to this arena at 5 AM. This arena existed for about an hour between the Janmbhumi gate and the Sita Koop well. After this, I used to have 'Darshan' and then returned home. The eastern gate of the Janmbhumi temple is visible from the arena and if somebody speaks in high pitch at the Janmbhumi temple, the same would be heard by a person standing in the arena. When I went to practice wrestling in the morning till the year 1936, the sun used to dawn in the said period but I never heard any Ajaan from the disputed premises nor saw any Muslim either go in that direction or offer Namaz." "5. To me it was a rule that I took the name of Rama at Ram Janam Bhumi for an hour in the evening. Ram Janam Bhumi was nearly 400-500 feet from Rang Mahal temple. It was hardly 2-3 minutes' walk. To reach Sri Ram Janam Bhumi, there was a flyover starting from Sakshi Gopal Mandir trisection and running from east-north to the south-western corner." (E.T.C.)

The northern gate had a door made of tin. It had two pillars made of touch stone. Engraved on the pillars were also seen pictures which were stated by daily visitors to be images of Hanumanji. I also had the same impression. There was also a stone plate at Hanumat Dwar." (E.T.C.)*

''7. The stone plate had 'number-1' and 'Janam Bhumi Nitya Yatra' in Devnagari script written on it. On it was written Janam Bhumi in English. Between the main temple and the gate located east of the 'garbh' (sanctum sanctorum) part lay a wall with iron rods. The outer compound had walls on three sides which were 9-10 feet high and 2-2½ feet wide. Towards the west, the circumambulation of the main temple was 4-5 feet wide, and in the west of the circumambulation was a railing which was 2½ -3 feet high. Ahead of that, in the west lay a 20-25 feet slope. The eastern gate was opened mostly at the time of the fare and it is called Singh Dwar. On going eastwards out of the eastern gate there was a staircase leading downwards and ending on a road which was at Hanumangarhi Durahi Kuan and which had a slope at that point of place. No gate was seen upwards from that road.'' (E.T.C.)

In the outer compound, I had a sight of 'Chhathi Poojan Sthal' and also of the place which had foot- prints of all the four brothers of Lord Rama and marks of chakla, belan (rolling pin), chulha (hearth). I have consistently been having sight of all this since I began to go to offer worship at Ram Janam Bhumi. Priests of Nirmohi Akhara used to perform 'pooja-paath' and 'aarti' of the presiding deity of the Ram Chabutra temple at Ram Janam Bhumi. There used to be regular and five-time 'aarti' there. Like pooja and aarti performed at Ram Mandir Chabutra, there used to be pooja and aarti of deities seated below the fig-tree – six-mouthed Shankar, Ganesha, Parvati and Lord Nandeshwar – on behalf of Nirmohi Akhara. Priests of the Nirmohi Akhara used to perform these services also in accordance with orthodox methods. Similarly, there used to be 'pooja-aarti' on a regular basis at 'Chhathi Poojan Sthal' by the priests of Nirmohi Akhara. Devotees used to come to have darshan of these three sites and of Bhagwaan (God). Devotees coming here, used to offer things, fruits, flowers, sweets and other articles as per reverence at the religious places. These offerings used to be in the custody of Panchas and Mahantas of Nirmohi Akhara and they used to be taken into the service of Bhagwaan through the priests of the Ram Mandir Chabutra." (E.T.C.)

1949 दिसम्बर 29 में जो कुर्की अन्दर वाले भाग की हुई उसके रिसीवर बाबू प्रियादत्त राम चेयरमैन नगरपालिका फैजाबाद थे। रामजन्मभूमि मंदिर के इर्द–गिर्द अखाड़े के रीति रिवाज के अनुसार कई पंच व उनके शिष्य छोटे–छोटे मंदिर बनाकर रहते थे। जिसका विवरण निम्नवत् हैः–

There is a stone idol of Hanuman and then is placed Lord Saalikram and the throne is placed at the centre. Between 1934 and 23rd December, 1949 during which the fake incident is stated to have taken place, many priests used to perform pooja-paath on behalf of Nirmohi Akhara and Mahant Baldev Das Ji had been main priest for many years. In 1934, when I came, Sitaram Das, guru bhai (disciple of the same guru) of Baldev Das Ji, was the priest. And there were many assistant priests under him who were associated with Ram Janam Bhumi Chabutra, Chhathi Sthal, Garbh-grih Mandir, etc. In course of this period, many priests like Ram Shakal Das, Sudarshan Das, Ram Vilas Das, Vrindavan Das, me (Ram Shubhag Das Shastri) and so on, have been coming and going." (E.T.C.)

"17. मैं अखाड़े की तरफ से पुजारी के सहयोग में रहता था क्योंकि मैं रंग महल जन्म भूमि से करीब स्थान में रहता था। और प्रतिदिन रामानुष्ठान घंटा–दो–घंटा तीन घंटा जन्म भूमि परिसर में मौजूद रहकर भगवान का ध्यान करता था। इसलिए निर्मोही अखाड़े के साधुओं ने सन् 1949 के कई वर्ष पहले से उक्त धार्मिक स्थलों की पूजा के लिए अपने साथ लिए रहते थे। बैरागी सम्प्रदाय की नीति–रिवाज से पूजा करना मैं जानता हूं।"

"17. On behalf of the Akhara I used to render cooperation to the priest because I used to live at a place near Rang Mahal and Janam Bhumi and used to meditate on Bhagwaan by being present in course of 'Ramanushthaan' in the Janam Bhumi premises for one or two or three hours everyday. Hence, ascetics of Nirmohi Akhara used to keep me along with them for pooja at the said religious places from many years prior to 1949. I know the mode of worship as per rites and customs of Bairagi sect." (E.T.C.)

"19. गर्भ गृह में भी दर्शनार्थी 23 दिसम्बर, 1949 की घटना के पहले तक सतत् रूप से भगवान का दर्शन करते थे, द्रव्य, मिष्ठान्न, वस्तुओं को चढ़ाते थे जिसे निर्मोही अखाड़े के पंच, महन्थ व पुजारी भगवान के सेवार्थ प्राप्त करते थे। गर्भ गृह मंदिर की व्यवस्था व कब्जा मैं निर्मोही अखाड़ा का स्वयं 1934 से बराबर देखता चला आ रहा हूं और 1934 के काफी पहले चिरकाल से निर्मोही अखाड़े का कब्जा व व्यवस्था सदियों पूर्व से चला आ रहा है। ऐसा मुझे वृद्ध संतों व इतिहास से मालूम हुआ है।

विवादित परिसर के इर्द–गिर्द सुन्नी जमात के लोगों के कुल 15–16 घर होंगे। विवादित परिसर के उत्तर सुटहटी मोहल्ला जिसमें 4–5 घर मुसलमान थे और उसके पश्चिम आलमगंज कटरा व टेढ़ी बाजार में क्रमशः 2–3 घर प्रति मोहल्ला और पांजी टोला में 3–4 घर थे। उस समय मुसलमानों की संख्या बहुत कम थी वे डरते थे और सन् 1934 के गौकशी के दंगे में हिन्दुओं ने मुसलमानों को मारा और कुछ कब्रिस्तान तोड़ा जिससे सिर्फ हिन्दुओं पर ही दंगा टैक्स लगा था इसलिए मुसलमान उधर गये ही नहीं। इसलिए नमाज पढ़ने का कोई प्रश्न ही नहीं है। मेरे देखने में 1934 से विवादित गर्भ–गृह या पूरे परिसर में कभी मुसलमानों द्वारा नमाज नहीं पढ़ा गया।"

"19. Prior to the incident of 23rd December, 1949, devotees constantly had darshan of Bhagwaan (God) in 'garbh-grih' (sanctum sanctorum) and offered objects, sweets and articles which Panchas, Mahantas and priests used to get for the service of Bhagwaan. Since 1934 I have consistently been looking after the arrangement and possession of Garbh-grih Mandir on behalf of Nirmohi Akhara and since much earlier than 1934, that is, for centuries, its possession and arrangement has been with Nirmohi Akhara. I have come to know this from old saints and from history.

The 23rd December, 1949 incident involved six ascetics of Akhara such as Sudarshan Das, Ram Shakal Das, Vrindavan Das, Ram Vials Das and me – belonging to Nirmohi Akhara– and Abhiram Das, an ascetic of Hanumangarhi. That report was lodged by police constable Mata Prasad in a fake manner and under pressure from a fake Muslim, diwan and sepoy. I got copies of trio of true court copy of the charge-sheet filed against me, my bond and bail bond from Mahanta Bhaskar Das, Sarpanch of Nirmohi Akhara. I am filing photostat lists 1 to 3 along with my sworn statement. All this happened in collusion with a fake Muslim. After 1934 riot, Muslims could not venture to go towards the disputed premises. It was so because a sizeable number of Muslims were killed and on account of there being only a few houses of Muslims they did not go there.

There must be a total 15-16 houses of the Sunni community in and around the disputed premises. To the north of the disputed premises lay Suthati locality, which had 4-5 Muslim houses and to its west lay Alamganj Katra and Tedi Bazar localities with 2-3 houses each and Panji locality with 3-4 houses. At that time the number of the Muslims was extremely low and they used to be scared. In the Gokashi riot of the year 1934 the Hindus had killed the Muslims and had broken some graveyards as a result of which riot tax was inflicted only on Hindus. That being the reason Muslims did not even go towards that side. Hence, there is no question of offering namaz. I never saw Muslims offer namaz at the disputed sanctum sanctorum or in the entire premises since 1934." (E.T.C.)

''31. श्री राम जन्मभूमि मन्दिर परिसर में आने जाने के लिए दो दरवाजे हैं एक पूरब वाला हनुमन्त द्वार कहलाता है जिसमें कोई दरवाजा नहीं लगा है खुला रहता है तथा उक्त द्वार में दोनों तरफ कसौटी पत्थर के खम्भे लगे हैं। जिसमें आकृति उकेरी है और उसमें महावीरी लगी मैंने शुरू से देखा है आस्था के अनुसार उसे पहले से भक्त व संत लोग हनुमान जी की मूर्ति मानते थे इसलिए उस द्वार का नाम हनुमन्त द्वार पड़ गया। दूसरा दरवाजा उत्तर तरफ था जो सिंह द्वार कहलाता था जिसमें टीन के दरवाजे से बंद होता था। मेला–मेला खुलता था जिसे निर्मोही अखाड़ा के लोग मेले में खोलते व बन्द करते थे। उक्त गेट के ऊपर दो सिंह के दो मुखी से आकृति बनी थी जिस कारण उक्त द्वार को सिंह द्वार कहा जाता था।''

which had no gate and it was always open. Pillars of touchstone were installed on both sides of said gate, with figures engraved thereon and since beginning I have seen Mahaviri over it. By belief, the saints and devotees always treated it as idol of Hanuman ji, due to which the said gate came to be known as Hanumatdwar. The other gate was in the north and was called Singhdwar. It remained closed by tin gate and was opened on occasions of fair by Nirmohi Akhara people. The figure of two two-faced lions existed at the said gate, due to which it was called Singhdwar." "34. In east west of the Ramchabutara temple or Ramchabutara, there were two spaces of approximately 2 ¼ feet x 2 ¾ feet, which had doors of iron rod. They were famous amongst the devotees as cave temples. Out of these cave temples, the idols of Kaushalya ji with Lord Ramlala in her lap and of Hanuman ji were present in one cave and the devotees used to have their 'darshan'. The 2 feet tall stone idol of Bharat ji and small ashtadhatu idol of Shatrughan ji were present in the other cave, which was sometimes placed over the Chabutara and sometimes near Bharat ji in the cave temple. निर्मोही अखाड़े के किसी महन्त ने करायी थी। ये सभी बातें अखाड़े के वृद्ध साधुओं से अपने गुरू महराज से जाना है पूछने पर हमारे गुरू ने बताया कि ये बताया कि ये बात उन्होंने परम्परागत अपने गुरू महराज व अपने से वृद्ध नागा अतितों से जाना। ये बातें जो मैंने बतायी कि सिर्फ प्राण प्रतिष्ठा ही देवताओं की हुई सम्पत्ति का कोई समर्पण नहीं हुआ। क्योंकि सम्पत्ति तो पहले तो पहले ही सार्वजानिक धार्मिक न्यास निर्मोही अखाड़े में निहित थी। इन सभी देवताओं के दर्शन के लिए हिन्दूओं को दर्शन करने की पूरी छूट थी किन्तु किसी मुसलमान को अन्दर आने की अनुमति कतई नहीं थी। और न ही कोई मुसलमान अन्दर आने पाता था। ये बातें भी हमने अपने परम्परागत गुरू महराज से जानी 1946 से 1949 तक मुख्य मन्दिर के भीतर वाले भाग में, तथा 1946 से 1982 कुर्की तक राम चबूतरा मन्दिर में षष्ठ मुखी शंकर भगवान स्थल, छठी पूजन स्थल पर बतौर पुजारी निर्मोही अखाड़ा रामानन्दीय बैरागी सम्प्रदाय के परम्परा व रीति रिवाज व वैदिक रूप से पूजा किया व पांचो समय की आरती किया। अखाड़े के महन्त जो चुने जाते हैं। वे अपने चुनाव के बाद अखाड़े के पद ग्रहण करने के बाद रिवाजन पंचो के हक में इकरार नामा करते हैं। और रजिस्ट्री करा देते हैं। अखाडे के किसी भी महन्त को अखाड़े के किसी भी सम्पत्ति के बारे में कोई भी विक्रय पत्र या अन्तरण का कोई भी कागज लिखने का अधिकार नहीं होता हैं जितने भी अखाड़ों का नाम बयान में ऊपर बताया है उनके रीति–रिवाज व परम्परा एक ही हैं निर्वाणी अखाड़ा जिसके अन्तर्गत प्रसिद्ध हनुमान गढ़ी मन्दिर है। उन्होंने अपने कुछ रीति रिवाज दफ्तर सब रजिस्ट्री फैजाबाद में पंजीकरण करा कर पुस्तक के रूप में छपवा कर प्रसारित किया। जिसकी एक पुस्तक की छाया प्रति मुकदमें में दाखिल किया।"

other deities in south east corner inside the courtyard of the outer part, was carried out by Nirmohi Akhara in period beyond human memory. It had also been carried out as per Vedic rites. Similarly, the 'pran-pratishtha' of footmarks of all the four brothers at the Chhathi place had been carried out by some Mahant of Nirmohi Akhara, in period beyond human memory. I have come to know these facts from elderly saints of Akhara and my Guru. On inquiry my Guru had told that he had come to know these facts customarily from his Guru and elderly Naga. The fact stated by me that only 'pran-pratishtha' of the deities had been carried out and that the property had not been surrendered because the property was already vested in public religious trust Nirmohi Akhara. The Hindus has full liberty to have 'darshan' of all these deities but no Muslim was allowed to enter and neither was any Muslim able to go inside. I came to know these facts as well from my customary Guru. The five times 'arti' and worship in the inner part of the main temple from the year 1946 to 1949, and six faced Lord Shankar at Ramchabutara temple and Chhathi worship place from the year 1946 to the attachment in 1982, was carried out by me as priest of Nirmohi Akhara as per the customs and practice of Ramanand Recluse sect and as per Vedic rites. The Mahant of the Akhara is elected. After assuming office in Akhara after the election, he customarily executes agreement in favour of Panchas and gets it registered. No Mahant of the Akhara is vested with the right to execute any sale deed or transfer deed regarding any property of the Akhara. All the Akharas named above have similar customs and practices.

422. In para 50, DW 3/20 has said about the faith of Hindus regarding birth place of Lord Ram as under :

"50. विवादित मन्दिर प्राचीन नाम राम जन्म स्थान रहा शुरू में इसी नाम से प्रचलित रही है लेकिन सामान्यतः पूरे संसार में राम जन्म भूमि के नाम से प्रसिद्ध है। राम जन्म भूमि का वैदिक सनातन महत्व हिन्दू धर्म के अनुसार इसलिए बहुत ज्यादा है कि विष्णु अवतार भगवान रामचन्द्र का जन्म व अवतार इसी स्थल पर हुआ। इस आस्था का प्रमाण मुझे बाल्मीकि कृत रामायण स्कुंद पुराण, रूद्रयामल, तुलसीकृत मानस, और विभिन्न ऐतिहासिक व साहित्यक ग्रंथों के पढ़ने व सुनने से हुआ।"

"50. The ancient name of the disputed temple was Ram Janmsthan and initially it remained famous by this name. However, it is usually famous in the whole world as Ramjanmbhumi. The Ramjanmbhumi has immense Vedic and Sanatan importance in Hindu religion because Vishnu incarnate Lord Ramchandra had been born/descended at this very place. The evidence for this belief was found by me in Valmiki's Ramayan, Skand Purana, Rudrayamal, Tulsi's Ram Charit Manas and by reading and hearing different historical and literary works." (E.T.C.)

423. In para 44, 45, 65 and 73, DW 3/20 has said that Muslims have never offered Namaz at the disputed premises and at least since 1934, they have dared not to go to Garbhgrih, never permitted by Sadhus of Nirmohi Akhara to go towards disputed premises. Rest of the statement contained in the affidavit relating to the contents of certain published material. Testimony of the contents of published material by oral evidence is not admissible in evidence since the contents of the

"4. यह कि मैं पहली बार अयोध्या सन् 1962 में गया था मेरे परिवार की परम्परा रही है कि तीर्थ यात्रा का प्रारम्भ अयोध्या से करते हैं। अयोध्या विश्वका महानतम तीर्थस्थल एवं सप्तपुरियों में से सर्वश्रेष्ठ मोक्ष दायिनी पुरी है। अयोध्या को भगवान श्री राम की जन्मस्थली होने का गौरव प्राप्त है। ऐसा पौराणिक ग्रन्थों एवं बाल्मीकी रामायण में वर्णित है। एवं तुलसीदास कृत "रामचरित्रमानस" में लिखा है मुझे यह ज्ञात है कि यूँ तो समस्त अयोध्या क्षेत्र ही मर्यादा पुरूषोत्तम भगवान राघवेन्द्र श्री राम की जन्मस्थली के रूप में देवतुल्य पूज्य है। परन्तु शास्त्रीय प्रमाणें व ग्रन्थों एवं करोड़ो वर्षो की आस्था के अनुसार अयोध्या के रामकोट मोहल्ले में जन्मभूमि व जन्म स्थान है।"

"4. That I went to Ayodhya for the first time in 1962. It is the tradition of my family that we start pilgrimage from Ayodhya. Ayodhya is the greatest pilgrimage site of the world and is the best liberation-giving puri (city) of the seven puris. Ayodhya has the distinction of being the birthplace of Lord Sri Rama. It is so mentioned in Puranic treatises, the Valmiki Ramayana and Tulsidas written Ram Charit Manas. I know that as a matter of fact the whole area of Ayodhya itself is revered like a deity as the birthplace of tradition-upholding Supreme Being Lord Raghvendra Sri Rama. But according to scriptural proofs and treatises and as per the faith of crores of years, the birthland and birthplace are situated in Ram Kot locality of Ayodhya." (E.T.C.)

''13. यह कि मेरे अध्ययन व जानकारी के अनुसार अयोध्या का प्रकरणगत स्थल ही भगवान् श्रीराम की जन्मभूमि है। यह सर्वविदित तथ्य है कि प्रभु श्रीराम का जन्म अयोध्या में हुआ था और वे इक्ष्वाकुवंशी चक्रवर्ती राजा दशरथ के ज्येष्ठ पुत्र थे। प्रकरणगत स्थल उनकी जन्मभूमि के रूप में सनातनधर्मावलम्बियों द्वारा तब से ही अनवरत पूजित होता चला आ रहा है। इसके पीछे हमारी आस्था, परम्परा, विश्वास और प्रसिद्धि का प्रबल आधार है।''

''13. That as per my study and knowledge, Ayodhya-situated site in question is itself the birthplace of Lord Sri Rama. It is a well known fact that Lord Sri Rama was born in Ayodhya and he was the eldest son of Supreme Ruler Dashrath of Ikshwaku dynasty. Since then the site in question has consistently been worshipped as his birthplace by adherents of orthodox Hinduism. Our faith, tradition and belief and its fame have been strong bases of it.'' and such worship leads to the fulfillment of all desires and to the attainment of liberation." (E.T.C.)

"15. शास्त्रों में जन्म से जुड़ी सभी वस्तुओं का विशेष महत्व बताया गया है। वहॉ जैसे जन्मतिथि, नक्षत्र, दिन, का महत्व प्रतिपादित है वैसे ही जन्मस्थान का भी महत्व विशेष रूप से वर्णित है। भगवान श्रीराम ने स्वयं लंका विजय के पश्चात अपने छोटे भाई लक्ष्मण से यह कहकर जन्मभूमि के महत्व को बढ़ा दिया है कि लंका भले ही सोने की है। पर हे लक्ष्मण ! मुझे यह नहीं रूच रही। (मुझे तो अयोध्या की याद आ रही है। क्योंकि) जननी और जन्मभूमि तो स्वर्ग से भी बढ़कर हैं। श्लोक इस प्रकार है–

जननी जन्मभूमिश्च स्वर्गादपि गरीयसी।"

"15. All objects associated birth are stated in scriptures to be of special significance. The importance of date of birth, nakshatra and day is shown there. Similarly, the importance of birthplace is also particularly mentioned. Lord Sri Rama has himself enhanced the importance of the birthplace by saying to his younger brother Lakshman after his conquest over Lanka that 'Lanka may be made of gold, but O Lakshman! It does not look beautiful to me. (Memory of Ayodhya is occurring to me because mother and motherland are greater even than the paradise). The verse runs as under-

"17. यह कि जन्मस्थान में किसी प्रकार की प्रतिष्ठा या निर्माण आवश्यक नहीं हैं क्योंकि जन्मस्थान शक्तिमान् के जन्म से स्वतः शक्तिसम्पन्न हो जाता है। साथ ही निरन्तर पूजा–अर्चना से वह शक्ति जागृत बनी रहती है और लोगों को उनका अभीप्सित प्रदान करने में समर्थ होता है।"

"18. यह कि स्थल–पुराण के रूप में प्रसिद्ध स्कन्दपुराण के वैष्णवखण्ड के अयोध्या माहात्म्य के दसवें अध्याय में अयोध्या यात्रा की विधि वर्णित है जिसमें स्पष्ट रूप से श्रीराम के जन्मस्थान का उल्लेख तथा अतिशायी महत्व वर्णित है। आज भी इस पुराण के उक्त सन्दर्भ में वर्णित स्थल अयोध्या में उपलबध हैं। यही कारण है कि प्रत्येक सनातनधर्मी अयोध्या जाकर इस स्थलों, विशेषकर श्रीरामजन्मभूमि का दर्शन करता है, परिक्रमा करता है और उस स्थान विशेष की रज को अपने सिर पर धारण कर अपने कृतकृत्य समझता है।"

"18. That the mode of Ayodhya journey finds mention in the 10th chapter of Ayodhya Mahatmya of Vaishnav Khand of Skandha Purana, famed as Sthal-purana. It clearly mentions the birthplace of Sri Rama and its considerable importance. The site mentioned in the said context of this Purana exists in Ayodhya even today. For this very reason, every adherent of orthodox Hinduism go to Ayodhya to do darshan and parikrama (circumambulation) of these places, particularly of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi and considers himself to be fortunate to have the dust of that particular place and to apply it to his head." (E.T.C.)

"19. यह कि प्राचीन भारत का लगभग समग्र साहित्य भगवान् श्रीराम की गाथाओं से भरा पड़ा है। वेदों, पुराणों, उपनिषदों तथा बाल्मीकि रामायण आदि ग्रन्थों में उनके जन्म और कर्म वर्णित हैं। यह परम्परा हिन्दी – अवधी के श्रीरामचरितमानस आदि आधुनिकतम साहित्य में भी कायम है।"

"20. श्रीराम का राजा दशरथ के घर माता कौशल्या से जन्म हुआ था और उन्होंने अपने लोकोत्तर चरित्रों से महामानव या भगवान् की पदवी प्राप्त कर ली। इसका यही प्रमाण है कि आज भी रघुवंशी क्षत्रिय विद्यमान हैं जो स्वयं को श्रीराम का या उनके पुत्र कुश – जो कि राम के बाद अयोध्या के राजा बने थे– के वंशज हैं।"

"20. Sri Rama was born to mother Kaushalya at the house of King Dashrath and by virtue of his ethereal demeanours assumed the title of Superhuman or Bhagwan. Its proof is that even today Kshatriyas, descended from Raghuvansh, exist and they are descendents either of Sri Rama or of his son, Kusha, who became the King of Ayodhya after Rama." (E.T.C.)

"25. यह कि करोड़ों सनातनधर्मियों द्वारा राष्ट्देवता के रूप में पूजित भगवान् श्रीराम की जन्मभूमि उनके लिए सर्वोच्च महत्व की स्थली है ठीक उसी प्रकार जैसे मुसलमान भाइयों के लिए मक्का।"

"33. यह कि मेरी जानकारी में प्रकरणगत स्थल पर कभी भी किसी मुसलमान भाई ने नमाज नहीं पढ़ी है। और यदि पढ़ी भी हो तो उतने मात्र से वह भूमि न तो मस्जिद हो जाती है और न ही सनातनधर्मियों के लिए नापाक अथवा पवित्र। हमने देखा कि हमारे आस्था सम्पन्न मुस्लिम भाई रेलवे स्टेशन, बस स्टेशन, रेल आदि सार्वजनिक स्थानों पर पूरी श्रत्रद्धा से नमाज अदा करते हैं परन्तु क्या इतने मात्र से उपर्युक्त स्थान मस्जिद हो जाते हैं?"

"33. That as per my knowledge no Muslim has ever offered namaj at the place in question. Even if namaj is offered, this alone does not make that land a mosque nor does it become unholy for orthodox Hindus. We have seen that our devout Muslims offer namaj with full reverence at public places such as Railway stations, bus-stands, railway trains, etc. but do the said places become mosques only on this account?" (E.T.C.)

"39. That there continues to be a public perception that Babur through his army commander Mir Baqi demolished a large temple located at Lord Sri Rama's birthplace at Ram Kot in Ayodhya and tried to give it the shape of mosque. But due to constant protest by orthodox Hindus it could never be given the shape of mosque and it continued to see pooja and archana (worship and prayer) of Lord Sri Ram Lala. But as per my study, this prevalent and circulated perception appears to be only of the British time but prior to it no such proof is available at any site." (E.T.C.)

'40. यह कि प्रकरणगत स्थल को लेकर जो विवाद की स्थिति निर्मित हुई है मेरे विचार से वह अंग्रेजों की फूट डालों और राज करों की नीति का परिणाम है। ऐसे में सनातनधर्मियों एवं इस्लाम के अनुयायियों को इस वास्तविकता के आलोक में पारस्परिक द्वन्द और द्वेष भूलकर एक होकर भारतीय राष्ट् की शक्ति का संवर्धन करना चाहिए।''

He has lot of faith and belief in Lord Ram and in this respect he said as under :

''भगवान राम के जन्म के सम्बन्ध में हमारे यहॉ वाल्मीकि रामायण प्रथम स्थान रखता है। वाल्मीकि रामायण के एक–एक वाक्य को हम इतिहास व वेद के रूप में स्वीकार करते हैं। मेरे समक्ष श्रीमद्वाल्मीकि रामायण की पुस्तक है। मेरे समक्ष वाल्मीकि रामायण की जो प्रति है, वह गीताप्रेस गोरखपुर से प्रकाशित तथा प्रमाणित प्रति है। वाल्मीकि में लिखी बातें भगवान राम के प्रादुर्भाव के सम्बन्ध में लिखी बातें हैं जो रामायण के जिस पात्र के सम्बन्ध में कहा गया है, वह उस पात्र के सम्बन्ध में मान्य है। यह सभी बातें, सभी पात्रों के सम्बन्ध में मान्य नहीं है। पात्र से मेरा तात्पर्य महाराज दशरथ, रानी कौशल्या, महारानी कैकेयी, श्री हनुमान, सुग्रीव, केवट, शबरी, जटायु, अयोध्या, मिथिला, महाराजा जनक, महारानी सीता, महारानी उर्मिला, महारानी माण्डवी, महारानी श्रुतिकीर्ति, वशिष्ठ, विश्वामित्र आदि से है। इन पात्रों में सर्वप्रथम श्री रामचन्द्र जी हैं। इन सभी पात्रों में प्रमुख नायक श्री राम चन्द्र जी हैं।''

mentioned in Valmiki (Ramayana) are about the descendence of Lord Rama and the facts mentioned about any particular character, are acceptable as regards that character. All these facts are not acceptable about all the characters. "According to my faith, the following four are the main facts in this behalf, viz.- name, 'roop'(form), 'leela'

(action) and 'dhaam' (abode). In our community, all four of them have virtually been treated to be one by taking them to be disintegration of God Sachchidanand. The name implies Lord Rama. The meaning of term Rama originates from the generic term 'ramukridayam' and it has been written as 'ramante, kridante, yoganyon, asmintirama'. In order to gather information about any person, it is essential to have knowledge of his name and place of abode. It has been mentioned in Valmiki Ramayana that Lord Rama was born at Ayodhya*. The description about Ayodhya is to be found in our Vedas, Upnishads, Sanghitas, 18 Up-Puranas, Smritis and all acceptable literature in the cultural domain of India and in all of them Ayodhya has been considered to be the birthplace of Lord. It is the same Ayodhya, which exists today. Lord Rama had incarnated at this very place. All the said religious treatises of Hindus clearly give the boundary in this behalf. The paper no. 107C/5 is before me. Clear description in this behalf is contained in the chapter of Skand Purana dealing with the importance of Ayodhya.* The birthplace of Lord Rama and the 'Garbh-grih', is the disputed site, where Ramlala is now present." (E.T.C.)

Regarding birth of Lord Ram at the disputed site and faith of the people about the said birthplace etc., in paras 3, 4, 5 and 6, he has deposed as under:

> ''3. अयोध्या हिन्दुओं की एक प्राचीन पवित्रतम तीर्थ स्थली है जहां परब्रह्म परमेश्वर भगवान विष्णु ने राजा दशरथ के पुत्र श्रीराम के रूप में अवतार लिया था। हिन्दू मतावलम्बियों में अनादि काल से यह आस्था एवं विश्वास रहा है कि भगवान विष्णु ने श्रीराम के रूप में अयोध्या में अवतार लिया था। यह स्थल पूज्य है इसी आस्था एवं विश्वास के आधार पर लोग श्रीराम जन्मभूमि का दर्शन और परिक्रमा करने आते थे। मेरे परिवार के लोग, मेरे बाबा, अयोध्या में जब मैं 1934 से 1938 तक शिक्षा ग्रहण के दौरान रहा तो वहां के बड़े बुजुर्ग साधू संत भी बताते थे कि भगवान विष्णु ने भगवान श्रीराम के रूप में यहीं जन्म लिया था, और यही श्रीराम जन्मभूमि है, इसी आस्था और विश्वास के आधार पर मैं श्रीराम जन्मभूमि पर दर्शन करने जाता रहा और पढ़ाई समाप्त करने के बाद भी जब कभी अयोध्या आता था तब भी दर्शन करने जाता था, इधर लगभग 8–9 साल से सुग्रीव किला राम कोट अयोध्या में अधिकांश समय रहता हूँ। और राम जन्मभूमि का दर्शन करने जाता रहता हूँ।''

> ''3. Ayodhya is an ancient sacred pilgrimage of Hindus, where the Almighty Lord Vishnu had incarnated as Lord Sri Rama, the son of King Dashrath. The followers of Hinduism have inculcated this faith and belief from ancient times that Lord Vishnu had incarnated Himself at Ayodhya as Sri Rama. This place is revered and it is out of this faith and belief that people used to come over to have darshan and perform circumambulation of Sri Ram Janmbhumi. During my stay at Ayodhya between 1934 to 1938 in connection with my education, my family members, my grand father, and other elderly saints used to tell me that Lord Vishnu had incarnated at this very place in form of Lord Sri Rama and this is Sri Ram Janmbhumi. I used to go to have darshan of Sri Ram Janmbhumi out of this faith and belief and even after completing my studies I used to have darshan whenever I came over to Ayodhya. For the last 8-9 years, I mostly stay at Sugriv Qila, Ramkot, Ayodhya and keep going to Ram Janmbhumi for darshan." (E.T.C.)

"4. श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर में जाने का रास्ता पूरब से था, इस पूरब के द्वार को हनुमत द्वार कहा जाता था। इस द्वार से श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर में जाने पर बाये तरफ राम चबूतरा पर श्रीराम दरबार की मूर्तियां विराजमान थी उसके दक्षिण एक नीम एवं पीपल का पेड़ था वहां भी मूर्तियां विराजमान थी। हनुमत द्वार के दाहिने तरफ छप्पर का बना एक बहुत बड़ा झोपड़ा था जिसे भंडार कहा जाता था इसमें सैकड़ों साधू संत रहते थे और उनके बनाने–खाने का पूरा इंतजाम उसी में था जिसमें वे बनाते–खाते थे। साधू लोग चौबीसों घंटे ढ़ोल–झाल–मजीरा बजाते हुए कीर्तन करते रहते थे अन्य दर्शनार्थी, तीर्थयात्री भी कीर्तन में सम्मिलित होते रहते थे। इस परिसर के उत्तरी प्रवेश द्वार को सिंह द्वार कहा जाता था। सड़क से सिंह द्वार तक आने के लिए सीढ़ियां थी जो काफी जीर्ण–शीर्ण हो गयी थी टूट गयी थी इससे कोई आता–जाता नहीं था। सिंह द्वार के अन्दर सीता रसोई थी जिसमें चौका–बेलन–चूल्हा–चरण चिन्ह आदि थे जिनका दर्शन सभी हिन्दू धर्मानुयायी तीर्थयात्री करते थे। उसके दक्षिण भगवान श्रीराम की जन्मभूमि थी और वहीं गर्भ गृह कहा जाता था जिनका दर्शन मैं भी करता था।"

"4. The entrance to the Sri Ram Janmbhumi premises was in the east, and this gate in the east was called Hanumatdwar. On entering the Sri Ram Janmbhumi premises through this gate, was the Ramchabutra in left with deities of Sri Ram Darbaar present over it. To its south were Neem and Pipal tree. Deities were present over there as well. To the right of the Hanumatdwar was a very big hut with thatched roof, which was called store. Hundreds of saints used to live there. The entire arrangement of their fooding was available there and they used to live there and prepare their meals. The saints used to remain engaged round the clock in reciting Bhajans by playing Dhol-Jhaal-Manjira. Other devotees, pilgrims also used to participate in the Kirtan. The northern entrance gate to this premises was called the Singh Dwar. There were steps leading from the road to the Singh Dwar, which were much dilapidated and none used to use them. There was Sita Rasoi inside the Singh Dwar, which included Chauka-Belan-Choolha(hearth)-Charan Chinha(foot marks) etc. and all the Hindu pilgrims used to have their darshan. To its south was the birth place of Lord Sri Rama and the same was called Garbh-grih and I also used to have its darshan." (E.T.C.)

"5. चैत्र रामनवमी, सावन झूला, परिक्रमा मेला एवं राम विवाह के अवसर पर देश के कोने–कोने से हिन्दू धर्मानुयायी तीर्थयात्री अयोध्या आते और सरयू नदी में स्नान करने के पश्चात् मंदिरों में दर्शन करते रहे हैं, सभी तीर्थ यात्री राम जन्मभूमि का दर्शन करने अवश्य ही जाते थे। और अपनी श्रद्धा के अनुसार फल–फूल–पैसा आदि चढ़ाते थे। श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर के बाहर–बाहर चारों तरफ परिक्रमा बनी हुई थी। तीर्थयात्री, दर्शनार्थी इस पूरे परिसर की परिक्रमा करते थे। नियमित रूप से सैकड़ों श्रद्धालु प्रतिदिन परिक्रमा करते रहते थे।"

"5. On the occasions of Chaitra Ram Navami, Sawan Jhoola, Parikrama mela (circumambulation fair) and Rama Vivah, Hindu pilgrims from all corners of the country used to visit Ayodhya and have darshan in the temples after taking a holy dip in the river Saryu. All the pilgrims definitely visited the Ram Janmbhumi to have darshan and used to offer money-flower-fruits as per their faith. A circumambulation path was laid down around the Sri Ram Janmbhumi premises. Hundreds of devotees used to regularly perform circumambulation everyday."

''6. श्री राम जन्मभूमि परिसर के पूरब–दक्षिण कोने पर लगभग 200–250 कदम की दूरी पर सीताकूप था। इस कूप के जल का प्रयोग तीर्थयात्री, दर्शनार्थी और श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर में रहने वाले साधू संत करते थे। श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर में हिन्दू धर्मानुयायी तीर्थयात्रियों, साधु संतो की हमेशा भीड़ लगी रहती थी। कोई मुसलमान उसके आस–पास भी कभी नहीं आता–जाता था। और न ही कोई मुसलमान उस परिसर के अन्दर जाता था। मैंने कभी किसी मुसलमान को उसके अन्दर जाते व नमाज पढ़ते नहीं देखा। परिसर के नजदीक कभी अनजाने में भी कोई मुसलमान दिखाई दे जाता था तो साधू संत उसे मारने के लिए दौड़ा लेते थे इसलिए भय के कारण कोई मुसलमान उधर आता ही नहीं था। श्री राम जन्मभूमि परिसर में स्थित गर्भ गृह भवन में काले कसौटी के खम्भे लगे हुए थे जिन पर फूल–पत्तियां, देवी–देवताओं की मूर्तियां बनी हुई थी। गुंबदों वाला भवन ही पवित्र गर्भ गृह था जहां भगवान श्रीराम का जन्म होना माना जाता रहा है। हिन्दू तीर्थयात्री एवं दर्शनार्थी उन पर भी फल–फूल–पैसा आदि श्रद्धावश चढ़ाते थे। श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर के आस–पास हिन्दुओं के तमाम मंदिर शुरू से रहे है।''

The water of this well was used by the pilgrims, devotees and the saints residing at Sri Ram Janmbhumi premises. The Sri Ram Janmbhumi premises was always flooded with Hindu pilgrims and saints. No Muslim ever came near the same nor ever went inside the premises. I never saw any Muslim go inside it or offer namaz over there. Even if any Muslim was mistakenly found near the premises, the saints used to chase him away and as such no Muslim came to that side out of fear. There were touch stone pillars in the Garbh-grih structure at the Sri Ram Janmbhumi premises, which had figures of flowers-leaves, Gods-Goddesses engraved over them. The dome structure was the sacred Garbh-grih, where Lord Sri

"4. Ayodhya is nearly 30-35 kilometres from my village, Pahunti. Ram Janam Bhumi is nearly 9-10 kilometres from Acharya Nagar. In December of 1935, I came to Ayodhya along with my uncle, Sri Mata Prasad Tripathi for the first time. I was at that time nearly 12-13 years of age. I had then stayed at Ayohdya for 5-6 days. At that time my uncle used to live in the Vijay Raghava temple, Ayodhya, which is nearly half a kilometre away from Sri Ram Janam Bhumi. He was 10-11 years senior to me. My uncle was a student of Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya located at Bada Sthan at Ayodhya. He got schooling from Prathama to Acharya by residing in Ayodhya from 1932 to 1945. My uncle took me for a walk to Ayodhya. First of all, he took me for a dip in Saryu. Later on we went to have darshan of the Nageshwar Nath temple. After that we went to have darshan of Hanumangarhi, Kanak Bhawan, Ram Kutchery and Sri Ram Janam Bhumi. After that I used to go to have darshan of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi and Kanak Bhawan in the morning and evening daily for as many days as I stayed in

'5. उसके बाद सन् 1936 के चैत्र मास में मैं अपने पिता जी तथा दादी के साथ चैत्र राम नवमी के अवसर पर अयोध्या गया। हनुमान गढ़ी, कनक भवन और श्रीराम जन्मभूमि का दर्शन हम लोगों ने किया। राम नवमी के समय देश के कोने–कोने से लाखों की संख्या में लोग अयोध्या आये हुए थे। अयोध्या आने वाले अधिकांश तीर्थ यात्री एवं दर्शनार्थी श्रीराम जन्मभूमि पर दर्शन पूजा करने आते है। श्रीराम जन्मभूमि का दर्शन करने के बाद हजारों लोगों को पूरे श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर का बाहर से परिक्रमा करते हुए मैंने कई बार देखा। मेरी दादी पिता जी और मैं भी दर्शन करने के बाद श्रीराम जन्मभूमि के पूरे परिसर का परिक्रमा किया। दादी वृद्धावस्था के कारण केवल एक बार परिक्रमा कर पायीं किन्तु मेरे पिता जी तथा मैंने श्रीराम जन्मभूमि की पांच परिक्रमा पूरा किया।''

"5. After that, in Chaitra month of 1936, I along with my father and grandmother went to Ayodhya on the occasion of Ram Navami falling in month of Chaitra. We had darshan of Hanumangarhi, Kanak Bhawan and Sri Ram Janam Bhumi. On the occasion of Ram Navami, lakhs of people had come to Ayodhya from the nooks and corners of the country. Most of Ayodhya-bound pilgrims and darshan seekers come to have darshan and pooja at Sri Ram Janam Bhumi. I have on several times seen thousands of people doing circumambulation of the entire Sri Ram Janam Bhumi from outside after having its darshan. After having darshan my grand mother and I also did parikrama around the entire premises of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi. Because of her old age, grandmother could do parikrama just once but my father and I did parikrama of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi five times." (E.T.C.)

''7. ऐसी आस्था, मान्यता एवं विश्वास है कि भगवान श्रीराम का जन्म अयोध्या में हुआ था और वह स्थान श्रीराम जन्मभूमि के नाम से विख्यात है। जहां देश के कोने कोने से लाखों की संख्या में दर्शनार्थी आते हैं और

श्रीराम जन्मभूमि का दर्शन करके उसकी परिक्रमा करते हैं। इसी आस्था एवं विश्वास के आधार पर हम लोग भी प्रतिवर्ष तीन–चार बार श्रीराम जन्मभूमि का दर्शन व परिक्रमा अवश्य ही करते है।''

''7. It is faith, recognition and belief that Lord Sri Rama was born in Ayodhya and that place is famous by the name of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi, where lakhs of darshan- seekers come from the nooks and corners of the country and do the parikrama of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi after having its darshan. On the basis of this very faith and belief, we also certainly go for darshan and parikrama (sight and circumambulation) of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi 3-4 times every year.'' (E.T.C.)

''8. मेरा भी दृढ़ विश्वास एवं आस्था है कि भगवान श्रीराम का जन्म अयोध्या में उसी स्थान पर हुआ है, जहां हजारों हिन्दू तीर्थ यात्री दर्शनार्थी आकर दर्शन पूजा व परिक्रमा करते हैं। इसी आस्था एवं विश्वास के आधार पर मैं भी 1935 से प्रतिवर्ष साल में 3–4 बार अयोध्या गया और वहां सरयू स्नान के बाद कनक भवन, हनुमान गढ़ी व श्रीराम जन्मभूमि का दर्शन व श्रीराम जन्मभूमि की परिक्रमा किया।''

''8. I also have a firm belief and faith that Lord Sri Rama was born at that very place in Ayodhya where thousands of Hindu pilgrims and darshan seekers come to do darshan, pooja and parikrama. Under this very faith and belief I also went to Ayodhya 3-4 times a year since 1935 and after having a dip in Saryu had darshan of Kanak Bhawan, Hanumangarhi and Sri Ram Janam Bhumi and performed circumambulation of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi.'' (E.T.C.)

''9. सन् 1935 से 1945 तक जब तक मेरे चाचा अयोध्या में रहकर विद्या अध्ययन करते रहे। तब तक मैं जब भी साल में तीन–चार बार अयोध्या आता था। तो 2–4 दिन लगातार रूका और हनुमान गढ़ी, कनक भवन व श्रीराम जन्मभूमि का दर्शन प्रतिदिन किया 1945 के बाद भी मैं साल में 4–5 बार अयोध्या जाकर हनुमान गढ़ी, कनक भवन, श्रीराम जन्मभूमि का दर्शन

"9. During 1935 to 1945, as long as my uncle kept residing and studying in Ayodhya, I used to go to Ayodhya 3-4 times a year. I daily had darshan of Hanumangarhi, Kanak Bhawan and Sri Ram Janam Bhumi by staying constantly for 2-4 days. Even after 1945 I used to go to Ayodhya 4-5 times a year and after having darshan of Hanumangarhi, Kanak Bhawan and Sri Ram Janam Bhumi used to return on the same day." (E.T.C.)

''10. श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर में जाने के लिए मुख्य प्रवेश द्वार पूरब में था, जिसको हनुमत द्वार कहा जाता था। हनुमत द्वार से अन्दर जाने पर दक्षिण तरफ राम चबूतरा था जिस पर राम दरबार की मूर्तियां विराजमान थी, उसके दक्षिण–पूरब कोने पर एक पीपल व नीम का पेड़ था, जिसके नीचे जड़ के पास शिव दरबार की मूर्तियां विराजमान थीं। हनुमत द्वार के उत्तर बहुत बड़ा फूस का झोपड़ा था जिसे भंडार कहा जाता था, उसमें साधुओं का गल्ला–अनाज व बर्तन आदि रखने एवं भोजन बनाने–खाने की व्यवस्था थी। श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर में साधु–वैरागी रहते थे। राम चबूतरा और भंडार के ठीक सामने पश्चिम की ओर की दीवार थी जिसमें सीकचों की कई खिड़कियां व दो दरवाजे लगे थे दरवाजे में ताला बन्द रहता था। सीकचों वाली दीवार के पश्चिम तीन शिखरों वाला भवन था। जिसमें बीच वाले शिखर के भाग की भूमि हिन्दू परम्परा, आस्था, विश्वास एवं मान्यता के अनुसार भगवान श्रीराम की जन्मभूमि है जिसे गर्भ गृह कहा जाता है। इसी परम्परा, आस्था एवं विश्वास के आधार पर मैं भी श्रीराम जन्मभूमि का दर्शन एवं परिक्रमा करने जाता था।''

"10. To enter Sri Ram Janam Bhumi premises there was a main entrance gate in the east which was called Hanumat Dwar. On entering the Hanumat Dwar there was Ram Chabutra in the south with idols of Ram Darbaar. On its south-eastern corner lay a fig-tree and a neem tree beneath which were seated idols of Sri Darbaar near the root. Towards the north of Hanumat Dwar was a very big thatched hut which was called store room and had arrangement for keeping grains, utensils, etc. and for cooking and eating food. Saints and hermits used to live in Sri Ram Janam Bhumi premises. Just in front of Ram Chabutra and the store room lay the western wall which had several windows with bars and had two gates, which used to be locked. To the west of the wall having bars was a three dome building, in which the land forming part of the central dome is, as per Hindu tradition, faith, belief and recognition, is the birth place of Lord Sri Rama which is called 'garbh-grih' (sanctum sanctorum). On the basis of this very tradition, faith and belief, I also went to have darshan and parikrama of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi." (E.T.C.)

"11. श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर के उत्तर वाले प्रवेश द्वार को सिंह द्वार कहा जाता था। प्रवेश द्वार तक पहुंचने के लिए सीढ़िया थी, जो टूटी हुई थी। उससे अन्दर आने पर सीता रसोई थी। वहां चौकी, बेलन, चूल्हा, चरण–चिन्ह आदि थे। उसके दक्षिण भगवान श्रीराम की जन्मभूमि थी जिसे गर्भ गृह कहा जाता था। जन्मभूमि पर स्थित मंदिर प्राचीन भव्य मंदिर का ही अवशेष है।"

"11. The entrance gate located to the north of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi premises, was called Singh Dwar. Leading to the entrance gate there were steps, which were broken. On entering by them, there was Sita Rasoi, where there were chauki, belan (rolling pin), chulha (hearth), foot-prints etc. To its south lay the birthplace of Lord Sri Rama which was called 'garbh-grih' (sanctum sanctorum). The temple located at the birthplace is a remnant only of an ancient magnificent temple." (E.T.C.)

"12. All pilgrims and darshan-seekers coming to have sight of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi, after entering Sri Ram Janam Bhumi premises through the eastern gate, used to do darshan and pooja of the idols seated on Ram Chabutra and those placed beneath the neem tree and fig-tree and also of Sita Rasoi, foot-prints, etc. and used to have sight of and pay obeisance to the very holy birthplace of Lord Sri Rama which was located inside the wall with bars, and was regarded as 'garbh-grih'. The pilgrims and darshan seekers used to offer fruits, flowers, objects, etc. depending on the level of their reverence. On coming inside through the route of the wall with bars, the pilgrims, devotees and we, as per our reverence, used to offer fruits, flowers, objects, etc. even towards the 'garbh-grih'." (E.T.C.)

''13. श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर के चारों ओर परिक्रमा मार्ग बना था जिससे लोग परिक्रमा करते थे। श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर के दक्षिण पूरब कोने पर लगभग 200–250 कदम की दूरी पर सीता कूप था। इसके जल का प्रयोग तीर्थयात्री दर्शनार्थी तथा श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर में रहने वाले साधू–वैरागी करते थे। इस परिसर में हिन्दू तीर्थयात्रियों, दर्शनार्थियों, साधू–वैरागियों की हमेशा भीड़ लगी रहती थी। मैंने कभी किसी मुसलमान को श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर की ओर आते हुए नहीं देखा न ही कभी किसी मुसलमान को उस परिसर के अन्दर कभी घुसते ही पाया था। श्रीराम जन्मभूमि हिन्दूओं का अति पवित्र स्थल होने के कारण एवं साधुओं तथा वैरागियों के डर के

''13. Around Sri Ram Janam Bhumi premises was built parikrama marg (path of circumambulation) through which people did circumambulation. On the south-eastern corner of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi premises and at the distance of nearly 200-250 paces from it lay Sita Koop. Its water was used by pilgrims and darshan seekers and by saints and hermits living in Sri Ram Janam Bhumi premises. There always used to be crowd of Hindu pilgrims, darshan-seekers, saints and recluses in the premises. I never saw any Muslim come towards Sri Ram Janam Bhumi premises nor did I ever find any Muslim enter the premises. On account of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi being a very holy place for Hindus and for fear of saints and recluses, no Muslim could gather courage to come in and around this premises because saints and recluses used to kill them.'' There are several temples in and around Sri Ram Janam Bhumi premises. The pillars made of touch stone (black stone) were fixed to the gates of the sanctum sanctorum, and Hindu pilgrims used to do pooja and darshan also of images engraved therein. Around Sri Ram Janam Bhumi temple, there is only Hindu inhabitation and there are a large number of temples where darshan & poojan takes place and bells & gongs keep ringing constantly. The human figure appeared to be a 'dwarpal' (gate keeper) and its face had been scratched. My brother told me that they were the idols of Jai-Vijai. On entering the Sri Ramjanmbhumi premises through Hanumatdwar, the Ramchabutara was in left side i.e. towards south, where the idols of Ram Darbar were present. The Shiv Darbar i.e. idols of Shivlinga, Nandi, Ganesh, Parvati, five faced Shiva, were present under the Pipal and Neem tree in south-east corner of Ramchabutara. Below the Ramchabutara, was the cave temple. "10. मई, जून सन् 1992 में अयोध्या में श्रीराम जन्मभूमि के निकट भूमि समतलीकरण की कार्यवाही चल रही थी। सन् 1992 के बीच में श्रीराम जन्मभूमि परिसर के पूरब जब समतलीकरण हो रहा था, मैं भी गया तो हनुमत द्वार के 15–20 कदम पूरब–दक्षिण कोने पर एक ट्रैक्टर फॅस गया और कोशिश के बाद भी आगे नहीं बढ़ सका उससे अजीब सी आवाज होने लगी तब मैं और बहुत से लोग वहां इकठ्ठे हो गये ड्राईवर ने ट्रैक्टर को पीछे हटाया और मजदूर वहां फावड़े से खोदने लगे तो वहां से टूटे बड़े–बड़े पत्थर के टुकड़े निकलने लगे। मजदूरों ने मिलकर उन्हें बाहर निकाला जो पुराने मन्दिर के अवशेष मालूम होते थे।"

"10. The land levelling process was being carried out near Sri Ramjanmbhumi in Ayodhya in May, June, 1992. In the mid of year 1992, when the levelling work was being carried out in east of Sri Ramjanmbhumi, then I had also gone there when a tractor got stuck up in the south-east corner about 15-20 paces away from Hanumatdwar and despite attempts, it could not move ahead, and strange sounds started emanating from there. Then me and many other people gathered over there and the driver pulled back the tractor and the labours dug up the place with spade and pieces of big broken stones were found. The labours took them out, and they appeared to be remains of

in in the Treta age. As per Valimiki's Ramyana, he ruled for about 11 thousand years. Tulsidas composed the Ram Charit Manas at Ayodhya-situated Datuan Kund, which is also called Datoon Kund. There is no such mention in the Ram Charit Manas or any other literature of Tulsidas that any mosque was built at Ayodhya after demolishing Sri Rama temple. No such mention is found in any book of Hindu religion that Babri mosque was built at the birthplace of Ram Chandra or that the birthplace of Ram Chandra existed at the place where Babri mosque was built.

I have been to the place where the Babri mosque had been built. I have also gone inside the mosque. I went there on February 2, 1986 and saw that idols were placed on what looks like a 'member' in mosques. Those were three idols. They were idols representing tradition-upholding Supreme Being Sri Rama, Sita and Lakshman. I, for the last time, visited the building in 1991. When I, for the last time, went there, I saw that there were some changes; some parasols were placed and idols were on the throne. The place were nearly the same; there was a bit locational difference. The structure of the building was the same as that of the mosque. 'Safas' were built on the floor inside. I have been to the building for five or six times." (E.T.C.)

"I saw the disputed site, that is, the Babri mosque. I have seen it by going to the site. I even did on-the-spot measurements at the disputed site with the help of drafts-man and photographer . In course of my research, I came across no proof enabling me to say that the Babri mosque was built by demolishing any temple. As per the research of Prof. B.B. Lal and Sri A. K. Narayan, nothing has been found evidencing habitation in Ayodhya prior to the 7th century B.C.. (Paper no. 110C1/8 filed in Suit No. 5 was shown to the witness where upon he stated that this article is in his hand- writing and a letter annexed to it bears his signature). Accompanying this very letter, my article (paper nos. 110C/1/9 to 110C1/13) is my own article. (Sri Devaki Nandan Agarwal raised objection over this issue and contended that the aforesaid document is not an original copy, that is, an original document; hence it is not admissible in evidence and cannot be proved. This objection will be considered at the hearing of the case.) The corrections and cuttings that have been made on this photostat copy of article, were made by myself. I cannot certainly say whether I have its original copy or not. What I have written in this article, is correct to my understanding. But after making study on Ayodhya I have made certain additions to this article. During my Ayodhya visit, I was accompanied by Prof R.S. Sharma as well as a drafts-man and a photographer. After completion of this research work I sent a report to I.C.H.R.. (In this behalf, when the attention of the witness was drawn to a report captioned 'Ram Janam Bhumi-Babri Masjid: A Historian Report', annexed to Application no. 7O/2000 sent by Home Secretary, Government of India in O.S. No. 4/89, he stated) Running from paper no. C2/190/1 to 20, this report was a joint report prepared by me and three other persons viz. Dr. R.S. Sharma Prof. M. Athar Ali and Prof. D. N. Jha. This report is with a covering letter dated 13th May, 1991 on which R.S. Sharma and Athar Ali themselves have put their signatures and Prof. R.S. Sharma has signed on my behalf and Prof. Athar Ali has signed on behalf of Prof. D.N. Jha. The designation shown in this letter, is correct. On the back of the first page of the report is shown my designation, in which the word 'index study' ought to have been used in place of science. The four of us collectively gave a final shape to this report. I absolutely agree to the contents of this report even today. I had written archaeology-related portion in this research work. That is to say, my contribution in this report is in relation to archaeology. The report which has been shown to me, is the same that was sent by me. The contents of this report are correct. I recognise the signatures of R.S. Sharma and M. Athar Ali, and this report bears signatures of these very persons. This paper is marked as Exhibit Ka 62."

476. PW 16 was recalled by plaintiffs (Suit-4) to give his views in the light of a book written by Dr. T.P. Verma and Dr. S.P. Gupta, i.e., "Ayodhya Ka Itihas Evam Puratatva-Rigved Kal Se Aaj Tak" (Ex.3, Suit-5). He filed affidavit dated 26.08.2002 as statement-in-chief. The purpose of the said affidavit is mentioned in para 2 as under:

> "2. That the deponent has been informed by the plaintiffs' counsel that he has been recalled to give his statement mainly regarding the claims made in the Book entitled as "Ayodhya Ka Itihas Evam Puratatva-Rigved Kal Se Aaj Tak" writeen by Dr. T.P.Verma and Dr. S.P. Gupta filed in this Hon'ble Court after the deponent's statement on oath recorded in this case. The deponent is an archaeologist and has adequate experience of filed archaeology."

477. In respect to the above book and its contents, PW-16 gave his statement in paras 3 to 17 of the affidavit as under:

> "3. That the deponent has gone through the relevant portions of the aforesaid Book on Ayodhya, hereinafter referred to as 'the Book' or as 'Ayodhya Ka Itihas', and has to state that the conclusions drawn by the authors of the aforesaid book on the basis of the so called discoveries allegedly made in June-July 1992 and December 1992-January 1993, at Ayodhya, on or around or near the disputed site of Babri Masjid, can neither be said to be based upon any authentic archaeological evidence and nor the same can be relied upon for the purposes of any scientific study. The said discoveries alleged to have been made in 1992-1993, can not at all be said to be Finds or material discovered through scientific excavation or after

"4. That the so called discovery of an inscription, alleged to have been made in December, 1992, from the debris of the Babri Masjid, can not be said to be an archaeological evidence of the alleged existence of any temple of 11th or 12th century, the demolition of which is being attributed to Babar or his Governor Mir Baqi. In this respect it is relevant to point out that neither any INSITU photograph of the said inscription has been published in Ayodhya Ka Itihas or anywhere else, to the best of the deponent's knowledge and nor any Diary/Notes etc. appear to have been maintained/prepared by anyone regarding the alleged discovery of the same."

"5. That similarly the so called Artefacts alleged to have been discovered in June- July, 1992, as a result of P.W.D. digging of the site, during the surface levelling operations of the Govt. of U.P., cannot be said to be finds or artefacts discovered as a result of any scientific excavation or with scientific recording, and as such the same can also not be accepted as an archaeological evidence of the alleged existence of any ancient temple on the site of Babri Masjid, the demolition of which could be attributed to Babar or his Governor Mir Baqi. The so called INSITU photographs of these alleged Finds can neither be said to be INSITU photographs, and nor the description of the same in Ayodhya Ka Itihas, or in any other Book or Booklet called as New Archaeological Discoveries, can be treated as Notes Book/Dairy recording the said alleged discoveries/finds."

"6. That there is no archaeological evidence regarding

the site of Babri Masjid being the alleged Ram Janam Bhoomi or a sacred place associated with it as claimed by the authors of Ayodhya Ka Itihas. No such opinion was given by Sri B.B. Lal also either in his reports published in "Indian Archaeological-A Review" or in 'An Encyclopaedia of India Archaeology' Edited by A. Ghosh and and the assertions made in this respect in Ayodhya Ka Itihas are incorrect."

"7. That the Manchitra (Maps) no. 5 and 6, printed in Ayodhya Ka Itihas showing the alleged sections of the so called excavation of June 1992, have no archaeological relevance. There was absolutely no scientific excavation by any archaeologist during which the said pit/so called artefacts are alleged to have been found."

8. That the assertion made in Ayodhya Ka Itihas about the scrapping alleged to have been done by Dr. K.M. Srivastava and Dr. S.P. Gupta on 22-23 July, 1992, near the disputed site, appears to be unbelievable as Scrapping is required when the stratification fixed by earlier excavator needs to be verified after some passage of time. Then the fill-in of the old trench may be taken out and the section scraped. By such scraping the succession of strata can be determined. Scraping may also be done while exploring the early levels of a mound where later occupation or deposits have covered them and there are deep cutting made by rain gullies or rivers in parts of site. There is, however, no way of determining through "scraping", the particular stratum, in which material such as broken sculptures or brickbats was located prior to excavation in a trench or pit if the position of each of the

item of material was not recorded with due dimensional measurements by a qualified archaeologist. When a section is freshly cut, the need for scraping does not arise, since the strata ought to be distinguished from the excavated section."

"9. That, the assertions made in the aforesaid Book regarding the so called conclusion of Prof. B.B. Lal about the pillar bases, allegedly being of the black stone pillars, which might have remained on their original site, are not correct. (As a matter of fact no such conclusion or opinion of Prof. B.B. Lal is given either in his excavation reports published in "Indian Archaeology-A Review" or even in his entry regarding Ayodhya given in 'An Encyclopaedia of Indian Archaeology' Edited by A. Ghosh)."

"10. That no material can be regarded as of archaeological significance, if its actual position in-situ before removal is not established. This should be established by photograph, or, at least by recording of its actual position by a qualified archaeologist. Such photographs / recording being not available for the sculptures allegedly recorded from outside the Babri Masjid and the inscription and other material allegedly obtained from the Babri Masjid during its unlawful demolition, nothing can be said about where they have actually come from."

"11. That no archaeological excavation in India can take place without license from the Archaeological Survey of India. Once the sculptures or the inscription were observed in-situ, the Archaeological Survey of India should have been informed immediately. When such an obvious step

was not taken by those concerned, doubt immediately arises as to the truth of their reports about where the material has come from."

"12. That when a stone is taken from brickwork or wall of an old medieval building, it must contain traces of mortar and attached brickwork and rubble. Since the slab containing the alleged stone inscription has reportedly no trace of any such matter, it cannot be supposed that it really came from the wall of the Babri Masjid, to which it was allegedly attached during construction."

"13. That if there is difference in the colour of stone sculptures, it can be inferred that the material has been only partly immersed in the soil. Such colour variation being observable on the sculptures allegedly retrieved from underground in the vicinity of the Babri Masjid, it can be assumed that these could not have come from the underground spot as being claimed."

"14. That the sculptured stone pillars fixed in Babri Masjid have parallels only in eastern India (Bengal and Bihar). These may be seeen in the illustrations in R.D. Benerji's, "Eastern Indian School of Medieval Sculpture" published by Archaeological Survey of India, Delhi, (1933) (Plates LXXXIX (a) and (e) and XC (d)). On the pillars shown in Plates LXXXIX (a) and XC (d), Benerji says (pp. 155.7): "The best product of the Eastern School is a tall slender column recovered from Rajmahal. This pillar was originally brought from the ruins of Gaur (West Bengal) during the Musalman period. When ruins at Rajmahal (eastern Bihar) were destroyed by the East Indian Railway Company, the pillar was used as a lamp post. It was recovered from that position by the late Dr. John Anderson and now forms one of the principal attractions of the archaeological collections of the Indian Museum (Calcutta) .... This pillar appears to belong to the middle of the tenth century A.D. and the building of which it once formed part was a Saiva temple."

On the pillar illustrated on Plate LXXXIX (e), Benerji says (p. 157):

"Later in date (than middle of 10th century) and less elegant is another pillar from a Saiva temple discovered among the ruins now called Banaraja's Garh (Bangarh) in the Dinajpur District of Northern Bengal. This pillar was brought to Dinajpur town nearly a century ago and erected in the Maharaja's palace. It is inscribed and dated. According to the inscription the pillar belonged to a Saiva temple erected by a king of Gauda of Kamboja lineage in the Saka year 888=966 A.D."

"15. That it may also be stated that similar pillars shown in the Book of R.D. Benerji, referred in the Historians' Report to the Nation, are not on Plate LXRXIX (b) and (c) but the same should be read as Plate LXXXIX (a) and (e) and (c).

There are no Gahadavala parallels to the Babri Masjid pillars. Thus they must have been brought from Eastern India to Ayodhya at some time between the 10th and 16th centuries, and then used in the Babri Masjid. They do not at all attest to there being a temple at the site of Babri Masjid itself. "

"16. That the size of individual Hindu temples of the 11th and 12th centuries in the region of North India, was usually

so small that it could not have covered the area of the Babri Masjid, let alone the additional area which is mentioned by authors of the book-Ayodhya Ka Itihas."

The largest temple at Khajuraho, the great site of Shaivite, Vaishnavite and Jain temples of the 10th -11th centuries, and among all temple-complexes nearest to Ayodhya, was the temple of Kandariya Mahadev, the dimensions of which were only 109 feet in length by 60 feet in width. This is less than the area of the Babri Masjid which was about 150 feet by 90 feet. Other temples at Khajuraho are still smaller. The Vishnu temple of Chaturbhoj measures only 85 feet by 44 feet, and of Devi Jagadambi only 77 feet by 50 feet. The temples at Khajuraho are fairly well dated by inscriptions, many of which were published in Epigraphia Indica. For shorter but authoritative accounts of Khajuraho templers, we can refer to James Fergusson's History of Eastern and Indian Architecture, Vol. II, pp. 140-143, and Percy Brown's, Indian Architecture (Hindu and Buddhist Periods), pp. 110-13."

"17. That the deponent has gone through the valuable Chapter /Article written by Prof. Ram Sharan Sharma regarding the matter in issue which was published in the book entitled as "Destruction and Conservation of Cultural Property" Edited by Robert Layton, Peter G. Stone and Julian Thomas, first published in 2001 by Routledge, 11 New Fetter Lane, London. This article/paper throws ample light on the crucial issues dealt with in the aforesaid book "Ayodhya Ka Itihas."

478. The above witness was again recalled at the instance of

the plaintiffs (Suit-4) under Order XVIII Rule 4 C.P.C. after the ASI submitted its report to depose in support of the objections filed by the plaintiffs (Suit-4) against ASI report. The statement-in-chief by way of an affidavit dated 20.03.2006 refers to his views on the ASI report. He claimed to have visited the site during the course of excavation and said as under:

> "2. That the Excavation report of Ayodhya dated 22nd August, 2003 has technically served the limited purpose of digging evidence for certain anomalies shown by the GPR Survey, but it has misrepresented the true nature of the structure, floors and so-called 'pillar bases' immediately underlying the Babri-Masjid ruins."
> "3. That the report claims that a so-called "massive pillared structure" of period VII underlying the mosque is that of a the so called "massive structure", (Pd. VII) below the mosque and continuity of all phases from 10th century onwards until the construction of the Babri Masjid as well as on the stones and decorated bricks, mutilated sculptures, carved architectural members, the alleged 50 pillar bases associated with it and the ruins of a so-called "circular shrine" (of Period V). A still earlier structure ascribed to period VI has been wrongly identified as a Gahadavala Temple (11th -12th century). (A critical examination of the evidence reported, however, leads to an altogether different conclusion. The structure believed to be a "massive" temple (of Period VII) standing at the site before the Babri-Masjid was constructed, is in fact an Idgah/Qanati mosque of the Sultanate period. Even the still earlier structure (Pd. VI) is also a mosque-like structure of the Sultanate period itself.)"

"4. That the ASI's report reaches its wrong conclusion by pursuing a defective methodology and biased assumptions, as will be shown hereafter."

"5. That the excavation at Babri Masjid site extended over 90 trenches each measuring 5x5 m. Natural soil was reached in J3 and G7 only. Since the Layers, floors and structures and associated remains are numbered and recorded trench-wise, it is necessary to classify the evidence from each of the trenches into cultural periods, sub-period and structural phases. Even though the stratigraphy of each trench is claimed to be finally correlated with the general sequence of cultures at the site, it was necessary to give a list of layers and periods trench-wise for facilitating the testing to the conclusions of the excavators. Such a concordance is, however not provided in the report. (This has enabled the excavators to get away with distorted conclusions like wrongly assigning structure 3 (North-South burnt brick wall no. 17 and Surkhi floor) to Period. VI (11th -12th century AD) and structure 2 (North-South burnt brick wall no. 16 and lime and Surkhi floor) to Period VII (12th -16th century A.D.) respectively.)"

"6. That while dealing with the pottery of medieval-Sultanate (Period VII), Mughal (Period VIII) and late and Post Mughal 0periods (Pd. IX) the report clearly states that " the distinctive pottery of the periods is glazed ware" (P. 108) and that " there is not much difference in pottery wares and shapes" over time. The ware occurs in stratified deposits even below the level of Floor no. 4 associated with Period VI (structure -3, wall 17 and Surkhi floor). Yet the excavators date the structure 3 to pre-Sultanate or the Gahadavala period (11th -12th century), which is totally contrary to its own statements with regard to the period of glazed ware (Periods VII, VIII and IX). The report elsewhere (P. 270) tells us that the glazed ware pieces "make their appearance in the last period of period VII". This is not mentioned in Chapter V on Pottery. (Such a gross manipulation could be possible because the report avoided mentioning the association of the glazed pottery in case of even the 21 pieces in the select list, what to speak of the hundreds of such glazed ware items recovered (pp. 109-111). This could not be due to any ignorance on the part of the ASI excavators of the diagnostic value of the Muslim glazed ware of the medieval period (Sultanate and Mughal). The fact is deliberately ignored that Muslim glazed ware is nowhere found associated with Hindu Temples in either the Sultanate or the pre-Sultanate period in North India yet the report identifies Structure 2 (wall 16 and lime Surkhi floor) with a so called massive temple believed to be in existence from 12th to early 16th AD.)"

"7. That the glazed tiles to the type recovered from Ayodhya are also characteristic of Muslim habitations of medieval India. Yet the diagnostic evidence found from the layers associated with structure 3 (wall 17 and Surkhi floor) has been placed in Period VI (11th -12th century) and not in Sultanate period. This is a plain example of evidence manipulation."

"8. That while digging the Babri Masjid site the ASI found four successive floors associated with three so called "massive structures dating from Period VI to VIII. These structures had massive western walls, so called pillar bases

of brickbats and of one or more stones and thick and extensive floors of Surkhi (Pd. VI) and lime and Surkhi (VII and VIII). The architectural style and technology of these structures are clearly different from the early medieval alleged "Circular Shrine" (Period V) and associated structures of that period. The architectural fragments reported to be associated with temples (9th -12th century) of North India recorded by the Excavators from the filling in the trenches, ruins of medieval structures and the peripheral slopes of the site are either unstratified or from the secondary context. No evidence of foundation walls, contemporary levels or debris levels of any temple was recovered in the primary context at the site."

"9. What has been found below the massive Babri Masjid remains are the ruins of a massive burnt brick structure (wall 16, associated with lime and Surkhi floor and some brickbat stumps with capping stones in some cases and the so-called "pillar bases"). The burnt brick wall (16) provided with stones in the foundation, some of which are carved, has the same North-South orientation as that of he Babri Masjid wall overlying it. The western wall in the chamber has a one meter wide Mihrab in the middle and below the Mihrab of the Western wall of the southern hall of Babri Masjid besides a small arched Taq made of cut bricks so typical of Islamic structures of post 1206 AD era. The evidence of its Islamic character of the Sultanate period is further corroborated by the occurrence of lime and Surkhi floor and the Muslim glazed ware in these levels. The lay-out of he structure, its architectural style and the lime and Surkhi floor and Muslim glazed ware

associated with it are unmistakably the evidence of a Sultanate period Eidgah mosque that preceded the Babri Masjid at the site and not of any Brahmanical temple"

"10. That a still earlier structure (Period VI) comprising wall (17) and the thick floor of Surkhi reported to be associated with it (below the structure of period VII) is also made of burnt brick western wall, and runs north-south almost to the same length and largely underlying wall 16 of Period VII. Its floor also extends over a fairly large area as those of the later two structures do. A few sherds of Muslims glazed ware or tiles have also been recorded from these levels which helps ascribing the structure to the early part of the Sultanate period. Its broad similarities with upper Sultanate structure of period VII in wall construction, is extent and orientation, the lay out of the Surkhi floors as well as association with Muslim glazed pottery and tiles, suggest an early Sultanate period for the structure which possibly functioned also as a Medieval Eidgah/ mosque."

"11. That the so called pillar bases, associated with all the three structures of the medieval period at the site, have not been well exposed to reconstruct comparative plans and cross sections of the three alleged structures which these supported. The so called pillar bases have no symbolic features on them. Nor are these found associated with even a single stone pillar or fragment of pillar to suggest their \affiliation with temples. The carved capstone on a pillar base in trench 'F7' dated to the 12th century on stylistic grounds, occurs in secondary context for reuse in the structure of Sultanate period. (The brickbat pillar bases laid in mud mortar cannot be load-bearing and may have supported wooden posts and thatched roof at the best.) The discovery of pedestal bases for supporting wooden pillars in three rows parallel to the Qibla wall in the Grand Mosque excavated at Banbhore in Sindh and its last phase dated to the 13th century represent a similar early style of mosque architecture. A general plan of the said mosque and a panoramic view of the same is evident from the photographs published in the Journal entitled as "Pakistan Archaeology" published by the Department of Archaeology and Museums. Government of Pakistan. A true copy of the relevant extract of which is filed herewith as ANNEXURE NO. 1. Stone pillars are also preserved in some Sultanate mosques of Delhi and Hissar (Haryana). (As such the use of pillar bases in Sultanate period cannot be exclusively ascribed to temple architecture. The report has conveniently ignored other solid evidence and exaggerated the importance of pillar bases and the derived architectural fragments for the purpose of misrepresenting the Islamic structures as temples.)"

"12. That the report does mention the existence of a tank-like structure below the "Ram Chabutra", but the excavators have wrongly ascribed the reservoir to the earlier phases of the "Ram Chabutra" and wrongly identified four projections in the middle of the four walls of he tank in original form (pp. 49-51). They have produced no evidence to substantiate their contention. (My close observation of the structure at the site revealed that the reservoir had only two east-west projections and the "Ram Chabutra" was constructed in two phases only after filling the reservoir.) The report shows no evidence of any correlation of the reservoir with phases of Babri Masjid construction."

"13. That a critical analysis of he report shows that it lays unjustified emphasis on the continuity of cultural and structural activities at the site from Gupta period onwards down to the Mughal era and lacks appreciation of change in type, function and style of the architecture distinguished by 'Mihrabs' and arched 'Taq', in he technique of constructing floors of lime and surkhi, and in the use of Muslim glazed ware so characteristic of Islamic tradition as distinct from the Brahmanical temple architecture of North India. The Report reveals a selective and one-sided use of he evidence such as of the pillar bases that have no diagnostic features and no exclusive relationship with temple and of architectural and sculptural fragments lying unstratified or in secondary context. What is most objectionable is the suppression of evidence that militated against the preconceived theory of temple below the Babri mosque, such as Muslim glazed pottery, glazed tiles, bones, Islamic features of 'Miharab' and 'Taq' and reservoir in the Babri mosque below the "Ram Chabutra" etc. The report also underplays the absence of the remains of any stone pillars standing over the so called "pillar bases" and similarities in the layout of structures of periods VI and VII (wall 16 and 17) and Babri Masjid, and their dissimilarities with pre-Sultanate structures such as the "circular shrine" of period VI. There is also an attempt to assign the Islamic structure, with its lime and Surkhi floor, to a supposed Gahadavala temple, without an iota of evidence. Last but not the least, the report shows discrepancies and distortions in the periodisation and chronology. The attempt to push back the date of NBPW period to century 1000 BC on no valid grounds and the dating of periods VI and VII, both associated with glazed ware and tiles and Surkhi floor, to pre-Sultanate period is baseless and motivated."

"14. That the report, on the whole, lacks scientific rigour, objectivity and professional integrity. Such trends and tendencies in Indian archeology pose a serious challenge not only to the world of historians but also to those citizens who are interested in truth and nothing but the truth."

She did Ph.D. in three or three and half years from Patna University under Dr. Ram Saran Sharma and her subject of research was "Vaishnav Dharma Ka Udbhav Aur Vikas" (Origin and Development of Vaishnavism). She joined Patna University as Lecturer in 1962 and thereafter came to Jawahar Lal Nehru University, New Delhi in 1971 whereat she became Professor in 1984 and retired in June, 1999. On the subject of present dispute, Conference of Indian Historians was regularly held and she participated therein. She also regularly participated in Seminars of Indian History Congress. In January, 2001 one Seminar of Indian History Congress was held at Calcutta, where she participated. About the disputed place, she said:

''मैंने अपने अध्ययन में श्रीरामचन्द्र के बारे में भी अध्ययन किया है। मैंने श्री रामचन्द्र जी के ऊपर कुछ लेख भी लिखे हैं मेरे द्वारा लिखा गया लेख श्री राम पर मेरी द्वारा हिन्दी के अनुवाद की पुस्तक में प्रकाशित हो चुका है। इतिहास की पुस्तकों में अर्थात प्रमाणित पुस्तकों में रामचन्द्र जी के जन्म के बारे में किसी स्थान विशेष का उल्लेख नहीं मिलता है। अर्थात उनके जन्म स्थल का उल्लेख नहीं मिलता है। मेरी दृष्टि में ऐसा कोई उल्लेख इतिहास की पुस्तकों में नहीं मिलता है जो कि यह दर्शाता हो कि बाबरी मस्जिद जहां स्थित थी वहां पर श्री राम का जन्म हुआ हो। श्री बी0बी0लाल ने जो उत्खनन कार्य

इस तरह का कोई भी प्रमाण मेरी जानकारी में नहीं मिलता है, जिससे यह विदित हो कि बाबरी मस्जिद का निर्माण राम मंदिर को तोड़कर किया गया हो। मेरे लेख सोशल साइंटिस्ट, एक्आओरेटिलिया, इडियन हिस्ट्री कांग्रेस प्रोसिंडिंग, इण्डियन काउन्सल हिस्टोरिकल रिव्यू आदि में छपे हैं। मेरी एक किताब का नाम ''ओरिजन एण्ड डेंवलपमेण्ट आफ वैष्णजम'' है। दूसरी पुस्तक का नाम ''कास्ट'' है। मेरी पहली पुस्तक 1967 में पहली बार छपी थी।''

''During my studies, I have studied about Sri Ramchandra also. I have written some articles as well about Sri Ramchandra. My article Sri Ram has been published in my Hindi translation book. In History books i.e. authentic books, no reference is found about any specific place as the birthplace of Ramchandra ji, or in other words no reference is found about His birthplace. In my view no reference is found in history books to show that Sri Ram was born at the place where the Babri mosque stood*. From the excavation carried out by Sri B.B. Lal, it can be said that no evidence is found about existence of any town or populace in Ayodhya prior to 700 BC.*

In my knowledge there is no such evidence, so as to show that the Babri mosque had been built after destructing Ram temple*. My articles have been published in Social Scientist, Acaoretiliya, Indian History Congress Proceeding, Indian Council Review etc. Origin and Development of Vaishnavaism is one of my books. The other book is 'Caste'. My first book was initially published in the year 1967." (E.T.C.)*

बाबरी मस्जिद के ऊपर एक इन्सकिप्सन लगा हुआ था जो तीन भागों में विभाजित था जिसके कुछ भाग बेबरिज ने बाबरनामें में छापे थे परन्तु पूरा इन्सकप्शन 1965 के एपीग्राफियाइंडिका में जो ए0एस0आई0 का प्रकाशन है छपा है पूरा छपा है। यह फारसी भाषा में है और नसफ स्किप्ट में है। इसमें यह लिखा है कि इस मस्जिद को 1528–29 में मीरबाकी बनवाया है और यह भी लिखा है कि यह बाबर के हुक्म एवं मंशा पर बन रहा है। इसकी तहरीर से ही इसको न्यूमेरिकली निकालने पर इसकी तारीख का पता चलता है। इसमें ऐसा कुछ भी नहीं लिखा है कि यह मस्जिद किसी मंदिर को तोड़कर बनाई गयी हो। बाबरी मस्जिद बनने के बाद करीब दौ सौ साल से ज्यादा 1760 तक ऐसा कोई साक्ष्य नहीं मिलता है कि यहॉ मंदिर तोड़कर मस्जिद बनाई गयी है या यहॉ पर कोई मंदिर कभी रहा हो। इस जगह को कभी भी रामजन्म भूमि नहीं कहा गया। रामजन्म अर्थात रामजन्म स्थान के नाम से कभी नहीं जाना गया। जर्मन यात्री टाईफन थ्रिलर भारत 1760–70 के बीच में आये थे और उनका एकाउन्ट 1788 में छपा था उसमें उन्होंने पहली बार यह लिखा है कि ऐसा कहा जाता है कि एक मस्जिद अयोध्या में मंदिर तोड़कर औरंगजेब ने मस्जिद ने बनाया है। यह भी उन्होंने लिखा है कि यदि मस्जिद मंदिर तोड़कर बनाई गयी है तो वह बाबर के समय तोड़ा गया होगा क्योकि उस पर बाबर के समय के इन्सकप्शन हैं। टाईफन थ्रिलर के इस वृतांत से यह स्पष्ट है कि लिजेन्ड बनना शुरू हो गया था कि बाबरी मस्जिद राम मंदिर तोड़कर बनाई गयी।''

''So far as the issue of arrival of Babar in India is concerned and from his own memoirs, diary it appears that Babar was not an orthodox. During my studies I have not come across any such evidence or proof of medieval period to suggest that Babri mosque had been built by destroying any temple*. The* Muslim populace had come into existence in Ayodhya around 1206*, prior to arrival of Babar.* Mosque, 'Idgah' (a site where Id and other Muslim celebrations are held), graveyard, 'Madarsa' (school imparting Islamic education) etc. were found in its contemporary sources*. Stated on his own that* evidence about presence of Muslims in Ayodhya prior to1192, is not found*. The post 1206 contemporary sources containing references of Muslim populace include Khaurulmajalis, Favayedul Favad, Tabkatenseri etc. The Khaurulmajalis was composed in the 13th century and contains the sayings of Nizamuddin Auliya, compiled by Mir Hassan Sijaji. The Favayedul Favad is a collection of sayings of Sheikh Nasiruddin Chirag, which have been compiled at one single place. The Tabkatenseri has been composed by Minhaj Siraj. The Favayedul Favad is a creation of 1353.*

It has been mentioned in Tabkatenseri that in 1206 the representative of Delhi Sultanat in Ayodhya had been ordered to go to Bengal for war.

There was an inscription over the Babri mosque, which was divided in three parts, and few of its extract had been published by Bebridge in 'Babarnama', but the complete inscription has been published in Epigraphiaindica of 1965, which is a publication of ASI. It is in Persian language and Nasaf script. It has been mentioned in it that this mosque had been built by Mir Baqi in 1528-29 and also that it was being built on the direction and desire of Babar*. Its date is discovered numerically from its contents. It has nowhere been mentioned in it that this mosque had been built by destroying any temple. Even more than about 200 years after the building of Babri mosque i.e. till 1760, no evidence is found to suggest that mosque was built here after destroying temple or that any temple ever existed at that place. This place was never called Ramjanmbhumi. It was never known as Ramjanm or Ramjanmsthan. The German traveler Typhon Thaylor visited India between 1760-70 and his accounts were published in 1788. It was first mentioned by him therein that it was claimed that a mosque in Ayodhya had been built by Aurangzeb by destroying a temple.* He has also mentioned that if the mosque had been built by destroying a temple, then it must have been destroyed in the period of Babar because it had inscriptions of Babar's period*. From the said description of Typhon Thaylor it is clear that the legend that Babri mosque had been built by destroying Ram temple, was in the making." (E.T.C.)*

He got his early education in Patna, graduation and post graduation from Allahabad University. In M.A. his subjects were Ancient History, Culture and Archaeology. Though he is not Ph.D., but many others have been awarded Ph.D. under his guidance. He was appointed as Exploration Assistant in the department of Ancient History, Culture and Archaeology in Allahabad University in 1960 and then became Lecturer, Reader and Professor in the same University. He was member of Ancient History Congress and President of its Archaeological Section in conference held at Bhopal in December 2001. His address in the capacity of President delivered in the concerned session was also published. He appeared as expert witness (Archaeology) and about the subject of archaeology, deposed as under :

"आर्कियोलाजी को हिन्दी में पुरातत्व कहते है। इलाहाबाद विश्वविद्यालय में प्राचीन इतिहास विभाग की ओर से हमने लगभग 33 वर्षों तक अध्यापन तथा क्षेत्रीय पुरातत्व में कार्य किया। और क्षेत्रीय पुरातत्व के क्षेत्र में प्राचीन मानव विकास की जितनी अवस्थायें हो सकती है उन सभी अवस्थाओं से सम्बद्ध पुरास्थलों का विधिवत उत्खनन किया है, और विधिवत उत्खनन से

पुरातत्व के अर्न्तगत हम मानव एवं मानव समाज के विकास का अध्ययन करते हैं इस अध्ययन के अर्न्तगत मुख्यतः भौतिक संसार से सम्बद्ध अंगो का ही अध्ययन किया जाता है। इस विषय के अर्न्तगत आध्यात्मिक संसार से सम्बद्ध किसी अंगो का अध्ययन करना कठिन ही नहीं असम्भव है। इस विषय का क्षेत्र अत्यंत व्यापक है, इसके अर्न्तगत भूतत्व शास्त्र (Geology) की दृष्टि से सम्पूर्ण चतुर्थक (क्वाटरनरी) जिसके अर्न्तगत प्लाइस्टोसीन तथा होलोसीन काल का अध्ययन किया जाता है। पुरातत्व शास्त्र की दृष्टि से (अर्थात आर्कियोलाजिकली) पाषाण युग से लेकर लौह युग तक का अध्ययन किया जाता है। पुरातत्व अनुसंधान की मुख्य विधियों में सर्वेक्षण तथा उत्खनन को रखते है। उत्खनन कार्य के लिए विशेष प्रशिक्षण की आवश्यकता अनिवार्य है, क्योंकि उत्खनन कार्य एक मेडिकल आपरेशन की भाति है और मेडिकल आपरेशन की ही तरह पूरी तैयारी करनी पड़ती है विशेष ट्रेनिंग अनिवार्य है। किसी भवन अवशेष के तिथि निर्धारण की दो विधियां है एक रिलेटिव, यानि सापेक्ष, और दूसरी एबसल्यूट। पुरातत्व सामग्री अर्थात आर्कियोलाजिकल मैटीरियल तथा आर्कियोलाजिकल साक्ष्य यह दोंनो भिन्न हैं। मानव निर्मित कोई भी वस्तु पुरातात्विक सामग्री हो सकती है, लेकिन पुरातात्विक साक्ष्य के लिए यह नितान्त आवश्यक है कि वह अपने संदर्भ से सम्बद्ध हो। जो वस्तु संदर्भ से सम्बद्ध है उसकी ही गणना पुरातात्विक साक्ष्य के अर्न्तगत किया जा सकता है। पुरातात्विक सामग्री यदि साक्ष्य के रूप में प्रस्तुत किया गया हो तो यह आवश्यक है कि उसकी प्राप्ति वैज्ञानिक विधि द्वारा हुआ हो। उनका संदर्भ से जुड़ा होना आवश्यक है।

उत्खनन में रिकार्डिग की अहम भूमिका है। रिकार्डिंग के अर्न्तगत

मुख्य रूप में फोटोग्राफ, ड्राईग, तथा नापजोख आदि आते है। उत्खनित वस्तुओं को रिकार्ड करना आवश्यक होता हैं। इसमें फोटोग्राफ की सबसे बड़ी भूमिका है। ''इन सिटू'' फोटोग्राफ को हिन्दी में यथावत छायांकन कह सकते है और फोटोग्राफिक रिकार्डिग में सबसे अहम भूमिका ''इन सिटू'' फोटोग्राफ का है।''

''Archaeology is called 'Puratatva' in Hindi. I did teaching work and regional archaeology for about 33 years on behalf of Ancient History Department of Allahabad University. In the field of regional archaeology, I duly carried out excavation of archaeological sites related to all the stages of human evolution. By due excavation, I mean the excavation based on scientific method. These stages include upper paleolithic, mesolithic, neolithic, chalcolithic and historical periods. In my service period, I have carried out excavation of five important archaeological sites. Similarly, I have carried out about 200 explorations.

In archaeology, we study about human beings and the evolution of human society. This study mainly includes the aspects related to the physical world. The study of any aspect of the spiritual world is not only difficult but impossible under this subject. This subject has wide domain and the Geology under it includes the study of Pleistocene and Holocene periods in complete quaternary. From archaeological point of view, the study extends from the stone age to iron age. Exploration and excavation are the main methods of archaeological research. Special training is essential for excavation work because it is like a medical operation, and complete preparations have to be made alike a medical operation. There are two methods of determining the age of remains of any building, one is relative and the other is absolute. The archaeological material and archaeological evidence are two different things. Any man made object can be archaeological materials but in order to be archaeological evidence, it is extremely necessary that it is related to its reference. The object which is related to its reference, can only be consider as archaeological evidence. If the archaeological material is produced as evidence, it is essential that it has been obtained by scientific method. Its relation with the reference is essential.

It is necessary to obtain license for archaeological excavation and exploration. This license is issued by Archaeological Survey of India. The license is essential so that only trained people may carry out the excavation and exploration work.

The recording occupies an important place in excavation. Recording mainly includes photograph, drawing, measurement etc.. It is essential to record the excavated materials. The photograph plays the most important role in this. 'In situ' photograph can be said to be 'yathawat chhayankan' (as it is photograph) in Hindi and the in situ photograph has the most important role in photographic recording." (E.T.C.)

''रामजन्मभूमि बाबरी मस्जिद विवाद के सम्बन्ध में पुरातत्व की बड़ी भूमिका है। क्योंकि जब जमीन के नीचे की बातों से कोई विवाद जुड़ा हो तो उस स्थिति में पुरातत्व के बिना विवाद को सुलझाना कठिन है।''

''Archaeology has a very important role in Ramjanmbhumi- Babri mosque dispute, because in cases where the dispute is related to underground facts, then in said situation it is not possible to resolve the dispute without archaeology.'' (E.T.C.)

"The scope of study of this book is the Babri mosque and the landed area in its vicinity. The source material of this book is a special booklet titled 'Ramjanmbhumi Ayodhya New Archaeological Discovery' published by Historian Forum. This book contains a special photograph of the excavation carried out in south of the Babri mosque by Sri B.B. Lal. This photograph is main part of the source material regarding the source. (at this point the attention of the witness was drawn by the advocate to paper no. 118C-1/35 filed in O.O.S. 5/89). The (attention of the witness) was drawn to the picture published on back of the title page, and after looking at it the witness said that it was the same photograph, about which I have stated above.

I have given this photograph in my book after page no. 34 as Plate-I, Plate-II, Plate-III and Plate-IV in Exhibit 63. The depiction at Plate-IV, is called pillar bases. These pillar bases were made up of bricks. Consequent to study of this photograph, we arrived at the conclusion that temple was not under the Babri mosque, because this base was not completely made up of bricks and since brick pieces were used therein, hence it was difficult for them to bear the load of stone pillars. Apart from this, we also found that they were not pillar bases at all and instead were part of wall*. At this point, the attention of the witness was drawn towards page no. 1 of paper no. 118C-1/35 filed in O.O.S. no. 5/89 and after looking at it the witness stated that I have gone through page no. 1 to end of this paper and the archaeological materials mentioned in my book, have been mentioned as Discovery no. 2 and Discovery no. 3 respectively. Similarly, the photograph mentioned above,* which depict the pillar base, has been mentioned as Discovery no. 1 in my book. I would consider the Discovery no. 2 and Discovery no. 3, only as archaeological material and not archaeological evidence. We would not consider them to be materials obtained by due excavation. The Discovery no. 3 includes brick wall and two trenches. Two loose sheets were enclosed with Discovery no. 3 of paper no. 118C-1/35, which is composed by few scholars. They are drawing related to concerned archaeological section of Discovery no. 2 and 3, which are not part of this book. On looking at paper no. 118C-1/95 filed in O.O.S. no. 5/89, the witness stated that it is related to Discovery no. 2 but the drawing of the section of Discovery no. 2 is not available in it. The section drawing 118C-1/95 related to Discovery no. 3, has been given by me at page no. 24 of my book. The section related to Discovery no. 2 referred by me hereinabove, is not available in these documents. I have given it at page 21 of my book. The learned counsel for the plaintiff drew the attention of the witness to page no. 289C1/211 of Appendix B of paper no. 289C-1 filed in O.O.S no. 5/89, and after looking at it the witness stated that it was the photograph of inscriptions. I have heard and read about this inscription. When the Babri mosque was demolished on 6th December, 1992 and the articles which were considered to have recovered from there, and which were published in newspapers of India, the said articles were termed as fresh discovery and this fresh discovery has been studied by us, whose details are contained at page 49 to 55 of my book, exhibit 63." time of demolition of the disputed building on 06.12.1992, he presented a paper in the conference of Association of Study of History and Archaeology (in short "ASHA") sometimes in 1998-99 held at Calcutta and in this regard, he said:

"जिस शिलालेख का मैंने ऊपर बयान किया है उसे मैं मात्र पुरातात्विक सामग्री मानता हूँ। मैंने अपने ऊपर के बयान में कहा है कि पुरातात्विक साक्ष्य के लिए प्राप्त सामग्री का संदर्भ से सम्बद्ध होना नितान्त आवश्यक है। चूँकि यह अभिलेख जिसका जिक्र हो रहा है वह अपने संदर्भ से सम्बद्ध नहीं है, इसलिए वह मात्र सामग्री है न कि साक्ष्य।

अगर कोई शिलालेख किसी दीवार में चुना गया हो तो उस स्थिति में उस शिलालेख पर गारा, प्लास्टर विद्यमान होना आवश्यक है, और अगर उस शिलालेख के सम्बन्ध में विवाद है तो उस पर लगे हुए, गारे के प्लास्टर का एनालिसिस आवश्यक है। साथ ही साथ जिस दीवार में उस शिलालेख के लगे होने की बात कही गयी है उस दीवार के भी, गारे प्लास्टर का केमिकल एनालिसिस करके दोनों के पारस्परिक संबंध की पहचान करना अति आवश्यक है।

"The inscription mentioned by me hereinabove, is considered mere archaeological material by me. I have stated above that the relation of recovered material with the reference, is extremely essential for archaeological evidence. Since the document being discussed, is not related with its reference, it is mere material and not evidence.

If any inscription has been walled up, then in such situation the presence of mortar, plaster over that inscription is essential and in case there is some dispute regarding that inscription then the analysis of mortar, plaster over it is essential. It is extremely essential to carry out the chemical analysis of mortar, plaster of the wall in which the inscription is said to have been walled up, and then to work out the mutual relationship of the two.

The drawing related to Discovery no. 2, which does not appear in paper no. 118C-1/35, has been shown in paper no. 289C-1/206." (E.T.C.)

492. PW-27 is author of a number of papers, more than twenty, published in different journals like "Man and Environment (Poona)"; "Studies in History (Delhi)"; "Current Anthropology (Chicago)", wrote papers on archaeological methods and also data retrieval in ancient history.

493. PW-27 was a visiting Professor in Paris in 1984, awarded by the College de France in January 2002, delivered two lectures at the College de France, at the University of Harare in Zimbabwe and at the Institute Kern at Leiden in Holland, also delivered the Heras Memorial lectures in Mumbai and her third book contains her Heras Memorial lectures in book form. She got archaeological training from Professor H.D. Sankalia (Pune) and from Professor S. Lloyd (London).

494. She claims to appear as an Archaeologist, got interest in the issue in the year 1990 approximately because an important part of the controversy was the claim made by the archaeologists about the discovery of an old temple in the disputed area. She had never visited Ayodhya, wrote an Article "Archaeological Discovery?" (Paper No. 291C1/14 for Frontline Magazine dated 6.11.1992). Another Article with the title "Startling Indeed" (paper No. 291C1/12) written by her colleague Prof. R. Champaka Lakshmi, the then Chairperson of Centre for Historical Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru for the said magazine. R. Champakalakshmi is specialized in Art, History and the Hindu Temple as a Social and Religious Institution, with emphasis on South India.

495. P.W. 27 claims to have read some books relating to the issue, one of such book is "Ramjanambhoomi, Ayodhya New Archaeological Discoveries" (Paper No. 118C-1/35) (Ex. 33, Suit-3). She has read the report of Prof. B.B. Lal pertaining to the disputed site.

496. About her experience of field archaeology, she said:

"As an Archaeologist, I have field experience with Prof. H.D. Sankalia at Tripuri Excavations; in Britain I worked with Henry Hurst at Box; In Turkey with David French at Ashvan; in Iraq at Tell al Rimah with David Oates; In Bahrain, at Al Markh with Mechael Road; in Iraq at Abu Salabih with Prof. N. Posgate and also in Oman recently. During these excavations, I learnt the general principles of stratification and all technical drawings which become interpretation of the strata and their relative dates to one another. Basically, there is no difference between the excavations in India and outside India but the British system is much more rigorous and every Archaeologist has to do all the work himself or herself. The training of excavations outside India taught me principles of data recovery which can be applied anywhere in the world, so that I am able to read and examine critically the excavation reports of any other Archaeologist."

www.vadaprativada.com

497. PW-27 said to have got published papers reflecting directly on the field of archaeology which are:

"1. A review Article on the Inamgaon excavations report; and

2. "Does Archaeology holds the Answerers?" (read in America in 1996 and published perhaps in 1998 or 1999" and

3. "The End of the Great Harappan Tradition (Published in 2000)

4. "Back to the Bones" published around 1998 or 1999 etc.

www.vadaprativada.com

I have also written a paper on weights and the formation process of the archaeological record (I read it in January 2002 in Paris (It is yet to be published).

498. About the archaeological excavation in Ayodhya, PW-27 said:

"To my knowledge, two teams or institutions have conducted excavations at Ayodhya. These are – one, Banaras Hindu University, Varanasi, and the other is the Indian Institute of Advanced Study, Shimla. I read the excavations reports of these two institutions published in the journal 'Indian Archaeology-A Review.

I read a journal titled as "Indian Archaeology 1969-70-A Review" edited by Prof. B.B. Lal published by the Archaeological Survey of India (A.S.I.). Copies of pages Nos. 40 and 41 of the above journal and the title page of that journal which are on record have been shown to the witness. This is Paper No. 291C-1/4 to 291 C-1/6. These papers are the true copies of the original which is before me marked Ex. E-1/1. This excavation report relates to Banaras Hindu University excavations made in three different spots at Ayodhya. Paper No. 107 C1/62 and 63 are true copies of the journal, "Indian Archaeology 1976-77 A Review" by ASI (marked Ex. E-2/1) Papers No. 291 C-1/1, 291 C-1/2 and 291C-1/3 are also the true copies of title page and plate No. 49 and 50 of the aforesaid journal (marked Ex. E-2/1).

Paper No. 291 C-1/16 and 17 are the true copies of page Nos. 76 and 77 and Plate No. XXII of "Indian Archaeology 1979-80-A Review" (marked Ex. E-3/1)

With reference to Paper No. 291 C-1/5, I may submit that the significance of this report is that several cultural periods were found by the excavators and they made reference to some categories of small finds, but there is no mention of any architectural or sculptural material of any temple.

I have studied the two reports of Prof. B.B. Lal published in the journal, "Indian Archaeology-A Review 1976-77" (hereinafter to be referred as IAR) and in IAR 1979-80. Both these reports of Prof. B.B. Lal pertain to different sites at Ayodhya, IAR 1976-77, reports excavations at two different sectors including the disputed area. In IAR 1979-80, it is said that excavation was done in 14 different spots all over Ayodhya, but no specific area is mentioned. Mr. B.B. Lal's excavations uncovered remains of the later iron age and the early historic period, both of which are 1000 BC to 3rd Century AD. Thereafter, there is a gap in the occupation of Ayodhya and the city was reoccupied in the 11th Century AD. In the disputed area, Mr. B.B. Lal reports finding a large wall which could have been a fortification wall, the remains of brick houses and some ring wells. Amongst the small antiquities, he reports finding coins, seals and a large number of clay figurines including what may be the earliest Jaina sculpture and some potteries of interest. To my mind, significance of this report, IAR 1976-77, is that Mr. B.B. Lal mentions that the pits and brick debris came from levels below the 11th Century A.D. i.e. below the medieval reoccupation of Ayodhya- and that he states on page 53 as follows :

"The entire late period was devoid of any special

In the IAR 1979-80 report, Prof. Lal reports remains of only up to the Gupta period and nothing thereafter. In Prof. B.B. Lal's report, there is no mention of any temple, leave alone one of the medieval period. Except these two reports, to my knowledge, there is no other report of Prof. B.B. Lal on Ayodhya excavations published in IAR.

To my knowledge, there is no other excavation conducted by anyone after Prof. B.B. Lal at Ayodhya in 1979-1980.

Paper No. 118 C1/36 was shown to the witness. I have not seen this photograph in IAR. I saw this trench photograph for the first time in the book No. 118 C1/35. IAR is the only authoritative journal being published by the Archaeological Survey of India in respect of excavations and explorations. The relevance of this journal is that it is obligatory for anyone receiving a permit from ASI to excavate or explore, to report his finds in IAR for that year, IAR is like a dairy in which all archaeological excavations, explorations, conservation, repairs, treasures and inscriptions found have to be reported, howsoever brief they may be. There is no reference to any so-called pillar base in the two reports of Prof. B.B. Lal as referred to above, nor is there any photograph. I have read about the trench with the so called pillar base in the trench photograph, paper No. 118 C1/36 and in some newspapers perhaps."

499. PW-27 claims to have read the book (Ex. 63, Suit-4) written by Prof. D. Mandal and said as under :

"I have read Prof. Mandal's book, Ext. 63 of O.S.

No. 4 of 1989, and I have written an Introduction to it and have added some information in my footnotes to that book at page 67 and pages 68 to 69, in which the letters "SR" are mentioned in brackets. My introduction to the book is of course connected with the subject-matter, but it is an introduction in general terms, to make the rest of the book easier for the lay reader.

Mandal's approach is, in essence, as to what constitutes scientific evidence in archaeology and how we can draw valid inference from date. So the approach is that of field archaeology and stratigraphy. The major conclusion is that there is no substance to the claims which have been made about the remains of a temple at the disputed site as mentioned in Paper No. 118 C-1/35 henceforth to be referred as NAD, the caption of the photograph paper No. 118C1/36 refers to pillar bases.

Mandal has three major criticism of this theory: First, he points out that the brick features consist of broken pieces of brick, they do not have straight edges and were not constructed in pits; therefore, he doubts that they could have taken the weight of so-called stone columns of a temple.

The second criticism is on Plate III of Mandal's book, which indicates that on the photo of the trench when he draws a straight line along the faces of two adjacent features, he finds that the so called pillar bases are not even in a row and the second so called row is not parallel to the first so-called row. If at all these were pillars of a temple in a row, they would have had to be very regularly placed in order to carry load.

The line appearing in the middle of the photograph on Plate III of Mandal's book is a common device that archaeologists often use to check on their finds. This device is frequently used by other archaeologists and in the excavations of Kalibangan, excavated by Prof. B.B. Lal, he has also drawn lines connecting separate stretches of walls to show that they are part of the same fortification. This device has also been used by Prof. B.B. Lal in excavations at Kalibangan as is evident in his reports published at pages 28 to 31 of IAR 1968-69, paper No. 291/C1/7 to 291/C1/11. (Above referred photocopies have been filed by defendant No. 5 of O.S. No. 5 of 1989 and the original book has also been shown to the witness. The witness having compared them, has certified them to be true copies. Marked as Exts. E. 4.

The third conclusion of Mr. Mandal was that the so-called pillar bases do not belong to the same stratum, which he makes very clear in the Plate II of his book. One so-called pillar base is sealed by one stratum, but another pillar base is sealed by another stratum. So these five pillar bases, as Mr. Mandal argues, belong to five different strata. It means that the five features or pillar bases were not functional at one and the same time, and therefore, they could not have belonged to the same building.

I accept Mr. Mandal's arguments and conclusions as referred to above which refute the existence of pillar bases of any temple at the site in dispute. For the arguments in NAD, the so called pillar base in the trench would be a central argument.

I agree with the arguments arrived at by Mr.

Mandal mentioned at page 19 of his Book Ext. 63. In the first four lines, he refers to "At the out set .....stratographic excavations." I fully agree with his finding."

500. Commenting on Ex. 63 (Suit-4), PW-27 said:

"I do not accept the validity of stones, sculptures and other pieces as evidence for a temple as has been argued in the NAD Report because of the circumstances of the so-called recovery. The circumstances of the recovery are that there was ground levelling by the P.W.D. of, I think, a large area in and around the disputed site. Ground levelling can never be a substitute for scientific excavations. The difference between the result of scientific excavation and discoveries made after land levelling is that in the former, we recover context. Context is a crucially important component of date; and when there is land levelling, context is destroyed before it can be seen. By Context, I am referring to the spatial as well as the vertical position of a find and also the cultural position of the find.

If we look at the figure 2 page 21 of Ex. 63 of book Ex. 63, which figure is reproduced from a supplement to the NAD, I mean that there are problem with this pit as context. There is no level that completely seals the pit. Therefore, the pit cannot be stratigraphically dated. And as regard the finds that NAD reported from ground levelling operations, there is also a photograph (paper No. 118C 1/37). This is not a photograph of the process of digging these sculptures. In figure-2, there is no context available. We can contrast this find with finds found in a scientific excavation. If in a regular excavation, we had hit upon something, we would take photographs of it for several days during the actual recovery of the find, whether it was a treasure or a grave, etc. Simultaneously, we would be drawing and measuring the horizontal occurrence of every one of these important finds. We would make a plan of all the finds and we would identify the stratum to which the finds belong and this would be giving the context of the find."

501. Stating on objects found accidentally as well as inscriptions at the site, PW-27 said :

"It is true that some objects are found accidentally. They are not archaeological evidence because the context competent is missing. The so-called discovery of inscriptions and sculptures when the mosque was being vandalised, is not an archaeological find; but it is the reversal of the entire ethics and process of archaeology: for archaeologists, their function in society is to care for old structures. Whatever can be said to have been found at the site in dispute after demolition of the disputed structure cannot be said to be archaeological evidence because the context is totally demolished.

If some inscription is found at a site, it is not necessary that it gives the date or the content of that site. It will depend on the context. There is a famous example in Archaeology. There is a broken pillar edict of Ashok Maurya found at the Sirkap site of Takshila. But the date of Sirkap is not Mauryan. Sirkap is an Indo-Greek and Saka-Parthian town, dating 180 B.C. to A.D. 60 roughly (whereas the Mauryan period is 321 to 187 B.C.). So the Ashokan pillar must have been set up in the Bhir mound of*

Taxila, but when it ceased to have any meaning, it was reused in a new township that was built near the Bhir mound, namely Sirkap. Therefore, an inscription may be established in one place but it may be removed to play a different function in another place. So, connection of a find or a object to a site depends upon the context*."*

502. PW-27 further said that she has not thoroughly read the book written by Dr. Thakur Prasad Verma and Dr. Swaraj Prakash Gupta though she has read a few paragraphs cursorily. She further said about the inscriptions alleged to be found in the debris at the time of demolition in 1992 as under :

"This book refers to an alleged recovery of alleged long inscription from the debris of the demolished structure. As an Archaeologist, in my opinion, this inscription has no value as evidence. It only comes from the broken remains of a vandalised old structure. There is no context."

503. She admits of knowing Prof. Suraj Bhan, who according to her, is a Field Archaeologist, knows Sanskrit and has excavated proto historic and perhaps pre-historic sites although not sure about it.

504. P.W. 28, Sitaram Rai, aged about 72 years (on 22/23 April 2002), son of Late Harinandan Rai, is resident of 295, Nehru Nagar, Patna. His cross examination followed as under :

506. Three books written by PW-28 have been published which includes his Ph.D. Thesis under the title "Suvarnvarnavdan" and another books is "Guarded to Vaishali Museum". Mainly his writings are in respect to Ancient India and Archaeology. About his knowledge of various languages, he said:

"मैं अंग्रेजी, हिन्दी व संस्कृत तीनों भाषाओं को पढ़ सकता हूँ इसके अलावा बिहार की मैथली भाषा का ज्ञान है मुझे ब्राह्मी, खरोष्ठी, ग्रीक, देवनागरी लिपि की जानकारी है। मेरा संबंध एपीग्राफी (अभिलेख) एवं पेलियोग्राफी (लिपिशास्त्र) से विद्यार्थी जीवन से लेकर आज तक रहा है।"

This article was written by me and was read by me in the Kurukshetra session of ASHA, which took place in 1995. Whatsoever is written in this article, is, in my opinion, correct even today and there is no change in it. From my point of view , one point of the crux of my article is that Ram Janam Bhumi is not a disputed site on the basis of any evidence. I have written one article of mine titled 'Mathura in Literature and Archaeology', which I read in the second session of ASHA held in Aligarh and which was subsequently published by ASHA itself. It was published in the book titled 'Region and Archaeology', which is marked as paper no. 199C 2/2. This article of mine is, in my opinion, correct till today. Of the sources which I have

508. Regarding existence of a Temple beneath the disputed structure, PW 28 said :

"मैं पुरातत्व छात्र होने के नाते यह कह सकता हूँ कि विवादित स्थल पर रामजन्मभूमि मंदिर या कोई अन्य मंदिर कभी मौजूद नहीं था। इसलिए इस बात का प्रश्न ही नहीं उठता कि किसी मंदिर को तोड़कर मस्जिद बनायी गयी हो। विवादित स्थल के पास में हुए उत्खनन कार्यों का उल्लेख मैंने 1976–77 के ''इण्डियन आर्कियोलोजी ए रिव्यू'' में पढ़ा है। आर्कियोलोजकल साक्ष्यों के आधार पर यह स्थापित हुआ है कि 13वीं शताब्दी में तुर्किस लोग विवादित स्थल के साथ साथ पूरे इलाके में हिन्दुओं के साथ बसे हुए थे। मैने अपने लेख पेपर नं0 199सी 2/1 में जिन काले 14 खम्भों का जिक्र किया है वह लोड बियरिंग नहीं थे, बल्कि डेकोरेटिव थे और उन्हें बाहर से लाकर लगाया गया था और वे खम्भे नींव में भी गड़े हुए नहीं थे, बल्कि सतह जमीन के उपर खड़े किये गये। अपने उपरोक्त लेख में ही मैंने उस शिलालेख का वर्णन किया है जिसे बाबरी मस्जिद ढहाने के बाद उसके, मलबे से निकला हुआ कहा जाता है, मेरे मुताबिक वह शिलालेख 12वीं सदी का नहीं हो सकता, जैसा कि मैंने अपने लेख में लिखा है। यह संदर्भ मैंने श्रीमती सुधा मलैया द्वारा लिखित लेख के आधार पर दिया था जिसका नाम– ''बोलते पाषाण'' था और वह ओजस्वनी नामक पत्रिका में सन् 1993 में छपा था। जिन अक्षरों के संबंध में मैंने अपने लेख में जिक्र किया है, वे 12वीं शताब्दी में उस रूप में नहीं थे। वे बाद में उस रूप में प्रचलित हुए उसका आधार यह है कि ब्राहमी लिपि जो सबसे पुरानी लिपि है उससे ही देवनागरी लिपि का प्रादुर्भाव हुआ है।

के नाम से 20वीं शताब्दी से ही शुरू हुआ है। उससे पहले मंदिर देवायतन या देवालय के नाम से जाने जाते थे। भगवान विष्णु के कुछ कुछ नाम इस प्रकार है– हरि, विष्णु देवेश, परमात्मा आदि हैं वैसे विष्णु के हजार नाम हैं। यदि विष्णु के लिए हरि नामक पर्यायवाची शब्द का प्रयोग किया जाये तो उसके साथ विष्णु का प्रयोग नहीं होगा। यानी यदि दोनों नाम विष्णु और हरि एक साथ प्रयोग किये जाये तो वह किसी व्यक्ति के हो सकते हैं, परन्तु विष्णु के नहीं। मैं पुरातात्विक साक्ष्य के आधार पर यह कह सकता हूँ कि 12शताब्दी में अयोध्या में भगवान राम की पूजा नहीं होती थी। और न ही 12–13वी शताब्दी में भगवान राम का कोई मंदिर अयोध्या में मौजूद था। तुलसीदास जी ने रामचरितमानस की रचना की तो वे अयोध्या में नहीं बल्कि काशी में पंचगंगा घाट नामक स्थान में रहते थे। परन्तु यह सही है कि तुलसी दास जी ने जिस दिन रामचरित मानस को लिखना शुरू किया उस दिन अवधपुरी अयोध्या में चले गये थे। तुलसीदास कृत रामचरित मानस में अयोध्या में किसी विशेष स्थल को रामजन्मभूमि के नाम से नहीं कहा गया हैं रामचरित मानस में किसी मंदिर को तोड़कर मस्जिद बनाने के जिक्र नहीं है। गोस्वामी तुलसीदास जी के गुरू श्री नरहरिदास काशी में रहते थे।''

"As a student of Archaeology I can say that there was never Ram Janam Bhumi temple or any other temple at the disputed site. Hence, there is no question of any temple having been demolished to build a mosque. In 'Indian Archaeology- A Review' of 1976-77, I have gone through the account of excavations carried out in the vicinity of the disputed site. On the basis of Archaeological evidences it is established that in the 13th century Turkish people had settled along with Hindus in the entire area including the disputed place. The black pillars, 14 in number, which I have mentioned in my article paper no. 199C 2/1, were not load-bearing, but they were just decorative ones. They had been brought from outside and were placed. These pillars were not buried even in the base but they were erected just above the ground floor. In the afore-said article itself, I have spoken of a pillar inscription which is said to have been taken out from the debris after the demolition of the Babri mosque. In my opinion, this inscription cannot be dated to the 12th century as I have written in my article. I had given this reference on the basis of an article written by Smt Sudha Malaiya and which was titled 'Bolate Pashan' and was published in a magazine titled 'Ojaswini' in 1993. The letters which I have mentioned in my article, did not exist in the same way in the 12th century. They subsequently came to be in vogue in that form. Its basis is that Devnagari script has emerged only from the oldest script known as Brahmi script.

The place where Ayodhya presently stands, was known as Awadhpuri or by any other name in the 12th century and it was clearly known only as Awadhpuri up to the 16th century. Tulsidas-written Ramayan known as Ram Charit Manas was written in 1631 Vikrami, that is, 1574 AD. Ayodhya finds mention in the Ram Charit Manas only by the name of Awadhpuri. In my opinion, references of Hindu religious places in the name of temples are found only from the 20th century. Prior to that, temples were known as Devayatan or Devalaya*. Some of the names of Lord Vishnu are – Hari, Vishnu, Devesh, Parmatma, etc. As a matter of fact there are thousands of names of Vishnu. If for the word 'Vishnu' its synonym 'Hari' is used, the word 'Vishnu' will not be used with it (the word Hari). That is to say, if these two names, Vishnu and Hari, are used* together then they may be a name of a person but not of Vishnu. On the basis of archaeological evidence I can say that Lord Rama was not worshipped in Ayodhya in the 12th century nor was there any temple in the name of Lord Rama in Ayodhya in the 12th - 13th century*. At the time of composition of Ram Charit Manas Tulsidas lived at a place called Panch-Ganga Ghat in Kashi, but not in Ayodhya. But it is true that Tulsidas shifted to Awadhpuri Ayodhya on the day he started composing the Ram Charit Manas. No particular place in Ayodhya is not mentioned as Ram Janam Bhumi in the Ram Charit Manas written by Tulsidas. The Ram Charit Manas does not speak of any temple having been demolished to build a mosque. Sri Narhari Das, spiritual teacher of Goswami Tulsidas, lived in Kashi." (E.T.C.)*

509. PW 28 made a statement that the present Ayodhya is not the one which was described in Valmiki Ramayan (on page 6 and 7 of his examination-in-chief), but this part of his entire examination is now wholly irrelevant in view of the statement of the learned counsels appearing for various Muslims parties recorded on 22.4.2009 under Order 10 Rule 2 wherein they have said as under :

"For the purposes of this case, there is no dispute about the faith of Hindu devotees of Lord Rama regarding birth of Lord Rama at Ayodhya as described in Balmiki Ramayan or as existing today."

510. In respect to the findings in archaeology, PW-28 said :

"आर्कियोलाजी के अनुसार आकस्मात पायी गयी वस्तु का भी महत्व है यद्यपि उसकी तिथि, उसके पाने की जगह, और पाते समय उसका इनसीटू फोटोग्राफी (यथास्थिति छाया चित्र) उपलब्ध हो। उपरोक्त चीजों के अभाव में आकस्मात पायी गयी चीजों का आर्कियोलाजी में कोई महत्व नहीं

है। यदि कोई शिलालेख किसी बिल्डिंग में बहुत अरसे तक चुना हुआ रहा हो तो उसमें मोटर्र और प्लास्टर आदि के निशानात और कुछ अंश चिपके हुए अवश्य रहेगें।''

"As per archaeology, objects discovered all of a sudden also have importance if information on their date, place of discovery, in-situ position and photography (as the case may be) is available. In the absence of the aforesaid information, the objects discovered all of a sudden have no importance. If any inscription has been carved out in any building for a very long time, there must be traces and particles of mortar, plaster, etc. stuck to it." (E.T.C.)

511. Prof. R.S. Sharma, who was Professor in the Department of History at Patna and Delhi Universities was his teacher (Guru) and PW-28 knows that Prof. Sharma had written two articles in respect to Ayodhya. Besides, he knows Prof. Suraj Bhan, Prof. Suvira Jaiswal, Prof. D. Mandal, Prof. Suresh Mishra, and Dr. S.K. Gupta, who has worked with him at Nagarjun Konda excavation. He said that Dr. S.P. Gupta has written an article "An Open Letter to the Prime Minister". However, he said that Dr. S.P. Gupta neither has any relation with epigraphy or paleography nor knows Sanskrit language.

514. Explaining about the Archaeology he submits that there are two steps in Archaeology (1) excavation and (2) exploration. Besides, Epigraphy and Art History also have importance in Archaeology. He claims to have visited the disputed place as an Expert Archaeologist. "मैंने इन वस्तुओं को जिस स्थान पर रखे गये थे वहीं पर जाकर देखा था। उस इमारत में मैंने 14 काले पत्थर के स्तम्भ देखे थे जो मेरी राय में निश्चित रूप से किसी हिन्दू मंदिर के ही अवशेष थे। यह स्तम्भ जिन्हें वहीं की लोकल भाषा में कसौटी पत्थर कहते थे वे वास्तव में शिष्टास नामक पत्थर के द्वारा बनाया गया था। इसका हिन्दी शब्द मुझे नहीं मालूम लेकिन यह जियोलोजिकल टर्म है।"

"I had made on-the-spot observation of these things at the places where they were kept. I had seen 14 black stone pillars in the building which were, in my opinion, definitely remains only of some Hindu temple. These pillars which were said to be made of kasauti stone in local parlance, were actually made of a stone type known as 'Schist'. I do not know its Hindi word but it is a geological term."

"शिष्टोज़ पत्थर सेडीमेन्ट्री राक की कटेगरी में आता है जिसका रंग काला और गहरा नीला होता है। यह सभी स्तम्भ काले रंग के थे। इन स्तम्भों पर हिन्दू देवी देवताओं के चित्र हिन्दू प्रतीको के चित्र, हिन्दुओं में पुण्य माने जाने वाले फूल पत्तियों और पक्षियों के चित्र एवं पूर्ण घट जैसे वस्तुओं के चित्र उकरे गये थे। इन खम्भों के बनावट की शैली को गहड़वाल शैली कहते हैं। यह ग्यारहवीं और बारहवीं शताब्दी में उत्तर

"Schist comes under the category of sedimentary rock whose colour is black and dark blue. All these pillars were black coloured. Images of male and female Hindu deities, Hindu emblems and those of objects like flowers, leaves, birds and full pitchers were engraved on these pillars. The style of construction of these pillars is called Gahadwal Style. It was a style prevalent in northern India in the 11th and 12th centuries. During this period, Kannauj was ruled over by Maharaja Govind Chandra. He belonged to Gahadwal dynasty. These pillars were laid at the place which carried the weight of some portion of the building. I had seen these pillars for the first time in 1975. Apart from the pillars I came across nearly 40 such stone blocks in July, 1992 which were excavated on 18th June, 1992, and on the basis of their construction and carving I can definitely say that they were remains only of some Hindu temple. This excavation came to light during the levelling operation done by Uttar Pradesh Government at that time. I had reached there along with some more experts on second and third July to make study thereon, because news regarding this discovery had been published in many newspapers and it was natural for me to be curious about such study. It is true that an earthquake hit Gujarat on January 26, 2001 about which it was published in news papers that many historical buildings had been damaged there. I had gone to Gujarat along with a complete team, also for making their inspection. We had gone there also to make study on those articles which had been found after the fall of the buildings. On observation of objects as they existed prior to and subsequent to the collapse of the structure, I found that both types of materials belonged to one and the same building complex, which has a straight relation to Hindu temple architecture. The premise of this finding of mine is that these two types of things are associated with the following type of temple architecture: 1- 'Aamlak' (myrobalam), which are always affixed to the vertices/domes of Nagar Style temples of northern India. 2- 'Chhadya' – It is also a part of temple architecture and it is fixed above the pillars and at the point from where the roofing begins. 3- 'Vitan' – It is fixed below the ceiling, particularly in the intervening space in front of Garbh-grih (sanctum sanctorum) or in the porch facing it and it has images of male and female deities, porters, climbers and branches engraved on it. 'Poorna Kumbhas' are shown beneath the pillars, which goes on to suggest that the entrance pillar and all pillars are emerging from water. Yakshas – They are shown carrying full pitchers on their shoulders. They are called weight-carrying divine powers. Gandhrva and Gandharvi – Temples, for decoration purposes, have images of Gandhrvas and Gandharvis descending from space to the earth, with garlands in their hands. It signifies that even deities of space are engrossed in the worship of this temple. Lata(climbers) – From bottom to the top Nagar Style temples of the northern India have engraved flowers leaves

"इसके अतिरिक्त स्तम्भों के शीर्ष अथवा कैपिटल भी मिले हैं जिनकी बनावट कमल की पंखुडियों के हैं जिन्हें हम पद्मवल्लरी कहते हैं यह भी नागर शैली के हिन्दू मंदिरों में ही पाया जाता है। इसके अतिरिक्त अधिष्ठान के 'कपोत' के शिलाखंड भी मिले हैं जो इस बात को दर्शाते हैं कि वे शिला खंड भी हिन्दू मंदिरों के स्थापत्य के हिस्से होते थे। इसके बाद में द्वार– शाखाओं की ओर भी ध्यान दिलाना चाहूँगा जिनके उपर लता–वल्लरी के अलावा भगवान विष्णु की कई मूर्तियॉ थीं। जिन्हें क्षत–विक्षत अवस्था में पाया गया है। अर्थात् जिन्हें जानबूझकर तोड़ा गया था। इसके अलावा मंदिर के 'पीठ' के भी अनेक शिलाखंड मिले हैं जो इस बात को प्रमाणित करते हैं कि जिस मंदिर के अवशेष थे एक ऊँचे अधिष्ठान पर बना था। सभी अवशेषों के भीतर सूर्य और कमल के अलंकृत वे शिलाखंड भी मिले हैं जो मंदिरों के गजथर एवं अश्वथर के ऊपर की मोल्डिंग के हिस्से थे जिनका सीधा संबंध सूर्य से अर्थात् वैष्णव देवता से जुड़ा था। इसके अलावा मंदिर के लींटर पर पूरे खिले हुए कमल एवं अर्ध खिले हुए कमल भी उकेरे गये थे जिनका सीधा संबंध हिन्दू मंदिरों एवं प्रतीको से था। प्रतीकों में विशेषरूप से द्वारा–शाखा के द्वारपालों का जिक्र भी करना चाहूँगा जिनके सिर पर करण्ड मुकुट, जिनके गले में वनमाला, जिनके एक हाथ में शूल एवं दूसरा हाथ वरद मुद्रा में दर्शाया गया है। इस प्रकार के द्वारपाल का चित्र केवल मात्र वैष्णव मंदिरों में ही उपलब्ध होता है अर्थात् जिस मंदिर के द्वारपाल में इस प्रकार की खूबियॉ हो उन्हें देखकर यह निश्चिततौर पर कहा जा सकता है कि वह मंदिर वैष्ण मंदिर ही था। इसे 'साइंस आफ आइकोनोग्राफी' कहते हैं। हिन्दी में इसे 'प्रतिमा लक्षण' की संज्ञा दी जाती हैं। इन्हीं शिलाखण्डों में मैंने वे शिलाखंड भी देखे हैं जो 'बीम' के रूप में इस्तेमाल किये गये हैं उनकी नक्काशी भी उसी प्रकार की थी जिस प्रकार की नक्काशी हमें बारहवी शताब्दी के उत्तर भारत के मंदिर में उपलब्ध होता है। अन्त में वैसे तो और भी अनेक शिलाखंड मैंने वहॉ पाये है जो बारहवीं शताब्दी के वैष्णव मंदिर के हैं किन्तु फिर भी मैं उन तीन शिला लेखों का भी विशेष जिक्र करना चाहूँगा। जिनको पुरालिपि शास्त्र के विद्वानों ने पढ़कर यह बताया है कि यह मंदिर जहॉ के शिलालेख हैं और मंदिर हरिविष्णु के उस देवता को समर्पित है जिसने बलिराजा का मान मर्दन किया था और दशानन को भी ऐसा ही

''Besides this, capitols of pillars have been discovered which are shaped like lotus petals, which we call 'padmavallari'. Even this characteristic is seen in the Nagar Style Hindu temples. Besides stone blocks of 'Adhisthan's Kapot' have also been discovered which go on to show that even those stone blocks used to be parts of architecture of Hindu temples. After this I would also like to draw attention to 'Dwar Shakhas' above which, besides climbers and branches there were many images of Lord Vishnu which have been found in dilapidated state, that is to say, which have been broken deliberately. Besides, many stone blocks also of the back of the temple have been discovered, which fact go on to establish that the temple, of which they were the remains, was built on an elevated base. Among the remains Sun and lotus decorated stone blocks have also been found which were parts of the moulding above 'Gajthar' and 'Ashwathar' of temples and which were directly associated with the sun or the Vaishnava or the Vaishnavite deity. Besides these, fully as well as semi blossomed lotus were also engraved over the lintier of the temple, which are directly related to the Hindu temples and symbols. I would like to particularly refer to the Dwarpals (gatekeeper) at the Dwarshakha (gate) which had Karand throne over head and Vanmala (garland) around the neck, and a spear in one hand and the other hand being in form of blessing. Such figures of Dwarpals are to be found only in Vaishnav temples i.e. the temples which have such characteristics in their Dwarpals, can certainly be called Vaishnav temples. It is called the science of Iconography, and 'Pratima Lakshan' in Hindi. Amongst these stone blocks, I have seen those stone blocks as well which have been used as beam. Their engraving is also like the engravings available in temples of north India of the twelfth century. Although I have found many other stone blocks over there, which are of Vaishnav temple of twelfth century, still I would like to specially refer to three inscriptions, which have been deciphered by the scholars of lithography to the effect that the temple, to which these inscriptions belong, is devoted to that form of Hari Vishnu, who diminished the pride of king Bali as also of Dashanan."

''वादी के विद्वान अधिवक्ता श्री वीरेश्वर द्विवेदी ने गवाह का ध्यान अन्य मूलवाद सं0 5/89 में दाखिल उत्तर प्रदेश पुरातत्व संगठन द्वारा निर्मित श्वेत एवं श्याम एलबम की फोटो (चित्रों) की ओर दिलाया चित्र सं0 55 को देखकर गवाह ने कहा कि मेरा यह बयान है कि इसमें स्तम्भ के सबसे नीचे भाग में एक पूर्ण–घट है जो दो भारवाहक यक्षों के कन्धे पर उठाया गया है पूर्ण–कुम्भ में से लता–वल्लरी निकलते हुए दर्शाया गया है पूर्ण घट के मध्य में से एक कमल का फूल निकलता हुआ दर्शाया गया है जिसके फूल के ऊपर एक देव कन्या का चित्र है जिसे कुरेद कर नष्ट किया गया है इसके उपर स्तम्भ का मध्य भाग है जिसमें आठ कैसेट हैं। इसके ऊपर एक मालादल है अर्थात् मालाओं की एक लड़ी है। इसके ऊपर अन्त में शीर्ष या कैपिटल है जिसके ऊपर की नक्काशी में कमल दर्शाया गया है। चित्र सं0 56, 57, 58 को देखकर गवाह ने कहा कि यह तीनों ही चित्र एक ही स्तम्भ के नहीं हैं किन्तु चित्र सं0 56 और 57 एक ही स्तम्भ के हैं। चित्र सं0 55, 56 और 57 के डिटेल्स मैंने ऊपर लिखा दिये हैं जो सभी के सभी हिन्दू मंदिरों के स्तम्भों से संबंधित हैं। चित्र सं0 58 का चित्र एक दूसरे काले पत्थर के स्तम्भ का है जिसके ऊपर नक्काशी भी लगभग इसी प्रकार की है जिससे यह ज्ञात होता है कि ये दोनों पत्थर के स्तम्भ मंदिर के एक ही भाग में प्रयुक्त हुए होगें। चित्र सं0 59, 60, ही स्तम्भ के ऊपर और नीचे के डिटेल्स फोटोग्राफ्स हैं और इनमें भी वही

विशेषतायें हैं जिनका जिक्र मैंने ऊपर किया है। चित्र सं0 61 व 62 एक दूसरे काले पत्थर के स्तम्भ के चित्र हैं। यद्यपि कि इनकी मुख्य विशेषताये वहीं हैं किन्तु इसमें आमलक जैसी दो पट्टिकाएं भी हैं जो निश्चित तौर पर बारहवी शताब्दी के मंदिरों में ही प्रतीक के रूप में दिखाये जाते हैं। चित्र सं0 64, 65 और 66 भी काले पत्थर के स्तम्भ के चित्र हैं जिनकी बनावट और जिनके ऊपर का अलंकरण भी उन्हीं प्रतीकों से भरा है जो बारहवीं शताब्दी के हिन्दू मंदिरों की विशेषता होती है। 63 नम्बर का चित्र खम्भे के नीचे का चित्र है जिसके ऊपर का अलंकरण टूटे हुए यक्षों के चित्र पूर्ण–घट से निकलते हुए कमल का चित्र एवं फूल–पत्तियों के चित्र से सज्जित हैं। इसका जिक्र मैं ऊपर कर चुका हूँ। चित्र सं0 71, 72,73 के चित्र भी एक दूसरे काले शिष्टास पत्थर के खम्भे का है जिसकी नक्काशी थोड़ी भिन्न है इसके ऊपर नीचे की ओर यक्ष और पूर्ण–घट हैं किन्तु पूर्ण घट से निकलते हुए कमल के साथ साथ दूसरी ओर एक दूसरा पुष्प है इस स्तम्भ पर मालायें भिन्न प्रकार की हैं तथा इनके शीर्ष अथवा कैपिटल पर उकेरे गये पत्र–पुष्पदल ऊपर से नीचे की ओर गिरते हुए दिखाये गये हैं अतः यह स्तम्भ भी बारहवीं शताब्दी के मंदिर के ही हैं। चित्र सं0 74 के खम्भे का डिटेल 76 नम्बर पर है जिसमें एक कोण पर पूर्ण–घट में से निकलता हुआ एक पुष्प है चित्र सं0 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106 को दिखाकर वादी के वकील के प्रश्न के उत्तर में गवाह ने बताया कि चित्र सं0 87, 88 दोनों ही चित्र संख्या 86 के डिटेल्स फोटोग्राफ्स हैं। ये स्तम्भ भी काले शिस्टोज पत्थर के टुकड़े से बनाया गया था इस पर भी जो चित्र मैं देख रहा हूँ वे सब बारहवीं शताब्दी के हिन्दू मंदिर के ही प्रतीक चिन्ह हैं। चित्र 87 के चित्र में सबसे ऊपर पुष्प पंखुडियों के मध्य से निकलते हुए माला पंक्तियों में दर्शाये गये हैं उसके नीचे मध्य भाग में दो पैनल हैं ऊपरी पैनल अर्द्ध चन्द्राकार रूप में हैं जिनके उपर पुष्पों की पुंखडियॉ हैं। उनको इस प्रकार से दिखाया गया है मानों एक कमल अपने पेरीकार्प के ऊपर पंखुडियों के दल से सज्जित है। इसके नीचे के पैनल में चार कमलों और उनकी धुमावदार पंखुडियों के रिपीट होते हुए पैनल हैं ये दोनों ही प्रतीक भारतीय मंदिर स्थापत्य के भीतर मिलते हैं जो सम्पूर्ण भारतीय साहित्य में हिन्दू प्रतीकों के नाम से जाने जाते हैं। चित्र सं0 89, 90 तथा 91 भी एक अन्य स्तम्भ के विभिन्न भागों को दर्शाते हैं इनके शीर्ष पर उल्टे पत्तीदार प्रतीक

हैं जबकि मध्य में वनमाला और मणि का प्रतीक है चित्र सं0 91 में पूर्ण घट से निकलते हुए पुष्प वल्लरी एवं पत्तों के चिन्ह हैं जिनसे यह स्पष्ट होता है कि पूर्ण घट में जल था और उस जल से सभी हिन्दू प्रतीक निकल रहे थे। यह भी हिन्दू मंदिर स्थापत्य को पूर्ण रूप से दर्शाता है। फोटो सं0 97, 98, 99, 101 भी एक शिष्टोज पत्थर के स्तम्भ के विभिन्न चित्र हैं जिनके ऊपर की नक्काशी भी उसी प्रकार के हैं जिनका जिक्र मैंने पहले कहे गये पत्थर के बारे में किया है। चित्र सं0 101, 102, 103 तक काले पत्थर स्तम्भ के विभिन्न चित्र है जिनके ऊपर देव प्रतिमाओं को कहीं कही नष्ट कर दिया गया है अन्यथा इनकी विशेषताये भी वही है जिनका वर्णन मैं ऊपर कर चुका हूँ। चित्र सं0 104, 105 और 106 भी एक ऐसे ही काले पत्थर के खम्भे से संबंधित है जिनके ऊपर कमल माला, आमलक, पूर्ण घट, यक्ष आदि के चित्र विद्यमान हैं किन्तु चित्र सं0 106 में पूर्णघट से निकलता हुआ कमल दो दलो का है। ऊपर के दल से निकलते हुए एक मोर वल्लरी का चित्र भी है जिसे हल्की सी क्षति पहुँचाई गयी है और इसके फेसेट्स है अर्थात् एक मोर है मोर के पीछे पंख हैं जो ऊपर की ओर जा रहे हैं और वल्लरी रूप में गिर रहे हैं। हंस भारतीय प्रतीकों में एक है। वैष्णव धर्म से संबंधित होता है क्योंकि हंस सरस्वती से भी संबंधित है। अभी भी रहता है। ये फेसेट्स जो मैंने बताये है कमल के ऊपर हैं। चित्र सं0 24 में सामने की ओर एक पत्थर है जिसके ऊपर 1 लिखा है, उसके नीचे हिन्दी में जन्मभूमि लिखा है और उसके नीचे अंग्रेजी में भी जन्मभूमि लिखा है। चित्र सं0 1, 2 व 3 में ऐसा कुछ भी नहीं दिखता जिससे मैं कह सकूं कि इमारत का यह हिस्सा किसी वैष्णव मंदिर का बारहवी शताब्दी में बना हुआ अंश है। चित्र सं0 70 उस सीलिंग का चित्र है जो इमारत के एक गुम्बद के नीचे बना था यह ईटों की स्थापत्य है जिसके ऊपर चूने का मोटा पलास्टर चढ़ाया गया था। बीच में कमल की पंखुडियों का एक चित्र है जो संभवतः रंगों से बनाया गया था और जिसके बीच से एक लोहे की चेन लटक रही है। वादी के विद्वान अधिवक्ता श्री वीरेश्वर द्विवेदी ने उत्तर प्रदेश पुरातत्व संगठन द्वारा निर्मित रंगीन एलबम के चित्रों की ओर गवाह का ध्यान दिलाया जिसे देखकर गवाह ने कहा कि चित्र सं0 44 में एक लाल पत्थर का पट्ट है जिसके ऊपर संख्या 1 और हिन्दी में जन्मभूमि लिखा है तथा उसके नीचे अंग्रेजी में भी जन्मभूमि लिखा है चित्र सं0 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54 को देखकर गवाह ने कहा कि इमारत के भीतर

"The learned counsel for the plaintiff, Sri Vireshwar Dwivedi drew the attention of the witness towards the black and white photographs prepared by the U.P. Archaeological Organization and filed in O.O.S No. 5/89. After looking at photograph no. 55, the witness stated that a complete pitcher is shown in the lowest part of the pillar and the same was lifted on shoulders by two load carrying Yakshas (demigods). Lata- Vallari (Branches) have been shown to be emerging out of the complete pitcher. A lotus flower is seen emerging from the center of the complete pitcher and a nymph is shown above the flower. Above it is the mid part of the pillar, which has eight facets. Above it is a Maladal i.e. string of garlands. Above it is the vertex or capital, over which a lotus has been shown in engraving. After looking at photograph nos. 56, 57 and 58 the witness stated that all these three photographs are not of the same pillar and instead photograph nos. 56 and 57 are of the same pillar. The details of photograph nos. 55, 56 and 57 have been given by me as above and all of them are related to pillars of Hindu temples. The photograph no. 58 is of another black stone pillar and its engraving is almost similar, from which it appears that both these stone pillars must have been used in same part of the temple. The photograph nos. 59, 60, 77 are detailed photographs of upper and lower part of the pillars and they have the same characteristics, as given above by me. The photograph nos. 61 and 62 are of another black stone pillar. Although their main characteristics are similar, but they contain two Amlak (myrobalan) like strips, which are definitely shown as symbols of twelfth century temples. The photograph nos. 64, 65 and 66 are also of black stone pillars, whose make and superficial decoration is full of those very symbols,

which are characteristics of twelfth century Hindu temples. The photograph no. 63 is of the lower part of the pillar, whose superficial decoration includes damaged pictures of Yakshas (demigods), complete pitcher, lotus emerging out of complete pitcher and flowers-leaves, which have already been described above by me. The photograph nos. 71, 72, 73 are of another black Shistas stone pillar, whose engravings are a bit different. They have Yakshas (demigods) and complete pitcher at top and bottom, but along with the lotus emerging out of the complete pitcher is another flower on the other side. This pillar has various types of garlands and its vertex or capital have leaves-bunch of flowers moving downwards. Hence, these pillars are also of twelfth century temple. The details of the pillar in photograph no. 74 is at no. 76, which has a flower emerging out of the complete pitcher at an angle. On being shown photograph nos. 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105 and 106 by the learned counsel for the plaintiff, the witness stated that photograph nos. 87 and 88 are both detailed photographs of photograph no. 86. These pillars are also of black Shistas stone. The figures appearing over it, are also of symbols of twelfth century Hindu temple. In photograph no. 87 strings of garland have been shown to be emerging from the center of the flower petals at top. Below it in the mid part, are two panels. The upper panel is semi circular with flower petals on top in such a manner as if a lotus is blooming on its pericorp with its petals. In the lower panel, there are four lotus and their rounding petals are repeated in the panel. Both these symbols are found in Indian temple

architecture, which are known as Hindu symbols in the entire Indian literature. The photograph nos. 89, 90 and 91 also depict various part of another pillar. Their top contain reversed leaf symbols whereas the mid part contain symbols of Vanmala (series of garland) and Mani. The photograph no. 91 depicts symbols of Pushpvallari (flower) and leaves, which shows that the complete pitcher contained water and all the Hindu symbols emerged out of that water. This also completely reflects on Hindu temple architecture. The photograph nos. 97, 98, 99 and 101 also depict Shistas stone pillars and the engravings over them are similar to the ones described as above by me. The photograph nos. 101, 102 and 103 are various pictures of black stone pillars with the figures of deities existing over them having been damaged at places, otherwise their characteristics are similar to the ones described above by me. The photograph nos. 104, 105 and 106 are also of similar black stone pillars, which have the figures of lotus, garlands, Amlak (myrobalan), complete pitcher, Yaksha (demigod) etc. existing over them. However, the lotus emerging out of the complete pitcher in photograph no. 106 is of two petals. A peacock vallari can be seen emerging out of the upper petal, which has been slightly damaged and it has facets i.e. there is a peacock, which has feathers pointing forward on its rear and are falling in form of vallari. Swan is one of the Indian symbols related to Vaishnav religion because it is related to Saraswati. It is same even today. The facets named above by me, are the lotus. In photograph no. 24 there is a stone with numeral '१' written over it followed by Janmbhumi in Hindi.

Janmbhumi is also written below it in English. The photograph nos. 1, 2 and 3 do not depict any such thing on whose basis can I say that a particular portion of the building was part of any twelfth century Vaishnav temple. The photograph no. 70 is the picture of the ceiling of one of the dome of the structure. It is a construction of bricks with thick lime plaster. There is a picture of lotus petals in the center, which was probably made in colors and had a iron chain hanging out from center. The learned counsel for the plaintiff, Sri Vireshwar Dwivedi drew the attention of the witness towards the colored photographs contained in the album prepared by U.P. Archaeological Organization. On looking at it, the witness stated that the photograph no. 44 is a slab of red stone with numeral '1' and Janmbhumi written over it in Hindi. Janmbhumi is also written below it in English. After looking at the photograph nos. 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54 the witness stated that these photographs are of those two black stone pillars, which are found on both side of the gate after entering the structure. The photograph no. 55 is the picture of boundary wall of that structure. The photograph nos. 62, 63, 64, 65 are also pictures of boundary wall of that very structure. The photograph nos. 59, 60, 66, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 75, 73, 76, 77, 78, 79, 81, 82, 84 are of inside the structure and have been photographed from inside. I have carefully seen the photograph nos. 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184,

185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199 and 200 and these colored photographs are also of those black Shistas stones, which in local language are called touch stone. These photographs are like the black photographs and the sole difference is of color. However, I would like to draw attention towards photograph nos. 186 and 187 which contain the lower part of some God in the stage of 'Padamasan' (a posture of Yoga) over lotus and the entire upper part has been damaged. According to my knowledge, this photograph gives evidence of an idol of lord Vishnu in the form of Yoga. This further supports the evidences led by me herein above on the point that the temples, of which they were pillars, were certainly related to a Vaishnav temple dated around twelfth century inasmuch as from the point of art style, the Yoga form idol of Vishnu and such carvings, were characteristic of the twelfth century. After looking at photograph nos. 134, 135 and 174 the witness stated that these photographs were also of the ceiling beneath the dome, which had colored lotus petals in the center and a iron chain appearing to be hanging out from the center. This has also been referred above by me. From my point of view, the most important feature of these photographs is eight petaled lotus. That structure had three domes. This photograph is of the ceiling beneath one of the domes and was made up of bricks with plaster over it."

''Prof. B.B. Lal had carried out excavation here in the years 1975 and 1980. Pillar bases were found in said excavation and he has written many articles in that regard. I am in total agreement with his said report. The articles recovered in the excavation carried out by Prof. A.K. Narayan around the year 1970, had been seen by me at BHU. I am in total agreement with his report as well. The (British) methods by which I have studied the remains of this temple, are as follows:

1. Architectural Style of a North Indian Temple of Twelfth Century AD.

2. Art Historical i.e. examination of art style of all the pictures found engraved over there.

3. The make of letters used in inscriptions, on whose basis date in determined.

He said about his religious belief, in paras 10 and 11 of the affidavit, as under:

'10. मेरा जन्म वैष्णव परिवार में हुआ है। जन्म से ही भगवान विष्णु और उनके अवतारों के प्रति मेरी आस्था एवं भक्ति की भावना है। साथ ही अन्य देवी–देवताओं जैसे भगवान शिव, दुर्गा आदि के प्रति भी श्रद्धा एवं भक्ति है। हिन्दुओं की श्रद्धा केवल मूर्ति पूजा में ही नहीं अपितु उनके लिए स्थल भी पूज्य हैं जैसे केदारनाथ मंदिर, विष्णुपद मंदिर, गया आदि में स्थल ही पूज्य हैं। इसी प्रकार श्रीराम जन्मभूमि अति पवित्र एवं पूज्य स्थल है।''

''10. I have been born in a Vaishnavite family. Since birth, I had faith and belief in Lord Vishnu and His incarnations. I also had faith and belief in other Gods-Goddesses such as Lord Shiva, Durga etc. The faith of Hindus is not restricted only to idol worship and the place is also worshippable for them e.g. place is worshippable at Kedarnath temple, Vishnupad temple, Gaya etc. Similarly, Sri Ramjanmbhumi is a very sacred and worshippable place.''

''11. भगवान श्रीराम एक ऐतिहासिक पुरूष हुए हैं उनके पिता का नाम दशरथ एवं माता का नाम कौशल्या था। लक्ष्मण, भरत, शत्रुघ्न उनके भाई थे। भगवान श्रीराम ने अपने कृत्यों एवं आचरण से समाज में एक आदर्श स्थापित किया था जिसके कारण उनको मर्यादा पुरूषोत्तम भी कहा जाता है। श्रीराम भगवान विष्णु के अवतार माने जाते हैं।''

517. About Ayodhya, the present one where Lord Ram was born, existence of temple at the disputed place, birth of Lord Ram at the disputed place and construction of the disputed structure after demolition of a temple of Lord Ram he said in paras 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18 of the affidavit as under:

''12. भगवान श्रीराम का अवतार इसी भारत भूमि पर हुआ था। समस्त भारतीय वांगमय एक स्वर से इस बात की घोषणा करते हैं कि महाराजा दशरथ के पुत्र श्रीराम का जन्म अयोध्या में हुआ था। अयोध्या कोई काल्पनिक स्थल नहीं है वरन् एक वास्तविक नगर है जिसकी भौगोलिक स्थिति के बारे में भारतीय साहित्य में किसी भी प्रकार की मतविभिन्नता नहीं है। यह एक अत्यन्त प्राचीन नगरी है, जिसका उल्लेख वेदों में भी आया है। अथर्ववेद और तैत्तिरीय आरण्यक में इस मानव शरीर को देवताओं की नगरी कहा गया है तथा उसकी तुलना अयोध्या से की गई हैं यदि अयोध्या का अस्तित्व न होता तो इस प्रकार की उपमा नहीं दी जा सकती थी। यह वही अयोध्या है जो सरयू नदी के तट पर बसी है। समस्त भारतीय साहित्य में और सम्पूर्ण भारतीय उपमहाद्वीप में न तो दूसरी अयोध्या है और न ही दूसरी सरयू नदी।''

"Lord Sri Rama incarnated himself on this very Bharat Bhumi. The whole of India is one in declaring that Sri Rama, son of King Dashrath was born in Ayodhya. Ayodhya is not an imaginary place; rather, it is a real town about whose geographical location no difference of opinion is found in Indian literature. It is a very ancient town which also finds mention in Vedas. Atharvaveda and Taitriya Aranyak has spoken of this human body as the abode of Gods and has compared it to Ayodhya. If Ayodhya had not existed, such sort of comparison could not have been made. This is the Ayodhya that is located on the bank of River Saryu. There is neither any other Ayodhya nor any other Saryu river in the entire Indian literature and in the

"13. अयोध्या में जिस स्थल पर भगवान श्रीराम ने जन्म लिया था वह हिन्दुओं के लिए विशेष महत्व रखता हैं अनेक शताब्दियों और असंख्य पीढ़ियों से हिन्दू जनता उस स्थल की पूजा करती आयी है तथा इस अविच्छिन्न परम्परा के कारण उस स्थल को भूलने अथवा उसमें किसी भी प्रकार के भ्रम की कोई गुंजाईश नहीं है। "यही वह स्थल है जिसका विवाद इस वाद में चल रहा है।"अनेक देशी, परसियन और युरोपीय लेखक यह बताते हैं कि अयोध्या में मुसलमान शासकों के शासनकाल में कम से कम तीन महत्वपूर्ण वैष्णव मंदिरों को ध्वस्त करके उन पर मस्जिदें बना दी गई थी। वह हैं अयोध्या स्थिति श्रीरामजन्मभूमि मंदिर, स्वर्गद्वार मंदिर और त्रेता के ठाकुर का मंदिर। इनमें श्रीरामजन्मभूमि मंदिर के लिए ही अनवरत संघर्ष हुए और हिन्दुओं का वहां पर पूजा करने का आग्रह रहा है और अभी भी वहां पूजा करते चले आ रहे हैं। इसका कारण यह रहा है कि देवी देवताओं के मंदिर कहीं भी और कभी भी बनाये जा सकते हैं, तथा उनमें मूर्ति की प्राणप्रतिष्ठा कराकर पूजा की जा सकती है किन्तु किसी के जन्मस्थल को कदापि बदला नहीं जा सकता। इसी कारण हिन्दुओं का उस परम पवित्र श्रीरामजन्मभूमि (स्थल) के प्रति विशेष आग्रह रहा है। श्रीरामजन्मभूमि मंदिर तोड़कर जबरदस्ती मस्जिद बना दिए जाने के बावजूद वहां पर उसी परम्परागत ढंग से प्रति वर्ष भगवान श्रीराम के जन्मदिन, चैत्रशुक्ल रामनवमी के अवसर पर श्रद्धालु रामभक्तों की भीड़ उमड़ पड़ती रही है और उसकी परिक्रमा–पूजा करके अपने श्रद्धा सुमन अर्पित करके हृदय में एक टीस लिए वापस जाती रही जिसका उल्लेख यूरोपीय यात्री टाइफेनथेलर ने किया है, "जिसका एस्ट्रेक्ट कागज संख्या 107सी–1/98–108 इस वाद में दाखिल है। 107सी–1/109 एंड 107सी–1/110 जो मार्टिन द्वारा लिखित उल्लेख भी इस वाद में दाखिल है।"

"The place where Lord Sri Rama was born in Ayodhya, holds a special importance for Hindus. For many centuries and for innumerable generations Hindu public has been worshipping this place. Due to this constant tradition it has continued to worship that place and for this very reason there is no room for them to forget the said place or to have any sort of confusion about it. This is the place which in dispute in this suit. Many native, Persian and European authors tell that in Ayodhya at least three important Vaishnavite temples were demolished and mosque were built in their places during the tenure of Muslim rulers. They are Ayodhya-situated Sri Ram Janam Bhumi temple, Swarg Dwar temple and Thakur temple of Treta Era. Out of these, there has been a consistent struggle only for Sri Ram Janam Bhumi temple and Hindus have been insisting on performing pooja there and they are continuing to perform pooja there even today. Its reason has been that temples of gods and goddesses can be built at any place and at any time and pooja can be performed after deifying the idols placed therein. But someone's birthplace can never be changed. For this very reason Hindus have been laying particular insistence on the holiest place called Sri Ram Janam Bhumi. Despite the mosque having been forcibly constructed after demolishing Sri Ram Janam Bhumi temple, on the occasion of Sri Rama's birth anniversary falling on Chaitra Shukla Navami, devout Rama worshippers converge there every year in that very traditional manner and perform parikrama and pooja and offer flowers as a mark of reverence and go back from there with a pain in their heart which has been described by a European traveller Typhen Thaylor. Its extract is filed in this suit as paper nos. 107C-1/98-108. The written account of Martin is also filed in this suit as paper nos. 107C-1/109 and 107C-1/110."

''14. जहां तक इतिहास का प्रश्न है अयोध्या अपने अस्तित्वकाल में उजड़ी और बसाई गईं वाल्मीकि रामायण 7/111/10 में उल्लेख है कि भगवान श्रीराम ने अपने जीवन काल में अयोध्या को विजन कर दिया था और अपनी सारी प्रजा के साथ स्वर्ग चले गए। अपने पुत्रों को अयोध्या के

बाहर रहकर राज्य करने का प्रबन्ध कर दिया था। बड़े पुत्र लव को श्रावस्ती (सहेट–महेट) में राजधानी बनाकर राज्य करने को कहा था तथा यह स्थल भगवान बुद्ध के काल तक कोशल राज्य का राजधानी बनी रही। बाद में मौर्यकाल में भी यह कोशल प्रान्त (मगध साम्राजय का एक प्रान्त) की राजधानी बनी रही। दूसरे पुत्र कुश को कुशावती नगर बसा कर राज्य करने का प्रबंध किया जो विंध्य क्षेत्र में है और बाद में तथा अब तक महाकोशल के नाम से प्रसिद्ध है। रामायण में यह भी बताया गया है कि भगवान श्रीराम के बाद ऋषभ के समय में अयोध्या पुनः बसाई जायेगी। यह जैनियों के प्रथम तीर्थंकर थे जिन्हें आदिनाथ भी कहा जाता है। हिन्दुओं में ऐसी किवदंती है कि अयोध्या को तीसरी बार बसाने का श्रेय उज्जैन के महाराजा विक्रमादित्य को है, जिन्होंने जैसा कि इस वाद में दाखिल कागज संख्या 107सी–1/10, 107सी–1/28, 107सी–1/35, 107सी–1/55 से स्पष्ट होता है, अयोध्या में 360 मंदिर बनवाये। कुछ उन्हें उज्जैन के गर्दभिल्ल वंश के महाराजा विक्रमादित्य मानते हैं। जिन्होंने 57 ईसा पूर्व में शकों का विनाश करके विक्रम संवत् की स्थापना की थी तथा कुछ उन्हें गुप्तवंश के चन्द्रगुप्त विक्रमादित्य मानते हैं। जो भी हो इन 360 मंदिरों में श्रीरामजन्मभूमि का मंदिर अवश्य ही शामिल था।''

''14. Insofar as history is concerned, Ayodhya was ruined and established in its existence period. It is mentioned in Valmiki Ramayana 7/111/10 that during His lifetime Lord Sri Rama had depopulated Ayodhya and had proceeded to heaven along with His entire subjects. He had arranged for His sons to rule from outside Ayodhya. The elder son Luv was asked to rule with Shrawasti (Sahet-Mahet) as capital and till the period of Buddha, this place continued to be the capital of Kaushal estate. Subsequently, in the Maurya period as well this Kaushal estate (province of Magadh empire) was the capital. The city of Kushawati, which is in the Vindhya region, was established for the rule of the other son Kush and thereafter till date it is famous as Mahakaushal. It has also been mentioned in the Ramayana that after Lord Sri Rama, Ayodhya would again be inhabited during the times of Rishabh. He was the first Tirthkar of Jains and is also known as Adinath. It is so believed amongst the Hindus that the credit for inhabitance of Ayodhya for third time, goes to Vikramaditya, king of Ujjain. It appears from paper no. 107C-1/10, 107C-1/28, 107C-1/35, 107C-1/55 filed in this suit that he had built 360 temples in Ayodhya. Few consider him to be king Vikramaditya of Gardbhill dynasty of Ujjain, who had destroyed the Shakas in 57 BC and had started the Vikram era and few consider him to be Chandragupta Vikramaditya of Gupta dynasty. Be that as it may, the Sri Ramjanmbhumi temple was certainly included in those 360 temples."

''16. *From the 20 line inscription (estampage filed in this suit as paper no. 203C-1/3) found in the debris of the disputed structure demolished on 6th December, 1992 at Ayodhya, it transpires that during the reign of Gaharwal king Govindchandra (from 1114 to 1154 AD) the ruler of Saket division built a very grand temple at this place. The need for construction of the same arose in view of the fact that it had been demolished about 70-80 years ago, but in this period also worship was taking place here. ''Description of Ayodhya being the birthplace of Raghavendra Lord Sri Rama and the disputed site being Sri Rama's birthplace, is found in Valmiki Ramayana, Atharvaveda, Yajurveda, Ramtapniyayopanishad, Skandapurana and Tulsidas's literature. Goswami Tulsidas, in his 'Sri Tulsishatak' has clearly described the deeds of Muslims and Babur and the mosque having been built by Mir Baqi after demolishing Sri Ram Janam Mandir at Ayodhya, which runs as follows:

Goswami Tulsidas Ji says that 'Yavans' (barbarians /Mohammedans) ridicule hymns, several Upnishads and treatises like Brahmans, Puranas, Itihas (histories) etc. and also the Hindu society (orthodox religion) having faith in them. They exploit the Hindu society in different ways.

Goswami Tulsi Das says that forcible attempts are being made by Muslims to expel the followers of Hinduism from their own native place (country), forcibly divesting them of their Shikha (lock of hair on the crown of head) and 'Yagyopaveet' (sacrificial thread) and causing them to deviate from their religion. Tulsi Das terms this time as a hard and harrowing one.

Describing the barbaric attack of Babur, Goswami Ji says that he indulged in gruesome genocide of the natives of that place (followers of Hinduism), using sword (army).

Gowami Tulsi Das Ji says that countless atrocities were committed by foolish 'Yavans' (Mohammedans) in Awadh (Ayodhya) in and around the summer of Samvat 1585, that is, 1528 AD (Samvat 1585- 57=1528 AD).

Describing the attack made by 'Yavans', that is, Mohammedans on Sri Ramjanambhumi temple, Tulsi Das Ji says that after a number of Hindus had been mercilessly killed, Sri Ram Janam Bhumi temple was broken to make it a mosque. Looking at the ruthless killing of Hindus, Tulsi Ji says that his heart felt aggrieved, that is, it began to weep, and on account of incident it continues to writhe in pain.

Seeing the mosque constructed by Mir Baqi in Awadh, that is, Ayodhya in the wake of demolition of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi temple preceded by the grisly killing of followers of Hinduism having faith in Rama and also seeing the bad plight of the temple of his favoured deity Rama, the heart of Tulsi began to always cry tearfully for Raghuraj (the most revered among the scions of the Raghu Dynasty). Being aggrieved thereby, submitting himself to the will of Sri Rama, he shouted: O Ram ! Save....Save...

Tulsi Das Ji says that the mosque was constructed by the wicked Mir Baqi after demolishing Sri Ram Janam Bhumi temple, situated in the middle of Awadh, that is, Ayodhya.

Tulsi Das Ji says that the Quran as well as Ajaan call is heard from the holy place of Sri Ram Janam Bhumi, where discourses from Shrutis, Vedas, Puranas, Upnishads etc. used to be always heard and which used to be constantly reverberated with sweet sound of bells."(E.T.C.)

"22. गोस्वामी तुलसी दास ने अपनी रचना कवितावली में निम्नलिखित पंक्तियों के द्वारा समाज से विरक्तता और भगवान राम के प्रति अपनी आसक्ति एवं आस्था प्रकट करते हुए विवादित स्थल के बारे में उल्लेख किया है:–

धूत कहौं अवधूत कहौं, रजपूत कहौं, जोलहा कहौं कोऊ।
काहू की बेटी से बेटा न ब्याहब, काहू की जाति बिगारन सोऊ।।
तुलसी सर नाम गुलामु है राम को, जाको रूचे सो कहै कछु जोऊ।
मांगि के खैबों, मसीत में सोइबो, लैवे को एकु न दैवे के दोऊ।।"

"22. In his work 'Kavitavali', Goswami Tulsidas while expressing detachment from the society and his attachment and faith towards Lord Rama has mentioned about the disputed site in the following lines:-

www.vadaprativada.com

"Dhoot Kahaun, Avadhoot Kahaun, Rajpoot Kahaun, Jolha Kahaun Kou.

Kahu Ki Beti Se Beta Na Byahab, Kahu Ki Jati Bigaran Sou.

Mangi Ke Khaibon, Maseet Me Soibo, Laive Ko Eku Na Deve Ke Dou." (E.T.C.)

''23. वेद सम्मत वाल्मीकि रामायण की रचना भगवान श्रीराम के समय की ही मानी जाती है। बाल्मीकि रामायण के बालकाण्ड के सर्ग 18 में भगवान श्रीराम के जन्म के समय, ऋतु, ग्रह, नक्षत्र आदि का वर्णन करते हुए महर्षि बाल्मीकि ने विवादित स्थल को ''सर्वलोक नमस्कृत'' शब्द के माध्यम से भगवान श्रीराम के जन्म स्थली को निम्नलिखित श्लाको द्वारा स्पष्टतः वर्णित किया हैः–

ततश्च द्वादशे मासे चैत्रे नावमिके तिथौ।।

नक्षत्रेऽदिति दैवत्ये स्वोच्चसंस्थेषु पन्जसु।।

ग्रहेषु कर्कटे लग्ने वाक्यताविन्दुना सह।।

प्रोद्यमाने जगन्नाथं सर्वलोक नमस्कृतम्।

कौशल्याजनयद् रामं दिव्य लक्षण संयुतम्।।''

''23. The Veda equivalent Valmiki Ramayana is considered to have been composed in the period of Lord Sri Rama. While describing the time, climate, planets etc. of the birth of Lord Sri Rama in Sarga-18 of Balkand in the Valmiki Ramayana, Maharishi Valmiki has clearly described the birthplace of Lord Sri Rama through the words 'Sarvalok Namaskrit' in the following Shloka-

"Tato Yagye Samapte Tu Ritunam Shat Samatyuyah.

Tatasch Dwadashe Mase Chaitre Navamike Tithau.

www.vadaprativada.com

Graheshu Karkate Lagne Vakyatavinduna Sah.

Prodyamane Jagannatham Sarvalok Namaskritam.

Kaushalyajanayad Ramam Divya Lakshan Samyutam." (E.T.C.)

''24. धर्मग्रन्थ विशेषतः रामतापनीयोपनिषद, वेद,–वेदांग में भगवान के चार रूपों अर्थात (1) नाम (2) रूप (3) लीला (4) धाम का वर्णन है जिनके पूजा करने का विधान है।

''धाम से आशय जन्मभूमि से है जैसा कि निम्नलिखित श्लोक से स्पष्ट है:–

धर्म स्थाने प्रकाशे च जन्मभूमौ तथैव च।।

इस प्रकार स्पष्ट है कि श्री राम जन्मभूमि आराध्यदेव के समान पूज्य है तथा अनंतकाल से उसी रूप में हिन्दू धर्मावलम्बियों द्वारा उनके आस्था केन्द्र के रूप में निरन्तर पूजित चला आ रहा है।''

''24. The religious books specially Ramtapniopanishad, Veda-Vedangas contain description of all four forms of God Almighty viz. (1) Name, (2) Form, (3) Leela (actions) and (4) Dham (abode), besides the method of offering prayer. The word Dham implies Janmbhumi (birthplace), as is clear from the following Shloka-

"Dharm Sthane Prakashe Cha Janmbhumau Tathaiva Cha.

Kirane Chaiv Vigyeyam Tatha Chandanrashmino." (E.T.C.)

Accordingly it is clear that the Sri Ramjanmbhumi is worshipable alike favoured deity and since time immemorial, the Hindu devotees have been continuously revering the said place as the centre of their faith.'' (E.T.C.)

Also claim to be involved in Archaeological Research since

www.vadaprativada.com

1976. He observed excavation at the disputed site of Archaeology during March to August, 2003 and in respect to the report of ASI, he says:

> "3. That the report of the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) submitted to this Hon'ble Court on 22nd August, 2003, is an unprofeesional document, full of gross omissions, one-sided presentation of evidence, clear falsifications and motivated inferences. It is full of internal contradictions and discrepancies as will be pointed out below. The ASI's only aim seems to be to so ignore and twist the evidence as to make it suit its "conclusions" tailored to support the fictions of interested parties about the previous existence of an alleged temple on the disputed site."
> "4. That the first and crucial gross omission in the ASI's Report is the total absence of any list in which the numbered layers in each trench are assigned to the specific period as distinguished and numbered by ASI itself. The only list available is for some trenches only in the Charts placed between pages 37-38. A list or Concordance or trench-layers in all trenches with Periods was essential to test whether the ASI has correctly assigned artefacts from certain trench layers to particular periods in its main Report. Where, as we shall see below, in connections with bones, Glazed wares and terracotta pieces the finds can be traced to trench-layers that are expressly identified with certain Periods by the ASI in its above-mentioned charts, it can be shown that the ASI's assignment of layers to particular periods is often demonstrably wrong and made only with the object of tracing structural remains or

www.vadaprativada.com

artefacts there to an earlier time in order to bolster the wrong theory on a pre-mosque alleged Hindu temple."

"5. The one decisive piece of evidence, which entirely negates large and medium size animals (cattle, sheep and goats) are a sure sign of animals being eaten or thrown away dead at the site, and, therefore, rule out a temple existing at the site at that time. In this respect directions were given by the Hon'ble High Court to the ASI to record "the number and size of bones and glazed wares". The Report in its "Summary of Results" admits that "animal bones have been recovered from various levels of different periods" (Report, p.270). But this is the sole reference the Report makes to them. Any serious archaeological report would have tabulated the bones, by periods, levels and trenches, and identified the species of the animals (which in bulk seem to be sheep and goats). There should, indeed, have been a chapter devoted to animal remains. But despite the statement in its "Summary", t there is no word about the animal bones in the main text of the Report. This astonishing omission is patently due to the ASI's fear of the fatal implications held out by the animal bone evidence for its preconceived temple theory. "

Now if we turn to the ASI's record of the Finds in the Day-to-Day Register and Antiquities Register we find that in Trenches Nos. E-6 (Layer 4), E-7 (Layer 4), F-4/F-5 (Layer 4) animal bones have been found well below Period VII-layers, i.e. to Period VI (Early Medieval – Pre-Sultanate) or still earlier, and in Trenches Nos. F-8, G-2, J-2/J-3, they are found in Layers assigned by ASI to period VI itself. Thus bones have been found in what are allegedly central precincts or the alleged Rama temple allegedly built in 'Period VI'. The ASI says that a massive temple was built again in Period VII, but in Trenhes Nos.E6, F8, G-2 and J-E/J-4 bones have been found in layers assigned to this very Period also in the same central precincts. The above data may be found in the Tabes produced in Sunni Central Board of Waqfs (UP)'s 'Additional Objection' dated on 3-2-04.

The ASI perhaps knows that sacrificial animals' bones (if we are dealing here with a temple where animals were sacrificed, which incidentally, has not been claimed for any Rama temple) cannot be represented by bone fragments, but need to be found at particular spots, practically whole and entire, which is not here at all the case in even a single instance."

"6. That the glazed ware, often called "Muslim" glazed ware, constitutes an equally definite piece of evidence, which militates against the presence or construction of a temple. Since such glazed ware was not at all used in temples. The ware is all-pervasive till much below the level of "Floor No.4", which floor is falsely ascribed in the Report to the "huge" structure of a temple allegedly built in the 11th-12th centuries. The Report tells us that the glazed ware sherds only "make their appearance" " in the last phase of the period VII" (p.220). Here we directly encounter the play with the names of periods. On page 270, Period VII is called "Medieval Sultanate", dated to 12th-16th century A.D. But on p.40 "Medieval-Sultanate" is the name used for period VI, dated to 10th and 11th centuries. The summary concedes (on page 270) that the glazed ware appears only in "the last phase of Period VII". In the Chapter V, however, no mention is made of this "last phase" of Period VII; it is just stated that "the pottery of Medieval-Sultanate, Mughal and Late-and-Post Mughal period (Periods VII to IX)... indicated that there is not much difference in pottery wares and shapes" and that "the distinctive pottery of the periods is glazed ware" (p.108). The placing of the appearance of Glazed Ware in the "last phase" only of Period VII appears to be a last-minute invention in the Report (contrary to the findings in the main text) to keep its thesis of alleged "massive" temple, allegedly built in period VII, clear of the "Muslims" Glazed-Ware by a sleight of hand, because otherwise it would militate against a temple being built in that period. All this gross manipulation has been possible because not a single item of glazed pottery is attributed to its trenches and stratum in the select list of 21 items of glazed ware (out of hundreds of items actually obtained) on pages 109-111. Seeing the importance of glazed ware as a factor for elementary dating (pre- or post-Mslim habitation at the site), (and in view also of the Hon'ble High Court's orders about the need for recording of glazed ware, a tabulation of all recorded glazed-ware sherds according trench and stratum was essential.) That this has been entirely disregarded shows that, owing to the glazed-ware evidence being totally incompatible with any temple construction activity in periods VI and VII, the ASI has resorted to the most unprofessional act of ignoring and manipulating evidence."

"7. That going by the Poetry Section of the Report

(p.108), not by its "Summary", the presence of Glazed Ware throughout Period VII (Medieval, 12th-16th centuries) rules out what is asserted on page 41, that a "column-based structure" - the alleged 50-pillar – was built in this period. How could Muslim have been using glazed ware inside a temple? Incidentally, the claim of a Delhi University archaeologist (Dr Nainjot Lahiri) defending the Report, that glazed ware was found at Muslim, and Tulamba (near Multan) before the 13th century, hardly germane to the issue, since these were towns under Arab rule with Muslim settlements since 714 AD onwards, and so the use of glazed ware there is to be expected. The whole point is that glazed ware is an indicator of 'Muslim habitation, and is not found in medieval Hindu temples."

"8. That the story of Glazed Tiles is very similar. These too are an index of Muslim habitation*. Yet 2 glazed Tiles are found in layers of Period VI means that the layers are wrongly assigned and must be dated to Period VII (Sultanate period). There could be no remains of any alleged "huge temple" in these layers, then."*

"9. That when the ASI submitted its Day -to-Day and Antiquities Register for inspection it turned out that the ASI had concealed the fact in its Report that the layer of certain trenches it had been attributing to pre-Sultanate Period V cannot simply belong to it, because glazed tiles have been found in it; and the layers assigned to Period VI could not have belonged to a temple, as alleged, because both glazed ware and glazed tiles have been found in it. In this respect attention may be invited to the Tabes submitted as

Annexure I to the Additional Objection of the Sunni Waqf Board, dated 3-2-04."

"10. That the ASI's Report is so lacking in integrity that it tries to achieve its object by manipulation nomenclature*. In Chapter III, "Stratigraphy and Chronology" it has names for periods VI and VII that are coolly altered in the other Chapters in order simply to transfer inconvenient material of Period VI to Period VII and thus make Period VI levels purely "Hindu". On pages 38-41, the nomenclature for Periods V, VI and VII is given as follows:*

Period V: Post-Gupta-Rajputa, 7th to 10th Century

Period VII: Medieval, 12th - 16th Century

Now let us turn to "Summary of Results" (pp.268-9). Here the nomenclature is altered as follows:-

Period V: Post-Gupta-Rajputa, 7th - 10th Century

Period VII: Medieval-Sultanate, 12th - 16th Century

"11. That this transference of "Medieval-Sultanate period" from Period VI to Period VII has the advantage of ignoring Islamic-period materials like Glazed ware or lime-mortar bonding by removing them arbitrarily from Period VI levels to those of Period VII so that their actual presence in those levels need not embarrass the ASI in this placing of the construction of an alleged "massive" or "huge" temple in Period VI. The device is nothing but manipulation and the so-called single "correction" of nomenclature of Period VI, after the Report had been prepared, does not remove the confusion."

"12. That this brings us to the way in which the entire stratigraphy has been fixed, and certain layers obviously of Islamic provenance pressed into pre-Muslim periods (Period VI and earlier) as shown in Annexure No.1, Table 2, attached to the objection of Mr. Hashim dated 8.10.2003. This kind of false stratigraphy has led to situations that are impossible in correctly stratified layers, namely, the presence of later materials in earlier strata. The presence of earlier materials in later or upper layers is possible, but not the reverese (Obviously the entire stratigraphy has been falsified to invent a temple in "Post-Guppta-Rajputa" times.)

"13. That while digging up the Babri Masjid site, the excavators found four floors*, numbered, upper to lower, as Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4, Floor No.4 being the lowest and so the oldest. Floor No. 3 is linked to the foundation walls of the Babri Masjid – what the ASI calls the "demolished" or "disputed structure" - built in 1528. Floor No. 4 is described by the Report as "a floor of lime mixed with fine clay and brick crush", i.e. a typically Muslim style surkhi and lime floor.* It is obviously the floor of an earlier Mosque/Eidgah and mihrab and taq were also found in the associated foundation wall (not, of course, identified as such in the ASI's report*). Such a floor, totally Muslim on "stylistic grounds" is turned by the ASI into an alleged temple floor, "over which a column-based structure was built". (as asserted by A.S.I.). No single example is offered by the ASI of any temple of pre-Mughal times having such a lime-surakhi floor, though one would think that this is an essential requirement when a purely Muslim structure is* sought by the ASI as Hindu one. Once this arbitrary appropriation has occurred (page 41), we are then asked by the ASI's report to imagine a "Massive Structure Below the Disputed Structure", the massive structure being an alleged temple. It is supposed to have stood upon alleged 50 pillars, and by fanciful drawings (Figure 23, 23A and 23B) in the ASI's Report, it has been "reconstructed". [Though one may still feel that it was hardly "massive" when one compares Figure 23 (showing Babri Masjid before demolition) and Figure 23B (showing the reconstructed temple with 50 imaginary pillars!)] Now, according to the ASI's Report, this massive structure with "bases" of 46 if its alleged 50 pillars now allegedly exposed, was built in Period VII, the period of the Delhi Sultans, Sharqi rulers and Lodi Sultans (1206-1526) : This attribution of the Grand temple, to the "Muslim" period is not by choice, but because of the presence of "Muslim" style materials and techniques all through. This, given their jaundiced view of medieval Indian history, must has been all the more reason for them to imagine a still earlier structure assignable to an earlier time. Of this structure, however, only four alleged "pillar bases" , with "foundation" attached to Floor 4, have been found*; and it is astonishing that this should be sufficient to ascribe them to 10th -11th century and to assume that they all belong to one structure. That structure is proclaimed as "huge", extending nearly 50 metres that separate the alleged "pillar-bases" at the extremes. Four "pillar bases"can hardly have held such a long roof; and if any one tried it on them it is not surprising that the result was,* as the ASI Report admits, "short-lived" (Report, p. 269). (All of this seems a regular part of a propagandist archaeology rather than a report from a body called the Archaeological Survey of India.)"

"14. That further the four alleged pillar bases dated to 11th -12th centuries are said " to belong to this level with a brick crush floor". This amounts to a totally unsubstantiated that surkhi was used in the region in Gahadavala times (11th - 12th centuries). No examples of such use in Gahadavala times are offered. One would have thought that Sravasti (District Bahraich), from which the ASI team has produced a linga-centred Shavaite "circular shrine" of the Gahadavala period for comparison with the so-called "circular shrine" at the Babri Masjid site, would be able to produce at least one example of either surkhi or lime mortar from the Gahadavala period structures at Sravasti. But such has not at all been the case. One can see now why it had been necessary to call this period (period V) "Medieval-Sultanate" (p.40) (by a later "correction" submitted to the Hon'ble Court, this has been changed to " Post-Gupta, Rajput"), though it is actually claimed to be pre-Sultanate, being dated 11th -12th century. By clubbing together the Gahadavala with the Sultanate, the surkhi is sought to be explained away; but if so, the alleged "huge" structure too must come to a time after 1206, for the Delhi Sultanate was only established in that year. And so, to go by ASI's reasoning, the earlier allegedly "huge" temple too must have been built when the Sultans ruled!"

"15. That the way the ASI has distorted evidence to suit its

"temple theory" is shown by its treatment of the mihrab (arched recess) and taq (niche) found in the western wall, which it turns into features of its imagined temple. On p. 68 of the ASI's Report are described two niches in the inner side of Wall 16 at an interval of 4.60 metres in trenches E6 and E7. These were 0.20 metre deep and I metre wide. A similar niche was found in Trench ZE2 in the northern area and these have been attributed to the first phase of construction of the so-called 'massive structure' associated with wall 16. Such niches, along the inner face of a western wall, are again characteristic of Mosque / Eidgah construction. Moreover, the inner walls of the niche are also plastered (as in Plate 49) which indicated that the plaster was meant to be visible. A temple niche, if found, it would in any case have to be on the outer wall. In the first phase of construction, the supposed massive structure was confined to the thin wall found in Trenches ZE1-ZH1 in the north and E6-H5/H6 in the south (p. 41). How then does one explain the location of niches outside the floor area of the massive structure? This is typical of a mosque/ eidgah, which has a long, wide north-south wall, with niches at intervals on its inner face and there may be a small covered area in the centre. Which would have narrow demarcating walls. And the ASI is able to produce no example of similar recess and niche from any temple."

"16. That since the entire basis of the supposed "huge" and "massive" temple-structures preceding the demolished mosque lies in the ASI's reliance upon its alleged "pillar bases" I beg now to consider what these really are and what they imply. In this respect one must first remember that what are said by the ASI to be pillar bases are in many cases are only one or more calcrete stones resting on brick-bats, just heaped up, though ASI claims that mud-mortar was sometimes used. In many claimed "pillar bases" the calcrete stones are not found at all. As one can see from the descriptive table on pages 56-67 of the report not a single one of these supposed "pillar bases" has been found in association with any pillar or even a fragment of it; and it has not been claimed that there are any marks are indentations or hollows on any of the calcrete stone to show that any pillar had rested on them. The ASI Report nowhere attempts to answer the questions (1) why brick bats and not bricks were used at the base, and (2) how mud-bonded brick-bats could have possibly with stood the weight of roof-supporting pillars without themselves falling apart. It also offers not a single example of any medieval temple where pillars stood on such brick-bat bases."

"17. That despite the claim of these pillar bases being in alignment and their being so shown in fancy drawings (figures 23, 23A and 23B), the Reports claim that these bases are in alignment is not borne out by the actual measurements and distances; and there is indeed much doubt whether the plan provided by ASI is drawn accurately at all, there are enormous discrepancies between Fig. 3A (the main plan) and the Table in Chapter 4 on the one hand, and the Report's Appendix IV, on the other. Trench F7 has 4 alleged "pillar bases" in the former, for example; but only one in the latter!"

"18. That in fact the entire matter of the way the ASI has identified or created "pillar bases" is a matter of serious concern. Complaints were also made to the Observers appointed by the High Court that the ASI was ignoring calcrete-topped brick-bat heaps where these were not found in appropriate positions and selected only such brick-bat heaps as were not two for of from its imaginary grids, and there creating the alleged "bases" by clearing the rest of the floor of brick-bats."

"19. That the most astonishing thing that the ASI so casually brushes aside relates to the varying levels at which the so-called "pillar bases" stand. Even if we go by the ASI's own descriptive table (page 56-57), as many as seven of these alleged 50 "bases" are definitely above Floor 2, and one is in level with it. At least six rest on Floor 3, and one rests partly on Floor 3 and 4. since at least come that so many pillars were erected after the Mosque had been built in order to sustain an alleged earlier temple structure ! More, as many as nine alleged "pillar bases" are shown as cutting through Floor No. 3. So, are we to understand that when the Mosque floor was laid out, the "pillar bases"at all, but some kind of loosely-bonded brickbat deposits, which continued to be laid right from the time of Floor 4 to Floor1."

"20. That it may be added that even the table on pages 56-67 of the ASI's Report may not correctly represent the layers of the pillar bases, since its information of floors does not match that of the Report's Appendix IV which in several trenches does not attest to Floor NO. 4 at all, which the "pillar bases" in many cases are supposed to have sealed by, or to have cut through or stand on ! For example, "pillar base 22" on pp.60-61 is indicated as the resting on floor 4, but there is no Floor 4 shown as existing in Appendix IV of the Report in Trench F2 where this base supposedly stands. Similar other discrepancies are listed below:

"21. That the ASI should have surely looked about for other explanations of the heaps of brickbats before jumping to its "pillar bases" theory. There is at least one clear and elegant explanation. When the surkhi-lime mortar bonded Floor No.4 was being laid out over the mound sometimes during the Sultanate period, its builders must have had to level the mound properly, the stones (the latter often joined with lime mortar) to fill them and enable the floor to filled up in order to lay out Floor 4 went our of repair, its holes had similar deposits of brickbats had to be made to fill the holes in order to lay out Floor 2 (or, indeed, just to have a level surface). This explains why the so called "pillar bases" appear to "cut through" both Floors 3 and 4, at some places, while at other they "cut through Floo3 or Floor 4 only. They are mere deposits to fill up holes in the floors. Since such repairs were in time needed at various spots all over the floors, these brickbat deposits are widely dispersed. Had not he ASI been so struck by the necessity of finding pillars and "pillar bases" to please its masters, which had to be in some alignment, it could have found scattered over the ground not just fifty but perhaps over a hundred or more such deposits of brickbats. A real embarrassment of riches of "pillar bases", that is! Only they are, of course, not pillar bases at all."

"22. That it may here be pointed out that when Mr.B.R.Mani the first leader of the ASI team at Ayodhya, excavated at Lal Kot, District of South New Delhi, he describes "pillar bases" of "Rajput style", about which he says:

"These pillar bases rest on stone pedestals and are 2.90m. Apart from each other. They might have supported some wooden canopy.

A true copy of the relevant extract of the said report of Mr. Mani is enclosed herewith as ANNEXURE No.1 to this affidavit.

Mr. Mani illustrates these four pillar bases in Plates VI and VII of the same publication. Each comprises a number of squarish stone slabs resting on each other with a larger stone slab at the bottom. Yet these were not thought by him to be strong enough to support anything more that "a wooden canopy." And yet at Ayodhya, single calcrete slabs resting on nothing more than brickbats are held by the same Mr. Mani and his team to have supported stone pillars bearing massive stone structures!"

"23. That having thus shown that there is no basis for the ASI's illusionary 50-pillared structure, it is still pertinent to ask why the ASI regards a pillared hall to have necessarily been a temple. In this aspect the ASI should have noticed such pillared structures of the Beghumpuri Mosque, the Kali Masjid and the Khirki Masjid, all built at Delhi by Khan Jahan Firozshahi in the 180's AD the original photograph of which are printed in Tatsuro Yamamoto, Matsuo Ara and Tokifusa Tsokinowa, Delhi: Architectural Remains of the Delhi Sultanate Period, Tokyo, 1967, Vol.I, Plates 14b, 18c and 20c. It is astonishing that the ASI should have closed its eyes to such structures; but this is just another proof that its Report is a simple product of

"24. That much is made in the ASI Report of the "Circular Shrine"(Report, pages 70-71), again with fanciful figured interpretations of the existing debris (Figs. 24 and 24A in the Report). Comparisons with circular Shaivite and Vaishnavite Shrines (Fig. 18) are made. The ASI had no thought, of course, of comparing it circular walls and buildings of Muslim construction – a very suggestive omission. The surviving wall, even in ASI's own drawing makes only a quarter of circle, and such shapes are fairly popular in walls of Muslim construction. And then there are Muslim built domed circular buildings, such as the the 13th century tomb of Sultan Ghari at Delhi, where the inner tomb chamber is circular (See Ancient India, official publicaiton of ASI, 1947, volume, Pl.VIII). A true copy of the said Plate VIII is enclosed herewith as Annexure No. 2 to this affidavit."

"25. That even if we forget the curiously one-eyed nature of ASI's investigations, let us first consider the size of the alleged "shrine". Though there is no reason to complete the circle in the elliptical way as the ASI does, the circular shrine, given the scale of the Plan (Figure 17 in the Report), would have an internal diameter of just 160 cms. or barely 5 ½ feet! Such a small structure can hardly be a shrine. But it is, in fact, much smaller. The Plan in Fig. 17 of the report shows not a circle (as one would have if the wall shown in plates 59 and 60 or continued) but an ellipse, which it has to be in order to enclose the masonry floor. No "elliptic (Hindu) shrine" is, however, produced by ASI for comparison: the few that are shown are all

circular. As Plate 59 makes clear the drawing in Fig. 17 ignore a course of bricks which juts out to suggest a true circle, much shorter than the elliptic one: this would reduce the internal diameter to less than 130 cms. Or 4.3 feet ! Finally, as admitted by the ASI itself, nothing has been found in the structure in the way of image or sacred piece that can justify it being called a "shrine".

"26. That, indeed, if the ASI insists on it being a shrine, it is strange that it did not consider the relevance of a Buddhist Stupa here. Attention is drawn to Plate XLV-A showing "exposed votive stupas" Sravasti, in the ASI's own Indian Archaeology, 1988-89- A Review, a true copy of which is enclosed herewith as Annexure No.3 to this affidavit. It is indicative of the ASI's bias that while it provided an example of an alleged circular Shaivite shrine from Sravasti, along with a photograph (Report's Plate 61), it totally overlooks the stupas found there. As shown above the small size of the so called "circular shrine" at the Babri masjid site precludes it from being a temple, and the stupas (which is not entered!) is the only possible candidate for it, if the structure has to be a pre-Muslim sacred structure. But the stupa is not a temple, let alone a Hindu temple."

"27. That the short report on Inscriptions on pages 204-06, one of which is in Nagari, and two are in Arabic show how casual and preconceived in its notions the ASI was. There is no argument given for dating it to the 11th century: its time range could be 7th - 12th centuries; and if so it could be a Pala record of a Buddhist provenance – a piece of evidence negating the presence of a Hindu temple. There is also no argument offered by the Arabic inscriptions can be dated to the 13th century with as much reason as to the 16th century."

"28. That the ASI makes much use of teracotta figures. Yet its stratigraphy is found to be totally wrong. No later figurine or artefact can be found in an earlier layer, while the converse can, of course, be the case. Yet there are a number of cases where layers in different trenches assigned to early Periods by ASI in its table of terracotta objects (pages 219-243) contain items of later periods (as identified by ASI itself) in these early layers. These are evident from the chart given below showing, again how the propensity to date certain layers early so as to support the ancient temple thesis has landed the ASI into impossible discrepancies. These discrepancies show that (a) the dating of the individual layers is wrong, and (b) the terracotta evidence this does not support the presence of an alleged temple here built before the construction of the Babri Masjid:-

"29. That it may be mentioned that in the purely Muslim phase at Lalkot, South New Delhi District, excavated by Mr. B.R. Mani, the first team leader of the ASI at Ayodhya and joint author of its Report on Ayodhya, Mr. Mani found "a large number of crude handmade terracotta human and animal figurines"(Indian Archaeology, 1991-92 – A Review, page 15). Thus it cannot be argued that the presence of such human and animal figurines suggests a non-Muslim or pre-Muslim association, let alone any affiliation with a temple."

"30. That no Vaishnavite images have been found. All finds are stray ones or, as with the black schist pillar, visible within it when the Masjid had stood but not yet broken up by the Karsevaks and buried in the Masjid debris in 1992. Whatever little in stone has come out (as one decorated stone or inscribed slab -used in a wall), like stones with "foliage pattern, amalaka, kapotapadi door jamb with semi-circular pilaster, lotus motif" (Report, p.271), are in total very few, and all easily explicable as belonging to ruins elsewhere and brought for re-use during the construction of the Babri Masjid or the earlier Mosque/Eidgah. Moreover, the lozenge design (Report, Plate 90) is probably Islamic (compare Plate 92, with Arabic inscription). The extremely short list that the ASI is able to compile of such doubtful temple-relics shows that they did not come from any alleged "massive" temple at the site, but brought randomly from different earlier ruins."

"31. That it is most interesting that while these few stray finds are sought to justify the thesis of the presence of an alleged temple at this site, but when Dr. B.R. Mani, the joint author of the ASI Report, found many more similar items in his excavations at Lalkot, South New Delhi district, his conclusions were quite different. He found, in his own words, "a stone Varaha figure, two stone amalakas, decorated pillar bases, and a number of other decorated architectural fragments reused in later

structures or scattered on the mound or in the tank area of Anang Tal along with a huge part of another amalaka and pillar bases found in the eastern part of the tank" (Indian Archaeology, 1991-92 – A Review, official publication of ASI, New Delhi, 1996, p.12), Mr Mani nevertheless says that this sire was away from "the temple-mosque complex" and contained the palace of Anang Pal (ibid, p.9). Clearly, in taking the much smaller and slimmer list of doubtful artefact at the Babri Masjid site as indicative of a temple, Mr. Mani and his colleagues have now simply pursued a given brief. A true copy of the relevant extracts of this report of Dr. B.R. Mani is enclosed herewith as ANNEXURE No. 4 to this affidavit."

"32. That the bias and partisanship of the ASI's Report takes one's breath away. In almost everything the lack of elementary archaeological controls is manifest. The one-page carbon-date report, without any description of material, strata and comments by the laboratory, is meaningless, and open to much misuse. There has been no thermoluminescence (TL) dating of the pottery; nor any carbon-dating of the animal or human bones, although these are necessary for dating the remains themselves and the strata in which they are found, in order to test the ASI's own manipulated chronology. Indeed, no care has been exercised in its references to chronology, and Period 1 "Northern Black Polished Ware" has been pushed back to 1000 BC in the "Summary of Results" (page 268). when even in Chapter II of "Stratigraphy and Chronology", the earlier limit of the period is rightly placed at 6th century B.C. (page 38). The urge is obviously to provide the maximum antiquity to habitation at Ayodhya, however absurd the claim."

"33. That quite obviously such claims as made by ASI in its Report and the demands of professional integrity cannot go together. What all well-wishers of Indian Archaeology have to consider is how, with a Report of the calibre we have examined, there can be any credibility left in the Archaeological Survey of India, an organization that has had such a distinguished past. But now the good repute of the Archaeological Survey of India has also suffered an irremediable blow. (It has been shown up as partisan and subservient to its master's wishes. Its so called "Conclusions" must be rejected in toto.)"

"3. That the deponent has been associated with the following excavations:

(i) Excavation at KOLN in Germany in 1982.

(ii) Excavation at Mathura in 1977 with ASI Team.

Bengal in 2003 to 2004."

540. PW 31 claims to have observed excavation at the disputed site for several days during March to August, 2003, has deposed statement objecting the correctness of the ASI report and said in paras 6 to 21 as under:

> "6. That the final report of Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) dated 22-8-2003 submitted in this Hon'ble court is a one sided presentation with clear distortion of the material recovered during excavation and motivated inferences have been drawn from the evidence."
>
> "7. That the ASI has committed gross omissions in preparing the said report and one such omission is the total absence of any list in which the number of layers in each trench were assigned to the specific period as distinguished and numbered by the ASI itself. The chart placed between pages 37-38 of the report is given for some of the trenches only no other list or concordance of the layers of all the trenches has been given although the same was also essential to test whether the artefacts etc. have been assigned correct period."
> "8. That the ASI appears to have proceeded with preconceived notion to trace and identify the structural remains or artefacts in order to establish and give strength to the theory of an alleged Hindu temple said to be existing there before the Babri Mosque."
>
> "9. That glazed tiles are also indications of Muslims habitation. A Scatter Diagram of Islamic Ceramics and so called pillar bases is enclosed herewith as Annexure No. 2."
>
> "10. That the ASI has, in a casual manner, brushed aside

the varying levels at which the so-called 'pillar-bases" are said to have been found. The ASI's own descriptive table (pages 56-67), shows that as many as seven of these alleged 50 "bases" are definitely above Floor 2, and one is in level with it. At least six of them rest on Floor 3, and one rests partly on Floor 3 and 4. Nine alleged "pillar bases" are also shown as cutting through Floor No. 3. Thus it is clear that these are simply not 'pillar bases" at all, but some kind of brickbat deposits, which continued to be laid right from the time of Floor 4 to Floor 1."

"11. That in the light of my own field experience and observation (during the course of excavation at Ayodhya), the report submitted by ASI appears to be malafide and full of misinterpretation of archaeological data and far from the ground reality. The report is full of contradictions from the very beginning to the end. Any person having basic knowledge in archaeology may reject the report straightway."

"12. That the report contains that "As stated earlier ..... 50 exposed pillar bases to its east attached with floor 2 ....." (page no. 54). It further states that "Subsequently during the early medieval period (eleventh-twelfth century A.D.) ..... only four of the fifty pillar bases exposed during the excavation belong to this level with a brick crush floor. On the remains ..... a massive structure with these structural phases and three successive floors attached with it ....." (page no. 269).

That above statement of ASI reveals few interesting points:-

a) It contradicts its own statement.

www.vadaprativada.com

b) It appears from the above statement as well the chart that shows the locus of different alleged pillars that at least four so called pillar bases were attached with the brick crush or brick jelly floor found at a depth of 2.20 B.S. According to its chronological estimation this phases belongs to 11th - 12th century A.D.

c) It also appears from the Iso-Matric projections of excavated site (Fig Nos. 23, 23A and 23B) and the chart showing the locus of different pillars that these so called pillar bases are found in different elevations and attached to four different floor levels.

d) It, therefore, implies that there existed four Phases of constructions being characterized by pillared halls long before the construction of the disputed structure.

www.vadaprativada.com

e) According to the conclusion drawn by ASI as shown in fig no. 23, 23A and 23B, it appears that these so called pillar bases represent the remains of a huge pillared hall.

f) If it is so then we have to subscribe to the Theory that there existed three more earlier Pillared halls.

g) Again if we accept the theory that the last Pillared hall was destroyed and demolished before the construction of the present disputed structure, the question which immediately crops up in one's mind is that then who demolished the earlier pillared halls particularly the lowest one which should belong to 11th -12th century A.D. according to their own estimation."

www.vadaprativada.com

"13. That this is a bogus and utopian idea that a massive pillared hall existed immediately below the disputed structure. In fact, these so called pillar bases, comprising two/three courses of broken bricks or brick-bats forming circular/square/rectangular or oblong with uneven calcrete stone block on its top, were used for resting the lime/surkhi floors."

"14. That to impress upon the general people as well the honorable judges of the high court, the ASI has taken the help of isometric projection of the excavated site with superimposition of these pillars. This has been done deliberately to give an impression of the uniform distribution and alignment of these so called pillared bases. But the ground reality is different. They occur, according to their own statement and the chart providing the locus, in at least four different levels ranging from . 50m to 2.20m covering four different floor levels. To avoid this difference in elevation they have taken the help of this iso-metric projection of pillars."

"15. That the Ground plans showing different floor levels are drawn by ASI without showing minimum courtesy to the ethics of archaeological recording."

"16. That the best example showing how the archaeological data has been manipulated to achieve a particular goal is represented in Fig. No. 22. The figure shows the section of J3 trench where the total deposit (approx. 10.50 m) has been divided into 14 layers. This is an incorrect statement showing the deposit of J3 as stratified which are largely filled with filling materials.

In this contest we can refer the guideline of Wheeler

where he has suggested that layer marking can be made within a pit provided the materials are found sealed by subsequent layer. But it is always desirable not to use the pit materials unless they are supported by other evidences. Moreover the pit materials should always be kept separately and marked as pit no. 1, pit no. 2 and so on so forth. But what the ASI has done in the present case is a gross violation of archaeological norms. In the final report, they described the deposit of J3 as pit materials and represent the trench as stratified by putting layer marking, although admitted in the report that these layer markings are superficial. These is no place of superficiality in archaeology. All the materials of this trench have been registered under a specific layer marking. The basic question which arises in one's mind is that why they did it? They did it because any person having archaeological background knows that dump/pit always yield best quality antiquities. But if the objects are labeled with dump/pit slip, it does not carry any weight or significance in terms of chronology."

"17. That the mound is characterized by extensive structural activities in the form of floors and walls including foundation wall. As a result the whole stratigraphical sequence particularly in the upper level is disturbed by the filling materials (debris). But no attempt has been made by the ASI to co-relate different structures with stratigraphy which can be made by meaningful planning of excavation. The time and age of any structure can be determined only when it is related to layer. There lies the significance of stratigraphy."

"18. That in the report the ASI has concluded "Now viewing in totality and taking into account the archaeological evidence of a massive structure just below the disputed . . . . . are indicative of remain which are distinctive features found associated with the temples of north India . . . ."

This final conclusion drawn by ASI on the basis of materials as stated in their report does not rest on ground reality. The materials unearthed from dumps and pits do not support the theory of north Indian temple structure below the disputed mosque. How far it is reliable to believe that those who used fine decorative black basalt pillar, decorative stone lotus petal motif and other decorative stone patterns in their alleged temple would use brickbats and broken uneven calcrete blocks in their sacred temple which attaches too much of sentiment to the people."

"19. That in the summary of results (chapter X) the ASI concluded on glazed ware, glazed tile, celadon and porcelain herds in the following manner "In the last phase of period vii glazed ware sherds make their appearance and continue in the succeeding levels of next period where they are accompanied by glazed tiles which were probably used in the original construction of the disputed structure. Similarly is the case of Celadon and porcelain sherds recovered in a very less quantity they come from secondary context . . . . ." (page 270).

One can obviously ask the excavator in view of this above statement what does he mean by the word "secondary context" ? According to his own statement "the brick and stone structures that were raised in

Kushana and the succeeding periods of Gupta and post-Gupta times have added heights to the mounds. To build further structure upon the earlier debris the later people added deposit of earth excavated from the periphery of the mound which belonged to much earlier cultural periods. This is true for the rest of the structural phases also . . . . . ”

It means that from sultanate period onwards the mound was filled up from time to time with architectural debris and earth excavated from periphery region of the mound. This means that all the deposit from this level upwards is debris and, therefore, not stratified. Naturally any antiquity collected from this level onwards is coming from secondary context. This is also applicable to the objects shown by the excavator in pushing back the theory of so-called north Indian temple. But the learned excavator has forgotten that any object coming from below any floor level may be considered as stratified in the sense that the objects are at least not later in age than the age of the overlying floor. In the present case many glazed ware sherds including glazed tiles have been reported from below different Surbhi-lime floors. (see table on glazed ware and tiles etc, as provided in the report by ASI). This would further indicate that the debris between three different lime-surbhi floors immediately below the disputed structure and which contain glazed ware, glazed tile, celadon and porcelain were excavated from the periphery of the mound to raise the area in different structural phases. This means that the periphery region of the present mound was inhabited by Islamic culture people

immediately before the construction of the disputed structure who used these ceramics otherwise we can not explain the reason."

"20. That it appears, therefore, on the basis of material evidences that the site was continuously occupied by the Islamic culture people right from the time of Sultanate period and the structures associated with this level belong to Islamic culture and in reality there did not exist any temple as suggested by ASI in their report."

"21. That the good repute of the ASI has suffered an irreparable loss and the credibility of such a reputed organization has also suffered immensely on account of such a faulty report which does not stand the test of professional integrity."

He has given details of his literary and other achievements from paras 9 to 22 of the affidavit which we skip for the moment and may deal with at the appropriate stage whenever necessary. He claims to have studied ASI report, deposed in support of the finds and findings of the said excavation, and from paras 24 to 42 said as under:

> "24. That Archaeological Survey of India which is more than one hundred years old and has produced the most outstanding stalwarts in the field of Archaeology is known throughout the world for its excellence in all spheres of Archaeological work especially in the field of excavation its work has been extremely accurate and scientifically praiseworthy. Archaeology provides scientific factual data for reconstructing ancient history and culture, and is an important tool of human understanding and ASI has been doing this exercise admirably."
> "25. That no excavator can create or manufacture a structure consisting a number of courses inside a trench. In some places long walls may cut through several trenches but these are easily seen through the layers, the baulk and retain them."
>
> "26. That Chronologically early antiquities can be found in later periods which is perfectly normal but later

"27. That the ASI in the opinion of the deponent has followed all the required archaeological principles and has undertaken precautions to safeguard the site and has completed the excavation works in compliance of court's order. The report submitted by the Archaeological Survey of India, reveals that their performance within a limited period of time is a work of highest scientific nature and is an important piece in the history of Archaeology."

"28. That before excavation of the disputed site a GPR survey was conducted under the orders of the court which is a non destructive scientific surveying method on the spot. The GPR survey is considered to be the most scientific method for conducting survey before actual digging. The anomalies pointed out in GPR survey may be confirmed by actual digging and that is what the ASI has done."

"29. That the GPR survey conducted before actual digging under the orders of the court indicated about anomaly alignment across the main platform north and south of the sanctum sanctorum extending to Ramchabutra. The anomaly alignment corresponded to a wall foundation belonging to successive construction period associated with ancient and Contemporaneous structures like pillars, foundation walls, slabs etc."

"30. That the Archaeological Survey of India has arranged Archaeological documentation including drawing, and Photography, of the Structural remains, pottery, and antiquities, and collections of samples of plaster, floors bones, charcoal, palaeo-botanical remains for scientific studies and analysis."

"31. That in the year 1929 excavation were conducted at Mahasthan a great Hindu pilgrim centre in modern Bangladesh which was originally a portion of north India, about 8 miles from Bogra town. This place contains both Vaishnava and Saiva temples. The excavations were conducted by Dr. Nazeemuddin Ahmad and was published by the Archaeological Survey of India Bangladesh. In the said excavations archaeologists found an inscribed stone with Brahmi inscriptions of the Asokan period and the excavation proved the site to be ancient Mahasthan. In the excavation a number of carved stone pillars and pieces were found on the mound which proved the site to be an important Hindu temple, in almost every aspect. There were pillar bases. There were carved stone used. The habitation of the site goes back to Kushan period. In some instances the Temples have been built in successive phases over the existing structures. There were massive walls pointing to porches. There seems to be a central opening. Some of the carved stones of the Hindu temples are found used in Islamic structure. There were also large Islamic pottery and antiquities strewn over an area but no Islamic structure was found there. The number of Hindu carvings laying in the region are indicative of an important Hindu temple beneath the mound etc. Though it is an Islamic country, and though the excavator is an Mussalman they do not deny the existence of a Hindu temple laying buried but on the other that it is a Hindu temple. They being excellent Archaeologists have no hesitation in stating the truth. Photocopy of relevant pages prepared and annexed with this affidavit as Annexure No. 3."

www.vadaprativada.com

"32. That the archaeological excavation at Ayodhya has shown indisputably that there existed a structure immediately beneath the disputed structure. It shows that the structure also had pillar bases. Pillar bases have been found in Mahasthan excavation in the Hindu temple area and that the Bangladesh Archaeologists have shown those pillar bases were meant to support a porch of a Hindu temple."

"33. That from the perusal of the report it is clear that the layers are well stratified and the periodization has been done as per settled norms and the finds have also been recorded and interpreted properly."

"34. That the carbon dating is a scientific mode of periodization which is considered to be reliable dating method in archaeology."

"35. That Pillar bases are made up of some sources of brick bats and are either square or circular in formation' Calcreate stone blocks are kept on sand stone block-one decorated stone block was found here. The idea that they are not pillar bases but heaps of stone for holding floor level is not correct. The stones in the middle of the brick formation undoubtedly were intended for supporting pillars and this tradition seems to have been followed through the centuries in this areas where even indisputable pillar bases are found. Below this brick wall, was found another brick wall-decorated stone blocks were used on top of this wall. Beneath pillar bases, earlier pillar bases were found. Some more brick structures were found beneath these walls. Most of the pillar bases were found connected with 2nd floor."

"36. That existence of circular shrine with pranal towards

north proves existence of Hindu temple."

"37. That the brick circular shrine is circular outside and square on the inner side, with a rectangular projection in the east with entrance, it has a water chute on the northern side which is obviously in level with the floor level of the inner sanctum clearly intended for the abhisheka to be drained, As this seems to be secondary shrine dedicated to Siva in his linga from the shrine is built to smaller dimension. Smaller dimension of subsidiary shrines with just minimum entrance space are seen in some of temples, eg. Manasor, Rajasthan- Kumbharia Shantinath Temple relevant pages are photostat copies prepared from those books, are annexed with this affidavit as Annexure no. 4, 5 (Temples of India by Krishna deva, published by Aryan Books, New Delhi) The smaller dimension does not preclude the structure being a shrine. The absence of any significant artefacts belonging to other sister faiths like Buddhism or Jainism, precludes this structure being identified with any of those faith."

"38. That in the opinion of the deponent the excavation report, its finds, proves beyond doubt the existence of a Hindu temple under the surface of the disputed structure."

"39. That the presence of different bones in Hindu temple area is nothing unusual, nor does it minimize the sanctity of the temple premises, Bones in archaeological excavation are quite common."

"40. That all classical Hindu temples are laid according to a prescribed grid know as Vast pada vinayasa, Sacred diagram. Within the diagram and immediately outside the diagram several natural, benign or wild forces are present

that are propitiated. Among such forces are bhuta, pretas, Pisachas, etc which are offered worship when the temple is first erected and subsequently annually during the great festivals. During their worship different kinds of food offerings are made which include for Bhuta, Pretas, Pisachas etc. blood and meat of flesh of animals etc. suited to the nature of the evil forces (Mayamata, vol I, reference for meal offering and also for use of Lime and "Vastu Sastra" by D.N. Shukla, P. 114) photocopy of relevant pages prepared and annexed with this affidavit as Annexure No. 6 and 7. It is invariably part of Hindu worship. The offering is made generally during the mid of the night in all the directions. So the presence of Bones of animals or birds etc. does not preclude the place being a Hindu temple. There is a temple at Gudimallam now in Andhrapradesh near the famour Thiruppati Balaji Kshetra. The temple is well known to Indologists and carries in it sanctum a Siva linga which is in the form of human phallus and is dated to second century BC to the time of famous Bharhut sculptures of the Sunga Period. In order to asses the antiquity of this famour sculpture and its antiquity of the temple, the ASI conducted an excavation in side the sanctum of the temple. The excavated space between the linga and the sanctum wall was found to have been filled up in 12th - 13th century when the aforesaid temple was built. This filling contained bone pieces right in the garbhagraha area of a Hindu temple: the excavation shows that finds of bone does not mean the structure could not be a Hindu temple."

"41. That the Marici Samhita an early Vaishnava text,

(Pub Thiruppati Ed. 1926, p. 140) mentions parivara devas that include Nagas, Bhuta, Yaksha, Durga, Chota mukhi, Dhatri, Grahakshata, Rakshasa, Gandharva etc. At the beginning of festival all deities are offered Bali to propitiate them. www.vadaprativada.com

"9. That the deponent during his service was connected with the study and research of temple architecture and Iconography."

"10. That the structural and architectural remains found in excavation at the disputed site proves the existence of remains of massive structure underneath. The existence of massive walls coupled with other structures and pillar bases further indicate the existence of an extensive pillared Mandapa-like structure which is found in temples of northern India."

"11. That the existence of 50 pillar bases exposed (some of them fully, other partially and a few of them traced in section) also indicate the existence of the Mandapa. The pillared structure which was below the surface of the disputed structure was standing on the much bigger area on lateral sides and front side facing east, further proves the existence of a big Mandapa."

"12. That in the Southern side of the disputed structure, the remains of a circular shrine, which dates back earlier to the pillared structure facing east, has a Vari-marga (Pranala) on the northern side to serve as an outlet for water which is usually found in the temples. To the east of it are situated the remains of water tank (Pushkarini) encountered under the Rama Chabutara. It may be mentioned here that Pushkarini is associated with Hindu temples."

"13. That the Architectural and Sculptural remains like Makar pranala (Crocodile faced Chute) terminating in foliage pattern, architectural pieces carved with Patra-Lata or kalpa-valli motif, pillar bases encased by orthostats and bhadraka-type pillar base, lower part of an octagonal pillar carved with foliage pattern, architectural piece carved with alternating padma and ratna (lotus and diamond) motifs reused in the lower portion of brick wall definitely belong to some earlier temple structure."

"14. That the architectural pieces carved with diamond (ratna) pattern and ceiling slab carved with lotus relief, pieces of broken amalaka, ghatapallava pillars, fragmentary foliage and floral carvings, Shrivatsa mark carved on stone in low relief, carved bricks with Ardha ratna and rope design; all these are indicative of a temple repertoire."

"15. That the book written by Percy Brown titled as "Indian Architecture" (Buddhist and Hindu) published by D.B. Taraporewalla Sons and Company Private Limited, Bombay, deals with architectural and pillar remains of Hindu temples reused in mosques. Annexure No.1 of this affidavit is true photocopy of the original book plate number XCVI showing re-erected pillars of Qutub Mosque which establishes that temple remains were adapted in mosque."

"16. That Annexure No. 2 of this affidavit is true photocopy of the original book plate number VI figure 1 and 2 of the same book relating to Islamic period also establishes reuse of temple remains and pillars in Islamic structure."

हिन्दुस्तान के मुगल सल्तनत की तारीख भी मैने पढ़ी है। तारीख में मुझे ऐसा कोई जिक नहीं मिला कि बाबर ने अयोध्या में कोई मंदिर तोड़कर मस्जिद बनायी हों बाबर के दौर में हिन्दुस्तान में किसी और जगह भी कोई मंदिर तोड़कर मस्जिद नहीं बनायी गयी।

pardoned. The builder may be a Shia or of any other community; that will not limit the mosque to only one community. Rather, it will be called a public mosque. small that it cannot be seen, it will have no impact on namaz. If 'murtis' (idols) are kept in any portion of the mosque even then namaz will be legitimate. Even if idols remain to be placed there, such place in its major portion will be called mosque only. The character of the mosque will not be affected by to and fro movement of things. If people of any other faith have started performing pooja-paath (worship and prayer) as per non-Muslim rites in any portion of the mosque, or they go to have darshan there, it will not affect the sanctity of the mosque and it will remain a mosque.

As per Islamic faith, a grave yard cannot be shifted from one place to another. Once a graveyard is erected, it cannot be moved elsewhere. A mosque cannot be shifted from its locus to anywhere else. Even if traces of graves are obliterated from the graveyard, it will remain to be a graveyard. If signs of graves are wiped out and the graves are dug up even then it will remain to be a graveyard.

I have also read the history of Mughal Sultanate of Hindustan. In the history I have found no mention of Babur having demolished any temple to build a mosque. During the reign of Babur, mosque was not built by demolishing any temple at any other place also.

In the history, I have not read about any such incident even in reference to the reign of Aurangzeb. Many Ulemas of Fataweh Aalamgiri had assembled and given 'tarbeeb'." (E.T.C.)

"कुरान शरीफ या हदीस में मस्जिद के तर्जे तामीर के बारे कोई खास हिदायत नहीं है। शरियत के निजाम से मस्जिद के लिए किसी खास तरह की इमारत की जरूरत नहीं है। किसी खास शक्ल की जरूरत नहीं है। सिर्फ उसे किब्ला रूख होना चाहिए। किसी गुम्बद या मीनार का होना मस्जिद के लिए जरूरी नहीं है। मस्जिद में किसी कुएं का होना या वजू का इन्तजाम होना भी जरूरी नहीं है। मस्जिद के चारों तरफ भी कब्रिस्तान हो सकता हैं मस्जिद के जाने के रास्ते में अगर किसी दूसरे मजहब की कोई इबादतगाह (धार्मिक स्थल) हो, तो भी मस्जिद की नवइत या पाकीजगी पर फर्क नहीं आयेगा। अगर मस्जिद की इमारत शिकस्ता हो जाये तो उसे गिराकर दुबारा बनाया जा सकता है। अगर कोई दूसरे लोग मस्जिद की इमारत को गिरा दें, तो भी वह मस्जिद कायम रहेगीं अगर तामीरशुदा मस्जिद को गिरा दिया जाये, तो भी वह जमीन मस्जिद कायम रहेगी। जिस जगह पर एक दफा मस्जिद बना दी जाये, वह हमेशा मस्जिद रहेगी। जिस जगह पर एक दफा मस्जिद बना दी जाये, वह हमेशा मस्जिद रहेगी। अगर किसी मस्जिद की दीवारों पर या खम्बों पर कोई पशु–पक्षी या आदमी या औरतों या देवी–देवताओं की तसवीरे बनी हुई हों तो भी वहां पर नमाज पढ़ी जा सकती है, लेकिन अगर ऐसी अलामात किबले की तरफ वाली दीवार पर हों, तो नमाज हो जायेगी, मगर वह मकरूह हो जायेगी। उसमें त्रुटि आ जायेगी। मकरू से मतलब है कि उसे सबाब में कमी हो जायेगी। अगर मस्जिद के किसी हिस्सा में किसी देवी–देवता की मूर्ति रख दी जाये, तो भी मस्जिद कायम रहेगी। अगर मस्जिद के किसी हिस्से में किसी दूसरे मजहब वाले अपनी इबादत शुरू कर दें, तो भी वह मस्जिद रहेगी।

"The holy Quran or Hadis has no specific command about the style of mosque construction. As per the order of Shariyat, there is no requirement of a particular type of building for a mosque. There is no requirement of a particular shape. It is only required that it should be facing Kibla. It is not necessary for a mosque to have a dome or a minaret. It is also not necessary for a mosque to have a well or arrangement for 'vaju'. There may be a graveyard all around a mosque. Even if there is a worship place of any other faith on the way to a mosque, it will not affect the sanctity of the mosque. If the building of mosque gets dilapidated, it can be demolished and built afresh. Even if a mosque is demolished by other persons, the mosque will continue to be such. If a constructed mosque is demolished even then the land will continue to be a mosque. Any place where a mosque is once constructed, will always be a mosque. If any mosque has pictures of animals or birds or men or women or male and female deities engraved on its walls even then namaz can be offered there. But if such signs/symbols are on the wall facing Kibla, namaz will get offered but it will be 'maqruh'. There will be error in it. By the word 'maqruh' it is meant that it will develop short fall in its efficacy. Even if any idol of male or female deity is placed in any part of the mosque, it will continue to be a mosque. If followers of any other religion begin to perform worship in any part of mosque even then it will be a mosque." (E.T.C.)

"A grave can be shifted if there be any such requirement, but there is no question of shifting the place.

The place is certainly a piece of land. How can it be shifted. 'By shifting of the grave' I mean the shifting of the body of a dead person. If any graveyard is left with no place and the graveyard has become so old that dead bodies have got mixed with soil and there is no waqf putting restriction on the use of the land in any other way, the land can be put to some other use. If such is not the case, it cannot be used otherwise. That is to say, without the consent of the waqf, the land cannot be put to any other use.

"According to me, there is no fundamental difference regarding the Sharai status of mosque in Shia and Sunni fiqah. The holy Quran contains explicit directions regarding the Sharai status and ownership of mosque. The phrase 'Innal Masajida Lillah' means mosques are only for

Allah. The holy Quran Sharif or the Hadis Sharif do not contain any mention about the mosque being in any particular form. No reference is found with the Imams about the shape of mosques except for the fact that do not decorate the mosque excessively. According to the Shariyat, it is not essential to have minarets and domes in any mosque and neither is there any such restriction*. The first mosque in Islam after the advent of Prophet Muhammad, is famous as Masjid-Quba, which lies a bit ahead of the Masjid-Madine. When he reached Madine, the Nabvi mosque was built. I have studied in history that when both these mosques were built, they did not have minarets and domes. The stems of date-palm were fixed in the ground to serve as pillars and the branches of the date-palm were utilized as roof. Reference is not found in history about there being separate arrangement for Vajoo in both these mosque. It is not essential to have arrangement of Vajoo water inside the mosques. I have seen many such mosques where wells existed near the mosque. It is necessary amongst us that one should always perform Vajoo, and there is no such restriction that a person should perform Vajoo at home or at the mosque. If there is any graveyard around a mosque, it has no bearing on the status of the mosque. If after the construction of a mosque and offering of Namaz therein, any non-Muslim occupies it, then the status of the mosque does not change and it remains a mosque.* A mosque will remain a mosque in all circumstances irrespective of the fact that followers of other religion may start practising their religious practises therein or may place their deities*. the structure of a mosque is demolished and only land remains there, then also it would remain a mosque and in-fact it is believed amongst us that even the ground beneath it as well as the open air area above it is also considered as mosque. The status of the mosque does not change even if there is any picture of other religion inside the mosque or any part thereof*. A separate chapter titled ' Ahkam-e-masjid' is found in the religious books regarding the Sharai status of the mosque. In my knowledge, the Shia Muslims have not stated till date before me nor has any such information come to my knowledge that the Shia Muslims have either relinquished their claim over the Babri mosque or that they want to do so. I have heard about Babri mosque but I never got the opportunity to visit the same. I am not conversant with the name of any Shia scholar named Maulana Syed Mohammed Naqi. I do not recollect whether there was any Shia scholar of the same name about 14-15 years ago. I am conversant with the name of Chaudhary Sibte Mohammed Naqvi. He was a good friend of my father. He is an excellent scholar and has received education at Sultanul Madaris. I knew Prince Anjum Kadar. He did not have the status of a Shia scholar and instead was a social reformer. He is not considered as a protector of Shia because amongst us, the Ulemas are the protectors. Whether in Lucknow or in U.P. or in India, the Shias adhere only to reputed Ulemas.*

"9. On 6th December, 1992, when I was standing behind the disputed building, I saw that plaster had come off some portion of the western wall and bricks and stones of uneven size and shape were used in the wall in a disorderly manner, as is shown in pictures 4,5,6,13,14 and 18 of the black-white album (paper no. 201-C-1) prepared by archaeology department and in pictures 21,22 23,24,27,33 and 34 of the coloured album (paper no. 200-C-1)." ''10. थोड़ी देर बाद कारसेवकों द्वारा सरिया–बल्ली–लोहे के पाइपों से तीन गुम्बदों वाले भवन के दक्षिण और बीच वाले गुम्बद के बीच की पश्चिम दीवार पर प्रहार करने पर दीवाल में बेतरतीब ढंग से असमान आकृति एवं आकार के ईंटें, लखौरी ईंटे और पत्थर गिरने लगे। मेरे सामने ही कई अलंकृत शिलाखण्डों के साथ एक शिलाखण्ड लगभग साढ़े तीन फुट लम्बा लगभग दो फुट चौड़ा एवं लगभग 6 इंच मोटा रहा होगा, भी गिरा। ये सभी शिलाखण्ड किसी मंदिर के अवशेष लगते थे। उत्सुकतावश मैं तथा मेरे साथ वहां खड़े कुछ पत्रकार उस शिलाखण्ड को देखने लगे। तभी वहां उपस्थित एक साधू ने कहा कि यह किसी प्राचीन मंदिर का शिलालेख लगता है इसे संभालकर ले चलो और अन्य अलंकृत शिलाखण्डों को भी ले चलकर रामकथाकुंज में स्थित भवन के पास एकत्रित करो। कुछ कारसेवकों ने शिलालेख जैसा प्रतीत होने वाले शिलालेख को उठाकर रामकथा कुंज स्थित भवन के पास ले जाकर गिरा दिया जिससे वह खण्डित हो गया। पश्चिमी दीवाल से निकले अन्य शिलाखण्डों को भी कारसेवकों ने उस साधू के निर्देश पर रामकथा कुंज स्थित भवन के पास ले आकर रख दिया। विवादित भवन के दीवारों से निकलते जा रहे अन्य शिलाखण्ड जो मंदिर के अवशेष प्रतीत होते थे उन्हे उठा–उठाकर कारसेवक राम कथा कुंज भवन के पास रखे। उपरोक्त शिलालेख जैसा प्रतीत हो रहे शिलाखण्ड के आस पास इकट्ठा रखने लगे। उस समय मैं ओर अन्य बहुत से पत्रकार वहां पर मौजूद थे तथा उत्सुकतावश देख रहे थे जो टूटे हुए मंदिरों के अवशेष लग रहे थे। रामकथा कुंज के पास उपरोक्त शिलाखण्ड एवं मंदिर के अन्य

"10. After some time, when the western wall, lying between southern and central dome of the three-domed building, was struck by karsevaks with iron-rods, wooden poles and iron-pipes, the bricks, lakhauri bricks and stones of uneven size and shape used in the wall in an unsystematic manner began to fall. Right in my presence, a block of stone which may have been around 3½ feet in length, around two feet in width and around six inches in breadth, fell off besides many decorated stone blocks. All these stone-blocks appeared to be remains of some temple. I and some journalists standing there with me began to see that stone-block out of curiosity. At that very time a saint present there said: "It appears to be a stone -block of some ancient temple. Let us take it and the decorated stone-blocks carefully and assemble them near the building located at Ram Katha Kunj". Some karsevaks picked up a stone block looking like an inscription and dropped it near Ram Katha Kunj-situated building as a result of which it got broken. Under the direction of the saint, the karsevakas took away other stone blocks coming off the western wall and dropped it near Ram Katha Kunj-located building. Other stone blocks, which came off the walls of the disputed building and which appeared to be remains of the temple, were taken away by the karsevaks and were kept near the Ram Katha Kunj Bhawan. They began to put together the aforesaid stone-blocks looking like inscriptions. At that time I and many other journalists were present there and were out of curiosity witnessing what appeared to be the remains of temples. While the aforesaid stone-blocks and other antiquities of temple were being kept, the crowd began to get larger and the policemen took all those stone blocks in their custody and got people away by persuading them." (E.T.C.)

"11. 6 दिसम्बर 1992 को विवादित भवन के दीवालों से निकले प्राचीन मंदिर के अवशेषों से सम्बन्धित रिपोर्ट मैंने तथा अन्य पत्रकारों ने अपने–अपने समाचारपत्रों को भेजा। 7 जनवरी 1993 को पुलिस–प्रशासन द्वारा विवादित स्थल की वैरीकेटिंग कराये जाते समय मेरे सामने ही एक आमलक निकला उसे मैंने देखा और अन्य लोगों को भी बताया।"

"11. On 6th December, 1992, I and other journalists sent reports on the remains of the ancient temple coming off the walls of the western building, to their respective newspapers. On 7th January,1993, while barricading was being done by the police administration at the disputed site, an 'amalak' came out right in front of me which I saw and about which I told other persons too." "12. On the morning of 13th December, 1992, Dr. Sudha Malaiya, with whom I had got acquainted while putting the stone block near Ram Katha Kunj on 6th December, 1992 itself, told me over telephone that she wanted to see and study the antiquities and inscription-like stone-blocks discovered from the walls and debris of the disputed building and requested me to help her reach there."

Soon after our reaching there Dr. S.P. Gupta also reached there and Dr. Malaiya introduced him to me. They witnessed the stone-blocks, antiquities and inscriptions placed there and photographed many of them. To enable the inscription to be photographed, I kept standing, putting it straight. Dr. S.P.Gupta and Dr. Sudha Malaiya began to see the inscription and the photographer of the daily 'Aaj' took photograph of it, in which I am standing holding the inscription and Dr. Sudha Malaiya and Dr. S.P. line stone inscription on the basis of estampage made available to me which is the same as paper No. 203C-1/1 on record of this suit."

"7. I studied the said Estampage thoroughly and deciphered the same and translated it in English and prepared my report which I handed over to Sri Deoki Nandan Agrawala."

"8. My report consists of transcription of estampage in Nagari transliteration in Roman and translation in English."

"9. Although certain portions of the inscription are broken or damaged, the overall purport and the crux of its import are clear beyond doubt. The epigraph mentions Govindachandra who belonged to the Gahadarwala Dynasty and ruled over a fairly vast empire between 1114 and 1155 A.D. This shows that the inscription is of the 12th century A.D. The chaste Sanskrit and orthographical features as well as palaeography also confirm that the inscription belongs to 12th century A.D."

"10. I state that in my report a mention of verse at page 2 line 8, is typographical error; which should be read as verse '6'. On the same page of my report, 'verse 7' has been inadvertently omitted which is in appreciation of Mame's valorous deeds in battle fields."

"11. Verses 19 and 24 of the inscription mention Saketa Mandala of which Ayodhya was the headquarters."

"12. Verses 21 to 24 mention the construction of a lofty stone temple for God Vishnuhari by Meghasuta. He was succeeded by Aayushya Chandra, the younger son of Alhana who, while residing at Ayodhya, which had towering abodes, intellectuals and temples, endowed the entire Saketa Mandala with thousands of wells, reservoirs, alms-houses, tanks, etc."

"13. Verse 27 (damaged in part) alludes to the episodes of Vishnu's incarnation as Narasimha (who killed Hirnyakasipu), Krishna (who killed Banasura), Vamana (who destroyed Bali) and Rama (who killed ten-headed Ravana)."

"14. I state that according to the contents of the inscription, the temple of Vishnuhari constructed by Meghasuta must have been in existence in the temple town of Ayodhya from 12th century A.D."

"15. That the 'report' mentioned hereinbefore by me and filed in this case as paper No. 306C-1/1 to 306C-1/1 is the same report which I prepared and signed by me. I identify my signature thereon."

597. By profession he is an Advocate practising since 1961-62. He claims to have surveyed the disputed site on private request of one of the plaintiffs (Suit-4) and had prepared a report and map (Paper No. 191C-2). He sought to prove the above survey report and map and said as under:

''पहले मुझसे इस मुकदमें के वादी हाशिम साहब ने इस झगड़े की जमीन का सर्वे करने को कहा था इसके बाद वादी के वकील साहब श्री मन्नान साहब, श्री जिलानी साहब एवं श्री मुश्ताक अहमद साहब ने इस सर्वे काम को करने के लिए इंगेज किया था। उनके कहने के बाद मैंने इस झगड़े वाली जमीन का सर्वे 19, 20, 21 जुलाई, 1990 को किया था मुझे वादी ने नजूल का नक्शा दिया था। मुझे 23 प्लाट का सर्वे करने के लिए कहा गया था। वादी ने नजूल का खसरा 1931 का भी मुझे दिया था। उसमें विवादित जमीन के सभी 23 प्लाट दिखलाये गये थे। उस विवादित जमीन के एक प्लाट पर एक मस्जिद बनी थीं वह मस्जिद प्लाट सं0 583 पर बनी थी। मस्जिद के पूरब तरफ प्लाट सं0 586,581 व 584 स्थित थे। मस्जिद के उत्तर तरफ प्लाट सं0 582 स्थित था। मस्जिद के दक्षिण तरफ प्लाट सं0 590 व 588 स्थित थे। यह नम्बर मैं 1931 के नजूल के नक्शे व खसरे से बता रहा हूं।

मन्नान श्री जिलानी, श्री मुश्ताक अहमद साहब एवं वादी मौजूद थे। फैजाबाद के आफताब अहमद सिद्दीकी वकील साहब भी मौजूद थे। मैंने मौके पर जब नाप जोख की थी तो नोट्स तैयार किया था। सर्वे करने के करीब एक एक माह के अन्दर अर्थात अपने नोट्स बनाने के एक माह के अन्दर मैंने अपनी एक रिपोर्ट तैयार करके रख ली थी। यह नोट्स मैंने मौके पर बनाये थे। मैंने इस नाप जोख के समय मौके पर एक रफ स्केच भी बनाया था। उसी की मदद से मैंने नक्शा तैयार किया था। मैंने जो नक्शा बनाया था व रिपोर्ट जो बनायी थी वह इस समय भी मेरे पास है। मैं यह रिपोर्ट व नक्शा पेश कर सकता हूँ। (रिपोर्ट पेश करने के विषय पर विपक्षीगण के अधिवक्ताओं ने आपत्ति की और उन्होंने यह कहा कि यह आपत्तियां वो पहले ही लिखित रूप से दाखिल कर चुके हैं। उनका कहना है कि यह रिपोर्ट गवाह के द्वारा दाखिल नहीं हो सकती है एवं इस संबंध में सर्वे कमीशन की रिपोर्ट पहले ही खारिज हो चुकी है। चूंकि गवाही चल रही है इसलिए यह उचित होगा यह रिपोर्ट फिलहाल रख ली जाये परन्तु एडिमीसिविलिटी एवं ग्राहता के संबंध में अलग से आदेश गवाह का बयान खतम होने पर दिया जायेगा।) गवाह द्वारा रिपोर्ट व नक्शा लिया गया जिस पर पेपर नं0 191 सी 2 डाला गया। इस रिपोर्ट पर मेरे हर पेज पर दस्तखत हैं और नक्शे पर भी हैं। इस रिपोर्ट पर कोई तिथि अंकित नहीं है । यह रिपोर्ट मैंने 13, 14 अक्टुबर सन् 2000 को टाईप कराकर तैयार की और नक्शा भी उसी दिन पुराने नक्शे से ट्रेस करके बनाया है। यह रिपोर्ट भी मैंने पुरानी रिपोर्ट पर तैयार की अर्थात टाईप करायी। यह नक्शा मेरे हाथ द्वारा ट्रेस किया गया । जो चीज नक्शे में दिखायी है वह रिपोर्ट में लिखी है वह मौका और नक्शे के हिसाब से सही है।''

''Initially the plaintiff of this suit, Mr. Hashim, had asked me to survey the disputed land. Subsequently, the counsel of this case viz. Mr. Mannan, Mr. Jilani and Mr. Mustaq Ahmad, engaged me to carry out this survey. On their instruction, I conducted survey of the disputed land on 19th 20th and 21st July 1990. The plaintiff had furnished Nazul map of 1931. I had been asked to survey 23 plots. The plaintiff had also given me the nazul khasra of 1931.

All the 23 plots of the disputed land were shown in it. A mosque was built over a plot of said disputed land. That mosque was built over plot no. 583. Plot Nos. 586, 581 and 584 were situated to the east of the mosque. The plot no. 582 was to the north of the mosque. The plot nos. 590 and 588 were situated in south of the mosque. I am giving these numbers on basis of the nazul map and khasra of 1931.

There existed a 'Sihadda' (tri-junction pillar or platform) in south of the Nazul map of 1931. In order to discover this 'Sihadda', I measured certain plots and then located the place/point of 'Sihadda'. After digging at that place, 'Sihadda' was found. I had measured the plots to west and north of the 'Sihadda'. I had found the location of the 'Sihadda' on the spot, to be in accordance with the map. Nearest to the 'Sihadda' was a grove over numbers 632 to 638 i.e. the grove existed over the said numbers. I had carried out the measurement as per the map of 1931 and it was found in order on the spot i.e. it was exactly the same on the spot. When I was carrying out the survey, the Survey Commissioner of the court also arrived over there and I was instructed to assist him, besides preparing my own report. Many local boys of Ayodhya also assisted me in this survey.

At the time of the survey, the plaintiff's counsel Sri Mannan, Sri Jilani, Sri Mushtaq Ahmad and the plaintiff were present over there. Sri Aftaab Ahmad Siddiqui, Advocate, of Faizabad was also present. When I had carried out the measurement, I prepared notes. Within one month of conducting the survey or within one month of preparation of my notes, I had kept a report after its

preparation. I had carried out the measurement and prepared my notes on the spot. I prepared a report within one month. At time of measurement at the spot, I had also prepared a rough sketch, and I had prepared the map by its help. The map and report prepared by me, are with me at present. I can produce the said map and report (in the matter of production of the report, the counsel for the opposite parties raised objection and contended that they have already filed the written objections in this behalf. They contended that the witness cannot file the report and the report of Survey Commission in this behalf, has already been rejected. Since evidence is being led, it would be proper that the said report be taken for the time being but orders regarding the admissibility of the same would be passed after conclusion of evidence of the witness). The report and map were taken from the witness which were numbered as paper no. 191C-2. All the pages of this report and the map bear my signature. This report does not contain any date. I had got this report typed out on 13,14 October, 2000 and on the same day I had got the map traced out from the old map. This report was also prepared i.e. got typed out by me from the old report. This map has been traced by me in my own hands. The items appearing in the map and described in the report, are correct as per the location and map." (E.T.C.)

608. Before proceeding ahead on merits of the issues, it would be useful to recapitulate how the dispute arose. Hindus believe Lord Ram born at Ayodhya, is the tenth incarnation of Lord Vishnu and worship as such.

609. Babar invaded India in 1526 A.D.. He came with an intention to conquer and rule. He defeated Ibrahim Lodi in the battle of Panipat in April 1526 A.D.. He proceeded further and reached near Ayodhya on 28.3.1528 i.e. on the bank of river Saryu. Some of the parties claim that his Commander Mir Baqi under the orders of Babar, demolished a temple of Lord Ram at the disputed site and constructed in 1528 A.D. a building thereat, which, some of the parties claim to be a 'Mosque'. Others dispute the factum of demolition and even the very existence of the alleged temple. The determination of period of construction of the building in 1528 A.D. is based upon the inscriptions said to be installed by Mir Baqi at the aforesaid building and noticed for the first time in 1813-14 A.D. by Dr. F.S. Buchanan. However, Nirmohi Akhara disputes both the above claims and says that the building was throughout a temple and remained in its possession till attachment in 1949. It is also alleged that some serious dispute between the two communities took place in 1855 A.D. and, thereafter, a boundary wall was constructed separating the disputed building from other spots namely Ram Chabutara, Sita Rasoi etc. The area inside of the boundary as already said is referred as "inner courtyard" and rest as "outer courtyard". It is said that in 1934 A.D. again a serious dispute arose causing some damage to the disputed building which was repaired and the cost was recovered by the British Government from local Hindu inhabitants by imposing fine. On 23.12.1949 A.D. a first information report was lodged at Ayodhya about trespass by some Hindu people in the inner courtyard of the disputed building and placement of idols of Lord Ram beneath the central dome. Therefrom the entire litigation has cropped up and is before us for consideration.

610. We may mention at this stage that Sri Z. Jilani, Sri M.A. Siddiqui and Sri Rizwan, learned counsels for Muslim parties made statements under Order 10 Rule 2 during the course of the arguments that they are not disputing the faith and belief of the Hindus that Lord Ram was born at Ayodhya. This statement is in consonance with the findings of this Court recorded in its order dated 08.05.1996 referred to by us above in para 199. They, however, submit that the dispute is about the exact location of birth place and in particular about the disputed premises. Their case is that the disputed premises is not where exactly Lord Ram took birth and there is no evidence to this extent. This statement under Order 10 Rule 2 by the learned Counsels has definitely to some extent narrowed down the canvass of the case and has also saved the Court from entering in a field of faith and belief, the justiciability and the power of the Court in regard whereof itself is arguable.

612. The marathon arguments in these cases stretched to 75 days covering a period of about 11 months in the first spell, and when due to elevation of one us (Hon'ble S. R. Alam, J.) as Chief Justice of Madhya Pradesh High Court, the Bench was reconstituted, the matter was reheard and it stretched for 90 days in second spell i.e. from 11.1.2010 to 26.7.2010.

613. Sri Z. Jilani, Sri M.A. Siddiqui and Sri Rizwan, Advocates have appeared and advanced their submissions on behalf of Muslim parties while Sri Ravi Shankar Prasad, Sri P.R. Ganesh Aiyer and Sri K.N. Bhatt, Senior Advocates, Sri R.L. Verma assisted by Sri Tarun Verma, Sri P.N. Misra, Miss Ranjana Agnihotri, Sri M.M. Pandey, Sri Ved Prakash, Sri Rakesh Pandey, Sri Hari Shankar Jain, Sri D.P. Gupta, Sri A.K. Pandey, Sri R.K. Srivastava, Advocates have appeared on behalf of the various Hindu parties and made their submissions. On behalf of State of U.P. Sri S.P. Srivastava, the learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel has put in appearance but has not advanced any oral submissions. The arguments travel in a very vast area with lots of varieties, shades and colours. Besides, the oral submissions, the parties have also filed their written submissions which are made part of record.

614. Issue No. 10 (Suit-3)

(a) Is the suit bad for want of notice u/s 80 C.P.C.?

(b) Is the above plea available to contesting defendants?

615. The plaintiffs in para 12 of the plaint (Suit-3) have said that they sent notices under Section 80 C.P.C. to the defendants no. 1 to 5 (Suit-3). The notices were delivered on 6.10.1959 and 12.10.1959. The same have also been replied by the aforesaid defendants through defendant no. 3 intimating that they shall defend the suit, if any, filed by the plaintiffs. No written statement has been filed on behalf of the defendants 1 to 5 in the aforesaid suit. Thus, there is no objection on behalf of the defendants 1 to 5 regarding maintainability of suit for want of notice under Section 80 C.P.C. In the written statement filed on behalf of defendants no. 6 to 8, para 12 of the plaint has been simply denied and in para 24 it is said that the suit is bad for want of notice to defendants no. 1 to 5 under Section 80 C.P.C. In replication, the plaintiffs have not only reiterated their stand taken in the plaint but in para 24, further pleaded that the defendants 6 to 8 have no right to take plea of want of notice under Section 80 C.P.C.

616. We find that Ex. 13 (Suit-3) is a postal receipt dated 6.10.1959 of a registered letter sent to Priya Dutt Ram and Ex. 14 (Suit-3) is a similar receipt dated 6.10.1959 of a registered letter sent to Superintendent of Police, Faizabad. The reply received from the Deputy Commissioner, Faizabad and the acknowledgments of the registered letters are also on record as Exhibits 17, 18 and 19 (Suit-3). The Deputy Commissioner, Faizabad in his letter dated 30.11.1959 (Ex. 16 Suit-3) has said that the suit, if any filed, would be defended. The witnesses

D.W. 3/1 and D.W. 3/20 in their statements have also supported the stand taken by the plaintiffs. D.W. 3/1, Mahant Bhaskar Das in para 38 and 39 of his examination-in-chief has proved the notices sent to the defendants District Magistrate, Faizabad etc. and also the reply which they received from defendants 1 to 5. Para 38 and 39 states as under :

> ''38– कागज संख्या 41 सी–1/2 दफा 80 के प्राप्ति की रसीद है, इसी प्रकार सी–1/3 जिलाधिकारी की प्राप्ति की रसीद है और सी–1/4 महन्त रघुनाथ दास निर्मोही अखाड़े के द्वारा जिलाधिकारी फैजाबाद के कार्यालय में नोटिस प्राप्त कराने की रसीद है। ये सभी नोटिसे दो महीने दावा दाखिल करने में भेजी गयी थी।''
> ''38- The paper no. 41C-1/2 is the receipt of Section 80. Similarly, C-1/3 is the receipt of District Magistrate and C-1/4 is the receipt of notice served in the office of District Magistrate, Faizabad by Mahant Raghunath Das Nirmohi Akhara. All these notices had been sent in respect of the suit being filed in two months.'' (E.T.C)
> ''39– कागज संख्या सी–1/5, 30 नवम्बर 1959 जबाव नोटिस है जो प्रतिवादी सी–1/5 के तरफ से भेजा गया है। सी–1/6 के जबाव नोटिस जिलाधिकारी, फैजाबाद हैं। सी–1/7 व सी–1/8 पावती रसीद है। सी–1/9 व सी–1/10 डाकघर की रसीदें हैं।''
> ''39- Paper no. C-1/5, 30th November, 1959 is the reply to notice sent by defendant C-1/5. C-1/6 is the reply of notice by District Magistrate, Faizabad. C-1/7 and C-1/8 are acknowledgment receipts. C-1/9 and C-1/10 are receipts of Post Office.'' (E.T.C)

617. Similarly, D.W. 3/20, Mahant Rajaram Chandracharya in para 28 of his examination-in-chief has made averments and proved the receipt of notice as under :

> ''पेपर नं0 41 सी 1 से 9 किता कागजात यानि 41 सी. 1/2 ता 41 सी. 1/10 दावा दाखिला करने के पहले सरकार व सरकारी मुलाजिमों पर दफा 80 की नोटिस दी गयी थी जो नोटिस, पोस्टल रसीद व तामीला प्राप्ति का है।''

www.vadaprativada.com

"The nine papers from paper no. 41C-1 i.e. 41C-1/2 to 41C-1/10, are the postal receipts and receiving of the notices sent under section 80 to Government and Government Officials before filing the suit." (E.T.C)

618. Nothing has been brought otherwise in the cross examination to contradict the aforesaid averments. No evidence otherwise has been led by any of the defendants.

619. It is no doubt true that Section 80, as it stood before 1976 amendment, admitted no implication and exceptions whatsoever and reads as under :

"80. Notice.- No suits shall be instituted against the Government (including the Government of the State of Jammu & Kashmir) or against a public officer in respect of any act purporting to be done by such officer in his official capacity, until the expiration of two months next after notice in writing has been delivered to, or left at the office of-

(a) in the case of a suit against the Central Government, except where it relates to a railway, a Secretary to that Government;

(b) in the case of a suit against the Central Government where it relates to railway, the General Manager of that railway;

(bb) in the case of a suit against the Government of the State of Jammu and Kashmir the Chief Secretary to that Government or any other officer authorised by that Government in this behalf;

(c) in the case of a suit against any other State Government, a Secretary to that Government or the Collector of the district;

and, in the case of a public officer, delivered to him or left at this office, stating the cause of action, the name, description and place of residence of the plaintiff and the relief which he claims; and the plaint shall contain a statement that such notice has been so delivered or left.

620. The provision was expressly mandatory and imposes statutory and unqualified obligation upon the Court. The service of notice under Section 80 is a condition precedent for the institution of suit against the Government or public officer where the complaint is in respect of his acts in official capacity. However, in the absence of non compliance of Section 80 C.P.C., the suit is not liable to be dismissed as not maintainable.

621. In the case in hand, since the plaintiffs have shown that they served notice under Section 80 C.P.C. upon the defendants no. 1 to 5 and neither any material controverting the above facts has been brought on record by the defendants nor any submission has been advanced to show that Section 80 was not complied by the plaintiffs (Suit-3). We thus have no hesitation to hold that the Suit is not barred for want of notice under Section 80 C.P.C. and Issue 10 (a) is answered accordingly.

622. Now we come to the second part of this issue i.e. 10 (b). The legislative intent of Section 80 is to give the Government sufficient notice of the suit which is proposed to be filed against it so that it may reconsider the decision and decide for itself whether the claim made could be accepted or not. The object of the section is advancement of justice and securing public good by avoidance of unnecessary litigation (Bihari Chowdhary and another Vs. State of Bihar and others 1984 (2) SCC 627; State of Andhra Pradesh and others Vs. Pioneer Builders AIR 2007 SC 113).

623. We, however, proceed to consider certain authorities cited on behalf of the defendant no. 10 to press upon their submission that in case of non compliance of Section 80 C.P.C., it is the duty of the Court to reject the plaint outright even if no objection is raised by anyone since it is a jurisdictional issue.

624. Prior to Section 80 C.P.C., 1908, similar provision existed in Section 424 of C.P.C., 1882. Considering the purpose and objective of such a provision, in Secretary of State for India In Council Vs. Perumal Pillai and others (1900) ILR 24 (Mad.) 271 it was held :

> "... object of the notice required by section 424, Civil Procedure Code, is to give the defendant an opportunity of settling the claim, if so advised, without litigation."

625. With reference to Section 80 C.P.C. of 1908, the objective and purpose came to be considered in Secretary of State for India In Council Vs. Gulam Rasul Gyasudin Kuwari (1916) ILR XL (Bom.) 392 wherein it was held as under :

> "... the object of section 80 is to enable the Secretary of State, who necessarily acts usually through agents, time and opportunity to reconsider his legal position when that position is challenged by persons alleging that some official order has been illegally made to their prejudice."

626. In Raghunath Das Vs. Union of India and another AIR 1969 SC 674, in para 8, the Court said :

> "8. The object of the notice contemplated by that section is to give to the concerned Governments and public officers opportunity to reconsider the legal position and to make amends or settle the claim, if so advised without litigation. The legislative intention behind that section in our opinion is that public money and time should not be

wasted on unnecessary litigation and the Government and the public officers should be given a reasonable opportunity to examine the claim made against them lest they should be drawn into avoidable litigations. The purpose of law is advancement of justice. The provisions in Section 80, Civil Procedure Code are not intended to be used as boobytraps against ignorant and illiterate persons."

627. The object and purpose of enactment of Section 80 C.P.C. was also noticed in State of Punjab Vs. M/s. Geeta Iron and Brass Works Ltd. AIR 1978 SC 1608 as under :

"A statutory notice of the proposed action under S. 80 C.P.C. is intended to alert the State to negotiate a just settlement or at least have the courtesy to tell the potential outsider why the claim is being resisted.

628. The requirement of notice under Section 80 C.P.C. has also been held mandatory. In Bhagchand Dagaduss Vs. Secretary of State for India in Council AIR 1927 PC 176, it was held that the provision is express, explicit and mandatory. It admits no implications or exceptions. It imposes a statutory and unqualified obligation upon the Court. Therein a noticed was issued under Section 80 C.P.C. on 26.6.1922, but the suit was instituted before expiry of the period of two months from the said date. The Judicial Committee Observed :

"To argue as appellants did, that the plaintiffs had a right urgently calling for a remedy, while Section 80 is mere procedure, is fallacious, for Section 80 imposes a statutory and unqualified obligation upon the Court."

629. This decision was followed by Judicial Committee in Vellayan Chettiar Vs. Government of Province of Madras

AIR 1947 PC 197.

630. In Government of the Province of Bombay Vs. Pestonji Ardeshir Wadia and Ors. AIR 1949 PC 143 it has been held that provisions of Section 80 of the Code are imperative and should be strictly complied with.

631. A Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in Sawai Singhai Nirmal Chand Vs. Union of India AIR 1966 SC 1068 also took the same view. Following the above authorities in Bihari Chowdhary (supra), the Apex Court, in para 6, observed :

> "6. It must now be regarded as settled law that a suit against the Government or a public officer, to which the requirement of a prior notice under Section 80 C.P.C. is attracted, can not be validly instituted until the expiration of the period of two months next after the notice in writing has been delivered to the authorities concerned in the manner prescribed for in the Section and if filed before the expiry of the said period, the suit has to be dismissed as not maintainable."

632. In none of the above noted cases, the Courts had the occasion to consider whether a Suit for non compliance of Section 80 C.P.C. ought to be dismissed even if the authority for whose benefit the provision has been made is not inclined to press this objection or is interested to get the decision on merits from a competent Court of law. On the contrary, slight divergent view was also going on simultaneously as is evident from some of the authorities of the Apex Court.

633. In Dhian Singh Sobha Singh Vs. Union of India AIR 1958 SC 274 (page 281), the Court observed that Section 80 C.P.C. must be strictly complied with but that does not mean that the terms of Section should be construed in a pedantic manner or in a manner completely divorced from common sense. It observed :

> "The Privy Council no doubt laid down in Bhagchand Dagadusa v. Secretary of State AIR 1927 PC 176 that the terms of section should be strictly complied with. That does not however mean that the terms of the notice should be scrutinised in a pedantic manner or in a manner completely divorced from common-sense. As was stated by Pollock, C. B., in Jones v. Nicholls, (1844) 13 M&W 361=153 ER 149 "we must import a little common sense into notices of this kind." Beaumont, C. J., also observed in Chandu Lal Vadilal v. Government of Bombay, AIR 1943 Bom 138 "One must construe Section 80 with some regard to common-sense and to the object with which it appears to have been passed."

634. In para 17 of the judgment while referring to and relying on its earlier decision of Sangram Singh Vs. Election Tribunal, Kotah, AIR 1955 SC 425, the Apex Court said:

> "Section 80 of the Code is but a part of the Procedure Code passed to provide the regulation and machinery, by means of which the Courts may do justice between the parties. It is therefore merely a part of the adjective law and deals with procedure alone and must be interpreted in a manner so as to subserve and advance the cause of justice rather than to defeat it."

635. The protection provided under Section 80 is given to the person concerned. If in a particular case that person does not require protection, he can lawfully waive his right. This is what was held in Dhirendra Nath Gorai and Sabal Chandra Shaw

and others Vs. Sudhir Chandra Ghosh and others AIR 1964 SC 1300 where considering a pari materia provision, i.e. Section 35 of Bengal Money Lenders Act, 1940 the Apex Court held that such requirement can be waived. Similarly, while considering Section 94 of the Representation of People Act, 1951, the above view was reiterated in S. Raghbir Singh Gill Vs. S. Gurucharan Singh Tohra and others 1980 (Suppl.) SCC 53. All the aforesaid decisions have been followed in Commissioner of Customs, Mumbai Vs. M/s. Virgo Steels, Bombay and another AIR 2002 SC 1745 and it has been held that notice in such a case can be waived.

636. A Full Bench of the Bombay High Court in Vasant Ambadas Pandit Vs. Bombay Municipal Corporation and others AIR 1981 Bombay 394 while considering a similar provision contained in Section 527 of Bombay Municipal Corporation Act, 1888 held "The giving of the notice is a condition precedent to the exercise of jurisdiction. But, this being a mere procedural requirement, the same does not go to the root of jurisdiction in a true sense of the term. The same is capable of being waived by the defendants and on such waiver, the Court gets jurisdiction to entertain and try the suit."

637. In Amar Nath Dogra Vs. Union of India 1963 (1) SCR 657; State of Punjab Vs. Geeta Iron and Brass Works Ltd. 1978 (1) SCC 68 and Ghanshyam Dass Vs. Dominion of India 1984 (3) SCC 46 the Apex Court also held that notice under Section 80 C.P.C. or similar provisions of other Acts are for the benefit of a particular authority. The same can be waived as they do not go to the root of jurisdiction in the true sense of the term. Referring to the aforesaid judgments as well as the Full Bench judgment of Hon'ble Bombay High Court in Vasant Ambadas

Pandit (supra), the Apex Court in Bishandayal and sons Vs. State of Orissa and others 2001 (1) SCC 555 (para 16) said that there can be no dispute to the proposition that a notice under Section 80 can be waived.

638. In fact we find in Ghanshyam Dass and Ors. Vs. Dominion of India and Ors. (supra) wherein a three judges Bench considered the correctness of the decision of this Court in Bachchu Singh Vs. Secretary of State for India in Council, ILR (1903) 25 All 187, Mahadev Dattatraya Rajarshi Vs. Secretary of State for India AIR 1930 Bom 367 and earlier decision in S.N. Dutt Vs. Union of India, AIR 1961 SC 1449. Though the facts of that case are slightly different but what has been observed by the Apex Court is of some importance. The Apex Court while reiterating the Privy Council's observations in Bhagchand Dagadusa (supra) that requirement of Section 80 C.P.C. of giving notice is express, explicit an mandatory and admits of no implications or exceptions, however observed that one must construe Section 80 with some regard to common sense and to the object with which it appears to have been passed. It also observed that our laws of procedure are based on the principle that "as far as possible, no proceeding in a court of law should be allowed to be defeated on mere technicalities". The Apex Court overruled its decision in S.N.Dutt (supra) as also the Bombay High Court's decision in Mahadev Dattatraya Rajarshi (supra) and this Court's decision in Bachchu Singh (supra). In the case before the Apex Court though notice was issued but on a closer scrutiny, the High Court found that it was not a valid notice under Section 80 C.P.C. and therefore non-suited the plaintiff. This judgment was reversed by the Apex Court making the abovesaid observations. The Court reiterated that the object of notice contemplated by Section 80 is to give to the Government and public officers an opportunity to consider the legal position and to make amends or settle the claim, if so advised, without litigation so that public money and time may not be wasted on unnecessary litigation.

639. Considering the objective of such enactment and the fact that party concerned can waive it, we are of the view that the plea of want of notice under Section 80 cannot be taken by a private individual since it is for the benefit of the Government and its officers.

640. A Division Bench of Hon'ble Bombay High Court in Hirachand Himatlal Marwari Vs. Kashinath Thakurji Jadhav AIR (29) 1942 Bombay 339 said "In the first place defendant 3 is not the proper party to raise it, and in the second place the receivers in our opinion must be deemed to have waived their right to notice. It is open to the party protected by S. 80 to waive his rights, and his waiver binds the rest of the parties. But only he can waive notice, and if that is so, it is difficult to see any logical basis for the position that a party who has himself no right to notice can challenge a suit on the ground of want of notice to the only party entitled to receive it. We think therefore that this ground of attack is not open to defendant 3; and for our view on this point direct support may be obtained from 32 Cal. 1130."

641. The same view has been taken by Kerala High Court in Kanakku Vs. Neelacanta, AIR 1969 (Kerala) 280 holding that the plea of want of notice cannot taken by private individuals.

642. A Single Judge of this Court in Ishtiyaq Husain Abbas Husain Vs. Zafrul Islam Afzal Husain and others AIR 1969 Alld. 161 has also expressed the same view:

"It appears to me that the plea of want of notice is open only to the Government and the officers mentioned in section 80 and it is not open to a private individual. In this particular case the State Government did not even put in appearance. The notice, therefore, must be deemed to have been waived by it."

643. We respectfully endorse the aforesaid view of the Hon'ble Single Judge.

644. The entire issue 10 (a) and 10 (b) (Suit-3) is, accordingly, decided in favour of plaintiffs (Suit-3). We hold that a private defendant cannot raise objection regarding maintainability of suit for want of notice under Section 80 C.P.C.

645. Issues No. 13 and 14 Suit-1)

13. Is the suit no. 2 of 50 Shri Gopal Singh Visharad Vs. Zahoor Ahmad bad for want of notice under Section 80 CPC.

14. Is the suit no. 25 of 50 Param Hans Ram Chandra Vs. Zahoor Ahmad bad for want of valid notice under section 80 CPC?

646. The objection with respect to want of notice under Section 80 CPC has been taken by defendants no. 1 to 5 (Suit-1) in their written statements in para 21 which reads as under:

"21. यह कि मुद्दई ने मुद्दालेहुम 6 लगायात 9 के खिलाफ कोई नोटिस हस्ब दफा 80 जाब्ता दीवानी जारी नहीं किया है इस बिनाह पर भी दावा हाजा नाकिस वनकाबिल फजराई अदालत है। "

"21. That the plaintiffs have not served any notice under section 80 C.P.C. on the defendant nos. 6 to 9 and the suit is bad and not maintainable on this ground also." (E.T.C)

647. Similarly in the written statement of defendants no. 6, 8

and 9, such objection, i.e., want of notice under Section 80 CPC has been raised in the same words in para 9 of each respectively which reads as under:

> "9. No notice as required by section 80 C.P.C. has been served, and the suit deserves to be dismissed on that ground alone."

648. In the written statement of defendant no. 10 also objection with respect to want of of notice under Section 80 CPC has been taken in para 21 which reads as under:

> "21. That the suit is bad and not maintainable even on account of the reason that no notice required under Section 80 C.P.C. had been given to the defendant nos. 6 to 9 and in this view of the matter the plaint is liable to be rejected under Order VII rule 11 C.P.C."

649. So far as the defendants no. 1 to 5 are concerned they have expired and there is no substitution in their place except defendant no.1 who is now represented by his son Farooq Ahmad as defendant no. 1/1.

650. So far as the defendant no. 10 is concerned, Sri Jilani, learned counsel has argued that since no notice under Section 80 C.P.C. has been given to the defendants no. 6 to 9, therefore, the suit is barred by Section 80 C.P.C. and is liable to be dismissed on this ground alone.

651. Sri Siddiqui, adopting the above submissions, laid emphasis upon argument that violation of Section 80 CPC is fatal. The requirement of the said provision is mandatory. Hence, Suit-1 deserves to be dismissed on this ground alone.

652. Sri A.K. Pandey, learned counsel for the plaintiff on the contrary submitted that the stand taken by the State Government is that it is not interested in the property in dispute and as such they do not propose to contest the suit and be exempted from costs as is evident from an application filed on behalf of City Magistrate and the Superintendent of Police, Faizabad on 23.04.1962/28.05.1962 before the Civil Judge, Faizabad in Suit-4. In his written argument Sri A.K. Pandey refers to certain pleadings as under:

> "A counter affidavit to the objection/affidavit against the application dated 12.12.1994 in O.O.S. No. 1 of 1989 (R.S. No. 2 of 1950) filed by the state of Uttar Pradesh on 17/18.01.1995 through Sri Jai Dayal Puri special Secretary to Government, Home Department U.P. Sachivalaya Lucknow.

Code of Civil Procedure.

The true cause of action to the plaintiff in O.O.S. no. 1 of 1989 is against the Muslims Defendants 1 to 5, and the state or their agencies defendants 6 to 9 are only proforma Defendants. The reason is that the Plaintiff's right of worship of Shri Rama Janma Bhoomi and the Idols of Bhagwan Shri Rama situated in Shri Rama Janama Bhoomi was obstructed by the State's sovereign power to maintain law and order through their agencies. The City Magistrate passed order u/s 145-146 Cr.P.C. to attach the disputed property and placed it in Custodia legis through a Receiver in exercise of those statutory and sovereign powers in the meantime this Civil suit was filed in a situation of emergency when the rights of devotees were in great geopardy, Hence injunction order was passed by the Civil Court the ultimate order dated 30.07.1953 is Annexure No. 4*. The City Magistrate undertake that the order passed by the Civil Court in this very suit (while no other suit had been file till then) shall be implemented and rights of parties shall be restored accordingly. This situation has continued to prevail, subject to certain notifications caused by T*he Acquisition of certain Area at Ayodhya act, 1993, No. 33 of 1993.

Today, The Authorized Person/ Commissioner Faizabad Division under the act stands in the same position as 'Receiver' under the Original Civil Court/ Magistrates orders. The property therefore confines to be Custodia Legis, and the only relief permissible is declaration and consequential injunction sought for in the suit. The Government has therefore represented to this

Hon'ble Court that it is not interested in the subject matter of dispute in this suits as indicated above. It was, therefore, not necessary to issue a notice u/s 80 C.P.C. stand, waived and in any case it is no longer necessary as the suit stands at present.

It is clear from the action of the State, mentioned above that:-

(i) State is not interested in the property in suit

(ii) State is non contesting party

(iii) State waived its right to objection u/s 80 C.P.C.

(iv) State action is and is liable for only maintain law and orders between the two communities and site in dispute."

653. He also placed reliance in support of his submissions to the Apex Court's decision in Dhian Singh Sobha Singh Vs. Union of India, AIR 1958 SC 274 (para 30); this Court's decision in Smt. Raj Kumari Vs. Board of Revenue U.P., AIR 1985 RD 33; and Patna High Court's decision in Province of Bihar Vs. Kamakshya Narain Singh, AIR 1950 Patna 366.

654. Before considering the above submission, we may notice one more fact. The defendants no.6 and 9 are represented by Sri S.P. Srivastava, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, but on being asked, he made a statement that the State Government is neither supporting nor opposing any of the Suit but is interested in peaceful adjudication of the matter which would be in the larger interest of the public i.e. the members of both the communities in particular and the entire State and Country in general. He did not advance any argument on any of the aspects and despite the fact that in the written statement filed on behalf of respondent no. 6, 8 and 9, an objection of non compliance of Section 80 C.P.C. has been taken but he did not press the said objection before us and advanced no argument. He, however, said that he abide by the stand taken in written statement and deny any collusion with the defendants no. 1 to 5. The defendant no. 7 (Suit-1) has not filed any written statement. Therefore, the objection of non compliance of Section 80 C.P.C. has been raised and pressed before us only by the private party, i.e., the Sunni Central Board of Waqfs, defendant no. 10, for whose benefit Section 80 C.P.C. admittedly has not been enacted. As we have already discussed, it is open to the State authorities-defendants, for whose benefit the provision is made to waive the benefit of such a provision. When no argument is advanced on behalf of the State and its authorities, though they are represented through a counsel before the Court, we would be justified in inferring waiver on the part of the said authorities.

655. In view of what we have discussed above in regard to issue no. 10 (b), Suit-3, this issue also stands covered therewith. However, we need to discuss some authority cited by Sri Siddiqui.

656. Jagadish Chandra Deo Vs. Debendra Prosad Bagehi Bahadur and Ors. AIR 1931 Cal 503 is an authority relied by Sri Siddiqui. There the Court observed that it is the duty of the Court to look into the plaint and find out whether there is averment as to the service of notice and when it found that there is no such averment, the plaint itself should be rejected and the suit should not proceed. Observing the aforesaid, Calcutta High Court relied on the decision of this Court in Bachchu Singh (supra). Since the decision in Bachchu Singh (supra) has already been overruled by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Ghanshyam Dass (supra), the Calcutta High Court's decision in

Jagdish Chandra Deo (supra), in our view, also cannot be relied on.

657. In Province of Bihar Vs. Kamakshya Narain Singh AIR 1950 Patna 366 following the Privy Council decision in Vellayan Chettiar (supra) it was observed that right to notice under Section 80 C.P.C. can be waived by the State. However, therein notice was already given but the question whether the notice was in accordance with the requirement of Section 80 C.P.C. was raised by the learned Advocate General on behalf of the State whereupon the High Court took the view that suit being of the nature of a bill quia timet, the right to notice under Section 80 can be waived by the State. Strictly speaking, this decision does not appear to be in line with what has been said by Apex Court in subsequent decisions in Dhian Singh Sobha Singh (supra), Sawai Singhai Nirmal Chand (supra) and Ghanshyam Dass (supra).

658. In Smt. Raj Kumari Vs. Board of Revenue (Supra) though an issue was framed regarding want of notice under Section 80 CPC but neither the State Government pressed the same before the Court nor lead any evidence in support thereof hence this Court held that the plaintiff cannot be non suited for want of notice under Section 80 CPC since the parties for whose benefit the provision has been made has not pressed the same and a third party cannot take advantage by taking plea of want of notice to the State Government or its authorities.

659. Considering in the light of of the above dictum and exposition of law in simplicitor, the first reason which favours the plaintiff in our view to maintain the Suit is the factum of non pressing of this objection by defendants no. 6 to 9. Secondly, the Suit is pending for the last 61 years and more. It is no doubt true that the defendants no. 1 to 5 have raised this objection in their written statement filed in February, 1950 itself but it appears that they never pressed this objection and requested the Court to take up the objection with respect to non compliance of Section 80 C.P.C. as a preliminary issue and to decide the same and that is how the matter is still pending.

660. Thirdly, the various other issues raised in Suit-1 would not die as a result of our taking the extreme view of dismissal thereof being the consequence of non compliance of Section 80 C.P.C. since later on the said suit was connected with three others and similar issues are up for consideration before us in other three cases also. The issues raised in Suit-1 since are similar as raised in other three cases, the same have to be decided on merits irrespective of the consequence Suit-1 may suffer of a strict technical view in the matter.

661. Lastly, we also intend to consider the question of the consequences of non compliance of Section 80 C.P.C. in the light of what has been observed by the Apex Court subsequently in a catena of decisions considering various reports of Law Commissions as also the object and purpose of enactment of the said provision. The observations of the Apex Court [See: Ghanshyam Dass (supra)] are clear that it is a procedural law. It is meant for augment of the course of justice and not to impeach it on mere technical grounds. The experience of more than a century shows that the purpose and objective for which a two months' notice is required to be given to the State has lost its efficacy for the reason that the Government or its authorities never bother to consider the grievance raised by a litigant on receiving a notice given under Section 80 C.P.C. and never consider to resolve the dispute, if any, by giving a proper reply or by considering the grievance of the persons concerned. Almost in all the cases, the incumbent had to resort to the remedy of suit. The requirement of notice under Section 80 C.P.C. has become a mere formality for the State.

662. Moreover, in the case in hand, there was no scope for defendants no. 6 to 9 even to consider and act to resolve the grievance of the plaintiff (Suit-1) had a notice under Section 80 C.P.C. been given to them in the context of peculiar facts and circumstances of this case. The background facts are that alleging that an idol has been placed inside the disputed building treated to be an old Mosque by Muslims, a first information report was lodged on 23rd December, 1949. The Police also reported the matter to City Magistrate apprehending a serious law and order situation on account of the above incident. Finding substance in the report of the Police and apprehending immediate breach of peace and public tranquility as also disturbance of law and order, the Magistrate passed an order on 29th December, 1949 attaching the disputed property (disputed building and inner courtyard) and appointed Commissioner to manage the affairs of the said premises. The administrative authorities at Ayodhya and District Faizabad were to act in the aid of the execution of the said statutory order for maintaining law and order. The action and omission on the part of the District authorities, therefore, was not on their own but it was pursuant to a statutory order passed by the City Magistrate in exercise of his statutory powers. It is this order which in fact caused some obstruction, if any, in the plaintiff's alleged right of worship at the disputed premises. From perusal of the pleadings and reliefs sought in the plaint it is evident that the plaintiff sought to enforce his right to worship the idols which he believed to be the Deity placed at the birthplace of Lord Rama and the right he was exercising in the past also in a regular manner, which was obstructed due to attachment of the property (inner courtyard and the disputed building) under the order of the City Magistrate who also appointed a Receiver in purported exercise of power under Section 145 Cr.P.C. If we consider the purpose of notice contemplated by Section 80 C.P.C., it is evident that the Receiver took charge of the property in dispute (i.e. inner courtyard including building) pursuant to statutory order passed by the City Magistrate on 29th December, 1949. The various authorities of the State Government evidently acted to get the statutory order of the Magistrate executed and also to maintain law and order. A notice to the State Government in such circumstances would not have served the purpose, inasmuch as, there was no act or omission on the part of the State Government on its own either in restraining the plaintiff from offering worship on the disputed site or otherwise but whatever its authorities were doing that was to comply with the statutory order passed by the City Magistrate on 29th December, 1949. The notice, if any, sent by the plaintiff (Suit-1) would not have served the purpose for which a notice is required to be sent under Section 80 C.P.C. to the Government or its officers.

663. Besides, the alleged obstruction of the plaintiff's right of worship, if any, was de die indium and there was an urgency in the matter. In a case of attachment made by the Magistrate in exercise of power under Section 145 Cr.P.C., it is not the possession taken by the Court or by statutory authority or the State on its own but in law it is deemed to be a possession on behalf of the real owner. It has not been argued by any of the learned counsels that since the real cause of action arose on account of the order of attachment passed by the City Magistrate, the plaintiff could have served a notice under Section 80 C.P.C. to the Magistrate. The statutory power and its consequences could not have been undone by the State Government. Then no useful purpose would have served if a notice would have been issued by the plaintiff to the State Government or its officers in view of the peculiar facts and circumstances of this case.

664. Considering the observations of the Apex Court in Ghanshyam Dass (supra) and the discussion as above, we are inclined to take a view that plaintiff in Suit 1 ought not to be non-suited for want of notice under Section 80 C.P.C. to the defendants No.6 to 9.

665. In view of the above, and also considering the fact that learned Standing Counsel appearing on behalf of defendants No. 6 to 9 has not advanced any argument pressing the objection with respect to want of notice under Section 80 C.P.C. and further that the objection with respect to want of notice cannot be taken by private individuals, as we have already held while deciding issue No.10(b) (Suit-3), we hold that Suit-1 need not be rejected as barred by Section 80 C.P.C. This question is answered accordingly in negative i.e. in favour of plaintiff (Suit-1).

666. So far as Issue No.14 of Suit-1 is concerned, it has become redundant since Suit No. 25 of 1950 (i.e., Suit-1) has already been dismissed as withdrawn by the plaintiffs of that suit and, therefore, there is no occasion to answer the same.

667. Issues no. 26 and 27 of Suit-5:

26. Whether the suit is bad for want of notice under

www.vadaprativada.com

section 80 C.P.C. as alleged by the defendants 4 and 5?

27. Whether the plea of suit being bad for want of notice under Section 80 CPC can be raised by defendants 4 and 5?

668. Both the issues No.26 and 27 of Suit 5 are answered in negative in view of our findings on Issue No. 10(b) (Suit-3) and therefore, we hold that Suit 5 is not bad for want of notice under Section 80 C.P.C. since no such objection has either been raised or pressed before us by the State Government or its authorities. The defendants no.4 and 5 being private parties cannot raise such an objection. In fact, during the course of argument, learned Counsels for the defendants have not advanced any submission on these two issues in respect to Suit-5. Thence also the plaintiffs (Suit-5) cannot be non suited on this ground. Both the issues are decided in favour of plaintiffs (Suit-5).

(B) Religious Denomination

669. Issue no. 17 (Suit-3)

"Whether Nirmohi Akhara, plaintiff, is Panchayati Math of Rama Nand sect of Bairagis and as such is a religious denomination following its religious faith and pursuit according to its own custom?"

670. This issue was framed vide Court's order dated 23.2.1996 on the application of plaintiffs (Suit-3). The plaintiffs have pleaded that Nirmohi Akhara is a Panchayati Math of Ramanandi sects of Vairagies and as such is a religious denomination following its own religious customs prevalent in Vairagies sects of Sadhus. Since the days of Yore there exist an ancient Math or Akhara of "Ramanandi Vairagies" called 'Nirmohi' with its seat at Ramghat known as 'Nirmohi Akhara'. The plaintiff no. 1 (Suit-3), Nirmohi Akhara, is a religious establishment of a public character and plaintiff no. 2 is the present Head as its Mahant and Sarbarahkar. The customs of Nirmohi Akhara were reduced in writing on 19.03.1949 by a registered deed. The plaintiff Nirmohi Akhara owns several Temples and manages all of them through Panch and Mahants of Akhara. The Temples and property vest in Akhara which is a "Panchayati Math". It acts on a democratic pattern. The management and right to manage "Akhara" vests absolutely with Panch.

671. The defendants 6 to 8 in their written statement have not said anything in reply to the above averments. The defendant no. 10, Umesh Chandra Pandey, in his written statement has asserted that Janamsthan, the disputed premises, is a holy place of worship and belong to deity of Bhagwan Sri Ram Lala Virajman. It never belonged nor could belong to plaintiff no. 1 (Suit-3) which owe its existence for the last 200 years only, though the holy Janamsthan or Janam Bhumi is a very old Temple. The main presiding deity of the Temple is Bhagwan Sri Ram. The Hindu Temple is deemed to be possessed and owned by a deity. The Principal deity of Sri Ramjamanbhumi is Bhagwan Sri Ram.

672. In replication, the plaintiffs have said that Nirmohi Akhara originated more than 500 years ago. There was a great religious preceptor 'Shankaracharya' at the end of 7th century A.C., who established for the first time “Hindu Math” in four corners of India, i.e., Goverdhan Math at Puri, Jyotir Math at Badrinath, Sharda Math at Dwarka and Sringeri Math at Tungabhadra. The said practice was followed, first in time, by Sri Ramanujacharya, and then by Sri Ramanand. "Ramats", a sect of Vaishnavs, was founded by Sri Ramanand, which contained a large element of aesthetic population founded in Banaras and Ayodhya. Ramanand established several Maths consist of only celibates. They obey no caste rules and even Shudras are in their brotherhood. The "Ramats" worship one God in the form of "Ram" and they call themselves "Das" (servants of Lord). About 500 years ago, Sri Swami Brijanand Ji and Sri Balanand Ji, who belong to Ramanandi sect of Vairagies established three 'Anni' known as (1) Nirmohi, (2) Digamber and (3) Nirwani for protection and improvement of "Chatuha Ramanandi Sampraday" comprising of seven Akharas only, namely, (1) Sri Panch Ramanandi Nirmohi Akhara, (2) Sri Panch Ramanandi Nirwani Akhara, (3) Sri Panch Ramanandi Digambari Akhara, (4) Sri Panch Ramanandi Santoshi Akhara, (5) Sri Panch Ramanandi Khaki Akhara, (6) Sri Panch Ramanandi Niralambi and (7) Sri Panch Ramanandi Maha Nirwani. The Akharas as "Panchayati Maths" act on democratic pattern and real power vests in Panch. The appointment of Mahant is by election. The person, who is elected by the Panchayat becomes the formal head of Akhara. The Nirmohi Akhara, a Panchayati Math, owes several temples and one of such is “Ram Janam Asthan”. Nirmohi Akhara is a religious denomination and had been maintaining and managing the disputed temple since long.

673. In support of their claim, besides certain documentary evidences, some witnesses have also been examined by plaintiffs (Suit-3). At this stage, in our view, the following questions, i.e., incidental but integrally connected need be considered first to answer the main issue.

1. What is a "Math"? Its meaning, constitution etc.?
2. What is a "Panchayati Math”?

3. What is the meaning of a "religious denomination"?

674. A "Math" is an important type of Hindu religious endowment. It spell differently at places, namely, Math, Mutt or Muttum. In ordinary language, it signifies an abode or residence of ascetics. In legal parlance, it connotes a monastic institution presided over by a Superior and established for the use and benefit of ascetics belong to a particular order, who generally are disciples or co-disciples of the superior.

675. The detailed history and other characteristics of religious institution, i.e., "Math" has been discussed in the learned work of Dr. B.K. Mukherjea, "The Hindu Law of Religious and Charitable Trusts" (Tagore Law Lectures) (hereinafter referred to as "Mukherjea's Hindu Law"), which was first published in 1952 and we are referring the relevant extract from its 4th edition, edited by P.B. Gajendragadkar and P.M. Bakshi. It is stated in para 7.5 at page 332 that Hindu Maths were established for the first time by Adi Shankaracharya. He himself founded four Maths at the four corners of India and made them centres of his Vedantik teaching. Bhogavardha Math at Puri (in east), Jyotir Math at Badrinath (in north), Sharda Math at Dwarka (in west) and Sringeri Math at Tungabhadra (in south) are the four Maths. Each of these Maths was placed in the charge of one of his four principal disciples, who were, Padmapad, Hastamalak, Sureswar and Trotaka. These four disciples had their own disciples also. In the course of time ten orders or classes of monks were formed, into which the monks of the Shankar School stood divided. These ten orders popularly known as Dasnamis bear the appellants Tirtha, Asrama, Vana, Aranya, Giri, Parvat, Sagar, Saraswati, Bharati and Puri. The disciples of Trotaka at Jyotir Mutt at Badrinath were Giri, Parvat and Sagar,

while the Sringeri Math claimed as its adherents Saraswati, Bharati and Puri. In addition to the Sannyasis who belong to the fourth stage of life, there were "Naishthik Brahmacharis" or perpetual students attached to all the Maths. This practice started by Adi Shankaracharya was followed by almost all the religious teachers since then.

676. First in order of time was Sri Ramanujacharya,who propounded the theory “qualified monism” in opposition to the “pure monism” of Adi Shankaracharya. Shankar's theory was based upon rigorous logic, recognised the Supreme Brahman as the only one and absolute reality. It regarded everything else as phenomenal or illusory. Ramanuj and other Vaishnava teachers who followed him were all philosophical theists. They tried to reconcile their metaphysical doctrines with the yearnings of the human heart which always requires a personal God as the supreme cause of all that exists and an eternal soul which yearns for “an approach to an union with that Being”. The followers of Ramanuj are known as "Sri Vaishnavas". The object of their adoration is “Supreme” being in the form of "Vishnu" who is always associated with "Shri" or "Lakshmi". On the model of Dashnami Maths of Shankaracharya, Ramanuj founded a large number of Maths for the purpose of strengthening the doctrine propounded by him.

677. Then came Sri Ramanand (born in 1299 A.D.), disciple of Ramanuj. He founded a sect of Vaishnavas known as "Ramats". Ramanand himself is said to have built a Math, for the “ascetics” of his sect, in Benares. The "Ramats" worship one God in the form of Ram.

678. The meaning of the word “ascetic” in Oxford English-English-Hindi Dictionary (2008) on page 64 is as under:

"ascetic not allowing yourself physical pleasures, especially for religious reasons"

679. In New Lexicon Webster's Dictionary of the English Language, Deluxe Encyclopedic Edition, at page 53, the word "ascetic" has been described as under:

"as.cet.ic 1. adj. practicing self-discipline with a view to spiritual improvement, esp. by learning to do without things good in themselves (e.g. warmth, comfort) frugal, austere (of personal appearance) giving the impression of self-denial, gaunt, spare 2. n. a person who practices asceticism, a person who lives an austere life."

680. Thus ordinarily, an ascetic is one who renounces the world and devotes himself to religion, owns no property, no fixed place of residence and accept such food and lodgings as are provided by pious householders. But if a pious ascetic gathers around him a number of disciples whom he initiates into the mysteries or tenets of his order and such of his disciples intend to become ascetics, renounce all connection with their family including family wealth and completely affiliate themselves with the said spiritual teacher, a spiritual fraternity would eventually grow up. If pious, generous persons endow such a fraternity with property, it naturally vests in the preceptor for the time being and a home is created for the brotherhood, i.e., a Math and that would lead to the constitution and building of a Math. Once the "Math" is established, succession to headship takes place within spiritual family according to the usages that grow up in a particular institution.

681. The term "Math" has been described in the Law Lexicon-The Encyclopaedic Law Dictionary by P. Ramanatha Aiyer (1997) at page 1205 as under:

"Math. Although there are some differences between debuttar property and property dedicated to a math, where the math is an idol installed in it, property appertaining to a math, whether dedicated to the idol or not, is not the personal property of the head of the math; and when the holder or Mahant is not only a sanyasi but also a celibate, the property is utterly incapable of passing to natural heirs. The fact that the holder executes a hibanama in which he describes the math as his math carries little weight; the math with the idol cannot be his personal property. The presumption in the case of a mahant who is a sanyasi and a celibate, having no family of his own, and who is free from all worldly attachments, is that the property held or acquired by him is so held or acquired on behalf of the math to which his life is entirely devoted. A presumption of the same kind would arise in respect of the property subsequently acquired by such celibate Mahant. Susil Chandra Sen and another v. Gobind Chandra Das and another, 6 RP 705=150 IC 61=AIR 1934 Pat 431.

The term 'Math' is used in the sense either of an institution or of a building. Maths are in the nature of monastic institutions and the term may also be used for the building in which such an institution is housed. Where originally there was a banking or money-lending business which passed from each of its proprietors to his chosen successor, chosen for his business capacity and not for his learning or piety, and there was no religious object behind the business but they called themselves sanyasis and their residence Math it was held that the property acquired by the proprietors could not be claimed to be 'Math' properties as

there was no 'Math" in the legal sense of the word. Mayanand Gir v. Parshottamanand Gir, 1943 ALJ 400=1943 OWN (HC) 250.

An institution comes within the definition of 'math' if it satisfies three conditions; i) that the institution be for the promotion of the Hindu Religion; ii) that it be presided over by a person whose duty is to engage himself in-spiritual service or who exercises or claims to exercise spiritual headship over a body of disciples; and iii) that the office of such person devolves in accordance with the directions of the founder of the institution or is regulated?, by usage, Srinivas Das v. Surjanarayan, AIR 1967 SC 256, 259. [Orissa Hindu Religious Endowments Act (4 of 1939), Sec. 6(7)]"

682. In Sammantha Pandara Vs. Sellappa Chetti ILR 2 (1878-81) Madras 175 Madras High Court discusses the origin of 'Math' as under:

"The origin of mattams is ordinarily as follows : A preceptor of religious doctrine gathers around him a number of disciples whom he initiates into the particular mysteries of the order, and instructs in its religious tenets. Such of these disciples as intend to become religious teachers, renounce their connection with their family and all claims to the family wealth, and, as it were, affiliate themselves to the spiritual teacher whose, school they have entered. Pious persons endow the schools with property which is vested in the preceptor for the time being, and a home for the school is erected and a mattam constituted. The property of the mattam does not descend to the disciples or elders in common; the preceptor, the head of the institution, selects among the affiliated disciples him whom he deems the most competent, and in his own life-time installs the disciple so selected as his successor, not uncommonly with some ceremonies. After the death of the preceptor the disciple so chosen is installed in the gaddi, and takes by succession the property which has been held by his predecessor. The property is in fact attached to the office and passes by inheritance to no one who does not fill the office. It is in a certain sense trust property; it is devoted to the maintenance of the establishment, but the superior has large dominion over it, and is not accountable for its management nor for the expenditure of the income, provided he does not apply it to any purpose other than what may fairly be regarded as in furtherance of the objects of the institution. Acting for the whole institution he may contract debts for purposes connected with his mattam, and debts so contracted might be recovered from the mattam property and would devolve as a liability on his successor to the extent of the assets received by him.

We do not of course mean to lay it down that there are not mattams which may have been established for purposes other than those we have described, nor that the property may not in some cases be held on different conditions and subject to different incidents. We have, described the nature of the generality of such institutions and the incidents of the property which is devoted to their maintenance."

683. Again considering as to what is meant by a 'Math', a Division Bench of Madras High Court in Giyana Sambandha Pandara Sannadhi Vs. Kandasami Tambiran 1887 ILR Vol.

10 Madras 375 held as under:

"The origin of these associations, their constitution and development, form part of the history of the establishment and spread of the Brahminical system of religious doctrine among the Sudra communities in Southern India. Originally, the ascetic, who renounced the world and devoted himself to religion, confined his attention to the study of theology, to imparting religious instruction to his disciples, and to complying with the ordinances prescribed for the guidance of his order. He then owned no property, except his cloths, sandals, religious books and the idol he kept for his personal worship and a few other articles of trifling value which were absolutely necessary (Mitakshara, Chap. II, s. 8, para. 8). He had no fixed residence and moved from village to village, accepting such lodgings and food as were provided for him by pious laymen, who were in their turn enjoined by the Shastras to honour and support him. This is the mode in which Brahman Sanniyasis live even at the present time. In several villages pious laymen erected buildings for the residence of hermits when they visited their villages, and these were called Mutts. In its original and narrow sense, then, the term "Mutt" signified the residence of an ascetic or Sanniyasi or Paradesi.

But when the Buddhists assailed the Brahminical religion and when Sankarachariyar, the founder of the Advaita or non-dualistic school of philosophy, ultimately prevailed against them, he established some Mutts in order to maintain and strengthen the doctrine and the system of religions philosophy he taught, Sanniyasis being placed at the head of those institutions. After Sankarachariyar, the founders of the Vaishnava, Madhva and other schools of religious philosophy in this Presidency established Mutts for a similar purpose. In former times these institutions exercised considerable influence over the laymen in their neighbourhood; they became centres of classical and religious learning and materially aided in promoting religious knowledge and in encouraging religious and other charities. The ascetics who presided over them were held, owing to their position as religious preceptors, and often also in consequence of their own learning and piety, in great reverence by Hindu princes and noblemen, who from time to time made large presents to them and endowed the Mutts under their control with grants of land. Thus, a class of endowed Mutts came into existence in the nature of monastic institutions, presided over by ascetics or Sanniyasis who had renounced the world. Thus, the ascetic who originally owned little or no property, came to own the Matam under his charge and its endowment, in trust for the maintenance of the Mutt, for his own support, for that of his disciples, and for the performance of religious and other charities in connection with it, according to usage."

684. In Vidyapurna Tirtha Swami Vs. Vidyanidhi Tirtha Swami 1904 ILR Vol. XXVII Madras 435, the Madras High Court following its earlier decision in Sammantha Pandara Vs. Sellappa Chetti (supra) observed with respect to original growth of 'Math' in this country as under:

"The origin and growth of mutts in this country is thus described in the two judgments of this Court already referred to : "A preceptor of religious doctrine gathers

around him a number of disciples whom he initiates into the particular mysteries of the order and instructs in its religious tenets. Such of these disciples as intend to become religious teachers renounce their connection with the family and all claims to the family wealth and, as it were, affiliate themselves to the spiritual teacher whose school they have entered. Pious persons endow the schools with property which is vested in the preceptor for the time being and a home for the school is erected and mattam constituted" (Giyana Sambandha Pandara Sannadhi v. Kandasami Tambiran I.L.R., 10 Mad., 375). "The ascetics who presided over them were held, owing to their position as religious preceptors and often also in consequence of their own learning and piety, in great reverence by Hindu princes and noblemen who, from time to time, made large presents to them and endowed the mutts under their control with grants of land. Thus a class of endowed mutts came into existence, in the nature of monastic institutions, presided over by ascetics or sanniyasis who had renounced the world." The object of these mutts is generally the promotion of religious knowledge, the imparting of spiritual instruction to be disciples and followers of the mutt and "the maintenance and strengthening of the doctrines and tenets of particular schools of philosophy."

685. What has been said in Giyana Sambandha Pandara Sannadhi (supra) has been followed in Kailasam Pillai Vs. Nataraja Thambiran and Ors. 1910 I.L.R. 33 Madras 265 at page 267.

686. The Privy Council in Ram Parkash Das Vs. Anand Das and Ors. AIR 1916 Privy Council 256 had also occasion to

consider about 'Math' and observed:

"An asthal, commonly known in Northern India as a muth, is an institution of a monastic nature. It is established for the service of a particular cult, the instruction in its tenets and the observance of its rites. The followers of the cult and disciples in the institution are known as chelas; the chelas are of two classes celibate and non-celibate. In the asthal now being dealt with, the religious brethren were the bairagi or celibate chelas; the lay brethren were girhast or householder chelas. The mahant must, by the custom of the muth, be a bairagi or religious chela."

687. Again in Sri Vidya Varuthi Thirth Swamigal Vs. Baluswami Ayyar and Ors. AIR 1922 P.C. 123 the Privy Council expressed its views on page 126 about "Maths" in the following words:

"In many cases in Southern India, especially where the diffusion of Aryan Brahmanism was essential for bringing the Dravidian peoples under the religious rule of the Hindu system, colleges and monasteries under the names of Mutt were founded under spiritual teachers of recognised sanctity. These men had and have ample discretion in the application of the funds of the institution, but always subject to certain obligations and duties, equally governed by custom and usage."

688. All the aforesaid decisions were considered by the Apex Court in Shri Krishna Singh Vs. Mathura Ahir and others 1981 (3) SCC 689=AIR 1980 SC 707. In para 19, the Apex Court concluded as under:

"19. .....Math means a place for the residence of ascetics and their pupils, and the like. Since the time of

Sankaracharya, who established Hindu maths, these maths developed into institution devoted to the teaching of different systems of Hindu religious philosophy, presided over by ascetics, who were held in great reverence as religious preceptors, and princes and noblemen endowed these institutions with large grants of property."

689. In Krishna Singh (supra) the Court also observed that a Math is an institutional sanctum presided over by a superior who combines in himself the dual office of being the religious or spiritual head of the particular cult or religious fraternity, and of the manager of the secular properties of the institution of the Math. It also held that the principles noticed in the above cases would make it sufficiently clear that "a math is an institutional sanctum presided over by a superior who combines in himself the dual office of being the religious or spiritual head of the particular cult or religious fraternity, and of the manager of the secular properties of the institution of the math."

690. Concept of Mutt, private and public, has been considered in Bihar State Board of Religious Trust Vs. Mahant Sri Biseshwar Das AIR 1971 SC 2057 and in para 17 the Court observed :

"A religious mutt in northern India is usually known as asthal, a monastic institution founded for the maintenance and spread of a particular sampradaya or cult. The distinction between dedication to a temple and a mutt is that in the former case it is to a particular deity, while in the latter, it is to a superior or a mahant. ... A mutt can be dedicated for the use of ascetics generally or for the ascetics of a particular sect or cult, in which case it would be a public institution. Mutts have generally sadavrats, i.e.

arrangements for giving food and shelter to wayfarers and ascetics attached to them. They may have temples to which the public is allowed access."

691. A "Math" is not a Temple inasmuch it is a place for rendering charitable and religious services in general. Merely there are idols in the Math, it cannot be treated as a Temple. Similarly, an institution which is in its origin a Math, cannot be treated as a temple because idols are also worshipped in the Math. The Math can not be treated as a place of public religious worship mere by reason of the worship of idols. The primary purpose of a Math is to encourage and foster spiritual learning by maintenance of a competent line of teachers who impart religious instructions to the disciples and followers of the Math and try to strengthen the doctrines of the particular school or order of which they profess to be adherents. The deity or an idol may be an essential element in a Math if the worship of a personal God in a certain form is an essential feature of the religious doctrine of a certain order. The worship of God in that form would be a part of their religious teaching which it would be the duty of any Math of that order to foster and encourage, otherwise it may not be necessary. This has been pointed out in Mukherjea's Hindu Law (supra), 4th Edn. at page 331-332 as under :

"...there are religious orders like those of the Shankara School which believe in monastic doctrines of the Vedanta and to not regard the worship of a personal God as a necessary or essential part of the religious teachings. Even in Shankar Mutts, there may exist a shrine for a particular idol but it cannot be said that the presiding element in a Mutt must be a deity or that there cannot be a Mutt without an idol. A shrine or a temple may ordinarily be seen as an adjunct to a Mutt, but it is not a necessary one and even when it exists, it is not the chief or the indispensable part of the institution. It is only ancillary to the main purpose for whicht he Mutt is endowed and the presiding element in a Mutt is always the Mohunt or the spiritual preceptor."

692. A place of worship is not a necessary part of a Math, though it is often found in such institution and although primarily intended for the use of inmates, the public may also be admitted to such places of religious worship. (See Thamba Vs. Arundel I.L.R. 6 Mad. 287).

693. The presiding element in a Math is an ascetic or a religious teacher, who together with his disciples and co-disciples form spiritual family. It owe its existence to benefactions or grants of property made by pious benefactors. The object of the benefaction is the creation of an institution for the benefit of a fraternity of religious men at the head of which stands the superior or Mahant (also termed as "Mohunt"), who represents the entire institution. (vide Satya Charan Sarkar Vs. Mohanta Rudrananda Giri AIR 1953 Cal. 716).

694. In Shri Krishna Singh Vs. Mathura Ahir (supra), the Apex Court also quoted the relevant extracts from Mukherjea's Hindu Law (supra) as to what a “Math” would signify. It further held that the property belong to a Math is in fact attached to the office of Mahant, and passed by inheritance to no one who does not fill the office. The head of a Math, as such, is not a trustee in the sense in which that term is generally understood, but in legal contemplation he has an estate for life in its permanent endowments and an absolute property in the income derived from the offerings of his followers, subject only to the "burden of maintaining the institution". He is bound to spend a large part of income derived from the offerings of his followers on charitable or religious objects.

695. The words "the burden of maintaining the institution" must be understood to include the maintenance of Math, the support of its head and his disciples and the performance of religious and other charities in connection with it, in accordance with usage.

696. According to Hindu jurisprudence, religious institutions such as a "Math" is treated a “juristic entity” with a legal personality capable of holding and acquiring property. The ownership of property vest in the institution. From the very nature of Math, it can act and assert its rights only through a human agency known as "Mahant", Shebait or Dharmakarta or sometimes known as trustee. The Apex Court in Shri Krishna Singh (supra) quoted the following observation of the Bombay High Court (Jenkins, C.J. in Babajirao Vs. Laxmandas 1904 ILR 28 Bom. 215 at 223)* with approval which defines the true notion of a “Math” in the following terms :

> "A math, like an idol, is in Hindu law a judicial person capable of acquiring, holding and vindicating legal rights, though of necessity it can only act in relation to those rights through the medium of some human agency."

697. In H.H. Shri Swamiji of Shri Amar Mutt and others Vs. Commissioner, Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Department and others 1979 (4) SCC 642, Hon'ble P.N. Shinghal, J., in a separate judgment, though concurring with the conclusion of majority view of the Constitution Bench, in para 47 observed "A Mutt is a monastic institution for the use and benefit of ascetics belonging to a particular order presided over by a superior who is its religious teacher. The Mutt property, though originally given by a donor, belongs to that spiritual family represented by the superior or Mahant. It does not, however, vest in him, as he is some sort of a "shebait", and vests in the Mutt as a juristic person."

698. The term "Mahant" has been descried in the Law Lexicon-The Encyclopaedic Law Dictionary by P. Ramanatha Aiyer (1997) on page 1161 as under:

> A Mahant or the head of a Math is not a "trustee" in the sense in which that term is understood in English law. The only law as to a Mahant and his office, functions and duties, is to be found in custom and practice, which is to be proved by testimony. But though a Mahant is not a trustee, in the English sense, he is, in view of the obligations and duties resting on him, answerable, as a trustee in the general sense, for the proper administration of the institution of which he is the head. The existence of a very wide discretion in the Mahant as to the application of the income of the Math or asthal is by no means inconsistent with a fiduciary obligation so to manage the property of the Math that the objects for which the Math exists shall be effectively serve. (Kesho Das v. Amar Dasji and others, 14 Pat 379=156 IC 1093=8 RP 62=16 Pat LT 35=AIR 1935 Pat 111)"

699. The position of a "Mahant" of a "Math" is like that of a "Head of the institution". He is neither a corporation nor a life tenant in respect to the Math property. He is also not a trustee in the sense in which the term is understood in English law. Call by whatever name, he is the manager or custodian of the institution. The property which he holds does not vest in him; it vests in the institution and is held by him as a Manager of the same. [See Vidyavaryathi Vs. Baluswami (Supra)].

700. In Krishna Singh (supra) regarding the succession of Mahantship of a Math or religious institution the Apex Court said:

> "30. The law is well settled that succession to mahantship of a math or religious institution is regulated by custom or usage of the particular institution, except where a rule of succession is laid down by the founder himself who created the endowment. See: Genda Puri v. Chatar Puri (1886) 13 Ind App 100 (PC); Sital Das v. Sant Ram AIR 1954 SC 606 and Mahalinga Thambiran v. La Sri Kasivasi (1974) 2 SCR 74."

www.vadaprativada.com

701. According to usage, wide discretion in the application of funds of the institution is possessed by the "Mahant" but it is always subject to certain obligations and duties equally prescribed by customs and usages.

702. Then comes the next question as to what is a "Panchayati Math". The answer to this question is also found in the learned work of Mukherjea's Hindu Law (supra). It appears that in general, there are three kinds of Maths according to different ways in which the heads or superiors are appointed, i.e., Mourasi, Panchayati and Hakimi. In the first category, the office of the Mahant is hereditary and devolves upon the Chief disciple of the existing Mahant, who usually nominates him as his successor. In the second category, i.e. Panchayati, the office is elective and the presiding Mahant is elected by an assembly of Mahants. In the last category, the appointment of Mahants is vested in the ruling power or in the party who has endowed the temple. We are not going into further details of other kinds of Maths and confine our discussion to “Panchayati Math”.

703. As we have already observed the mode of appointment of Mahant is by election in a Panchayati Math. As to who would constitute the electoral body depends upon the customs of the particular institution. Normally the Mahants of the same sect in a particular locality or Mahants having a common origin assemble and elect the successor of the Mahant of the institution.

704. Before coming to third aspect, namely, “religious denomination”, we may refer to one more aspect of a Math, i.e., public and private Maths. B.K. Mukherjea in Hindu law (supra) has discussed about such Maths and observed that there can be a private Math depending upon the construction of the grant, customs and usage of the institution etc. However, it has further observed that where the body is created for the benefit of the public generally, the Math is dedicated for the use of ascetics generally, such Math would be regarded as public institution. Maths have generally Sadavrats or arrangement for feeding and giving shelter to wayfarers and ascetics attached to them. They may also have Temples to which the public is allowed access. Such circumstances might indicate the public character of the endowment but nevertheless it is probable to have a private Math where the endowment is not intended to confer benefit upon the public generally or even upon the members of a particular religious sect or order.

705. Now we come to the third aspect of the matter as to what is a "religious denomination". These words have attained significance in view of the expression “religious denomination”

contained in Article 26 and 27 of the Constitution of India. To understand the meaning of the expression “religious denomination”, we have to understand the meaning of the expressions "religion" and “denomination”.

706. Obviously, the words "religion" and “denomination” both are not defined in the Constitution, though they occur in Articles 15 (1), 15 (2), 16 (2), 16 (5), 23 (2), 25 to 28, 29 (2) and 30. In order to understand its scope it would be useful to refer the aforesaid provisions as under :

> (2) No citizen shall, on grounds only of religion*, race, caste, sex, place of birth or any of them, be subject to any disability,liability, restriction or condition with regard to-*

707. Religion is certainly a matter of faith with individuals or

communities. Religion has its basis in a system of beliefs or doctrine which are regarded by those, who profess that religion are conductive to their spiritual well being, but it would not be correct to say that religion is nothing else but a doctrine or belief. A religion may not only lay down a code of ethical rules for its followers to accept, it might prescribe rituals and observances, ceremonies and modes of worship which are regarded as integral part of religion and these forms and observances might extend even to matters of food and dress.

708. The expression "religion" has been defined in the "Words and Phrases", Permanent Edition, Vol. 36-A, page 461-463 and onwards, and reads as under :

>
> 'Religion' has reference to one's views of his relations to his Creator and to the obligations they impose of reverence for his being and character and of obedience to his will.
>
> "The word 'religion' in its primary sense (from 'religare' to rebind-bind back), imports as applied to moral questions, only a recognition of a conscious duly to obey restraining principles of conduct. In such sense we suppose there is no one who will admit that he is without religion.
>
> "'religion' is bond uniting man to God and virtue whose purpose is to render God worship due him as source of all being and principle of all government of things.
>
> "'Religion' has reference to man's relation to divinity to the moral obligation of reverence and worship. Obedience, and submission. It is the recognition of God as an object of worship, love and obedience; right feeling

ship, love and obedience; right feeling towards God, as highly apprehended.

"'Religion' means the service and adoration of God or a God as expressed in forms of worship; and apprehension, awareness, or conviction of the existence of a Supreme Being; any system of faith, doctrine and worship, as the Christian religion, the religions of the Orient; a particular system of faith or worship.

"'The term 'religion' as used in tax exemption law, simply includes (1) a belief, not necessarily referring to supernatural powers; (2) a cult, involving a gregarious association openly expressing the belief; (3) a system of moral practice directly resulting from an adherence to the belief; and (4) an organisation within the cult designed to observe the tenets or belief, the content of such belief being of no moment.

"while 'religion' in its broadest sense includes all forms of belief in the existence of superior beings capable of exercising power over the human race, as commonly accepted it means the formal recognition of God, as members of societies and association, and the term 'a religious purpose', as used in the constitutional provision exempting from taxation property used for religious purposes, means the use of property by a religious society or body of persons as a place for public worship.

"'Religion' is a squaring human life with superhuman life. Belief in a superhuman power and such an adjustment of human activities to the requirements of that power as may enable the individual believer to exist more happily is common to all 'religions'. The term 'religion' has reference to one's views on his relations to his Creator, and to the obligations they impose on reverence for His being and character and obedience to his will.

"The term 'religion' has reference to one's view of his relations to his Creator, and to the obligations they impose of reverence for his being and character, and of obedience to his will. With obligations he may think they impose, and the manner in which an expression shall be made by him of his belief on those subjects, no interference can be permitted, provided always the law of society designed to secure its peace and prosperity, and the morals of its people, are not interfered with."

709. In Corpus Juris Secundum Vol. LXXVI (1952), pages 727-729, the word "religion" has been described as under:

"RELIGION. The word "religion" is derived from "religare," meaning to rebind, to bind back; and in its most general sense it means devotion or fidelity, as to a principle or practice; scrupulous conformity; conscientiousness; deep attachment like that felt for an object of worship.

There is not complete agreement on a definition of the word "religion" as it is used in the theological sense, and the content of the term is found in the history of the human race and is incapable of compression into a few words. It is not defined in the Bible or in various state constitutions, and although the word is used in the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, see Constitutional Law § 206 a, it is not defined in the Constitution, and it is therefore necessary to go elsewhere to ascertain the meaning of the term, and it has been said that there is nowhere to go more appropriately than to the history of the times in the midst of which the Bill of Rights of the federal Constitution was adopted.

What has been referred to as a "minimum definition" of the word "religion" as stated by a legal philosopher is that the term "religion" has reference to one's views of his relations to his Creator, and to the obligations they impose of reverence for His being and character, and of obedience to His will.

As stated by a religious philosopher, religion is squaring human life with superhuman life, and what is common to all religions is belief in a superhuman power and an adjustment of human activities to the requirements of that power, such adjustment as may enable the individual believer to exist more happily.

As generally accepted, "religion" may be defined as a bond uniting man to God and a virtue whose purpose is to render God the worship due to him as the source of all being and the principle of all government of things; the recognition of God as an object of worship, love, and obedience; the service and adoration of God or a god as expressed in forms of worship, in obedience to divine commands, especially as found in accepted sacred writings or as declared by recognized teachers and in the pursuit of a way of life regarded as incumbent on true believers; an apprehension, awareness, or conviction of the existence of a Supreme Being, or, more widely, of supernatural powers or influences controlling one's own, humanity's, or nature's destiny; also, such as apprehension, etc., accompanied by or arousing reverence, love, gratitude, the will to obey and serve and the like; religious experience or insight; often, specifically, the awakening of religious belief, convictions, etc., as in conversion; a belief in an invisible superhuman power, or powers, conceived of after the analogy of the human spirit, on which, or whom, man regards himself as dependent, and to which, or whom, he thinks himself in some degree responsible, together with the feelings and practices which naturally flow from such a belief; some system of faith and practice resting on the idea of the existence of one God, the creator and ruler, to whom His creatures owe obedience and love. More specifically, the word "religion" is understood to mean conformity in faith and life to the precepts inculcated in the Bible, respecting conduct of life and duty toward God and man; the Christian faith and practice.

The essence of religion is belief in a relation to God involving duties superior to those arising from any human relation, and it includes a way of life as well as beliefs on the nature of the world. In its broadest sense "religion" comprehends all systems of belief in the existence of being superior to, and capable to exercising an influence for good or evil on, the human race, and all forms of worship of service intended to influence or give honor to such superior powers; any system of faith and worship; morality with a sanction drawn from a future state of rewards and punishment." (emphasis by Court)

710. Black's Law Dictionary, Seventh Edition, page 1293 describe it as under:

"religion. A system of faith and worship usu. involving belief in a supreme being and usu. containing a moral or ethical code; esp., such a system recognized and practiced by a particular church, sect, or denomination. In construing the protections under the Establishment Clause and the Free Exercise Clause, courts have interpreted the term religion quite broadly to include a wide variety of theistic and nontheistic beliefs."

711. Law Lexicon-The Encyclopaedic Law Dictionary by P. Ramanatha Aiyer (1997) describe "religion" at page 1646-1647 as under:

"Religion. (Religio). Virtue, as founded on reverence of God, and Expectation of future rewards and punishments; a system of Divine Faith and Worship as opposed to others. (Johns) That habit of reverence towards the Divine Nature, whereby we are enabled and inclined to serve and worship him, after such a manner as we conceive most acceptable to him, is called Religion. (Tomlins Law Dic.)

"What is Religion? Is it not what a man honestly believes in an approves of and thinks it is duty to inculcate on others, whether with regard to this world or the next? A belief in any system of retribution by an overruling power. It must, I think include the principle of gratitude to an active power who can confer blessings" (per Willes, J., Baxter v. Langley, 38 LJMC 5).

In all countries the word "religion" is ordinarily understood to mean some system of faith and practice resting on the idea of the existence of one God, the creator and ruler, to whom his creatures owe obedience and love.

Religion is morality, with a sanction drawn from a future state of rewards and punishments.

The word "religion" in its primary sense imports, as applied to moral questions, only a recognition of a conscious duty to obey restraining principles of conduct. In such sense we suppose there is no one who will admit that he is without religion.

By the generic word "religion" is not meant the Christian religion or Bible religion, but it means the religion of man, and not the religion of any class of men.

"I for one would never be a party, unless the law were clear, to saying to any man who put forward his views on those most sacred things, that he should be branded as apparently criminal because he differed from the majority of mankind in his religious views or convictions on the subject of religion. If that were so, we should get into ages and times which, thank God, we do not live in, when people were put to death for opinions and beliefs which now almost all of us believe to be true."--[Lord Coleridge, C.J., Reg. v. Bradlaugh and others, (1883) 15 Cox. C.C. 230]

"All persecution and oppression of weak consciences on the score of religious persuasions, are highly unjustifiable upon every principle of natural reason, civil liberty, or sound religion." Sir Wm. Blackstone, (1765) Com. Bk. IV, ch. 4, p. 40.

The teachings of Sri Arubindo is only philosophy and not religion. S.P. Mittal v. Union of India, AIR 1983 SC 1, 4, 33. Auroville (Emergency Provisions) Act (59 of 1980)

The expression "religion" mentioned in cl. (b) of Art. 26, includes not only the philosophical side of religion, but also religious practices as laid down in the tenants of any religious sect. Ram Chandra Deb v. State of Orissa, AIR 1959 Ori 5, 10.

The word 'religion' means the distinct religion and all recognized practices thereof. Arya Samaj Educational, Trust, Delhi v. the Director of Education Delhi Administration Delhi, AIR 1976 Del 207, 211.

The term "religion" whatever its best definition, clearly refers to certain characteristic types of data (beliefs, practices, feelings, moods, attitudes etc.). It primarily involves some immediate consciousness of transcendent realities of supreme personal worth vitally influencing life and thought, expressing themselves in forms which are conditioned by the entire stage of development reached by the individual and his environments and tending to become more explicit and static in mythologies, theologies, philosophies and scientific doctrines. Ramanasramam v. Commissioner for Hindu Religions and Charitable Endowments, AIR 1961 Mad 265, 269.

Religion is concerned with man's relations with God. If reason leads people not to accept Christianity or any known religion, but they do believe in the excellence of qualities such as truth, beauty and love, or believe in the Platonic concept of the ideal, their beliefs may be to them the equivalent of a religion, but viewed objectively they are not religion, Barralet v. Attorney General, (1980) 3 All ER 918, 924."

712. In the New Lexicon Webster's Dictionary of the English Language Deluxe Encyclopedic Edition, page 841, define "religion" :

"re-li-gion n. man's expression of his acknowledgment of the divine, a system of beliefs and practices relating to the sacred and uniting its adherents in a community, e.g.

www.vadaprativada.com

Judaism, Christianity, adherence to such a system, a man without religion, something which has a powerful hold on a person's way of thinking, interests etc."

713. The Apex Court in Commissioner, Hindu Religious Endowments, Madras Vs. Sri Lakshmindra Thirtha Swamiar of Sri Shirur Mutt AIR 1954 SC 282 also considered the same and in para 17, it said :

"17.....Religion is certainly a matter of faith with individuals or communities and it is not necessarily theistic. There are well known religions in India like Buddhism and Jainism which do not believe in God or in any Intelligent First Cause. A religion undoubtedly has its basis in a system of belief or doctrines which are regarded by those who profess that religion as conductive to their spiritual well being, but it would not be correct to say that religion as nothing else but a doctrine or belief. A religion may not only lay down a code of ethical rules for its followers to accept, it might prescribe rituals and observances, ceremonies and modes of worship which are regarded as integral parts of religion, and these forms and observances might extend even to matters of food and dress."

714. In Ratilal Panachand Gandhi Vs. The State of Bombay and others, AIR 1954 SC 388 the Court observed:

"A 'religion' is not merely an opinion, doctrine or belief. It has its outward expression in acts as well. Religious practices or performances of acts in pursuance of religious belief are as much a part of religion as faith or belief in particular doctrines. Thus if the tenets of the Jain or the Parsi religion lay down that certain rites and ceremonies are to be performed at certain times and in a particular manner, it cannot be said that these are secular activities partaking of commercial or economic character simply because they involve expenditure of money or employment of priests or the use of marketable commodities. No outside authority has any right to say that these are not essential parts of religion and it is not open to the secular authority of the State to restrict or prohibit them in any manner they like under the guise of administering the trust estate."

715. Another Constitution Bench in S.P. Mittal Vs. Union of India AIR 1983 SC 1 considered the "religion" and in para 12 of the judgment, it said :

"12.....The Constitution considers Religion as a matter of thought, expression, belief, faith and worship, a matter involving the conscience and a matter which may be professed, practised and propagated by anyone and which may even have some secular activity associated with it....."

716. In S.P. Mittal (supra) the Court also held:

"'Religion' is morality, with a sanction drawn from a future state of rewards and punishments. The term 'religion' and 'religious' in ordinary usage are not rigid concepts. 'Religion' has reference to one's views of his relations to his Creator and to the obligations they impose of reverence for his being and character, and of obedience to his will. The word 'religion' in its primary sense (from 'religare', to rebind, bind back), imports, as applied to moral questions, only recognition of a conscious duty to obey restraining principles of conduct. In such sense we suppose there is no one who will admit that he is without religion. Religion is bond-uniting man to God, and virtue whose purpose is to render God worship due him as source of all being and principle of all government of things. 'Religion' has reference to man's relation to divinity; to the moral obligation of reverence and worship, obedience, and submission. It is the recognition of God as an object of worship, love and obedience; right feeling toward God, as highly apprehended. 'Religion' means the service and adoration of God or a god as expressed in forms of worship; an apprehension, awareness, or conviction of the existence of a Supreme Being; any system of faith, doctrine and worship, as the Christian religion, the religions of the Orient; a particular system of faith or worship. While 'religion' in its broadest sense includes all forms of belief in the existence of superior beings capable of exercising power over the human race, as commonly accepted it means the formal recognition of God, as members of societies and associations, and the term, 'a religious purpose', as used in the constitutional provision exempting from taxation property used for religious purposes, means the use of property by a religious society or body of persons as a place for pubic worship. 'Religion' is squaring human life with superhuman life. Belief on a superhuman power and such an adjustment of human activities to the requirements of that power as may enable the individual believer to exist more happily is common to all 'religions'. The term 'religion' has reference to one's views of his relations to his Creator, and to the obligations they impose of reverence for his being and character, and of obedience to his will. With man's relations to his Maker and the obligations he may think they impose, and the manner in which he of his belief on those subjects shall make an expression, no interference can be permitted, provided always the laws of society, designed to secure its peace and prosperity, and the morals of its people, are not interfered with."

717. In Most Rev. P.M.A. Metropolitan and others Vs. Moran Mar Marthoma and another, 1995 (Supple) (4) SCC 286 the word religion was described as under:

"Religion" is the belief, which binds spiritual nature of men to supernatural being. It includes worship, belief, faith, devotion etc. and extends to rituals. Religious right is the right of a person believing in a particular faith to practice it, preach it and profess it."

718. In A.S. Narayana Deekshitulu Vs. State of A.P. and others, 1996(9) SCC 548 the Court described "religion" with reference to Articles 25 and 26 of the Constitution as under:

"'Religion' as used in these articles must be construed in its strict and etymological sense. 'Religion' is that which binds a man with his Cosmos, his Creator or Super force. It is difficult and rather impossible to define or delimit the expressions 'religion' or "matters of religion' used in Article 25 and 26. Essentially, religion is a matter of personal faith and belief of personal relations of an individual with what he regards as Cosmos, his maker or his creator, which, he believes, regulates the existence of insentient beings and the forces of the universe. 'Religion' is not necessarily theistic and in fact there are well-known religions in India itself like Buddhism and Jainism, which do not believe in the existence of God. In India, Muslims

believe in Allah and have faith in Islam; Christians in Christ and Christianity; Parsis is Zoroastrianism; Sikhs in Guru Granth Sahib and teachings of Guru Nanak Devji, its founder, which is a facet of Hinduism like Brahmo Samaj, Arya Samaj etc. A religion undoubtedly has its basis in a system of beliefs and doctrine, which are regarded by those who profess religion to be conducive to their spiritual well being. A religion is not merely an opinion, doctrine or belief. It has outward expression in acts as well.----------"

719. In T.K. Gopal alias Gopi Vs. State of Karnataka, 2000 (6) SCC 168 the Court said:

"'Religion' is a matter of faith stemming from the depth of the heart and mind. 'Religion' is a belief, which binds the spiritual nature of man to a supernatural being; it is an object of conscientious devotion, faith and pietism. Devotion in its fullest sense is a consecration and denotes an act of worship. Faith in the strict sense constitutes firm reliance on the truth of religious doctrines in every system of religion. Religion, faith or devotion is not easily interchangeable."

720. In Ms. Aruna Roy and others Vs. Union of India and others, JT 2002 (7) SC 103 it was said:

"The word 'religion' has different shades and colours. Important shade is dharma (duty), that is to say, duty towards the society and the soul. It should not be misunderstood nor contention could be raised that as it is used in the national policy of education, secularism would be at peril."

721. In P.M.A. Metropolitan (supra) the Court in respect to faith and belief also observed: "Religion is founded on faith and

belief. Faith emanates from conscience and belief is result of teaching and learning." (para 3)

722. The word "denomination" has been described in Black's Law Dictionary Seventh Edition on page 446 as under:

> "denomination. 1. An act of naming. 2. A collective designation, esp. of a religious sect."

723. In "Words and Phrases", Permanent Edition, Vol. 12 (1962), page 105, defines it as under :

> "A "denomination" is a religious sect having a particular name. Hale v. Everett, 53 N.H. 9, 92, 16 Am.Rep. 82.
> A "denomination" is defined by Webster as "A class or collection of individuals called by the same name; a sect." Wilson v. Perry, 1 S.E. 302, 304, 314, 29 W.Va. 169.
>
> In an indictment charging the larceny of national bank bills, the number and denomination of which are to the grand jury unknown, "denomination" refers to the value or number of dollars the several bills represented, as the denomination of $500, etc. Duvall v. State, 63 Ala. 12, 17.
>
> "Religious sect, order, or denomination," as used in V.A.M.S. Const. 1865, art, 1, § 13, providing that a "religious sect, order, or denomination" was capable of receiving a devise, etc., is not to be limited in meaning to such religious bodies as are composed of many local congregations linked together by rules of the sect, order, or congregation, so that what property one holds belongs in some sense to the whole, but includes a local congregation uncontrolled by any general ecclesiastical organization. Boyce v. Christian, 69 Mo. 492, 494."

724. The Law Lexicon-The Encyclopaedic Law Dictionary by P. Ramanatha Aiyer (1997) describe "denomination" on page 521:

> "Denomination. A class or collection of individuals called by the sane name; a sect; a class of units in money (coins of small denomination); a distinctively named church or sect (as, elergy of all denominations).
> A class or society of individuals called by the same name especially a religious group or a community of believers called by the same name."

725. New Lexicon Webster's Dictionary of the English Language, Deluxe Encyclopedic Edition, at page 256 defined the word "denomination" as under:

> "de-nom-i-na-tion n. the act of denominating, a name, esp. one given to a class or category, one of a series of units in numbers, weights or money, a religious sect, Protestant denominations."

www.vadaprativada.com

726. The term "denomination" came to be considered by the Apex Court in Bramchari Sidheswar Shai and others Vs. State of West Bengal AIR 1995 SC 2089 and in para 14 of the judgement referring to Oxford Dictionary, the Apex Court quoted from Sri Shirur Mutt (supra) as under :

> "...The word denomination has been defined in the Oxford Dictionary to mean a collection of individuals classed together under the same name: a religious sect of body having a common faith and organisation and designated by a distinctive name....."

727. In Sri Adi Visheshwara of Kashi Vishwanath Temple, Varanasi and others Vs. State of U.P. and others, 1997(4) SCC 606 the court said:

"On the practices of the Math, the meaning of the connotation "denomination" in that behalf, it was held that each such sect or special sects which are founded by their organizer generally by name be called a religious denomination as it is designated by distinctive name in many cases. It is the name of the founder and has common faith and common spiritual organization. Article 26 of the Constitution contemplates not merely a religious denomination but also a section thereof. The words "religious denomination" under Article 26 of the Constitution must take their colour from the word religion and if this be so the expression religious denomination must be (1) a collection of religious faith, a system of belief, which is conducive to the spiritual well-being, i.e, a common faith; (2) Common organization; (3) a designation by a distinctive name."

728. In Corpus Juris Secundum Vol. LXXVI (1952) on page 738 the word "religious sect or denomination" has been described as under:

> "The term "religious sect or denomination" refers to people believing in the same religious doctrines who are more or less closely associated or organized to advance such doctrines and increase the number of believers therein; a body or number of persons united in tenets but constituting a distinct organization or party by holding sentiments or doctrines different from those of other sects or people.

for purposes of worship, who profess a common religious faith, and are distinguished from those composing other such bodies by a name of their own; a body or number of persons united in tenets but constituting a distinct organization or party by holding sentiments or doctrines different from those of other sects or people.

Denomination. A class or collection of individuals called by the same name; a sect. It has been said to be equivalent to, or synonymous with, "persuasion."

Persuasion. In religious affairs, a creed or belief; hence a sect or party adhering to a creed or system of opinions."

729. The word "religious denomination or religious sect" has been described in Words and Phrases Permanent Edition Vol. 36A (1962) on page 479:

www.vadaprativada.com

"A religious sect is a body or number of persons united in tenets, but constituting a distinct organization or party, by holding sentiments or doctrines different from those of other sects or people. State v. Hallock, 16 Nev. 373, 385.

"People believing in the same religious doctrines, who are more or less closely associated or organized to advance such doctrines and increase the number of believers therein," constitute a religious sect. State v. District Board of School Dist. No. 8, 44 N.W. 967, 973, 76 Wis. 177, 7 L.R.A. 330, 20 Am.St.Rep. 41.

"Religious sect, order, or denomination," as used in V.A.M.S. Const. 1865, art, 1, § 13, providing that a "religious sect, order, or denomination" was capable of receiving a devise, etc., is not to be limited in meaning to such religious bodies as are composed of many local congregations linked together by rules of the sect, order, or congregation, so that what property one holds belongs in some sense to the whole, but includes a local congregation uncontrolled by any general ecclesiastical organization. Within Const. Art. 1, § 1, par. 14, providing that no money shall be taken from the public treasury in aid of any church, sect, denomination, or sectarian institution, a "religious sect" is a body or number of persons united in tenets and constituting a distinct organization or party holding sentiments or doctrines different from those of other sects or people, and having a common system of faith. Every such sect is "sectarian," and a "church" is an organization for religious purposes or for the public worship of God. Benett v. City of La Grange, 112 S.E. 482, 485, 153 Ga. 428, 22 A.L.R. 1312."

730. The term "religious sect" is described in the Law Lexicon-The Encyclopaedic Law Dictionary by P. Ramanatha Aiyer (1997) at page 1648 as under:

"Religious sect. "People believing in the same religious doctrines, who are more or less closely associated or organized to advance such doctrines and increase the number of believers therein," constitute a religious sect. A religious sect is a body or number of persons united in tenets, but constituting a distinct organization or party, by holding sentiments or doctrines different from those of other sects or people."

731. In the New Lexicon Webster's Dictionary of the English Language Deluxe Encyclopedic Edition at page 841 the word

"religious" has been described as under:

> "re-li-gious 1. adj. of, pertaining to, or concerned with religion, faithful in religion, associated with the practice of religion, a religious rite (of behavior) governed by principles adhered to as strictly as if they were those of a religion, a religious regard for accuracy, of or pertaining to a monastic order 2. pl. re-li-gious n. someone who has made monastic vows."

732. The term "religious denomination" came up for consideration before the Apex Court in Sri Shirur Mutt (Supra) and after referring to the Oxford Dictionary, the Court observed that the meaning of "religious denomination" is a collection of individuals classed together under the same name; a religious sect or body having a common faith and organization and designated by a distinctive name. The Court held that different sects or sub-sects can certainly be called a religious denomination as it is designated by a distinctive name, has a common faith and common spiritual organization.

733. In S.P. Mittal (supra) the Court also considered the term 'religious denomination' and said:

> "The word 'religious denomination' in Article 26 of the Constitution must take their colour from the word 'religion' and if this be so, the expression 'religious denomination' must also satisfy three conditions". It must be a collection of individuals who have a system of beliefs or doctrines, which they regard as conducive to their spiritual well being, that is, a common faith; Common organization; and Designation by a distinctive name."

734. In S. R. Bommai and others Vs. Union of India and others AIR 1994 SC 1918 and M/s Radhasoami Satsang,

Saomi Bagh, Agra Vs. Commissioner of Income Tax 1992 (1) SCC 659 the aforesaid tests for determination of "religious denomination" were reiterated.

735. In Nallor Marthandam Vellalar and others Vs. Commissioner, Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments and others 2003 (10) SCC 712, it was held that the words "religious denomination" take their colour from the word "religion". The Court further said that the expression "religious denomination" must satisfy three requirements- (1) it must be collection of individuals, who have a system of beliefs or doctrine which they regard as conducive to their spiritual well-being, i.e. a common faith, (2) a common organization; and (3) designation of a distinctive name. It necessarily follows that the common faith of the community should be based on religion in that they should have common religious tenets and basic cord which connects them, should be religion and not merely consideration of caste of community or social status.

736. Following the view taken with regard to "religious denomination" in Sri Shirur Mutt (supra), a three-Judge Bench of the Apex Court in Acharya Jagdishwaranand Avadhuta and others Vs. Commissioner of Police, Calcutta and another 1983 (4) SCC 522 held that "Ananda Marga", which is a collection of individuals who have a system of beliefs which they regard as conducive to their spiritual well being; a common organization; a definite name could be regard as a "religious denomination" within Hindu religion as it satisfies the test laid down by the Constitution Bench in Sri Shirur Mutt (supra).

737. In Bramchari Sidheswar Shai (supra), the Court held that Ram Krishna Mission is also a "religious denomination", and while expressing so, the Court in para 51 of judgment said :

"51. No good reason is shown to us for not accepting the view of the Division Bench of the point that Ramakrishna Mission or Ramakrishna Math is a religious denomination. It is not in dispute and cannot be disputed that Sri Ramakrishna could be regarded as religious teacher who expounded, practised and preached the principles of Vedanta on which Hindu religion is founded, to meet the challenges posed to humanity in the changing world and made his disciples to spread the principles so expounded by him not only in India but all over the world as the basic principles of Hinduism. It cannot also be disputed that the disciples of Ramakrishna formed Ramakrishna Math and Ramakrishna Mission for propagation and promotion of the principles, so expounded, practised and preached by Ramakrishna Parmahansa, by way of publications and building of temples, prayer halls and building of educational, cultural and charitable institutions as performance of sevas resulting in the coming up of organisations as Ramakrishna Maths and Ramakrishna Missions, all over the world. These Maths and Missions of Ramakrishna composed of the followers of principles of Hinduism as expounded, preached or practised by Ramakrishna as his disciples or otherwise form a cult or sect of Hindu religion. They believe in the birth of sage Ramakrishna in Dakshineswar as an Avatar of Rama and Krishna and follow the principles of Hinduism discovered, expounded, preached and practised by him as those conducive to their spiritual well-being as the principles of highest Vedanta which surpassed the principles of Vedanta conceived and propagated by Sankaracharya, Madhavacharya and Ramanunjacharya, who were earlier exponents of Hinduism. Hence, as rightly held by the Division Bench of the High Court, followers of Ramakrishna, who are a collection of individuals, who adhere to a system of beliefs as conducive to their spiritual wellbeing, who have organised themselves collectively and who have an organisation of definite name as Ramakrishna Math or Ramakrishna Mission could, in our view, be regarded as a religious denomination within Hindu religion, inasmuch as they satisfy the tests laid down by this Court in Sri Shirur Math's case (AIR 1954 SC 282) (supra) for regarding a denomination as a religious denomination."

738. It may be noticed at this stage the scope of judicial review about what constitute religious belief or what is essential religious practices or what rites and ceremonies are essential according to the tenets of a particular religion. It is not the subject to the belief of faith of a judge but once it is found that a belief, faith, rite or ceremony is genuinely and consciously treated to be part of the profession or practice of a religion by the segment of people of distinct group, believing in that particular religion, suffice it to constitute "religion" within the term of Article 25 of the Constitution whereunder the persons of the said segment have a fundamental right to practice their religion without any interruption from the State. This right is subject only to public order, morality and health and to the other provisions of Part III of the Constitution as well as the power of the State to make laws in respect to the matter provided in Article 25(2) of the Constitution. This right is conferred to the persons professing, practising and propagating the concerned

739. In Jamshed Ji Vs. Soonabai, (1909) 22 Bom 122 Hon'ble Davar, J. in respect to the belief of a community regarding religion observed:

> "If this is the belief of the community and it is proved undoubtedly to be the belief of the Zoroastrian community,- a secular Judge is bound to accept that belief-it is not for him to sit in judgement on that belief, he has no right to interfere with the conscience of a donor who makes a gift in favour of what he believes to be the advancement of his religion and the welfare of his community or mankind."

740. The above view has been quoted with approval in Ratilal Panachand Gandhi (supra) and in Bijoe Emmanuel and others Vs. State of Kerala and others, 1986(3) SCC 615 wherein after quoting the above observation the Apex Court approved the same in the following words:

> "We do endorse the view suggested by Davar J.'s observation that the question is not whether a particular religious belief or practice appeals to our reason or sentiment but whether the belief is genuinely and conscientiously held as part of the profession or practice of religion. Our personal views and reactions are irrelevant. If the belief is genuinely and conscientiously held it attracts the protection of Article 25 but subject, of course, to the inhibitions contained therein."

741. The contents and the scope of Article 25 and 26 of the Constitution have been considered by the Apex Court in a number of decisions and it would be suffice to refer a Constitution Bench decision in Sardar Syedna Tahel Saifuddin Saheb Vs. State of Bombay, AIR 1962 SC 853 wherein,

> "The content of Arts. 25 and 26 of the Constitution came up for consideration before this Court in 1954 SCR 1005: (AIR 1954 S.C. 282), Ramanuj Das v. State of Orissa, 1954 SCR 1046: (AIR 1954 SC 400), 1958 SCR 895: (AIR 1958 S.C. 255); (Civil Appeal No. 272 of 1960 D/- 17-3-1961: (AIR 1961 SC 1402), and several other cases and the main principles underlying these provisions have by these decisions been placed beyond controversy. The first is that the protection of these articles is not limited to matters of doctrine or belief, they extend also to acts done in pursuance of religion and therefore contain a guarantee for rituals and observances, ceremonies and modes of worship which are integral parts of religion. The second is that what constitutes an essential part of a religion or religious practice has to be decided by the courts with reference to the doctrine of a particular religion and include practices which are regarded by the community as a part of its religion."

742. Here referring as to what constitute "religious denomination", the Court also observed that the identity of a "religious denomination" consists in the identity of its doctrine, creeds and tenets and these are intended to ensure the unity of the faith which its adherents profess and the identity of the religious views and the bonds of the union which binds them together as one community. In the absence of conformity to essentials, the denomination would not be an entity cemented into solidity by harmonious uniformity of opinion, it would be a mere incongruous heap of, as it were, grains of sand, thrown together without being united, each of these intellectual and isolated grains differing from every other, and the whole forming a but nominally united while really unconnected mass; fraught with nothing but internal dissimilitude, and mutual and reciprocal contradiction and dissension. (This is a quote from the passage of Lord Halsbury in Free Church of Scotland Vs. Overtoun; 1904 AC 515 which in turn refer to the observations of "Smith B." in Dill Vs. Watson, (1836) 2 Jones Rep. (Ir Ex) 48).

743. The Apex Court further observed that a denomination within Article 26 and persons who are members of that denomination are under Article 25 entitled to ensure the continuity of the denomination and such continuity is possible only by maintaining the bond of religious discipline which would secure that continued adherence of its members to certain essentials like faith, doctrine, tenets and practices. The right guaranteed by Article 25(1) is not confined to freedom of conscience in the sense of the right to hold a belief and to propagate that belief, but includes the right to the practice of religion, the consequences of that practice must also bear the same complexion and be the subject of a like guarantee.

744. In Sardar Sarup Singh and others Vs. State of Punjab and others, AIR 1959 SC 860 another Constitution Bench observed that freedom of religion in our Constitution is not confined to religious beliefs only but extends to essential religious practices as well subject to the restriction which the Constitution has laid down. Referring to Shirur Mutt (supra) it also held that a religious denomination or organization enjoys complete autonomy in the matter of deciding as to what rites and ceremonies are essential according to the tenets of the religion they hold. Similarly referring to Venkataramana Devaru Vs. State of Mysore, AIR 1958 SC 255 the court said that matters of religion in Article 26(b) include practices essential according to the community as part of its religion.

745. In the light of the above discussion, let us examine as to what are the characteristics of Nirmohi Akhara, plaintiff, so as whether it can be called "the Panchayati Math of Ramanandi sect of Bairagies" and also a "religious denomination following its religious faith and pursues according to its own customs".

746. Sri R.L. Verma, Advocate, learned counsel for plaintiffs (Suit-3) placed before us Exhibit-1 (Suit-3), which is a copy of a registered document containing in writing the customs and practices to be observed by Nirmohi Akhara. The document is registered with the Sub-Registrar, Faizabad under Registration Act, 1908 on 26.3.1949. It states that about 500 years back, Sri Brijanand and Sri Balanand Ji constituted 3 Anni, namely, (1) Nirmohi, (2) Digamber and (3) Nirwani and thereunder constituted seven Akharas, namely, (1) Sri Panch Ramanandi Nirmohi Akhara, (2) Sri Panch Ramanandi Nirwani Akhara, (3) Sri Panch Ramanandi Digambari Akhara, (4) Sri Panch Ramanandi Santoshi Akhara, (5) Sri Panch Ramanandi Khaki Akhara, (6) Sri Panch Ramanandi Niralambi and (7) Sri Panch Ramanandi Maha Nirwani. These bodies were constituted for protection and development of "Chatuha Sampraday". All these seven Akharas were based on military training of Sadhus. The existing Mahant of Nirmohi Akhara was Sri Raghunath Das, but in hierarchy the Panchayat has twelve other Mahants or may be called "Sub-Mahants". Nirmohi Akhara has a lot of property including several temples, namely, Ramjanam Bhumi Temple at Mohalla Ram Kunj, Temple Akhara at Mohalla Rajghat etc. The appointment and removal of the Mahant shall be by panchayat. The property shall be in the name of Mahant, but would belong to Nirmohi Akhara. Any legal proceeding shall be taken through Mahant. However, Mahant would not work contrary to the decision of Panch. The Akahara shall follow and propound the religious tenets of "Chatuha Sampraday" with further provision of giving military training to its Sadhus for the protection of its Sampraday.

747. Sri Verma submitted that Ramanand Sect has its origin with Lord Ram who is treated to be the first superior of the sect. It has derived its continuance since then. Sri Ramanandacharya, however, was a person who formally established it sometimes in 13th Century. The military training commenced in the sect by Sri Anubhavanandacharya in the 16th Century and was given a final shape by Sri Balanandacharya. In support of his submissions he placed before us a book "Smritigranthah" 30th Edition published by Sri Ramanand Darshan Shodh Sansthan on 27.01.2000 (Paper No. 43-C1/6). Page 543/279 contains some details of Sri Anubhavanandacharya showing his period from Samvat 1503-1611 (1446 AD-1554 AD). Similarly page 695/431 gives the details of Sri Balanandacharya showing his period as Samvat 1710-1852 (1653 AD-1795 AD). From page 73/49 it is evident that Sri Ramanandacharya himself was born in Samvat 1356 (1299 AD) at Prayagraj i.e. Allahabad and died in Samvat 1532 (1475 AD) at Varanasi.

748. He further relied on Yadunath Sarkar's "History of Bairagi Akharas" to show existence of Vairagis and their activities in Kumbh Mela in the year 1796 AD and 1882 AD.

749. He also relied on certain other books which are as under.

750. "A Historical Sketch of Tahsil Fyzabad, Zillah

Fyzabad" by P. Carnegy printed at the Oudh Government Press, Lucknow in 1870 (in short "P. Carnegy's Historical Sketch"). P. Carnegy was officiating Commissioner and Settlement Officer at Faizabad. Besides others, he has also dealt with the Akharas of Ayodhya in his book from Page 19 to 20, as under :

"The monastic orders.- There are seven Akharas or cloisters of the monastic orders, or Bairagis, disciples of Vishnu, in Ajudhia, each of which is presided over by a Mahant or Abbot; these are :-

1. Nirbani, or silent sect, who have their dwelling in Hanuman Garhi.

2. The Nirmohi, or void of affection sect, who have establishments at Ramghat, and Guptarghat.

3. Digambari, or naked sect of ascetics.

4. The khaki or ash-besmeared devotees

5. The Maha-nirbani, or literally dumb branch.

6. The Santokhi, or patient family.

The expenses of these different establishments of which the first is by far the most important, are met from the Revenues of lands which have been assigned to them; from the offerings of pilgrims and visitors; and from the alms collected by the disciples in their wanderings all over India.

The Nirbani sect,- I believe the Mahant of the Nirbani Akhaara or Hanumangarhi, has 600 disciples, of whom as many as 3 or 400 are generally in attendance, and to whom rations are served out at noon daily. The present incumbent has divided his followers into four Thoks or parties, to whom the names of four disciples, as

There appear to be as I have already pointed out in my "Notes on Races, &c.," several grades of discipleship in connexion with these establishments.

I. There are the ordinary worshippers of all the different Hindu castes, who still retaining their position in the world and their home ties, become disciples in the simple hope that their prayers offered under the auspices of their spiritual guides, will be heard and their temporal wishes granted.

II. There are also those who forsaking the world and their homes, join the fraternity of devotees in view solely to their eternal well being, a privilege which is within the reach of all castes of Hindus. Of these latter those who were Brahmins and Chhatris before initiation are exempted from manual labour, while the menial offices of cooking, sweeping, water drawing &c. devolve upon those of the brethren who were originally of the lower castes.

A disciple of the 2nd is for a time admitted as a novice and entrusted with unimportant secular offices only. He is then required to make a round of the great places of pilgrimage such as Dwarka Jagarnath, Gya &cs. &c., and on his return thence he is finally admitted to all the privileges of the order; celibacy is enforced, and those who surreptitiously marry, or steal, are expelled from the brotherhood. Brahmins and Chhatris are admitted to membership without limit as to age, but candidates, of other castes must be under the age of sixteen years, so that they may readily inbibe the doctrines of the order. The orders of the Mahant and his advisers, the heads of Thoks,

Nirmohi sect.- It is said that one Gobind Das came from Jaipur some 200 years ago and having acquired a few Bighas of revenue-free land, he built a shrine and settled himself at Ram Ghat. Mahant Tulshi Das is the sixth in succession. There are now two branches of this order, one at Ram Ghat, and the other occupying the temples at Guptar Ghat. They have rent free holdings in Basti, Manakpur and Khurdabad.

The Digambari sect.- Siri Balram Das came to Ajudhia 200 years ago, whence it is now known, and having built a temple settled here. Mahant Hira Das is the seventh incumbent. The establishment of resident disciples is very small being limited to 15; they have several revenue free holdings in the district.

The Khaki sect.- When Remchandr became an exile from Ajudhia his brother Lachhman is said in his grief to have smeared his body with ashes and to have accompanied him. Hence he was called Khaki, and his admiring followers bear that name to this date. In the days of Shuja-ud-Dowla one Mahant Dya Ram is said to have come from Chitrkot, and having obtained 4 bighas of land, he thereon established the Akhara, and this order of Bairagis now includes 180 persons, of whom 50 are resident and 100 itinerant. This establishment has some small assignments of land in this, and in the Gondah district. Ram Das the present Mahant is seventh in succession from the local founder of the order.

The Mahanirbani sect.- Mahant Parsotam Das came to Ajudhia from Kotah Bundi in the days of Shuja-ud-Dowla, and built a temple at Ajudhia. Dial Das the present incumbent is the sixth in succession. He has 25 disciples, the great majority of whom are itinerant mendicants. The words Mahanirbani imply the worshipping of God without asking for favours, either in this world or the next.

The Santoki sect.- Mahant Rati Ram arrived at Ajudhia from Jaipur in the days of Mansur Ali Khan, and building a temple founded this order. Two or three generations after him the temple was abandoned by his followers, and one Nidhi Singh, an influential distiller in the days of the Ex-king, took the site and built thereon another temple. After this Khushal Das of this order returned to Ajudhia and lived and died under an Asok tree, and there the temple which is now used by the fraternity, was built by Ramkishn Das the present head of the community.

The Niralambhi sect.- Siri Birmal Das is said to have come from Kotah in the time of Shuja-ud-Dowla, and to have built a temple in Ajudhia, but it was afterwards abandoned. Subsequently Narsing Das of this order erected a new building near Darshan Sing's temple. The present head of the fraternity is Ram Sevak, and they are dependent solely on the offerings of pilgrims."

751. "Fyzabad: A Gazetteer being Vol. XLIII of the District Gazetteers of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh" by H.R. Nevill published by Government Press, United Provinces in 1905 (Book No. 4) also gives some details about the Ramanandis and Vairagi Akharas of Ayodhya as under:

"Hinduism in this district is naturally influenced in a large degree by the presence of Ajodhya, the birthplace of Rama, so that it is only to be expected that the Vaishnavite form should predominate. The census returns show, however, that the professed followers of Vaishavism amount to only a small proportion of the Hindu population. No more than 7.7 per cent. were returned as Vaishnavites and 5.5 per cent. as Ramanandis. In both cases the proportions are high, but still the great mass of the Hindus appear to belong to no particular sect, as is generally the case throughout Oudh.

Among the numerous Faqirs whose home is at Ajodhya there are many Bairagis, who are included in the Vaishnavites. These Bairagis belong to regularly constituted religious bodies and are devided among seven different akharas or orders. The disciples have to pass through a series of stages, which are identical in all cases. They are admitted while under the age of sixteen, although the rule is relaxed in the case of Brahmans and Rajputs, who also enjoy other privileges, especially in the matter of exemption from menial service. The first stage is known as Chhora and lasts for three years: the work of the novice consists of servile offices, such as cleaning the smaller utensils of the temple and of the common mess, carrying wood, and performing puja path. The second stage is also for three years and is known as bandagidar. The disciple now draws water from the well, cleans the larger vessels, cooks the food, as well as doing puja. At the expiration of this period there follows a third stage of equal duration, known as hurdanga. In this the work consists in taking the daily food to the idols, distributing the daily rations given at midday to the brethren, doing puja and carrying the nishan or temple standard. In the tenth year the disciple enters on a fourth period of three years called naga. During this stage he leaves Ajodhya with his contemporaries and goes the round of all the tiraths or sacred places of India, subsisting all the time on mendicancy. At his return he reaches the fifth and final stage called atith, which continues till his life's end. He now ceases to work, except in the matter of puja path, and is provided with food and clothing.

The seven orders have a regular system of precedence which is observed in ceremonial processions and on similar occasions. In front come the Digambaris, followed by the Nirbanis on the right and the Nirmohis on the left. In the third rank behind the Nirbanis march the Khakis on the right and the Niralambhis on the left; and after the Nirmohis come the Santokhis and Mahanirbanis in the same order. Between each body a space is left, both in front and on the flanks. The Digambaris or naked ascetics are said to have been founded by one Balram Das, who came to Ajodhya over two hundred years ago and built a temple here. The present head of the college is the eleventh mahant. The order is a small one, as the number of resident brethren is limited to fifteen; it is on the other hand possessed of considerable wealth, having several revenue-free holdings in Gorakhpur and two villages, Puraina in tahsil Fyzabad and Kalupur in Tanda, recently purchased in this district. The largest community is that of the Nirbanis, who live in the celebrated Hanuman Garhi

temple. They are very numerous, but there are not more than 250 resident disciples who obtain daily rations. The Nirbanis are divided into four thoks or pattis, which go by the names of Hardwari, Basantia, Ujainia and Sagaria, each with its own mahant; but over all is a single presiding mahant, chosen by common consent, who occupies the gaddi in the verandah in front of the temple. The Nirbanis are very wealthy: besides owning revenue-free lands in Fyzabad, Gonda, Basti, Pratabgarh and Shahjahanpur, they carry on an extensive business as moneylenders and dealers in elephants, and have purchased several villages with the proceeds. Their revenue from the offerings made by pilgrims is also very large. The Nirmohi sect claim spiritual descent from one Gobind Das of Jaipur. They formerly held the Janamasthan temple in Ramkot, the remains of which still belong to them; but on its destruction by the Musalmans they moved to Ramghat. Subsequently a quarrel arose among them on a question of succession and a split occurred, a branch leaving Ramghat and settling at Guptarghat. The mahant of the Ramghat branch is the ninth in succession from the founder. The Nirmohis of Guptarghat have some revenue-free lands in Basti, Mankapur and Khurdabad, but the others are wholly dependent on the temple offerings. The name signifies "void of affection." The Khaki or ash-besmeared akhara was established in the days of Shuja-ud-daula by one Daya Ram from Chitrakot, who obtained four bighas of land in Ajodhya and built thereon a temple. The order numbers 180 persons, of whom 50 are resident and the rest itinerant. The present head is

eleventh in succession from the founder. The khakis own some land in Basti and hold the lease of one village in Gonda. The sect called Niralambhi, or provisionless, dates from the same period, having been founded by Birmal Das of Kotah, who came to Ajodhya and built a temple which was afterwards abandoned. One of his successors, Narsingh Das, erected a new temple near that of Darshan Singh. The fraternity is a small one and depends solely on the offerings of pilgrims. The Santokhis or patient faqirs are a small and poor sect without any endowment. The akhara was founded in the time of Safdar Jang by Rati Ram of Jaipur, who built a temple in Ajodhya. This was subsequently abandoned and the site taken for another temple by Niddhi Singh, an influential Kalwar in the days of Wajid Ali Shah. After this, one Khushal Das of the Santokhi sect returned to Ajodhya, and his successor, Ramkishan Das, built the present temple. In 1900 the mahant died and for some time the Akhara was deserted and no successor appointed. Lastly come the Mahanirbanis or dumb faqirs, the word implying worship without asking for favours either in this work or the next. The present mahant is the seventh in succession from the founder, one Parsotam Das, who came to Ajodhya from Kotah Bundi in the reign of Shuja-ud-daula, and built a temple. There are twenty-five brethren, the majority of whom are itinerant mendicants." (emphasis added)

"There is successive order for these seven Akharas, according to which they move in big fairs and similar occasions. First of all Digambaris find place then, Nirvani on right side and Nirmohi on left side, in third line behind Nirvanis towards right side Khaki and towards left side Niralambi find place. Behind Nirmohis, Santishi and Mahanirvani move. Some place remains vacant in front and backward side of each. " (E.T.C.)

"Although before the growth of Ramanandian tradition in Rajasthan, Jambho Ji and Jasnath Ji had created a background for propagation of Vaishnavism and an atmosphere against the degenerated and retrogressive activities of contemporary 'Nath-panthi', still the credit for imbuing the entire Rajasthan in the later period by instilling liberal Vaishnavism with devotional cult goes to disciples and followers of Ramanandian tradition.

Out of these, the arrival of Anantanand in Sambhar as also the initiation of Marwar king Maldev, is very famous. The famous Vaishnava devotee of Rajasthan, Krishandas Paihari (1502-27 AD), who took over the seat of Nath cult followers at Galta (Jaipur) and set-up the first and foremost seat of Vaishnavites, was a disciple of this very Anantanand. In this very period, Amer king Prithviraj and queen Bala Bai became his disciples. Paihari's disciple Agradas had prompted Amer king Maan Sing to renovate many temples of India. Consequently, many temples and

Ghats of Vrindavan, Vaikunthpur (birthplace of Guru Govind Singh) at Patna and Jagannath Dham were established. Nabhadas, famous composer of Bhaktmal, was disciple of this very Agradas. The other disciple of Paihari, Kilhdas propagated 'Tapsi Shakha' (school of asceticism) by promoting Yogic practices with devotion to Rama and by blending Yoga practices with Ramanandian Vairagi practices.

The youngest disciple of Ramanand, Sursuranand remained associated with Rajasthan right from the times of Ramanand's Rajasthan visit.

There were Kevalanand and Madhavanand in his cult. Anubhavanand, Brahmanand, Brijanand, Balanand and Govind Ji were there in the cult of Kevalananad, who played important part in bringing various Shri-Vigrah of Lord Shri Krishna from Brij Bhumi and installing them at Nathdwara, Kankroli, Kota and Jaipur in Rajasthan. In the cult of Madhavanand was Narharidas, who is considered to be the 'Guru' (master) of Goswami Tulsidas. His 'Jhitada' (Marwar) is a place famous as 'Fuwa Math'.

757. In cross-examination at page 173 to 176, the witness DW 3/1 said :

''गवाह को उनकी मुख्य परीक्षा के शपथ–पत्र का पैरा–41 दिखाया गया और यह पूछा गया कि इसमें क्या माखन दास जी के ऊपर दस पीढ़ियों का नाम दिया है और नौ महंतों का उल्लेख किया है, क्या ये नौ महंत वही हैं, जिनके बारे मे आपने ऊपर कहा है कि माखन दास जी से पहले निर्मोही अखाड़े के 8–10 महंत हुए थे? उपरोक्त को देखकर गवाह ने कहा कि–ये वही महंत हैं, परन्तु मुझे उनके नाम याद नहीं थे। इस पैरा–41 के उल्लेख के अनुसार महंत गोविंद दास जी निर्मोही अखाड़ा के पहले महंत हुए थे। महंत गोविंद दास जी ने निर्मोही अखाड़ा की स्थापना नहीं की थी, बल्कि स्वामी बालानन्दाचार्य जी ने निर्मोही अखाडा की स्थापना की थी। मुझे नहीं मालूम कि स्वामी बालानन्दाचार्य ने महंत गोविंद दास जी को निर्मोही अखाड़ा का महन्त बनाया था अथवा नहीं। मैं नहीं बता पाऊंगा कि गोविन्द दास जी जयपुर में निर्मोही अखाड़ा के महंत हुए थे या अयोध्या में।

रामानन्द जी और तुलसीदास जी का भी कोई संबंध निर्मोही अखाड़ा से रहा है।''

''उपरोक्त पैरा–42 को देखकर गवाह ने उत्तर दिया कि–स्वामी रामानन्दाचार्य जी ने इस सम्प्रदाय की स्थापना की थी, जो रामानन्दीय कहलाते हैं और उनके शिष्य–परशिष्यों में आगे चलकर तुलसी दास जी, नरहरियानन्द जी के शिष्य हुए। निर्मोही अखाड़ा की स्थापना उनके बाद हुई और बालानन्दाचार्य जी ने की। अपने शपथ–पत्र के पैरा–42 में जो मैंने बालानन्द नाम लिखा है, उससे मेरा तात्पर्य बालानन्दाचार्य जी से ही है।

*विद्वान जिरहकर्ता अधिवक्ता द्वारा गवाह को उनकी मुख्य परीक्षा के शपथ–पत्र के पैरा –42 एवं 47 दिखाये गये और यह पूछा गया कि– उपरोक्त पैराग्राफ में रामानन्द जी से बालानन्दाचार्य जी का जो सम्बन्ध बताया गया है, क्या उससे यह तात्पर्य है कि बालानन्द जी अनुभवानन्द जी के शिष्य थे या वे केवलानन्द जी के शिष्य थे? उपरोक्त दोनों पैराग्राफ्स को पढ़कर गवाह ने उत्तर दिया कि– बालानन्द जी बृजानन्द जी के शिष्य थे। इसी पैराग्राफ–43 को दिखाकर गवाह से पूछा गया कि इसमें जो अनुभवानन्द व उनके उप–शिष्य बालानन्द लिखा है, उससे आपका क्या तात्पर्य है उपरोक्त को देखकर गवाह ने उत्तर दिया कि–इससे मेरा तात्पर्य यह है कि बालानन्द जी अनुभवानन्द जी के नाती–परनाती चेला थे।

उससे बाद का था।

गवाह ने अपने शपथ–पत्र के पैराग्राफ –43 को देखकर कहा कि–इसमें उल्लिखित है कि– 'रामानन्दीय सम्प्रदाय का श्रीमठ बनारस है'' अर्थात् बनारस में रामानन्द सम्प्रदाय का केन्द्र है। वहॉ स्वामी रामानन्द के रहने के समय से इसका केन्द्र बनारस रहा है, परन्तु उनके शिष्य व पर–शिष्य भारतवर्ष में चारो तरफ़ भ्रमण किया करते थे।'' (पेज 173–176) (emphasis added)

"The witness was shown para 41 of the affidavit of his examination-in-chief and was asked whether the names of 10 generations of Makhan Das are given and reference of nine Mahants have been made, whether these are those nine Mahants about whom you (witness) have stated above that prior to Makhan Das Ji 8-10 Mahants of Nirmohi Akhara became? Seeing the aforesaid the witness said that these are those Mahants but I did not recollect their names. According to this mention in para 41, Mahant Govind Das Ji has been the first Mahant of Nirmohi Akhara.

Mahant Govind Das Ji did not establish Nirmohi Akhara, rather Swami Balalnandacharya Ji had founded Nirmohi Akhara. I do not know whether Swami Balanandacharya had appointed Mahant Govind Das Ji as Mahant of Nirmohi Akhara or not. I cannot say whether Govind Das Ji has been made Mahant of Nirmohi Akhara in Jairpur or in Ayodhya*.*

Question-In which period Govind Das Ji became Mahant of Nirmohi Akhara?

This statement I have given on the basis of saying by ancestors and also read in book. Probably, in "Ram Janam Bhumi Ka Raktranjit Itihas" I have read it that Govind Das Ji became Mahant of Nirmohi Akhara within 600 years.

The witness was shown paragraph 42 of the affidavit of examination-in-chief by learned counsel cross-examining the witness and was asked whether Ramanand Ji and Tulsidas Ji have been related in any manner with Nirmohi Akhara."

"Seeing the aforesaid para 42 the witness replied that Swami Ramanandacharya Ji had established this sect, who are called Ramanandi and later on amongst their disciples-grand-disciples was Tulsidas Ji, disciple of Narhariya Nand Ji. Nirmohi Akhara was established thereafter and was founded by Balanandacharya Ji*. In para 42 of the affidavit where I have written the name Balanand, by which I meant Balanandcharya Ji only.*

The witness was shown paragraph 42 and 47 of the affidavit of examination-in-chief by learned counsel cross-examining the witness and it was asked whether by the relation between Ramanand Ji and Balanandacharya Ji, as stated in the above paragraph, it meant that Balanand Ji was disciple of Anubhavanand Ji or whether they were disciple of Kevelanand Ji. Reading the aforesaid two paragraphs, the witness replied that-Balanand Ji was disciple of Brijanand Ji. Showing paragraph 43 it was asked from the witness what does he mean by Anubhavanand and his Deputy disciple as written in it, the witness after going through the aforesaid replied-by it I mean that Balanand Ji was grand-grand disciple of Anubhavanand Ji.

Seeing paragraph 42 of his affidavit the witness said that the third line from the bottom makes mention of Anubhavanand, Brahmanand, Brijanand and Balanand by which I mean that Brahmanand was the disciple of Anubhavanand and Brijanand was the disciple of Brahmanand and Balanand was the disciple of Brijanand. Anubhavanand and Narhari Das were contemporary. Anubhavanand Ji died on attaining the age of 250 years. I cannot say as to when Anubhavanand Ji died, I can also not say as to whether he died in the period of Aurangzeb of thereafter. I know that Tulsidas Ji was in emperor Akbar's period. I have written him i.e. Tulsidas Ji as disciple of Narhari Das Ji. Balanand Ji has been 200 years earlier to Tulsidas Ji. I cannot say if the period of Akbar was during 16th Century or subsequent to that.

Question-In your statement you have said above that Nirmohi Akhara, six other Akharas and three Annais were founded by Balanand Ji but in para 43 of your affidavit it is written that Anubhavanand and his Deputy Disciple Balanand..... formed three Annais and seven Akharas. Thus why is there contradiction in your aforesaid statement and contents of the affidavit?

Answer-Seeing the aforesaid the witness replied that there is no difference at all and Balanand Ji had established the Akharas with the inspiration of Anubhavanand Ji. When these Akharas were founded, at that time Anubhavanand Ji was alive.

Question- Whether Anubhavanand Ji also resided in Jaipur, where, as you have said, the aforesaid Akharas were founded.

Answer: Whether Anubhavanand Ji was in Jaipur or not at that time, I cannot say because these people used to wander.

Seeing para 43 of his statement the witness said that it is written in it that " the chief Math of Ramandiya Sect is in Banaras" or in Banaras there is centre of Ramanand Sect. Since the time of living by Swami Ramanand there, its centre had been Banaras, but his disciples and grand disciples used to roam all around India." (E.T.C.)

Seeing that the witness replied that alongwith my affidavit in examination-in-chief , no any annexures' list is enclosed*. The witness was shown the portion of para 76 of the affidavit to the effect "Which is of Ramanandi Sect.....customs" and was enquired what did he mean by it. However, in cross-examination on page 20 though he (DW 3/4) said that Vaishnav Dharma is followed in all the Akharas of Ramanandiya Sampradaya and training of arms is also given in the Akharas for protection of Hindu Dharma from others but he, however, has no knowledge as to when Nirmohi Akhara was established. About Ramanandi Sampradaya, in the cross-examination at pages 26-27, he said :

''जगद्गुरू श्री रामानन्दाचार्य जी रामानन्दी सम्प्रदाय के पीठाधीश्वर तो हैं ही, इसके अलावा वे वैष्णव सम्प्रदाय के आचार्य भी हैं और इसी कारण उन्हें बहुत आदर व सम्मान प्राप्त है। रामानन्दाचार्य जी के जितने भी अनुयायी हैं, उन सब के लिए रामानन्दाचार्य जी द्वारा बताये हुए रीति–रिवाज का पालन करना अनिवार्य है। रामानन्दी सम्प्रदाय में जो चतुः सम्प्रदाय है, वह जिसे श्रेष्ठ समझता है, वह उसे जगद्गुरू रामानन्दाचार्य के पद से विभूषित करते हैं। इन जगद्गुरू रामानन्दाचार्य जी का सभी वैष्णव लोग आदर व सम्मान करते हैं।'' (पेज 26–27)

"In Ayodhya there is Nirmohi Akhara. There is no counting of members of Nirmohi Akhara, nor I can tell by guesswork as to how many members are there in the Akhara. Nirmohi Akhara is existing at several places besides Ayodhya. Training of arms is imparted at every place. Arms means weapon." (E.T.C.)

"There are three Akharas of the Ramananda school in Ayodhya. The three Akharas are Ani Akharas. The word Ani means 'Sena' (army). The system of each Akhara is on the Panchayat pattern. The three Akharas have equal status, that is to say, the three Akharas, viz, Nirmohi, Nirvani and Digambar are at par with each other. It is not that the Digambar Akhara is the main Akhara. The trio of Akharas have the same way of working. In the temples managed by these Akharas, it is mandatory to offer worship three times, that is, in the morning, at noon and in the evening. ''विशिष्टाद्वैत को मैं परिभाषित कर सकता हूँ, उसके अनुसार माया जीव ब्रह्म को तीन तत्वों अर्थात् तत्वत्रय (ब्रह्म तत्व) के रूप में स्वीकार किया गया है। इसका सरल अर्थ इस प्रकार है कि जहॉ–जहॉ परमात्मा होगा, वहॉ–वहॉ पर जीव तथा जगत अवश्य होगा। विशिष्टाद्वैत का यही सिद्धांत वैष्णव सम्प्रदाय में स्वीकार किया जाता है। इस सिद्धान्त में आत्मा तथा परमात्मा को भिन्न नहीं माना गया है, इसमें दोनों के एकत्व का प्रतिपादन है। भोक्ता, भोग्य तथा उसके प्रेरक ये तीनों ही परमेश्वर हैं। यह विशिष्टाद्वैत का सिद्धान्त है, जो द्वैत तथा अद्वैत से थोडा भिन्न है। रामानंद सम्प्रदाय के लोग इस विशिष्टाद्वैत सिद्धान्त के अनुयायी हैं। उत्तर भारत के अतिरिक्त दक्षिण भारत में बहुत वृहद रूप से विशिष्टाद्वैत सिद्धान्त को माना जाता है। हिन्दू धर्म में अद्वैत सिद्वान्त को मानने वाले भी है, इसके अनुगमी शैव लोग हैं। द्वैत सिद्वान्त के लोग निम्बार्क तथा मध्व सम्प्रदाय के मानने वाले हैं। रामानंद सम्प्रदाय के पूर्व भी विशिष्टाद्वैत सिद्धान्त था, क्योंकि यह अनादि कालीन है। चारों वेदों में जो प्रथम वेद ऋग्वेद है, उसमें भी राजा दशरथ का वर्णन है। मेरी मुख्य परीक्षा के शपथ–पत्र की धारा 59 जो पृष्ठ 12 पर है, को मैंने पढ़ लिया है, इस धारा में उल्लिखित दोनों पुस्तकों ''श्री रामानंद सम्प्रदाय का इतिहास तथा श्री रामानंदाजयंती स्मारक ग्रन्थ पुस्तकों'' को मैंने तीन दिन पूर्व पढ़ा है। ये दोनों ग्रन्थ अलग–अलग लगभग तीन सौ–चार सौ पृष्ठों के हैं।'' (पेज 29)

''I can define Vishishtadvait. It accepts Maya Jeeva and Brahma as three substances (divine substances). Its plain meaning is that wherever there is God, Jeeva (individual soul) and Jagat (world) will certainly be there. This very principle of Vishishtadvait is accepted in the Vaishnavite sect. This principle does not differentiate 'Atma' (individual soul) from 'Paramatma'(Supreme Soul).

It speaks of the unity of both. The Trio - the user, the used and their encourager are Supreme Being. It is a principle of Vishishtadvait, which is a bit different from dualism and monism. Followers of the Ramananda sect are adherents of Vishitadvait philosophy. The Vishishtadvait philosophy is followed on a very large scale in south India apart from north India. There are also followers of monism in Hindu religion. Its followers are Shaivaites. Adherents of principle of monism in Hinduism are the followers of Nimbark and Madhva sects. Even before the Ramananda sect existed the philosophy of Vishishtdvait, because it is not of the earliest period. The Rigveda, the first of the four Vedas, also speaks of King Dashrath. I have read page 12-para 59 of the affidavit filed in course of my examination-in-chief. "आज जो मूर्तियॉ विवादित स्थल पर देखने को मिलती हैं, वे वही मूर्तियॉ हैं, जो बाबा श्यामानन्द जी के द्वारा उत्तराखण्ड लेकर चली जाने वाली मूर्तियों में से हैं। बाबा श्यामानन्द जी वह मूर्तियॉ बाबर के आक्रमण के समय उत्तराखंड लेकर चले गये थे। गोविन्ददास जी बाबा श्यामानन्द के अंगरक्षक व शिष्य थे। गोविन्ददास जी ने मूर्तियों को ले आकर पुनः उसी स्थान पर स्थापित कर दिया।

"ऐसा कहना गलत होगा कि स्वामी रामानन्दाचार्य जी ने कई मठों की स्थापना की बल्कि उनके द्वारा एक मठ वाराणसी में स्थापित किया गया है जिसका नाम श्रीमठ है। यह ठीक है कि उनके शिष्यों ने कई धार्मिक मठों की स्थापना की और करते चले आ रहे हैं। इन मठों की जहां–जहां स्थापना हुई वहां भगवान राम विराजमान हैं। हमारे विशिष्टाद्वैत दर्शन में साकार मूर्ति पूजा के साथ–साथ भगवान राम के प्राकट्य स्थल की भी पूजा होती है। जिसे हम लोग धाम कहते हैं। यह ठीक है कि स्वामी रामानन्दाचार्य के पहले आदि शंकराचार्य का प्रादुर्भाव हो चुका था। यह कहना ठीक है कि शंकराचार्य का दर्शन निराकार दर्शन था। यह कहना गलत है कि शंकराचार्य छद्म बौद्ध थे अर्थात् छिपे हुए बौद्ध के रूप में माने जाते थे। शंकराचार्य छद्म बौद्ध थे, ऐसा कुछ लोगों का मत है, पर सब का नहीं है। यह कहना पूर्ण गलत है कि रामानन्दाचार्य ने साकार ब्रह्म की कल्पना की। यह ठीक है कि स्वामी रामानन्दाचार्य के दर्शन में साकार ब्रह्म की उपासना की व्यवस्था है। वेद ने भगवान के अवतार होने के चार विग्रह माने हैं नाम, रूप, लीला व धाम। इन चारों की साकार सिद्धान्त के अनुसार श्री रामानन्दीय श्री वैष्णव पूजा करते हैं। कुछ रूप नित्य प्रतिष्ठित होते हैं उनके प्रतिष्ठा की आवश्यकता नहीं होती जैसे धाम। धाम का अर्थ जन्म स्थान है जैसे मथुरा धाम, अयोध्या धाम, जगन्नाथपुरी धाम आदि–आदि।" (पेज 14)

It is wrong to say that Sankaracharya was disguised Buddhists or was considered as disguised Buddhist. Sankaracharya was a disguised Buddhist, it is the view of only some people and not of all. It is wholly wrong to say that Ramanandacharya thought of Sakar Brahma (visible God). It is true that in the philosophy of Ramanandacharya there is arrangement of worship of Sakar Bramha. As per Vedas, for incarnation of God, there should be four characteristics, i.e., form, miraculous activities (Leela) and home (Dham). "12. Only these two are main Akharas in Ayodhya. There are some more Akharas, such as Digamber Khaki, etc. but Nirmohi and Nirvani have been main Akharas." (E.T.C.)

779. Acharya Mahant Banshidhar Das alias Uriya Baba DW 3/18, in paras 14 and 15 of his statement by way of an affidavit has said :

"14. As regards the management of Akharas in the Ramanandian sect I know that Hanumangarhi is under the Nirvani Akhara and so has Sri Ramjanmbhumi temple always been under the Nirmohi Akhara, and I have seen the possession of the Nirmohi Akhara between 1930 and the time of attachment. After that, litigation itself is going on, about which I have come to know from others." (E.T.C.)

"15 – निर्मोही अखाड़ा पंचायती रामनन्दीय वैरागियों का मठ है जैसे निर्वाणी अखाड़ा है सभी के रीति रिवाज एक हैं। अखाड़ा मठ होने के कारण स्वयं में धार्मिक न्यास है जिसके अन्तर्गत कई मन्दिर होते हैं।"

"15. Like the Nirvani Akhara, the Nirmohi Akhara is a Panchayati Math of Ramanandian recluses. The customs and practices of all of them is the same. Being a Math, the Akhara is itself a religious trust under which there are many temples." (E.T.C.)

780. Now we proceed to apply the aforesaid pleadings, evidence and exposition of law to the issue in question.

781. From the pleadings we find that plaintiffs have categorically said that Nirmohi Akhara is a Panchayati Math of Ramanandi Sect of Vairagis and as such is a religious denomination following its own religious customs prevalent in Vairagi sects and Sadhus. These averments have not at all been denied in the written statement of the defendants no. 6 to 8 and 10. Further that it is a religious establishment of public character and plaintiff no. 2 is the present head as its Mahant and Sarvarahkar has also not been disputed. The averments that there exists an ancient Math or Akhara of Ramanandi Vairagi called Nirmohi with its seat at Ramghat known as Nirmohi Akhara has also not been disputed in the written statement.

What has been disputed by respondent no. 10 is that the whole temple of Janambhumi/Janma Asthan is much older and has the preceding deity of Bhagwan Sri Ram, therefore, the averment with respect to owning of temple of Ram Janma Asthan is concerned is actually disputed. The averment that Nirmohi Akhara being a Panchayati Math acts on a democratic pattern and the management and right to manage vests absolutely with Panch are also not disputed.

782. DW 3/1 in his affidavit filed as statement-in-chief in para 2 has also said that Nirmohi Akhara is a Panchayati Math and is managed through Panch and Mahant. The supreme power vests in Panchayat and Mahant is also liable to act as per the directions of Panchayat. Further in para 7 he says that Mahant and Panches are elected by the Nirmohi Akhara and office is not way of succession though property is entered in the Government records in the name of Mahant but the ownership vests in Nirmohi Akhara. He has also deposed about the formal registration of a deed containing the customs and traditions of Nirmohi Akhara in 1949 and his averments as as under:

> "2. There are many temples under the Nirmohi Akhara which include famous Ramjanmbhumi temple situated at Ramkot. The Nirmohi Akhara is a Panchayati Math, management of which is handled by Panchas. Resolutions are adopted in the meetings of Panchas. All the sages of the Akhara has to abide by them and Mahant, too, has to

www.vadaprativada.com

"7. निर्मोही अखाडे के महन्त व सर्वराकर कार पंचों के चुनाव द्वारा नियुक्ति किया जाता है। वरासत नहीं चलती यानि, गुरू के मरणोपरान्त चेला महन्त नहीं होता है। निर्मोही अखाडे के मंदिर व अखाडे के अचल सम्पत्ति पर सरकारी कागजात पर महन्त अखाडे का नाम दर्ज होता है। अखाडे के मंदिर में जो ठाकुर जी विराजमान होते हैं वे किसी जायजाद के मालिक नहीं है, बल्कि सभी जायजाद मलकियत अखाड़ा रहती है जो स्वयं में धार्मिक न्यास है जिन सभी मंदिर व जायजाद की व्यवस्था अखाडा बहैसियत सर्वराकर पंचायती तौर पर कमाराविरा पचीन अखाडा करते हैं।"

"7. Mahantas and Sarvrakars of the Nirmohi Akhara are appointed through election by Panchas. These offices do not pass on by succession, that is to say, 'Chela' (disciple) does not become a Mahant after the death of his 'Guru' (spiritual teacher). The name of Mahanta of the Nirmohi Akhara is recorded in Government papers relating to the Akhara temple and its immovable property. Thakur Ji (presiding deity) seated in the Akhara temple is not the owner of any property. Rather, title to all the property is vested in the Akhara, which is itself a religious trust. Kamaravira Pachin Akhara looks after the management of all the temples and their property through its Sarvarakar as per the panchayati system." (E.T.C.)

"13. After being chosen and on assumption of office, Mahantas enter an agreement in favour of Panchas and gets registry executed. None of the Mahantas of the Akhara has the power to retain any sale-deed or any paper of transfer in respect of any property of the Akhara. The Akharas, names of which I have enumerated above, have the same customs and practices. The Nirvani Akhara, under which there is a famous temple called Hanumangarhi, got some of its customs and practices registered with the office of Sub Registrar, Faizabad, got them printed in the form of book and then circulated the same. I filed photocopy of one of the said books." (E.T.C.)

''14. निर्मोही अखाडा ने भी अखाडे की रीति रिवाज लिपिबद्ध करके 10 मार्च 1949 को दफ्तर सब रजिस्ट्री फैजाबाद को पंजीकृत कराया जिसकी सत्य प्रतिलिपी मैंने दाखिल की है। मार्च 1949 के दस्तावेज में श्रीराम जन्मभूमि मंदिर का पूरा विवरण दिया गया है।''

"14. The Nirmohi Akhara also got its customs and practices scripted and got the same registered at the office of Sub Registrar, Faizabad on 10 Mach, 1949, true copy of which I have filed. The March, 1949 document contains full account of Sri Ramjanmbhumi temple" (E.T.C.)

783. Neither any material has been placed by the other side to contradict the above statement in particular the fact that Nirmohi Akhara is a Panchayati Math nor that it has managed through a Panchayat of elected members of Nirmohi Akhara.

784. Besides above, DW 3/2, Raja Ram Pandey in para 16 of his affidavit has said that Nirmohi Akhara is a trust in itself. Neither he is an ascetic and/or a Sadhu having any occasion to study about the history of Nirmohi Akhara or its constitution nor otherwise has any reason to get this knowledge from any reliable source nor is an expert in the subject. A witness of fact unless possess information on his own cannot make a statement based on an information he has received particularly when the person conveying information is alive but has not been produced. In our view, it is neither reliable nor otherwise admissible.

785. Similarly DW 3/3, Satya Narain Tripathi in para 15 has stated that Nirmohi Akhara is a religious trust and the present Sarpanch Mahant is Sri Bhaskar Das Ji while present Mahant is Sri Jagannath Das Ji.

786. DW 3/5, Raghunath Prasad Pandey in para 9 of his affidavit dated 18.11.2003 has said that Nirmohi Akhara is a Math, i.e., Panchayati Math and a religious trust. The entire arrangement is Panchayati and the decision of Panch is final. The Mahant of Akharas works on advise of Panch and majority view. The Mahant has no right to sell the property of Akhara and is elected unless there is a recommendation of Panch. He further says that he has come to know that system of military education is applicable in Akhara. The customs and practices of this Akhara has been laid down by Swami Ramanand, the promoter of the sect. Ram is the Isht of Ramanand Bairagi the saint of this sect. This statement also based on the information, therefore, is inadmissible.

787. DW 3/6, Sitaram Yadav in paras 15 and 16; DW 3/7, Mahant Ramji Das in para 28; DW 3/8, Pt. Shyam Sunder Mishra in paras 20 and 21; DW 3/9, Ram Asrey Yadav in para 17; DW 3/11, Bhanu Pratap Singh in para 23; DW 3/12, Ram Akshaibar Pandey in para 11; and, DW 3/15, Narendra Bahadur

Singh in paras 10, 11 and 12 of the affidavit have made similar averments.

788. The above statements have been made on the basis of the information they have received and the information pertains to the history of Nirmohi Akhara having not been shown to be possessed by the aforesaid witnesses though apparently inadmissible but since it corroborates with the similar statements made by other witnesses, i.e., DWs 3/4, Mahant Shiv Saran Das; 3/14, Jagadguru Ramanandacharya Swami Haryacharya; and 3/20, Mahant Raja Ramchandracharya and they being integrally connected with Nirmohi Akhara may have occasion to possess the said information and moreover since it has not been contradicted by the defendants in any manner, we find that so far as the status of Nirmohi Akhara as a "Math" and that too a "Panchayati" Math cannot be doubted.

789. Evidently Nirmohi Akhara satisfy the test of 'Math' as is known in legal parlance that it connotes a monastic institution presided over by a superior and established for the use and benefit of ascetics belong to a particular order who generally are disciples and co-disciples of the superiors. The statement of the witnesses shows that initially a Math namely, Ramanandi Vairagi Sampradaya was established by Swami Ramanandacharya. His disciples continue to manage the said Math. With the passage of time separate bodies were created namely, Anni i.e. Bridgeds. The three Anni were, Nirmohi, Nirwani and Digamber. Therefrom, seven Akharas were established namely, Digamber, Nirwani, Nirmohi, Santoshi, Khaki, Mahanirwani and Niralambi. They maintain their own customs and tenets and worship "Lord Rama" as "God". The presiding element is not the deity but temple of Lord Rama, and

790. In the replication the plaintiffs have tried to improve upon their case in the plaint by pleading that the Nirmohi Akhara originated more than 500 years ago i.e. with respect to the time factor when the plaintiff no. 1 (Suit-3) came into existence and to prove the aforesaid averment further facts have been given in the replication including the details of various Maths, Akharas etc. and their Mahants etc.

791. The sect Nirmohi Akhara is claimed to have been established by Balanandacharya though their appears to be some confusion about the real point of time when this Akhara came in existence. The plaint refers to the days of Yore when there existed the ancient Math or Akhara of Ramanandi Vairagi called "Nirmohi". In the replication it has been clarified that the Nirmohi Akhara originated more than 500 years ago. It is said that about 500 years ago Swami Brijanandji and Balanandji who belong to Ramanandi sect of Vairagies established three Anni comprising of seven Akharas for protection and improvement of Chatuha Ramanandi Sampradaya. H.R. Nevill's Fyzabad A Gazetteer (1905), (supra), mentioned in respect to Digambaris that the same was founded by one Balramdas who came to Ayodhya over 200 years ago but nothing has been said about "Nirmohi Akhara" except that it claims spiritual decent fron one Govind Das of Jaipur. “P. Carnegy's Historical Sketch” on page 20 mentions the period of Nirmohi Akhara about 200 years ago and in the schedule (A) it mentions about 250 years.

792. DW 3/1 in para 3 of the statement-in-chief said that Balanandji established Akharas of Ramanandi Vairagi Sampradaya about 500 years ago but in para 42 and 43 he said that the commencement of Ramanandi Sampradaya relates to

14th Century and Sri Anubhavanand and his sub-disciple, Balanand established three Anni and seven Akharas for protection and awareness of Chatuh Sampradaya which are working on military pattern and continuing for about 600 years. In his cross-examination he has admitted that Nirmohi Akhara was not established by Sri Govind Das Ji but by Sri Balanandacharya and reiterated that Sri Govind Das Ji must have existed about 600 years back. He, however, admits that Balanand came much after Anubhavanand and varified the pedigree that after Anubhavanand came Bramhanand, Brijanand and then Balanand but further in his cross-examination at one stage he said that Balanand was before about 200 years to Sri Tulsidas Ji. At one stage of cross-examination he said that Sri Balanand Ji established Akharas encouraged by Sri Anubhavanand who was alive at the time of the said establishment. However, he verified the factum of life span of various Mahants of Akharas mentioned in the book "Smritigranth" published by plaintiff no. 1 itself.

793. Similarly, DW 3/4, Shiv Saran Das also said that Nirmohi Akhara is continuing not for 300 or 400 years but much earlier thereto. Interestingly DW 3/4 on the one hand in para 33 of his statement said that Balanand Ji established Akharas about 500 years ago but in cross-examination he said that these Akharas were not established in 15th Century at Jaipur but they are since time immemorial and their reference is find mention in Valmiki Ramayan. Then at other place he again reiterated that the three Anni were established by Swamiji at the same point of time at Jaipur about 500 years ago. He also gave life span of Anubhavanand about 500 years ago having born in Varanasi in Vikram Samvat 1503 (1446 AD). The period of 500 years of establishment of Nirmohi Akhara by Balanand has been reiterated by DW 3/20 in para 47 of his statement but at a subsequent stage i.e. in para 49 he gave the period of establishment of Akhara about 600 years ago. Other witnesses also have not made any improvement except of stating that Akhara was established about 500 years ago. From the above facts which are commonly said in respect to establishment of Akhara, the following common facts emerges.

794. Sri Ramanandacharya was the first in the chain of Ramandiya Sampradaya of Bairagis and he himself was born in 1299 AD, i.e., at the end of thirteenth century. Meaning thereby his Sampradaya must have come into existence alongwith his followers in 14th Century and not earlier thereto. According to "Smritigranth", the book published by plaintiff no. 1, Sri Anubhavanandcharya (twenty fourth in lineal generation) disciple of Sri Ramanandacharya was born in 1446 AD and died in 1554 AD. Sri Balanandacharya was born in 1653 AD i.e. almost 100 years after the death of Sri Anubhavanandcharya, therefore, the statement that Sri Anubhavanandacharya was alive when Sri Balanandacharya established the Akharas is apparently incorrect. The three Anni and seven Akharas were established by Sri Balanandacharya, therefore, it must be some times after 1653 AD when Balanandacharya himself was born. The establishment of Akhara took place in Jaipur and thereafter it came to Ayodhya. Therefore, it must have been later than 17th Century but cannot be in any case earlier thereto.

795. From the year of birth of founder of the Ramanandi Samprayaday upto the stage of Balanandacharya, a chart has been prepared by Sri Verma and supplied to the Court during the course of argument which is as under :

The above chart also supports the view which we have taken.

796. Sri Verma has tried to explain that the military organization of Ramanandi Sampraday was set up during the period of Sri Bhawanandacharya and after his death in 1482 A.D., it was given the form of Anni, i.e. Akhara by Sri Balanandacharya. We, however, do not find the said explanation supported by any pleading, and written or oral evidence. His own book, i.e., Sri Ramanandi Sampradaya Ka Itihas" referred in para 59 of the affidavit of D.W. 3/14 , a photocopy of which has been made available, gives details of Swami Balanand Ji and Sri Govindanand Ji, as under :

"श्री स्वामी बालानन्द

श्री स्वामी बालानन्दजी देश और धर्म–रक्षक श्री नन्द के एक महान प्रतापी शिष्य थे। श्री नन्दजी के काल में तो श्री बालानन्दजी ने सैनिक गुण और शासन करने की पूर्ण योग्यता ग्रहण की थी और इन्होंने श्री

797. The details mentioned above show that Sri Balanandacharya established three Anni in 1734 AD at Shekhavati (Rajasthan), confined himself to Jaipur area and lived permanently at Jaipur. He died in 1795 AD. There appears to be some mistake in date for the reason that in respect to Sri Govindanand Ji, it is mentioned that after the death of Sri Balanand Ji, he became Mahant in 1791 and Sri Govindanand Ji died in 1892 A.D. As we have already noticed that the credit to establish Nirmohi Akhara at Ayodhya lie with Sri Govind Das Ji, therefore of necessity, this period would not go earlier to 1734 A.D.

798. In "Rajasthan Ki Bhakti Parampara Evam Sanskriti" (supra) the pedigree of the disciples of Ramanandacharya is given which shows that even after Balanandacharya the next Mahant Sri Govind Ji continued to stay at Rajasthan and, therefore, the establishment of Akhara at Ayodhya from Jaipur, in our view, cannot relate with beyond 1734 AD but it must be sometimes between 1734 AD to 1800 AD.

799. We accordingly, in view of the above discussion, decide the issue no. 17 (Suit-3) in favour of the plaintiffs by holding that Nirmohi Akhara, plaintiff no. 1 is a Panchayati Math of Ramanandi Sect of Vairagi and as such is a religious denomination following its religious faith and pursuit according to its own custom. We however further hold that its continuance in Ayodhya find sometimes after 1734 AD and not earlier thereto.

(C) Relating to Suit-1885 and its effect on present suits, i.e., res judicata and estoppel etc. :

800. Under this category fall Issues No. 5(a), 5(b), 5(c) and 5(d) (Suit-1); 7(a), 7(b), 7(c), 7(d) and 8 (Suit-4); and 23 and 29 (Suit-5).

801. Let us examine first as to what is the real objection raised by the parties on the question of res judicata and estoppel in their pleadings.

802. In the written statement dated 24.02.1989 of defendant no. 10 (Suit-1) para 12 under the heading “additional pleas”, averments with respect to Suit 1885 are made which reads as under:

www.vadaprativada.com

"12. That in 1885 Mahant Raghubar Das (Mahant of Janam Asthan of Ayodhya) had filed a suit against the Secretary of State for India in Council, and Mohd. Asghar, Mutawalli of the said mosque, in the Court of Sub-Judge, Faizabad, in which a site plan had also been annexed alongwith the Plaint and in the said site plan the mosque in question was specifically mentioned in the western side of the Chabutra in respect whereof the said suit was filed for permission to erect temple over the said Chabutra. In respect of the said Chabutra the said Mahant Raghubar Das had stated that the temple of Janam Bhoomi was desired to be constructed over there but the said Mahant could not succeed even in that suit which was ultimately dismissed on 24th December, 1885 by the Sub-Judge, Faizabad, and the Appeal filed against the said judgment and decree dated 24th December, 1885 was also dismissed by the District Judge, Faizabad, and the Second Appeal filed against the same had also been dismissed by the Judicial Commissioner of Avadh."

www.vadaprativada.com

803. Thereafter in para 13 the defendant no. 10 (Suit-1) has averred that the Suit 1885 was filed on behalf of Mahants of Hindus of Ayodhya and Faizabad. It reads as under:

"13. That the aforesaid suit was filed by Mahant Raghubar Das on behalf of other Mahants and Hindus of the Ayodhya and Faizabad etc."

804. In para 31 bar of res judicata and in para 32 estoppel has been pleaded as under:

"31. That the judgment and decree passed by Sub-Judge, Faizabad, in Original Suit No. 61/280 of 1885 (Mahant Raghubar Das Versus Secretary of State and another)

www.vadaprativada.com

dated 24.12.1885 and confirmed by the District Judge, Faizabad, in Civil Appeal No. 27 of 1885 as well as by the Judicial Commissioner of Avadh in Second Appeal operates as res judicata and so the instant suit is barred by the principles of res judicata."

"32. That the plaintiff is even estopped from claiming the mosque in question as the Janam Bhoomi of Sri Ram Chandraji as the palintiff's predecessor and specially Mahant Raghubar Das had confined his claim to the Chabutra of 17'x21' outside the said mosque as being Janam Asthan of Sri Ram Chandraji and also because there already exists Ram Janamasthan Mandir in the northern side of the property in question at a short distance from the pathway passing from the side of the Babri Masjid."

805. Similarly, in Suit-3 defendants no. 6 to 8 in their written statement dated 28.03.1960 have given the reference of Suit-1885 in paras 17, 18, 19 and 20 which read as under:

''17. यह कि सन् 1885 ई0 मुसम्मी रघुवर दास महन्थ जनम स्थान अयोध्या ने खिलाफ सिक्रेटरी आफ स्टेट फार इंडिया इन कौंसिल व मुसम्मी मुहम्मद असगर मुतवली व खतीब मसजिद बाबरी मजकूर एक दावा इजलास जनाब सब जज साहब बहादुर फैजाबाद न में व इजहार मिलकियत खुद दायर किया।''

806. The plaintiff, Nirmohi Akhara (Suit-3) in its replication dated 13.05.1963 replied paras 18, 19 and 20 of the written statement as under:

"18. The contents of para 18 of the written statement are totally wrong and are denied. If any sketch map be found to have been filed by the said Raghubar Das in the said suit it would be totally false, fictitious and collusive and is not binding on the plaintiffs. The building in suit is nothing else but the temple of Janma Bhumi.

19. The contents of para 19 of the written statement are denied.

21. That contents of para 19 of the written statement are pure concoctions and are denied."

807. The defendant no. 10 (Suit-3) in its additional written statement dated 24.08.1995 has only replied the amended paragraphs of the plaint dated 16/18.12.1961 but there is nothing about res judicata or estoppel.

808. In Suit-4 the reference of Suit 1885 and its details have been given in paragraphs no. 6, 6A, 6B, 6C, 6D, 6E and 6F of the plaint. The paragraphs no. 6A to 6F were incorporated by way of amendment pursuant to the Court's order dated 22.12.1962. The same read as under:

"6. That in 1885, one Mahant Raghubar Dass alleging himself to be the Mahant of Janam Asthan instituted a suit (Original Suit No. 61/280 of 1885) against the Secretary of State for India in Council and Mohammad Asghar, Mutawalli of the Babri Mosque, for permission to build a temple on the Chabutra 17' x 21' mentioned in para 5 above, in the court of the learned Civil Judge, Faizabad which was dismissed and the appeal from the said decree was also dismissed by the learned District Judge, Faizabad (Civil Appeal No. 27 of 1885). In the sketch map filed alongwith the plaint in Suit No. 61/280 of 1885 the entire building, with the exception of the Chabutra 17' x 21' was admitted to be mosque and was shown as such.

6A. That the cause of action for the suit in Suit No. 61/280 of 1885 in the Court of the Civil Judge, Faizabad, arose on the refusal of the Dy. Commissioner of Faizabad on the representation of some Muslims to grant permission to Mahant Raghubar Dass, Mahant of Janam Asthan for the construction of a temple on the ground that a temple could not be permitted to be built on land adjoining the mosque (meaning thereby the Babri Masjid).

6B. "In that suit Regular Suit No. 61/280 of 1885 of the Court of Civil Judge, Faizabad Mahant Raghubar Dass was suing on behalf of Himself, on behalf of Janam Asthan, and on behalf of the whole body of persons interested in Janam Asthan and Mohd. Asghar, Mutawalli of the Babri Masjid was made a defendant."

6C. Mohammad Asghar Defendant Mutawalli of Babri Masjid contested the suit inter-alia on the ground that the land on which the temple is sought to be built is not the property of the plaintiff or of the Asthan, that the said land lies within the Ahata of Babari Masjid and is the property of the Masjid.

6D. That in the suit mentioned above the matter directly and substantially in issue was:-

(i) the existence of the Babari Masjid.

(ii) the right of the Hindus to construct a temple on land adjoining the Masjid.

The existence of the mosque was admitted by the plaintiff in that suit and the Suit of the plaintiff was dismissed on the further ground of public policy.

6E. If the building was not a masjid but a temple as alleged in the present suit the matter might and ought to have been pleaded by Mahant Raghubar Dass in the former suit (suit No. 61/280 of 1885 mentioned above) and shall be deemed to have been a matter directly and substantially in issue in that Suit and the plea that the building is not a Masjid but a temple cannot be raised in the present suit. For the reasons mentioned above the decision in the former suit operates as res judicata in the present Suit.

6F. That on the admission contained in the plaint of Regular Suit No. 61/280 of 1885 mentioned in the preceding paragraphs it must be taken an established fact that the building now claimed by the Hindus as the temple of Janam Asthan was and is a mosque and not a temple."

809. The defendants no. 1 and 2 (Suit-4) in written statement dated 12.03.1962 have replied para 6 of the plaint in para 6 of the written statement as under:

"6. That the defendants No. 1 and 2 has no knowledge of

810. Another written statement dated 25.01.1963 of defendants no. 1 and 2 also contained reply of paras 6A to 6F of the plaint in para 6 of the written statement which reads as under:

"6. That the defendant no. 1 has no knowledge of the facts mentioned in para 6 of the plaint, hence the para 6 is denied. The additional paras added by the amendment as A to P.F. are wrong and denied see further pleas."

811. The defendants no. 3 and 4 (Suit-4) i.e. Nirmohi Akhara and its Mahant Raghunath Das in their written statement dated 22.08.1962 have replied para 6 of the plaint in para 6 of the written statement as under:

"6. The contents of para 6 of the plaint are denied. The answering defendants are not aware of any suit having been filed by any person known as Mahant Raghubar Dass styling himself to be the Mahant of Janam Asthan. Janam Asthan is situate in the north of temple of Janam Bhumi across the road passing between Janam Bhumi and Janam Asthan. Any sketch map filed by the said Raghubar Dass along with the alleged plaint would be false and fictitious and is not binding on the answering defendant."

812. After the amendment of plaint and insertion of para 6A to 6F the defendants no. 3 and 4 (Suit-4) in their additional written statement dated 25.01.1963 have replied the said paragraphs as under:

"37. The contents of paragraphs 6A to 6D of the plaint are denied. Even if it were proved that any person known as Mahant Raghubar Dass made any admissions or statements or averments in the said suit the answering

defendants are not bound by the same and their title and interest in the temple of Janam Bhoom can in no way be affected."

"38. The contents of paragraph 6E are denied. The building in dispute in the present suit is certainly a temple and not a mosque. The decision if any in the above noted suit of 1885 cannot and does not operate as Resjudicata in the present suit, nor is the said decision any piece of evidence in the present suit."

"39. The contents of para 6-F of the plaint are denied. The building in question in the present suit is a temple of Janam Bhoom and not a mosque as alleged by the plaintiff."

"40. That the contents of paragraphs 6A to 6E do not form part of pleading but contain argument and references to evidence."

"41. That the answering defendants do not derive any title from the said Mahant Raghubar Dass of suit no. 61/280 of 1885 and are not bound by any actions or conduct of the said Reghubar Dass in the said suit."

813. The defendant no. 3 (Suit-4) in its additional written statement dated 21.08.1995 has said not only something about Suit 1885 but also with respect to some other suits i.e. Regular Suits No. 256 of 1922 and 95 of 1941 in its para 3 which reads as under:

"3. That contents of amended plaint para 21 A is denied except the factum of demolition. The real fact regarding Sri Ram Chabutara temple, Chhatti Pujan, etc. as narrated above has been concealed and purposely not adverted in this paragraph against the following existing facts and established fact chronologically as follows:

The land belongs to the Nazul and the plaintiff as Mahant of the Janam asthan and his predecessor have all along been in possession and has basis of his title on possession. At item No. 3 of the said report name of Sita Koop belonging to Nirmohi Akhara (Annexure-A).”

814. Defendant no. 9 (Suit-4) in his written statement dated 28.07.1962 expressed its lack of knowledge about Suit 1885.

815. Defendant no. 11 (Suit-4) in his written statement dated 15.02.1990 also has similarly denied paragraphs 6A to 6F of the plaint in paragraphs no. 6A to 6F which read as under:

“6A. The contents of para 6A of the plaint are not correct and as such are denied.

6B. That the contents of para 6B of the plaint are matter of record in the knowledge of the plaintiff as such not admitted.

6C. The contents of para 6C of the plaint are not correct and as such are denied.

6D. The contents of para 6D of the plaint are incorrect and as such are not admitted.

6E. The contents of para 6E of the plaint are incorrect and as such not admitted.

6F. The contents of para 6F of the plaint are not correct and as such are denied.”

816. The written statement dated 20.07.1968 has been filed on behalf of Baba Abhiram Das and in para 6 he has replied para 6 of the plaint as under:

“6. That the answering defendant has no knowledge of the facts mentioned in para 6 of the plaint hence the contents of para 6 are denied. The additional paras added by the amendment as A to F are wrong and denied. See further pleas."

817. In the written statement dated 04.12.1989 defendant no. 13 (Suit-4), Dharam Das has replied paras 6 and 6A to 6F of the plaint in paras 6 to 6F as under:

"6. That in paragraph 6 of the plaint, the fact of the filing of the suit by Mahant Raghubar Das against the Secretary of State for India is not denied, but the rest of the contents of that paragraph are denied. That suit was for permission to erect a permanent temple in place of the then existing structure at the Rama Chabutra. Mohammad Asghar was added later as a Defendant on his own request. It is denied that the alleged 'mosque' at Janmasthan was a 'mosque' or that Mohammad Asghar was its Mutawalli. The result of that suit is wholly irrelevant in the present suit and does not bind the answering Defendant or the Hindus in general or the worshippers of Bhagwan Sri Rama Lala Virajman at Sri Ram Janma Bhumi in particular."

6-A. That the contents of paragraph 6-A of the plaint are denied.

6-B. That the contents of paragraph 6-B of the plaint are denied.

6-C. That the contents of paragraph 6-C of the plaint are denied.

6-E. That the contents of paragraph 6-E of the plaint are denied.

www.vadaprativada.com

6-F. That the contents of paragraph 6-F of the plaint are denied. It is rather established by the judgments in that suit that Asthan Sri Rama Janma Bhumi, called the Janmasthan, was a sacred place of Hindu worship of Bhagwan Sri Rama, as the incarnation of Lord Vishnu, symbolised by the existence of the objects of worship like the Sita-Rasoi, the Charans, and the Idol of Bhagwan Sri Rama Lala Virajman on the Chabutra, within the precincts of the building at Janmasthan, which was alleged to be a Masjid; and that there was no access to it except through that place of Hindu worship by which it was land-locked. Such a building could not be a Masjid according to the tenets of Islam."

818. In the written statement dated 18/19.07.1969 of defendant no. 18 (Suit-4) the reply is contained in para 6 of the written statement as under:

"6. Denied. Any statement filed by the said Raghubar Dass along with the alleged plaint would be false and fictitious and is not binding on the answering defendant."

819. The defendant no. 20 (Suit-4), Madan Mohan Gupta has replied para 6 and 6A to 6F of the plaint in para 6 and 7 of his written statement dated 05.11.1989 as under:

"6. That the contents of paragraph 6 of the plaint are denied. The answering defendants are not aware of any such alleged suit. Any sketch map filed by said Raghubir Das along with the alleged plaint would be fictitious and would not be binding on the answering defendants.

7. That the contents of paragraph 6-A, 6-B, 6-C, 6-E, 6-F of the plaint are denied. The building in dispute is a temple and not a mosque. Any alleged decision cannot and does not operate as res-judicata in the present suit. Neither the answering defendant nor the Hindu Public in general derive any title from the said Mahant Raghubar Das or his representatives and are not bound by their any action or conduct, nor decision in the said suit No. 61/280 of 1985."

820. In Suit-5, the Sunni Central Waqf Board, defendant no. 4 in its written statement dated 26/29.08.1989 has given details of Suit-1885 in para 20 as under:

"20. That the contents of para 20 of the Plaint are also incorrect and hence denied as stated and in reply thereto it is submitted that there is no deity by the name of Asthan Ram Janam Bhoomi and as a matter of fact there is no said Asthan also within the premises of Babri Masjid.

It is also relevant to mention here that in 1885 Mahant Raghubar Das, Mahant of Janam Asthan of Ayodhya, had filed a suit against the Secretary of State for India in Council and Mohd. Asghar, Mutwalli of the said mosque in the Court of Sub-Judge, Faizabad, in which a site plan had also been annexed alongwith the plaint and in the said site plan the mosque in question was specifically mentioned in the western side of the Chabutra in respect whereof the said suit was filed for permission to erect temple over the said Chabutra. In respect of the said Chabutra the said Mahant Raghubar Das had stated that the temple of Janam Bhoomi was desired to be constructed over there, but the said Mahant could not succeed even in that suit which was ultimately dismissed on 24th December, 1885 by the Sub-Judge, Faizabad, and the appeal filed against the said judgment and decree dated 24th December, 1885 was also dismissed by the District Judge, Faizabad,

and the Second Appeal filed against the same had also been dismissed by the Judicial Commissioner of Avadh. The aforesaid suit was filed by Mahant Raghubar Das on behalf of other Mahants and Hindus of Ayodhya and Faizabad etc. As such the plaintiffs cannot claim any portion of the Babri Masjid to have been defied or having become a juridical personality by the name of Asthan Ram Janam Boomi and specially so when neither there has been any installation of deity and nor any personification of the same in accordance with tenets of Hindu religion or Law. (It is further submitted that the plaintiffs are even estopped from claiming the mosque in question as the Janam Boomi of Sri Ram Chandraji) as the plaintiffs' predecessors and specially Mahant Raghubar Das had confined his claim to the Chabutra (platform) of 17' x 21' ft. outside the said mosque as being Janam Asthan of Ram Chandraji and also because there already exists another temple known as Janam Asthan temple situate at a distance of less than 100 yards only from Babri Masjid and on its northern side."

821. The defendant no. 5 (Suit-5) Mohd. Hashim in his written statement dated 14/21.08.1989 has raised the plea of estoppel and acquiescence based on Suit-1885 and also Suit No. 57 of 1978 in para 59 of the written statement which reads as under:

"59. That Ram Janam Sthan Mandir exists in Ayodhya which is quite distinct and separate from the premises in question. Mahant Raghubar Das of Ram Janam Sthan Mandir filed regular suit No. 61/280 of 1885 for a portion of premises in dispute measuring 17 x 21 feet which was dismissed from the Court of Subordinate Judge, Faizabad

and appeal against the said decree filed by Mahant Raghubar Das was also dismissed from the court of District Judge as well as the Judicial Commissioner, Avadh parallel to Hon'ble High Court. In the said suit the existence of Mosque in question has been very much unequivocally admitted and that admission is binding on the present plaintiffs as well as by estoppel and acquiescence and the said suit was decided with the clear findings that even if any wrong was done in 1528 A.D., that cannot be undone now. The answering defendant factually disputing the statement that any wrong was done by or at the behest of King Emperor Babar is advised to state that said findings operate as resjudicata and the instant suit is barred U/S 11 C.P.C. Besides above regular suit No. 57 of 1978 filed on behalf of and in the name alleged Deity itself for the very property has been dismissed from the Court of Munsif, Faizabad and till this date no step has been taken to set aside that order as such the present suit is liable to be dismissed."

822. The written statement of defendant no. 5 has been adopted by the defendant no. 6 vide its reply dated 21.22.08.1989 (Paper No. 40-A1).

823. The pleadings aforesaid caused framing of the issues relating to res judicata, estoppel etc. All the aforesaid issues except issue no.29 (Suit-5) emanates from the Suit No.61/280 of 1885 filed by Mahant Raghubar Das (hereinafter referred to as "Suit 1885") which was dismissed by all the Courts upto the level of Judicial Commissioner. Before embarking upon all these issues on merits, it would thus be appropriate to have an idea of what were the pleadings and what has been decided in

824. A copy of the plaint dated 19.1.1885 in Suit 1885 is Ex.A-22 (Suit-1). It was filed in the Court of Munsif, Faizabad. The plaintiff described himself as "Mahant Raghubar Das, Mahant Janam Asthan at Ayodhya". The sole defendant was described as "Secretary of Council of India". It was an injunction suit i.e. suit for permission for construction of temple. The plaintiff prayed for an injunction to the defendant so as not to restrain him from construction of a temple over a platform (Chabutara), Janam Asthan at Ayodhya, measuring north-17 ft., east-21 ft., south-17 ft. and west 21 ft. He said that market value of the property is not ascertainable, therefore, the court fees under Item 17(6) of 1870 Act of Court Fees has been paid and the position of the site is clear from the appended map.

825. The plaint had five paragraphs. In brief, it stated that Janam Asthan at Ayodhya in Faizabad city is a Holy place of great reverence and religious importance. The plaintiff is the Mahant of this place of worship. The Chabutara Janam Asthan east-west 21 ft. and north-south 17 ft. has Charan Paduka embedded and a small temple which is worshipped. The Chabutara is in possession of the plaintiff. Due to lack of any building thereon it caused serious difficulty in every season to plaintiff and the worshippers. Construction of a temple on the said Chabutara would not cause any prejudice to anyone but give relief to the plaintiff, worshippers and travellers. In March or April 1883 due to objection by Muslims, the Deputy Commissioner, Faizabad obstructed construction of temple whereupon the plaintiff submitted an application to the local Government but received no reply. Thereafter a notice dated 18.8.1884 under Section 424 C.P.C. sent to the Secretary, Local Government but thereon also, no reply was received which had given a cause of action to file the suit. In para 5 of the plaint it was mentioned that a responsible citizen is entitled to construct a building as he likes on a place which he own and is in his possession. The Government and Court is also under a duty to protect the public and help them in peaceful enjoyment of their rights, therefore, an appropriate relief be given by retraining the defendant from obstructing the aforesaid construction and not to create any obstruction, objection etc. and also pay cost of the suit.

826. All the paragraphs of the plaint were verified on personal knowledge and belief by Raghubar Das, Mahant Janam Asthan, Ayodhya, the plaintiff. A map was appended with the plaint showing a three-domed structure termed as "Masjid" within a railing boundary having one entrance gate on the eastern wall and one barbed window. This is in fact, the "inner courtyard" portion. Outside thereof, on the south-east side, a "Chabutara" is shown of the size of 17 X 21 ft. and on the north-west side of the outer courtyard a place known as "Sita Chulha" had been shown. On the outer boundary wall, on the northern side and eastern side one gate each is shown.

827. The suit of 1885 was initially filed impleading only Secretary, Council of India as defendant. Thereafter, one Mohd. Asghar filed an impleadment application which was allowed and he was impleaded as defendant no.2. He claimed himself the Mutwalli of Babri Mosque. He filed a written statement dated 22.12.1885 (Ex.A-23, Suit-1). This written statement also has five paragraphs. He averred in the written statement that the Emperor Babar created Royal Waqf by constructing Masjid and on the upper side of the mosque compound, and above the door,

the word 'Allah' was got inscribed. He also declared some grant for its maintenance. This would mean that the premises would not remain in the ownership of anyone else, once a Waqf is created since the land vests in Almighty. No permission was ever granted by the Emperor or his successor or representative to anyone for use of the land in the compound of the mosque on which Chabutara existed. No such permission was given to the plaintiff. He cannot be the owner of the said land. No evidence, document or Emperor's permission has been shown in support of the claim of the ownership on the said Chabutara. In the absence of the claim based on ownership no one has any right in law or otherwise to construct a temple on such land. If somebody visits a mosque compound and pay respect, that would not result in conferring ownership upon him. There was no Chabutara from the date of construction of mosque till 1856. It was constructed in 1857 though for its removal, complaint was filed. No right of ownership would be available to the plaintiff on the aforesaid land merely for the reason that there is a Chabutara, and, whenever attempt was made to trespass the mosque area, complaint used to be made to the Government. One Faqir raised a hut which was removed on complaint. The justice required that in the absence of any material with respect to the ownership of the land in question for 368 years and even from 1857, the plaintiff has no right to construct the temple. The plaintiff is mistaking himself as the owner of Chabutara. He has no right to construct temple thereon. Without the right of ownership no such construction can be made.

828. The trial court also obtained a Commissioner's report dated 6.12.1885 prepared by Sri Gopal Sahai, Amin, showing a spot map of the entire premises. A copy of the Commissioner's report dated 6.12.1885 is Ex.A-24 (Suit-1) and the spot map submitted by the said Commissioner is Ex.A-25 (Suit-1).

829. The suit was tried and decided by Sri Hari Kishan, Sub-Judge, Faizabad vide judgment dated 24.12.1885. A copy of the judgment is Ex.A-26 (Suit-1). A perusal thereof shows that on behalf of the Secretary of the State of Indian Council, a written statement was also filed contending that there is no cause of action for filing the suit since the plaintiff has not been evicted from Chabutara and even otherwise, the suit is barred by limitation. The plaintiff has no right to seek any relief.

830. The Court framed six issues as under:

1. Whether stamp fee is sufficient ?
2. Whether the suit is within limitation ?
3. Whether there exists no cause of action ?
4. Whether the relief as sought is legal or contrary to law ?
5. What is the area of Chabutara, i.e., its measurement ?
6. Who own and possess the said Chabutara ?

831. The plaintiff in support of his case filed a copy of Oudh Gazetteer, page 7 issued by the Government containing transliteration of "Ayodhya Mahatmya" published by the Journal Asiatic Society.

832. On behalf of defendants, a number of documents were filed which need not be mentioned in detail hereat. The trial court held that stamp paid was sufficient, suit is not barred by time, there was a cause of action for filing the suit, the size of Chabutara shown in the map was correct and there is no dispute. However, the two important issues, namely, issues no. 4 and 6 were dealt with by it differently. So far as issue no.6 is concerned, the trial court held that the Chabutara is in possession of the plaintiff which is not disputed by the defendant no.2 Mohd. Asghar. To prevent any dispute between Hindu and Muslims, the area was divided by railing wall, separating the domed structure from the outer courtyard where Chabutara existed, which is well accepted to the parties. He said that the Government gazetteer verified the fact that there was a serious riot in 1855 between Hindus and Muslims as a result whereof the wall was erected, dividing the constructed building from Chabutara so that Muslims may offer prayer inside and Hindus outside. This means that the outer side alongwith the Chabutara is in possession of the plaintiff and Hindu people. Since the area to visit Masjid and temple is the same but the place where the Hindus offer worship, is in their possession, therefore, there cannot be any dispute about their ownership also.

833. On issue no.4 the trial court held that the relief sought is not contrary to law since the person who is owner and in possession of a place can make construction on his premises which is in his possession. But since in the vicinity there is a wall of a mosque whereon the word 'Allah' is inscribed and at such a place if the temple is constructed, it may cause serious dispute between Hindu and Muslims and any permission for construction of temple at such a place is likely to create a law and order problem, therefore, no such permission can be granted. The suit was accordingly dismissed.

834. A Civil Appeal No. 27 of 1885 was filed by Mahant Raghubar Das in the Court of District Judge, Faizabad and a cross objection was filed by Mohd. Asghar, defendant no. 2 against the finding of the trial court in respect to issue no. 6 in so far as it held the plaintiff, owner of the land in question, i.e., Chabutara. This appeal was decided by Sri F.E.A. Chamier,

District Judge, Faizabad vide judgement dated 18/26.03.1886 (Ex. A-27, Suit-1). He dismissed plaintiff's appeal. So far as the cross objection of Mohd. Asghar are concerned, the finding of the trial court to the extent it had held plaintiff as owner of the land in dispute, was declared redundant and consequently directed to be expunged from the judgement of the trial court. Accordingly the following part of the judgement of Trial Court was expunged:

> "Bahar Ke Darje Ki Araji Mai Chabutara Makbooza Mudai Wa Hindu Logon Ki Hai.- Go Us Mukam Par Jahan Ahle Hunud Paristish Karte Hai Kadim Kabza Unka Hai Jisase Milkiyat Unke Me Koi Kalam Nahin Ho Sakta Hai."

835. From the judgement of the learned judge deciding the first appeal it appears that he visited the spot on 17.03.1886 and in the light of what he noticed on spot inspection, he recorded certain facts in the judgement, namely the Masjid built by Emperor Babar stands on the border of town Ayodhya west and south and is clear of habitations. He expressed his anguish that it is most unfortunate that a Masjid should have been built on a land especially held sacred by Hindus but as that event occurred 358 years ago he found it too late in the day to reverse the process and said that the parties should maintain status quo. In this light he observed that any interference would cause more harm and damage than benefit. He categorically observed that the only question to be decided in the case is that the position of the parties will be maintained. Giving his reason for dismissing the suit he said as under:

> "The reason why this suit is dismissed is that there is no injuria nothing which could give a right of action to the plaintiff."

836. Mahant Raghubar Das took the matter in second appeal (No. 27 of 1886) to the Court of Judicial Commissioner of Oudh. The said appeal was dismissed by Sri W. Young, Judicial Commissioner of Oudh vide judgement dated 01.11.1886 observing:

> "There is nothing whatsoever on the record to show that the plaintiff is in any (illegible) the proprietor of the land in question."

837. The second appeal's judgement of the Judicial Commissioner also says that considering the situation that a mosque was existing in the nearby area for last 350 years which is said to have been constructed by Emperor Babar, who preferred to chose this holy spot according to Hindu legends as the site of his mosque, it is a wise step not to allow the parties to disturb the status quo and further that the plaintiff failed to show that he is proprietor of the land in question. The appeal deserved to be dismissed and no warrant for interference with the judgement of the court below.

838. Sri Z. Jilani, learned counsel for the plaintiffs (Suit-4) vehemently contended that the judgement of the trial court which has been confirmed up to the level of Judicial Commissioner shows very categorically that the entire area of the "inner courtyard" was mosque used by Muslims for offering Namaz and this finding having not been upset would operate as res judicata against the plaintiffs of rest of the suits. He submitted that the suit 1885 was filed by Raghubar Das designating himself as Mahant Janam Asthan at Ayodhya and, therefore, Suit-5 having been filed by impleading Janam Asthan as one of the plaintiff treating it to be a juridical personality is barred by principle of res judicata and Section 11 C.P.C. He further contended that Mahat Raghubar Das filed the above suit for the benefit of the interest of the entire Hindu community and in effect it was in a representative capacity, therefore, a new suit raising similar questions would be barred by resjudicata.

839. Sri M.A. Siddiqui, Advocate, submitted that from 1885 and onwards in every litigation the building in the "inner courtyard" was termed and known as "mosque". The parties, therefore, are estopped from contending that no mosque ever existed on the disputed site. Relying on Section 11 and in particular Explanation IV and VI C.P.C., the pleadings and judgements of Suit 1885, he argued that Suit-1 and 5 are barred by res judicata or in any case on the principle of estoppal. He contended that res judicata is not confined to what has been said in Section 11 C.P.C. but also has its scope outside thereof. Some aspects in Section 11 C.P.C. are recognised as common principle of res judicata. He placed reliance on Talluri Venkata Seshayya and others Vs. Thadikonda Kotiswara Rao and others, AIR 1937 P.C. page 1 and contended that whatever the findings and decision has come in 1885 that is binding and in particular in respect to the following facts:

1. Unqualified statement that inner courtyard is Masjid.
2. Whatever Mahant Raghubar Das said was on behalf of entire Hindu community.
3. Existence of the building of the mosque in the vicinity was the cause for prohibition of construction of temple, therefore, the very fact that any temple was in existence is not correct.
4. The entire building was a mosque, is a finding which has attained finality in the litigation of 1885.

840. He also placed reliance on K. Ethirajan Vs. Lakshmi

and others, AIR 2003 SC 4295 (paras 10, 17 and 18). He submit that res judicata is a growing subject and is a well recognised principle to avoid vexing a person twice on a matter already decided. Reliance is placed also on State of Karnataka and another Vs. All India Manufacturers Organization and others, 2006(4) SCC 683 (paras 32, 34, 35, 36, 38, 39, 48, 49 and 50); Lal Chand Vs. Radha Kishan, AIR 1977 SC 789 (para 19)-1977(2) SCC 88; and, Sulochana Amma Vs. Narayanan Nair, AIR 1994 SC 152 (paras 5, 7 and 8).

841. He next contended that, pleaded or not, if parties knew the case, the Court considered and decided, it would operate as res judicata. Reliance is placed on Midnapur Zamindary Co. Ltd. Vs. Kumar Naresh Narayan Roy and others, AIR 1924 P.C. 144 (para 149); Krishna Chendra Gajapati Narayana Deo Vs. Challa Ramanna and others, AIR 1932 P.C. 50; Dhan Singh Vs. Jt. Director of Consolidation, U.P. Lucknow and others, AIR 1973 All. 283 and State of Punjab and others Vs. M/s. Surinder Kumar and Co. and others, AIR 1997 SC 809 (para 5).

842. Then he contended that a point which might or ought to be taken if not taken, would operate as res judicata in all subsequent litigation/ subsequent proceedings. Even if a judgement is erroneous, yet, is binding and in support thereof Sri Siddiqui cited P. K. Vijayan Vs. Kamalakshi Amma and others, AIR 1994 SC 2145 (paras 10, 11, 13 and 14); Gorie Gouri Naidu (Minor) and another Vs. Thandrothu Bodemma and others, AIR 1997 SC 808 (para 4); Premier Cable Co. Ltd. Vs. Government of India and others, AIR 2002 SC 2418 (para 2) and Abdul Rahman Vs. Prasony Bai and another, AIR 2003 SC 718 (paras 24, 25, 26 and 31).

843. Coming to the plea of estoppal and abandonment, he said that 2.77 acres of land, except of inner courtyard was acquired by the State of U.P. vide notification dated 7.10.1991 and 10.10.1991 and the map thereof has been filed as Annexure A to the counter affidavit of the State of U.P. in the writ petition no. 3540 of 1991 (MB) filed against the aforesaid acquisition. The plaintiffs (Suit-5) did not challenge the same. This amounts to acquiescence of their right in respect to the land which was acquired by the State in 1991. Even if subsequently the said notification was quashed by this Court, in the writ petition filed by some Muslims as well as the Nirmohi Akhara, that would not result in any benefit to the plaintiffs (Suit-5). The pre acquisition rights of plaintiffs (Suit-5) would not revive in any manner. In support, he placed reliance on M.T.W. Tenzing Namgyal and others Vs. Motilal Lakhotia and others 2003 (5) SCC 1 (para 21).

844. Sri Siddiqui further pleaded that the land in question including some other was acquired by the Government of India vide Act No. 33 of 1993 and Section 4 Sub-section 3 thereof provided that all the suits pending in the Lucknow Bench of the High Court in respect to the said land would stand abated. The plaintiffs (Suit-5) did not challenge the said enactment and instead on 4.2.1993 an application no. 4(o) of 1993 was filed by the plaintiff no. 3 on behalf of all the plaintiffs (Suit-5) requesting that in view of Section 4(3) of Act No. 33 of 1993, the suit, having abated, be dismissed as such. The conduct of the plaintiff, therefore, shows that they abandoned their rights to the land in dispute and, therefore, considering their conduct, it cannot be said that they have any right at all alive in respect to the land in question. Such conduct is relevant even in a suit for declaration or a title suit. In support of the aforesaid submission, he placed reliance on Jai Narain Parasrampuria and others Vs. Pushpa Devi Saraf and others 2006 (7) SCC 756.

845. Next contention is that after acquisition, nothing remains to be claimed by the plaintiffs (Suit-5). Since they did not challenge the said acquisition, they are estopped and the suit is liable to be dismissed for this reason alone. No relief can be granted to the plaintiffs (Suit-5) in view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances and their conduct. He also said that as soon as the plaintiffs (Suit-5) filed application on 4.2.1993, the suit stood abated at that stage itself, and, therefore, in law, Suit-5 cannot be said to be pending before this Court. Hence, there is no question of granting any relief to plaintiffs (Suit-5). In support, he placed reliance on M/s Hulas Rai Baij Nath Vs. Firm K.B. Bass and co. AIR 1968 SC 111, a division Bench judgment of this Court in Smt. Raisa Sultana Begam and others Vs. Abdul Qadir and others AIR 1966 Alld. 318 and certain single Judge's judgments in Ram Chandra Mission Vs. Umesh Chandra Saxena and others 1997 ACJ 896 (para 6); Upendra Kumar and others Vs. District Judge, Azamgarh and others 1997 ACJ 823 (para 6, 7, 8 and 11); State Bank of India Vs. Firm Jamuna Prasad Jaiswal and sons and another AIR 2003 (Alld.) 337; Lakshmana Pillai and another Vs. Appalwar Alwar Ayyangar and another AIR 1923 Madras 246.

846. He further said that though the Act of 1993 was challenged by some of the Muslim parties including some plaintiffs (Suit-4) and Nirmohi Akhara, and in that matter, i.e. in the case of M. Ismail (supra) the Apex Court struck down Section 4 Sub-section 3 of 1993 Act whereby the suits were made to abate, but, that declaration ipso facto would not reverse the consequences of the said provision, which had already taken place in respect to Suit-5, which stood already abated on 7.1.1993, the date on which the aforesaid Act came into force. In any case, on 4.2.1993, when the plaintiffs (Suit-5) filed application stating that the suit has abated, it had resulted in abatement automatically. In order to show the effect of acquisition as pleaded above, he placed reliance on M.T.W. Tenzing Namgyal (supra) (para21). He further said that once the suit has abated or stood abandoned, the plaintiffs (Suit-5) cannot challenge as they are estopped from doing so. In support thereof reliance is placed on Deewan Singh and others Vs. Rajendra Pd. Ardevi and others AIR 2007 SC 767 (para 43, 52), Jai Narain (supra); Anuj Garg and others Vs. Hotel Association of India and others 2008 (3) SCC 1 (para 53, 54) and Barkat Ali and another Vs. Badrinarain 2008 (4) SCC 615 (para 11 and 15).

847. He also said that even if acquisition of land is quashed on the challenge made by some of the parties, the effect would not benefit the persons who did not challenge the same and for them, the acquisition would stand. On enquiry as to whether the aforesaid arguments are covered by any of the issues, he referred to Issue No. 18 (Suit-5), para-42 of the W.S. of the defendant no. 3 (Suit-5), para 47 of W.S. of defendant no. 4 (Suit-5) and para 62 of W.S. of defendant no. 5 (Suit-5). Thereafter, he also referred to para 12 of the Addl. W.S. of defendant no. 5 (Suit-5) and contended that the argument advanced by him are covered by the pleading in the aforesaid paragraphs.

848. Advancing submissions in respect of issue no. 7(d), 8

(Suit-4) and 23 (Suit-5), he said that issue 7 (d) is whether title of the Muslims to the property in dispute or any portion thereof was admitted by plaintiff of Suit No. 61/280 of 1885 filed by Mahant Raghubar Das and if so, its effect? Referring to the plaint of the aforesaid suit, he said that the disputed structure was mentioned therein as mosque and, therefore, it is a kind of admission of the plaintiff about the title of the Muslims over the property in dispute. Referring to Section 58 of the Evidence Act, he said that a fact admitted need not be proved.

849. Per contra, opposing the objection based on res judicata resulting from Suit 1885, Sri R.L.Verma, Advocate pointed out that though no such issue has been framed in respect to Suit-3 but is in rest of the three suits, still he would submit that none of the suit is barred either by res judicata or estoppel due to the decision in Suit 1885. In this regard, he first referred to para-6, 6-A, 6-B to 6-F, 7, 11-A and 23 of the plaint of Suit-4. Then he referred to para 5 and 6 of the written statement filed on behalf of defendants no. 3 and 4 (Suit-4), paragraphs 31, 32, 38 and 40 of the additional written statement dated 25.1.1963 and the additional written statement dated 28/29.11.1963. He also referred to the replication at page 59 of the paper book. He also placed before us para 6, 6-A, 6-B to 6F and 33 of the written statement of Abhiram Das.

850. Tracing the history of procedural law, he submitted that after the British annexation of the country, Code of Civil Procedure was enacted for the first time in 1859, i.e. Act No. 8 of 1859. However, it operated only in Presidency Towns and Small Causes Courts. Thereafter, some amendments were made in C.P.C., 1859; vide, Act No. 4 of 1860, 3 of 1861. Earlier CPC was replaced by Act No. 10 of 1877 and then Act No. 14 of

851. Sri Verma contended that to attract the bar of Section 11 CPC, 1908, the following aspects have to be considered :

(a) pleadings of earlier suit;

(b) parties

(c) cause of action;

(e) judgment.

852. He would submit that if the judgment does not operate as res judicata, it cannot be utilized as a piece of evidence in respect to some observations and finding therein as the same are barred by Sections 41, 42 and 43 of the Evidence Act. Placing before us copy of the plaint of Suit 1885, Ex. A-22 (Suit-1) he argued that Mahant Raghubar Das filed the suit in his own capacity and not as a Mahant of Math Nirmohi Akhara. In the alternative he would submit that Sri Raghubar Das litigated disclosing his status as Mahant, Janamsthan Ayodhya. The said suit was in relation to a limited property right, i.e., Chabutara measuring 17 ft. x 21 ft. and the dispute pertains to the right of construction of a temple thereon. The cause of action for the suit was also limited against the State and that's why only Secretary, Council of India, was impleaded as defendant. Placing pleadings and judgment of Suit 1885 before us, he submits that act of Mahant Raghubar Das was neither in the representative capacity of all Hindus nor in the capacity of Mahant of Nirmohi Akhara which is a juristic personality and, therefore, there is no question of attracting the bar of res judicata. He also pointed out that neither the parties were same nor Nirmohi Akhara claimed any right in the said suit through Mahant Raghubar Das nor the dispute of inner courtyard was involved, hence, objection with respect to res judicata taken by Muslim parties is totally misconceived. In support, he placed reliance on Apex Court's decision in State of Maharashtra Vs. M/s. National Construction Company, Bombay AIR 1996 SC 2367 (para 6, 9 and 17) and two single Judge judgments of this Court in Munesh Kumar Agnihotri and others Vs. Lalli Prasad Gupta AIR 1989 (Alld.) 202 and Ram Naresh Vs. State of U.P. 2003 (21) LCD 1120. In respect to his submission of Sections 40, 41 and 42 of the Evidence Act, he placed reliance in Abdul Quadir Vs. Tahira 1997 (15) LCD 379. He further submit that mere mention of the word "Masjid" in the annexure to the plaint, i.e., the map, does not mean any admission of an undisputed fact between the parties of a subject matter attracting the principle of estoppel; and, placed reliance on B.L. Sridhar Vs. K.M. Munireddy 2003 (21) LCD 88 (SC)=AIR 2003 SC 578. So far as Suits- 1 and 5 are concerned, he submits that neither the parties were same nor Mahant Raghubar Das filed the Suit in representative capacity and, therefore, res judicata or estoppel has no application to the said suits.

853. Coming to the issues in question, we find that Issue No. 5 (a) (Suit-1) is in respect to whether the property in dispute before us was involved in original suit of 1885 or not and reads as under:

> "Was the property in suit involved in Original Suit No. 61/280 of 1885 in the court of Sub Judge,Faizabad, Raghubar Das Mahant Vs. Secretary of State for India and others?"

854. Apparently, it may not be said that the disputed property in Suit-1885 has no connection with the disputed property before us. However, we are also clearly of the view that entire disputed property before us was not up for consideration in Suit-1885 and, in fact, that was a suit for a very small part of the land out of the total land which is disputed before us and by itself to identify both being same, similar or identical would not be correct. From a perusal of the plaint in Suit-1885 (Ex. A-22, Suit-1) (Vol. 7, Page 245 of the Bound Registers of documents) it is evident that the plaintiff claimed permission to raise construction over a Chabutara at Janamsthan, Ayodhya measuring north 17 feet, east 21 feet, south 17 feet and west 21 feet. In para 2 and 3 of the plaint, the plaintiff, Mahant Raghubar Das, pleaded -

''दफा 2–यह कि चबुतरा जन्म–स्थान पूरब पच्छिम 21 फिट उत्तर दक्खिन 17 फिट है। उस पर चरणपादका गड़ी हुई है और छोटा सा मन्दिर रखा हुआ है जिसकी परस्तिश होती है।

855. The plaintiff (Suit-1885) prayed for grant of relief as under :

''डिक्री बनाने मन्दिर ऊपर चबुतरा जन्म स्थान वाकैया अयोध्या उत्तर 17 फिट पूरब 21 फिट दक्खिन 17 फिट पच्छिम 21 फिट के फरमाये जायें।''

856. In the map appended to the plaint (Suit-1885) though the disputed building and the area of inner and outer courtyard was also shown but from the pleadings in the plaint, it is evident that the dispute therein pertain to the Chabutara measuring 17X21 situated at south-east and in the outer courtyard.

857. Mohammad Asgar, who claimed himself to be Mutwalli, Masjid Babari, in his written statement (Suit-1885) also said that the dispute pertain only to the chabutara situated in the outer courtyard south-east. This is evident from the his pleadings in para 1, 3 and 4 of the written statement (Suit-1885) and the relevant extract thereof is as under :

''यह जमीन जिस पर चबूतरा है मूरिसान मुद्दई को न दी हो ... मुद्दई ने

निस्बत इस टुकड़ा ज़मीन के मिलकियत उस पर हासिल नहीं की ... ता 1856 ई0 इस मुकाम पर चबूतरा नहीं था। 1857 ई0 में बना ... ज़ाहिर है कि बिना इस चबूतरे की 1857 ई0 से हुई है। ... यह ख्याल मुद्दई कि चबूतरा हमारा है, और जब कि चबूतरा हमारा है तो उस पर मन्दिर बनाने का भी अख़तियार हमको है महज़ बनफ्सानियत मज़हबी गलत फहमी मुद्दई की है क्योंकि उस चबूतरे पर बैठना या चढ़ावा चढ़ाने का भी अख़तियार मालिकाना बिला किसी तारूज़ के नही है।

858. From the above judgments, it is evident that they considered the dispute with respect to the construction sought to be made on the aforesaid Chabutara and it was not in respect to the entire disputed site or building as is before us. The right of ownership or possessory right in respect to any part of land in dispute as is before us was not involved in Suit-1885. The relief for permission to make construction of a temple on the Chabutara in the outer courtyard measuring 21X17 feet was sought. Moreover, in para 12 of the written statement dated 24.2.1989 of defendant no. 10 (Suit-1), he has also admitted that the suit was filed for permission to erect temple over the aforesaid chabutara, as is evident from the following :

"The said suit was filed for permission to erect temple over the said Chabutara. In respect of the said Chabutara, the said Mahant Raghubar Das had stated that the temple of Janamsthan was desired to be constructed over there."

859. In Suit-1, the plaintiff is seeking injunction against defendants in regard to his right to worship of the idols placed under the central dome in the inner courtyard. There is no claim either about ownership or possession.

860. Therefore, we are of the view that the property engaging attention of this Court in Suit-1 was not involved in original suit no. 61/280 of 1885, Mahant Raghubar Das Vs. Secretary for State of India and others and Issue No. 5 (a) (Suit-1) is

861. Issue No. 5 (b) (Suit-1) is whether Suit-1885 was decided against the 'plaintiff'. It reads as under:

"Was it decided against the plaintiff?"

862. The issue, in fact, is a bit confusing vague and unclear. The word 'plaintiff' is not clearly defined. It does not indicate whether it needs to be answered with respect to the plaintiff (Suit-1) or plaintiff (Suit-1885). Evidently, Suit-1885 was filed by Mahant Raghubar Das while plaintiff (Suit-1) before us is Gopal Singh Visharad (substituted by his son Rajendra Singh Visharad). Nothing has been brought before us to show that Gopal Singh Visharad was connected or related with Raghubar Das and/or that Raghubar Das filed Suit-1885 representing Gopal Singh Visharad also. Sri Jilani and Sri Siddiqui, the learned counsel submitted that since Suit-1885 was filed for the benefit of Hindus in general, who used to visit the disputed site, as alleged, for worship and, therefore, Raghubar Das should be deemed to be representing Gopal Singh Visharad also as both are Hindu. The submission, in our view, is wholly misconceived and has to be rejected outrightly. The mere fact that two persons have a common religion or faith, it does not mean that the two are related in any manner or in a litigation one can be said to be representing another merely for the reason that the dispute in the suit filed by former has some relation with the common religious matter of the both. In fact, the learned counsel for the Muslim parties could not tell as to how and why Suit-1885 can be said to have been decided against Sri Gopal Singh Visharad, plaintiff (Suit-1) who is before us.

863. Treating as if Issue- 5 (b) (Suit-1) required answer by referring to plaintiff of Suit-1885, we find that it is true that the aforesaid suit was dismissed upto the level of Judicial Commissioner and no relief, as sought, was granted therein to the plaintiff Mahant Raghubar Das. In that context it can be said that the suit was decided against him. However, to hold that any issue relating to ownership or possession with respect to the disputed area in Suit-1885 i.e. Chabutara measuring 21'X17' situated at south east in the outer courtyard was decided against Mahant Raghubar Das would not be correct since there is no such finding recorded by the ultimate Court of appeal, i.e. the Judicial Commissioner except that plaintiff Raghubar Das could not place anything before the Court to substantiate his claim of ownership over the said Chabutara.

864. The record shows that the issue no. 6 was framed in the following matter :

"To whom does the land belong?"

www.vadaprativada.com

865. The Trial Court decided the aforesaid issue by holding that the said Chabutara is in possession of the plaintiff, as is being worshiped by Hindus and this is also admitted by the defendants, hence, the possession shows ownership and in this respect there cannot be any dispute. This part of the findings of the Trial Court was directed to be struck out of the judgment being redundant by the District Judge (the First Appellate Court) vide judgment dated 18/26.3.1886. The District Judge observed that "considering the situation of the disputed site, any innovation would cause more harm and derangement of order than benefit. All that can be done is to maintain status quo by the parties". While directing for striking of the above part of the observation with respect to the ownership of the Chabutara, the appellate Court observed as under :

"The words are redundant and are to be struck out of

the judgment. The only question decided in this case is that the position of the parties will be maintained."

866. However, justifying the order of the Trial Court in dismissing the suit by declining to grant any relief, the District Judge held :

"The reason why this suit is dismissed is that there is no "injuria", nothing which would give a right of action to the plaintiff."

867. The Judicial Commissioner, Oudh (Hon'ble W. Young) in his judgment dated 2.9.1886 held as under :

"The matter is simply that the Hindus of Ajudhia want to erect a new temple of marble ... over the supposed holy spot in Ajudhia said to be the birthplace of Sri Ram Chandar. Now this spot is situate within the precincts of the grounds surrounding a mosque constructed some 350 years ago owing to the bigotry and tyranny of the Emperor Baber-who purposely chose this holy spot according to Hindu legend- as the site of his mosque.

The Hindus seem to have got very limited rights of access to certain spots within the precincts adjoining the mosque and they have for a series of years been persistently trying to increase there rights and to erect building over two spots in the enclosure.

(1) Sita ki Rasoi

(b) Ram Chandar ki Janam Bhumi.

The executive authorities have persistently repressed these encroachments and absolutely forbid any alteration of the 'status quo'.

I think this a very wise and proper procedure on their part and I am further of opinion that Civil Courts have

properly dismissed the plaintiff's claim.

The pleas on appeal to this ... are wholly unsupported by facts in the case or by any document that appears to me ... some of the reasoning of the Lower Appellant Court as to the limitations of the Civil Court jurisdiction. However I approve of their final conclusion to which it has come – and I see no reason to interfere with its order modifying the wording of part of the judgment of the Court of First Instance. There is nothing whatever on the record to show that plaintiff is in any sense the proprietor of the land in question.

868. Therefore, the order of Judicial Commissioner clearly shows that it had specifically approved the final conclusion of the Court below and has also declined to interfere with the part of the order of the first Appellate Court modifying Trial Court's order since there was nothing to show that the plaintiff Mahant Raghubar Das was the proprietor of the land in question. The land in question comprised of only Chabutara measuring 17X21 feet situated at south-east. However, Issue 6, which was worded as to whom the land in dispute belong was not answered by the two appellate Courts giving any finding in favour of anyone. Therefore, while answering the issue 5(b) (Suit-1), we can say only this much that the suit was decided against the plaintiff Mahant Raghubar Das inasmuch he was not granted any relief by the respective Courts and not beyond that and it is answered accordingly.

869. Next is Issue No. 5 (c) (Suit-1):

"Was the suit within the knowledge of Hindus in general and were all Hindus interest in the same?"

www.vadaprativada.com

870. We find that in para 13 of the written statement dated 24.2.1989, defendant no. 10 (Suit-1) though has averred that Suit-1885 was filed by Mahant Raghubar Das on behalf of other Mahants and Hindus of Ayodhya and Faizabad etc. but no material or evidence has been placed on record whatsoever to support it. Neither the copy of the plaint Ex. A-22 (Suit-1), written statement filed by Mohammad Asgar, the alleged Mutwalli, Ex. A-23 (Suit-1), the Trial Court's judgment dated 24.12.1885, Ex. A-26 (Suit-1) as well as the judgment of the appellate court dated 18/26.3.1886, i.e. Ex. 27 (Suit-1), contain anything nor there is any mention whatsoever which may justify an inference that the aforesaid suit was filed by Mahant Raghubar Das representing all Mahants of Ayodhya and Hindus of Ayodhya and Faizabad etc. In the absence of any material or evidence, documentary or otherwise, to support the above factual statement, we have no hesitation to answer the above issue in negative, i.e. against the defendants.
